Vladivostok, Nov. 18.—Secretary of War Taft has arrived here on board the converted cruiser Rainbow. The Rainbow was convoyed by the cruisers Chattanooga and Galveston. When the American vessels entered the Golden Horn they were met by a Russian gunboat detailed to escort them up the harbor. Salutes were exchanged with the land batteries. Then the Rainbow anchored off shore, where she will remain guarded, by the Chattanooga and Galveston.

The secretary and his party will not come ashore until their departure, over the trans-Siberian railroad, for St. Petersburg at seven o'clock tomorrow morning. An imperial car has been placed at Mr. Taft's disposal for his journey, and the emperor of Russia has detailed military and naval aides to accompany him.

General Peluge, the commandant of this port, and other naval, military and civil officials have called upon Mr. Taft.

From St. Petersburg Mr. Taft will journey direct to Hamburg, and sail for New York on Dec. 7, on board the steamer President Grant.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 18.—Montgomery Schuyler, Jr., secretary of the American embassy here, has received a telegram from Secretary Taft saying that he hopes to reach St. Petersburg at noon on Dec. 3, and he says he must leave here not later than Dec. 5. The date of Secretary Taft's audience with the emperor probably will be on Dec. 4.

Berlin, Nov. 18.—Secretary Taft has definitely and finally decided not to visit Emperor William. He sent a telegram to Charlemagne Tower, the American ambassador, expressing his regret that he would not be able to see the emperor.

Paris, Nov. 18.—Officials of the government have learned with the greatest regret that Secretary Taft is not likely to visit France on his way home. They had planned to extend him many honors.

You may succeed when others do not believe in you, but never when you do not believe in yourself.

Veteran Fireman Met Untimely Death.

Detroit, Nov. 18.—James R. Downey, a fire department supply driver, met a sensational and pathetic end. The fireman had just returned from service at a small fire and was unhitching his team, when the horses, becoming startled, plunged madly forward. Downey was flung to the pavement, the wagon passing over his body and crushing it in horrible manner. He has been connected with the department for 20 years.

FIRE AT PRATTSVILLE

Little Town Near Hudson Badly Scorched.

BUSINESS PLACES BURNED.

Several Merchants Sustain Losses Totaling Several Thousand Dollars —Blaze Originated In Meat Market —Town Had No Fire Protection.

Hudson, Mich., Nov. 18.—Almost the entire business section of Prattsville, five miles south of here, was destroyed by fire starting in Phillip Cousino's meat market, and rapidly spreading to the H. E. Raymond general store, G. B. Elliotts general store, Blount's meat market and restaurant, B. L. Peebles' pool hall and L. L. Downer's general store.

The blaze originated from an unknown cause after the proprietor of the meat market had closed and gone home. The frame building was quickly enveloped in flames which the wind carried to Raymond's, next door. From there the blaze hit Elliott's, and along the line until Blount's, Pebbles' and Downer's made the south side of Main street one mass of fire. All the buildings but Downers' were old frame structures, and all were completely destroyed, but the latter, which was only partially demaged, because of its brick construction.

As soon as the fire started bucket brigades were formed and every effort made to stay it, but it soon got beyond control and both Hudson and Waldron were called on for help. Neither could respond, because there was no water available. The village volunteers held the blaze in check at Downer's after they had taken much of the goods from this and other stores.

Prattsville is a busy town of 500 in the center of a section of the St. Joseph river valley farming country. Most of the buisiness places will be rebuilt. Raymond's loss is $5,000, insurance, $3,800; Roccoe Gallup, owner of building, $2,000, insurance, $600; Elliott, $4,500; Mrs. McNair, owner of building, $2,000, insurance $1,000; Cousino's loss, $1,000, no insurance; L. Thompson owner of building, $500, no insurance; Downer, $1,000, covered by insurance; Peebles' loss, $1,000, insurance $400; Blount's loss, $1,500.

Pleads Guilty to Manslaughter.

Paw Paw, Mich., Nov. 18.—Charles S. Smith of Lawton, who killed Captain George H. Prentice of the same place, was sentenced by Judge Des Voignes to the state prison at Jackson for a minimum period of three years and a maximum period of 15 years with a recommendation that his time be five years. Smith and Prentice got into a wordy discussion over a ball game in which the Lawton team had been one of the contestants. Smith picked up a ball bat and struck Prentice over the head, fracturing his skull. Subsequently he died. Smith pleaded guilty to manslaughter.

Runaway Horse Injures Them.

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 18.—Roy Rapson, 35 years old, and Miss Lelah M. Hart, 26 years old, were seriously injured when a runaway horse, owned by Claude Jones, a farmer, plunged into a group of people who stood waiting for a car at the corner of Main and Jefferson streets. Rapson may die. Jones left the horse and rig hitched in front of a hotel, and he claims that some young fellows cut the hitching strap.

Unknown Lad Killed.

Detroit, Nov. 18.—An unknown lad, about 14 years old, was run over and killed by a crosstown car on Mt. Elliott avenue near Gratiot. The body now lies at the county morgue awaiting identification. Eye-witnesses say that the lad was hanging to the rear end of a Harper avenue car, running south on Mt. Elliott, and that he jumped off and attempted to cross the northbound track just as a crosstown car car, running north, came along.

Concedes Bryan's Nomination.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Roger C. Sullivan, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois, has returned from Philadelphia and given out a statement which is interpreted as conceding William Jennings Bryan's nomination by the Democrats for presidency. "Mr. Bryan is the only candidate for president before the Democratic party that I know of," said Mr. Sullivan. This statement, issued immediately after a visit to the east, means that the Democratic leaders of the eastern states have given up any thoughs of booming either a southerner, or Governor Johnson of Minnesota, or Governor Folk of Missouri for president, and that Mr. Bryan probably will be nominated without opposition.

CALLS A CONFERENCE

President Sees Danger in Depletion of Nation's Resources.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE.

Desires That Governors, Congressmen and Citizens Assemble at White House Three Days In May to Discuss Conserving of Resources.

Washington, Nov. 18.—President Roosevelt has invited the governors of the states and territories to meet him at the White House May 13, 14 and 15 next to discuss the question of means to conserve the natural resources of the country. Invitations are to be extended to the members of both houses of congress and to the Inland Waterways commission. The importance and manner in which the subject is to be considered are indicated in the president's letter to the governors which was made public at the White House.

The president in his letter points out the great natural resources which the country possesses, and declares that in order that posterity may equally enjoy the benefits of these resourses it is time for the country to account of them and inquire how long they will last.

Resources Becoming Depleted.

"We are prosperous now," he says, "and we should not forget that it will be just as important to our descendants to be prosperous in their time as it is to us to be prosperous in our time." Continuing, he says:

"It is evident that the abundant natural resources, on which the welfare of this nation rests, are becoming depleted, and in not a few cases, are already exhausted. The gravity of the situation must, I believe, appeal with special force to the governors of the states, because of their close relations to the people and their responsibility for the welfare of their communities."

GEORGE B. CORTELYOU.

After mentioning the dates when he desires that the governors be at the White House, he adds:

"I should be glad to have you select three citizens to accompany you and to attend the conference as your assistants or advisors. I shall also invite the senators and representatives of the 60th congress to be present at the sessions so far as their duties will permit. The matters to be considered at this conference are not confined to any region or group of states, but are of vital concern to the nation as a whole, and to all the people. Those subjects include the use and conservation of the mineral resources, the resources of the land and the resources of the waters in every part of our territory.

Authorities Will Be Present.

"In order to open discussion I shall invite a few recognized authorities to present brief descriptions of actual facts and conditions, without argument, leaving the conference to deal with each topic as it may elect.

"Facts which I cannot gainsay force me to believe that the conservation of our national resources is the most weighty question now before the people of the United States. If this is so, the proposed conference, which is the first of its kind, will be among the most important gatherings in our history in its effect upon the welfare of all our people."

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

When a woman's husband is a joke it is little wonder she can't see one.

Cured of Bright's disease.

Robt. O. Burke, Elmira, N. Y., writes "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up 12 and 20 times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recmended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50c bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Self made men are usually egotists, because they worship their creator.

Half a loaf is better than a dozen loaves of the kind some bakers make.

You can't be well if you have a weak unhealthy, tired out stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. These little stomach troubles are signs of indigestion, which may and very often does turn into a very bad case of dyspepsia. Don't allow this to go on a single day without doing something to overcome it. Take some good reliable and safe digestant like Kodol for dyspepsia. Kodol is the best remedy known today for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

It's jealousy in women that makes them say mean things behind your back but in men it is pure meanness.

The postmaster of Gascomade, Mo. Daniel A. Bugh, says of DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills, "I am doing so well and improving so fast in health that I cannot say too much for your kidney and bladder pills. I feel like a new man." DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills are sold by B. J. Pulver.

They have preaching in some churches in order to give the choir a rest.

This is worth remembering.

As no one is immune, every person should remember that Foley's kidney cure will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. For sale by all druggists in Tecumseh.

If you don't tell people how good you are a lot of them will never suspect it.

Babies and children need prompt attention when suffering from coughs and colds. The best remedy for mothers to use is Kennedy's laxative cough syrup. It tastes nearly as good as maple sugar, it contains no opiates and it is laxative and drives the cold out of the system by gently moving the bowels. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

And the heiress who marries a title seldom gets her money's worth.

There is nothing better for stomach troubles than Kodol, which contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Kodol is offered on a guaranteed plan for the relief of heart burn, flatulence, sour stomach, belching of gas, nausea and all stomach troubles. So at times when you don't feel just right, when you are drowsy after meals and you have head aches or when you have no ambition and you are cross and irritable, take a little Kodol. It digests what you eat. It will make you healthy. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

It's queer how anxious people are to lend you money when you don't need it.

The new pure food and drug law.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National pure food and drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

He Saw the Game.

The office boy had buried countless grandmothers, brothers, sisters, aunts and cousins, but he felt an enthusiasm for the baseball game that did which would not be downed.

Suddenly an idea struck him. Approaching the grave boss with an air of timidity which had been nurtured by long usage he asked:

"May I leave at noon today, sir?"

"And why, my boy?"

"There is a fancy fair at our church and mother wants me to go this afternoon. She was so anxious that she bought me a ticket which cost a dollar, as she was sure you would allow me the few hours off. I have to assist at the refreshment stall and it seems a pity to waste."

"But surely you are above such things as that which take you away from your work. Why, not give the ticket to one of your sisters?"

"Well, you see, sir, that wouldn't be fair, for I'm the only one of my family who can be depended upon to eat a dollar's worth, and—"

His supreme nerve won the day.—Smith's Magazine.

An English Amenity.

A striking difference between our manners and those of our English cousins was shown one day at a garden party. The hostess, an American, was speaking to one of her guests, an Englishwoman of rank.

"Dear Lady B.," she said, "here are some sandwiches which I made with my own hands, particularly for you. You know I've often told you about our American sandwiches and how good they are. Here are different sorts, lettuce and cucumbers, if you care for 'grass,' or if you like a savory better try the cream cheese ones with pimentoes. I've some sweet ones, too, raisins and nuts chopped together—which will you try first?"

She held a plate in each hand, a plate filled with dainty looking sandwiches, and they were extended invitingly toward her guest, who looked at them critically, then said in the clear, high pitched voice of the well bred Englishwoman:

"Oh, thank you, so kind of you, but do you know I never touch the nawsty things?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Chance For a Home Run.

A clever teacher who has the power of calling out originality in her pupils says that she would have no use for text books if she took time to answer all the startling questions asked in the classroom. One day the attraction of gravitation was under discussion when one of the boys said that he didn't see any need of it, anyway.

"It seems to me," said he, "there's no particular use in having the earth attract things. Now, when the apple fell and made Newton think out the reason for it, that apple might just as well have stayed where it was until somebody gathered it."

"You play ball, don't you?" asked the teacher. "Well, suppose you knock the ball very high, what happens?"

"It falls."

"But if there were no attraction toward the earth it wouldn't fall. Don't you think that might prove inconvenient?"

"My," cried the boy, "what a bully chance for a home run"—Chicago News.

Her Supposition.

In the Beecher family the name of Mrs. Stowe was often quoted to the rising generation as one having authority. She was also quoted ad nauseam, it would seem, from a story told by the Woman's Journal. On one occasion a grandniece of Mrs. Stowe became very angry at a playmate and, stamping her foot, said, "I hate you, and I don't want anything more to do with you, nor your manservant, nor your maidservant, nor your ox, nor your ass." Her mother sternly reproved her, asking her if she knew what she was saying.

Little Miss Beecher promptly replied, "Yes; the Ten Commandments."

"Well, do you know who wrote them?"

The child, looking disgusted, answered: "Goodness, yes. Aunt Harriet did, I s'pose."

The Word "Poultry."

Poultry, according to the definition given in one standard encyclopedia, includes "the whole of the domesticated birds reclaimed by man for the sake of their flesh and their eggs." The word comes from the Latin "pullus," which could mean a young horse or donkey as well as a chick (the English "foal" is akin to this), through the French "poule," a fowl. But it is curious that "poultry" has no French version, the nearest equivalent being "volaille," or "oiseaux de basse cour," birds of the low yard. German in its descriptive way knows poultry as "federvieh," feather cattle.

An Unmentioned Ancestor.

Mr. B. is very proud of his ancient lineage and never lets slip an opportunity to boast of it. At a dinner where he had been unusually rampant on this subject a fellow guest quieted him by remarking, "If you climb much further up your family tree you will come face to face with the monkey."—Lippincott's.

Grand Opera In New York.

New York, Nov. 13.—The season of grand opera at the Metropolitan Opera House will begin tonight. This event is regarded as the formal opening of the musical season, notwithstanding the fact that the Manhattan Opera House has already had two markedly successful weeks of opera. The Metropolitan season will continue for 20 weeks—the longest ever planned—and will introduce many artists and several operas new to America.

Man Kills Two Chicken Thieves.

New York, Nov. 18.—Lyman J. King, proprietor of a poultry farm in the Bronx, has been missing chickens recently, and when an automatic alarm awoke him early in the day, he seized a revolver, and hurrying outdoors, fired upon two forms outlined in the moonlight. Bruno Puella, 22 years of age, of Yonkers, fell dead with a bullet in the head. Parlo Lagenia, about the same age, received a bullet in the side, another in the leg; and, as he fled, a third in the back which killed him.

ROUND ABOUT US.

One day last week a Napoleon man picked up an old bill book which contained an envelope on which was written the address of a Brooklynite. Without examining further the man was summoned and his property restored. The owner was profusely grateful on learning that the finder did not even know what the envelope contained and "Bless your heart, there is over $1,000 in bills inside." The happy honesty of a man who is not even curious concerning the contents of other people's purses furnishes a striking contrast to the actions of a former purse finder in that locality and could well be made the subject of a fine moral homily.—Brooklyn Ex.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gotham, mother of Mrs. Will Stoner of this place, was run over and badly injured by a wagon in Detroit Saturday and received injuries of a painful nature, cutting her arm so badly as to necessitate several stitches. In the excitement attendant on the accident she lost her watch and chain and a Masonic charm which she valued very highly, it having belonged to her husband, Capt. Anthony Gotham. The charm was later recovered although the watch was broken. She is recovering from her injuries nicely considering her age which is 73 years.—Blissfield Advance.

The case of J. Ed Smith against Geo. DePuy was on yesterday in the circuit court and Attorney D. M. Wells for the plaintiff asked that it be discontinued which was done and the costs assessed against Smith. This case was the result of an arrest some time ago of Smith. It seems Mr. DePuy had been losing chickens and other things about the farm and one morning when he went to the barn he found a receipt belonging to Smith which evidently had been dropped and accordingly Smith was arrested in the name of the people. Smith then endeavored to get a case of defamation of character or something of that sort against Mr. DePuy, but the latter stood his ground and refused to settle as they wished.—Clinton Local.

J. Hess, L. A. Bushaw and James Jones, who went north as far as Lovell Monday morning on a hunting trip, returned Wednesday evening. They report having had the pleasure of seeing a live deer. Mr. Hess, being an old hunter, took plenty of time in taking aim, but no so with Mr. Bushaw, who is an experienced business man and took advantage of the first opportunity and shot off-hand, but as usual missed. Mr. Hess, seeing the game disappearing, pulled, but the gun refused to go. It was found that he had forgotten to put in a shell and the deer was safe.—Reese Review.

The Kar-a-van people, assisted by Miss Florence Keyser of this place, served coffee to the hundreds of people who visited the store during the day and evening

The manager of the National Biscuit Co. of Toledo, and Mr. Seers, their travelling agent were present during the day. They had with them a young lady, who demonstrated the goods of the National Biscuit Co., and served wafers with the coffee. A display of dressed fowls was also a feature. FOOT BALL

The Toledo high school foot ball team coached by Fred Merkle, played against Tecumseh high school last Friday, the game being one of the best ever played on these grounds and resulted in a score of 12 and 4 in Toledo's favor. Tecumseh was a little faster than their opponents, holding them down until tired out by the weight of the Toledo team. For this, the Tecumseh players deserve credit, as this is the first time they have ever played against so strong a team which represents the Toledo Central high school.

The goal kicked by Roy Bramble was fine, and Aldrich and Coller carried the ball, making good gains. Toledo made two touch downs.

Charles N. Haskell

Who on Saturday was made the first governor of Oklahoma, is the same man who promoted, built and was afterwards president of the Lima Northern railway. C. N. Haskell was as we knew him a very smart man. He has been very successful in the west but still clings to his old habits.

In his inaugural address he scores the President. He may be able to run the new state of Oklahoma, but when he attempts to dictate to Roosevelt and the United States of America he will no doubt run up against a stone wall. The HERALD congratulates him on his great success. He is a brother of Geo. Haskell of this place. A three column portrait of him was printed on the second page of Sunday's Record-Herald.

Nethanial Boyd.

Nethanial Boyd died at the home of Thos. Boyd, west of town, Sunday night at 10 o'clock, aged 93 years and 5 months. The funeral will be held from the house tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Dunning officiating. Burial at Tecumseh.

Mrs. D. Wilbur Jacobs.

Mrs. D. Wilbur Jacobs passed away Saturday morning, Oct. 26, at 6 o'clock at her home on West Water street after a long, lingering illness.

The death of Mrs. Jacobs has cast a gloom over the once happy home and the news was received with general regret by hosts of friends.

Mrs. Jacobs had suffered poor health for years but bore her suffering with wonderful fortitude and patience, maintaining a cheerful disposition until the end To those who best knew her she was a wonderful woman and one the world could ill afford to lose, possessing ability, perseverance and courage seldom seen in one so afflicted. She was a devoted wife and sister.

Mrs. Jacobs was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs Adrian Yawger and was born in Tecumseh, Mich., June, 1856. August 12, 1891, she married D. W. Jacobs of Rockland, Mass., the union proving a most happy one. The sympathy of hosts of friends is extended to those who mourn her loss.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon from her late home and Rev. Wm. Reid, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. Interment was in the Maplewood cemetery.

Mrs. Jacobs is a sister of Miss Effie Yawger of this place.

A Proclamation by the Governor.

To the People of the State of Michigan, Greeting:

In accordance with a well established custom, I, Fred M. Warner, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby set apart Thursday, November Twenty-eighth, nineteen hundred seven, as Thanksgiving Day.

A people who have been as highly favored as those of Michigan, in all that makes them free, independent and prosperous, may well, upon one day in each year, assemble to return their thanks for these blessings to Almighty God.

It is our duty to render tribute of gratitude and thankfulness for the continuance of His Divine goodness. To acknowledge these blessings is eminently worthy of an intelligent and enlightened people.

We have been remembered in mercy during the past year. Our harvests have been abundant to reward the labors of the husbandman and supply the wants of our people; our habitations have been preserved in peace and our families have been protected from pestilence. We still continue in full enjoyment of those civil, social and religious rights and privileges, the way for which was payed by those who established the custom of observing Thanksgiving Day.

Our observance of this day should not be confined to our churches or family firesides. If the poor and needy, whom we always have with us, share in our abundance, we can thank God with better grace and add to the joy of the family reunion.

I respectfully recommend that the people of the State suspend their business avocations on the day thus set apart for this grateful service and duty. No business will be transacted on that day at any of the Departments of the State Government.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at Lansing, this seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and thirty-second.

FRED M. WARNER, Governor.

By the Governor.
George A. Prescott,
Secretary of State.

The November term of circuit court eclipses for time in session anything on record. Court convened Tuesday morning with 6 cases on docket, four were settled, one put over and the remaining one was tried dismissing the jury that many of them took the 3:30 train for home. Pretty good for one day in court and a big saving to the county tax payers.—Saline Observer.

KILLS CATARRH GERMS.

Sufferers will be interested in special offer of C. A. Wright & Son.

The unusual offer made by C. A. Wright & Son shows the confidence they have in Hyomei and should dispel all doubt as to its curative properties, for they advertise to refund the price to any person whom it fails to benefit.

You do not risk a cent in testing the healing virtues of Hyomei, for C. A. Wright & Son take all the risk of its giving satisfaction and leave you to be the judge.

If you suffer from offensive breath, raising of mucous, frequent sneezing, husky voice, discharge from the nose, droppings into the throat, loss of strength, spasmodic coughing, general weakness and debility or any other catarrhal symptom, begin the use of Hyomei at once. It will destroy all disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs, soothe the irritated mucous membrane and make a thorough and lasting cure of catarrh.

Hyomei is not a secret remedy; its formula is given freely to physicians and as a result they have confidence in its power to heal and prescribe the treatment for catarrhal indications.

There is no dangerous stomach drugging when Hyomei is used. Breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every dollar outfit, its healing balsams destroy all catarrhal germs even in the most remote air cells and quick recovery follows.

MRS. SARAH J. WINDROM

Mrs. Sarah J. Windrom of Chicago, cousin of Zachary Taylor, twelfth president of the United States, and grandniece of Alexander Hamilton, who signed the Declaration of Independence, says:

"Vinol is a Godsend to old people. I am 76 years old, but have a hearty appetite, sleep soundly, and feel active and well today, thanks to Vinol. When I was young cod liver oil was dispensed in a greasy, unpalatable form, and it fairly gagged me to get it down. Vinol is entirely different, very palatable and nourishing to impoverished blood. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used in my life."

Vinol is a real cod liver preparation, from which the useless oil has been eliminated and tonic iron added. Try Vinol on our guarantee.

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Tecumseh readers cannot doubt what has been twice proven.

In gratitude for complete relief from the pains of bad backs, from kidney ills, these folk have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Tecumseh people who so testified now say their cures were permanent. This doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to local kidney sufferers.

S. Erskine, living on Evans street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "For 10 years I was troubled with kidney complaint and pains in my back. It was always more severe after hard work or if I lifted anything. I was annoyed at night by the too frequent action of the kidneys which greatly disturbed my rest. The secretions were highly colored and showed much sediment. On using Doan's Kidney Pills I felt better and stronger than I had for a long time. This was 5 years ago and I was so grateful that I gave a statement for publication. I think just as highly of them today as I did then and am glad of the opportunity to reendorse them that others may be led to try this remedy and receive the same results I did."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

PANAMA BONDS TO BE SOLD

Government Comes to Relief of Country's Financial Condition.

STATEMENT FROM CORTELYOU.

National Certificates of Indebtedness Also to Be Sold.

PRESIDENT APPROVES PLAN.

Believes Congress Will Soon Come Forward With Permanent Relief—He Admonishes People For Lack of Faith In Country's Condition—Bonds Will Be Available to All Citizens, and Bear Two Per Cent Interest.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Secretary Cortelyou has made the important announcement that, as a means of affording relief to the financial situation, the treasury would issue $50,000,000 of Panama bonds, bearing an interest rate of two per cent, and $100,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, or so much thereof as may be necessary. The certificates will run for one year, and will bear three per cent interest.

The secretary's action in coming to the relief of the financial situation meets with President Roosevelt's approval, and the plan is the outcome of several White House conferences.

Secretary Cortelyou says that the Panama bonds will afford most substantial relief, as the law provides that they may be used as a basis for additional national bank circulation. He also states that the proceeds from the sale of certificates can be made directly available at points where the need is most urgent, and especially for the movement of the crops, which, he says, "if properly accelerated will give the greatest relief and result in the most immediate financial returns." The secretary calls attention to the attractiveness of the bonds and certificates as absolutely safe investments. He adds that these relief measures will enable him to meet public expenditures without withdrawing for that purpose any appreciable amount of the public moneys now deposited in national banks throughout the country.

Congress Will Soon Act.

Two treasury circulars, one inviting proposals for the issue of bonds, and the other asking for the certificates, will be sent out under date of Nov. 18.

In his letter to Secretary Cortelyou approving the treasury plans, President Roosevelt states that he has been assured that the leaders in congress have under consideration a currency measure "which will meet in permanent fashion the needs of the situation, and which I believe will be passed at an early date after congress convenes two weeks hence." The president also calls attention to what is needed most at this time, and says that people should "realize how fundamentally sound business conditions in this country are, and how absurd it is to permit themselves to get into a panic and create a stringency by hoarding their savings instead of trusting perfectly sound banks."

For the sake of uniformity with outstanding bonds the new issue of bonds will be dated Aug. 1, 1906, and the interest be paid quartely on the first days of November, February, May and August. They will be issued in denominations of $20, $100 and $1,000 of coupon bonds, and of $20, $100, $1,000 and $10,000 of registered bonds. They will be redeemable in United States gold coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after ten years from the date of their issue, and will be payable 30 years from such date. They will be exempt from all taxes or duties whatsoever, and will be available to national banks as security for circulating notes upon the same terms as the two per cent consols of 1930.

They will be receivable, like all other United States bonds, as security for public deposits in national banks. The law forbids their sale at less than par, and provides that all citizens of the United States shall have equal opportunity to subscribe therefor.

Bids Invited.

The secretary invites bids for the bonds which must be submitted to the department on or before the 30th of November. The bidders offering the highest prices will receive the first allotment.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N.Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ECZEMA

Cured in less than four weeks.

Those who have had experience with this stubborn disease can hardly believe at first that Wonderful Dream Salve can and does cure Eczema.

There is no doubt about the matter whatever. A great many letters are on file in our office from grateful patients, telling of the quick and easy way in which Wonderful Dream Salve has removed all traces of this torturing skin affliction.

Mr. John T. Kealey, a well-known business man, located in the Stevens Bldg., Detroit, Mich., was recently cured of a bad case of Eczema of fourteen years' standing. After treating with many doctors and taking many remedies without relief, Mr. Kealey was induced to try Wonderful Dream Salve, and in four weeks was entirely cured. He says:

"I certainly consider this a remarkable cure, inasmuch as I have spent hundreds of dollars in the fourteen years of annoyance with this troublesome itching skin ailment. I have since the cure of my case heard of other cures, some of them even more remarkable than mine, which go toward demonstrating the value of Wonderful Dream Salve as a great skin healer."

If you have Eczema, why not try a box of Wonderful Dream Salve. If it fails, your druggist will refund your money. Isn't that fair enough? Keep it in your home for Chilblains, Chapped hands, Piles, Cuts, Burns, Frost-bites, Boils and Sores of any kind. You will never use anything else. 25c a box at your druggist or mailed prepaid direct.

An old soldier writes about ARIOSA Coffee: "Your coffee is the best and richest [illegible] I ever [illegible] the service, from [illegible] your coffee [illegible]." A soldier knows coffee by the taste, and the way it makes him feel, and would never go without his bread than without his coffee. Arbuckles' ARIOSA was the first [illegible] packaged coffee, packaged for protection of consumers, roasted and the pores of each berry sealed with a coating of fresh eggs and pure sugar, to hold the goodness in and make the coffee settle clear and quickly. Better than "fresh roast." Warming a little develops the flavor and makes the grinding easy. Our enormous coffee business, exceeding the next four largest [illegible] in the world together, reduces our average cost per pound, and enables us to give you better coffee for your money than you can buy in any other way. There are more packages of ARIOSA sold in the United States than all the other Coffee packages combined.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

All argue in favor of our goods and our methods. What we say is substantiated by the evidence of our stock. The argument of careful selection is beyond dispute—its here to be seen almost at a glance.

The argument of genuine values is every bit as plain. Our plan keeps out everything doubtful. The argument of low prices then comes to cinch the matter.

BLIND MAN'S BUFF.

This Common Game Is of Great Antiquity and French Origin.

Blind man's buff is of French origin and of very great antiquity, having been introduced into England in the train of the Norman conquerors. Its French name, "Colin Maillard," was that of a brave warrior, the memory of whose exploits still lives in the chronicles of the middle ages.

In the year 999 Liege reckoned among its valiant chiefs one Jean Colin. He acquired the name Maillard from his chosen weapon being a mallet, wherewith in battle he used literally to crush his opponents.

In one of the feuds which were of perpetual recurrence in those times he encountered the Count de Touraine in a pitched battle, and, so runs the story, in the first onset Colin Maillard lost both his eyes.

He ordered his esquire to take him in the thickest of the fight, and, furiously brandishing his mallet, did such fearful execution that victory soon declared itself for him.

When Robert of France heard of these feats of arms he lavished favor and honors upon Colin, and so great was the fame of the exploit that it was commemorated in the pantomimic representation that formed part of the rude dramatic performance of the age. By degrees the children learned to act it for themselves, and it took the form of a familiar sport.

The blindfolded pursuer, as, with bandaged eyes and extended hands, he gropes for a victim to pounce upon, in some degree repeats the action of Colin Maillard, the tradition of which is also traceable in the name "blind man's buff."—London M. A. P.

Kills Husband; Shoots Self.

New York, Nov. 21.—Half crazed by jealousy because of her husband's attentions to another woman, Mrs. Lottie Hitchcock shot and instantly killed her husband, Robert L. Hitchcock, a compositor, as he lay asleep in bed in their home in the borough of the Bronx. Then, turning the revolver on herself, Mrs. Hitchcock inflicted several wounds from which it is expected she will die.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 21.—Six miles off Tarpon Springs, on the gulf's bottom 57 feet under the surface, Nicholas Andreas and John Bastoni, Greek sponge divers, fought desperately with sponge hooks for possession of a big sponge. Both suffered with painful wounds. Andreas came to Tampa to institute prosecution against Bastoni only to learn that no court had jurisdiction.

A significant prayer.

"May the Lord help you make Bucklen's arnica salve known to all" writes J. G. Jenkins of Chapel Hill, N. C. It quickly took the pain out of a felon for me and cured it in a wonderfully short time." Best on earth for sores, burns and wounds. 25c at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store.

INVITE PROSECUTION.

Armour Company Is Desirous of Testing Law Relative to Alleged Impurity of Sausages.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 21.—Armour & Co. of Chicago has obtained from the circuit court here a restraining order prohibiting State Dairy and Food Commissioner Bird and his inspectors from interfering with, molesting or threatening prosecution of dealers who sell sausages manufactured by the Armour company. The order does not prevent the commencement of criminal prosecutions, and it is understood the company invites prosecution for the purpose of having the question of whether the use of cereals in sausage constitute an adulteration determined.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 21.—Charged with violating the pure food laws of Michigan, Henry Vrodevoogd, Henry J. Phillips and Henry Bresson, Kalamazoo grocers, have been placed under arrest. Complaint was made by Deputy State Pure Food Inspector J. E. Jacklin.

Jacklin came to Kalamazoo several days ago and bought sausage from the three grocery stores, and forwarded it to Ann Arbor for analysis. It is claimed that the sausage was found to contain starch of from one to two and a half per cent, and that from 9 1-2 to 17 per cent of the sausage was water.

The Armour Packing company of Chicago will likely defend the three men. M. H. Miller, local agent of the Armour company, said that the sausage was not adulterated, and that the cases would be fought to the supreme court.

WARRANTS FOR THEM.

Alleged Members of Turtle Lake Club Ran Deer With Dogs.

Alpena, Mich., Nov. 21.—Warrants have been issued by Justice Cook against six members of the Turtle Lake Fish and Gun club and two attendants on a charge of running deer with dogs.

The defendants are: J. D. Hawks and his son, Ned, of Detroit; John Merrill, a Lake Missauka lumberman; John McGrath of Minneapolis, superintendent of the Turtle Lake Fish and Gun club, and Fred Ward, deputy state game warden, who is employed by the club as watchman.

The complaints were made by H. K. Gustin, against whom complaint was made last week by Deputy Ward, on a similar charge. The wararnts will be served at once.

The defendants will be required to appear here.

Six Laborers Killed.

Norfolk, Nov. 21.—Six laboring men were killed, one fatally injured and a number seriously injured, as the result of the explosion of a boiler in planing mill No. 1, at the John L. Roper lumber mills, Gilmerton, Norfolk county.

PANIC AT FUNERAL.

Mourners Thought Church Was About to Fall.

FOUGHT TO GET OUT.

Many Injured, One Fatally—People Had Assembled to Bury Victims of Double Murder—Corpses Thrown to Floor.

York, Pa., Nov. 21.—Eli Gross of Zion's View was probably fatally injured and eight other persons were hurt, in a panic in Quickel's church, six miles north of York.

While the funeral of the victims of a double murder which occurred there was in progress a report gained currency that the building was falling. The church was crowded to its doors. To aggrevate the rumor the heating stove was pushed over.

The congregation immediately became frenzied, and a struggle ensued among the people to escape from the building. Men, women and children fought to get out of the windows and doors. Those who suffered injuries were trampled on or crushed in the struggle. The injuries of the victims consist principally of broken limbs and cuts and bruises.

In the crush the corpses were thrown to the floor. The funeral was not resumed. The bodies were quietly buried as soon as the injured were cared for.

TOO MUCH SPECULATION.

Bryan Gives Reason For Financial Depression.

Connellsville, Pa., Nov. 21.—Hon. William J. Bryan in a lecture here spoke on the financial situation, expressing the belief that most banks are sound and deposits therein secure. He said:

"As to the present financial condition, I believe the cause is to be found in Wall street speculation. Investigations have shown the fictitious character of some of the stock and mismanagement which has characterized some of the larger corporations. When the public became aware of the character of the stock they had been buying they began to dispose of their holdings and the resulting shrinkage in values affected some of the New York banks and trust companies closely identified with speculative transactions.

"Runs on these banks frightened other depositors, and New York banks finally found themselves unable to return the reserves that had been deposited by outside banks. These outside banks, not being able to withdraw their funds, have in some cases found it necessary to limit the withdrawals from the funds which they had at hand. I believe the banks throughout the country are for the most part perfectly sound, and there is no reason why the depositors should be afraid to leave their money in them."

May Postpone Consistory.

Rome, Nov. 21.—The pope has expressed his intention to postpone until January the consistory which was to take place the middle of December. Nothing definite is known regarding the creation of new cardinals, but it would seem that only a few Italians will receive the red cap.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

With his 100th birthday anniversary but a few weeks distant, Martin Kehl, one of the oldest residents of Detroit, is dead. He lived with his daughter, Mrs. Nicholas M. Kummer.

Fremont B. Chesbrough of Boston, formerly of Bay City, has announced his intention to make Bay City a gift of $10,000 to be used for the purchase of 42 acres of land on the river front, directly opposite the new Wenonah, and convert it into a beautiful park.

W. H. White & Co., lumber dealers of Boyne City, have issued a bulletin announcing a cut of ten per cent in all branches, attributing the cause to the money situation. The cut will include employes of the B. C., G. & A. railroad lumber camps, and several mills.

Miss Gertrude I. Goose and Frank Adams, deaf mutes and graduates of the Michigan School for the Deaf, were married at Kalamazoo by Rev. Austin W. Mann of Cleveland who is also a deaf mute. About 60 guests attended the wedding, including a number of the friends of the couple who are similarly afflicted.

TROUBLE IN OHIO.

Republicans Divided Between Taft and Foraker

FOR PRESIDENTIAL CHAIR.

League of Clubs Indorses Foraker—Taft's Manager Declares Indorsement Doesn't Represent Entire Party.

Columbus, O., Nov. 21.—United States Senator Joseph Benson Foraker of Ohio has been endorsed for re-election to the senate and for the Republican nomination for president at a joint meeting here of the executive and advisory committees of the Ohio League of Republican clubs. The committees declare that they have no sympathy with the proposition that Senator Foraker be eliminated from public life because he was not able to agree with President Roosevelt on all questions.

The action of the committees at once brought out a challenge from Insurance Commissioner A. I. Vorys, manager of the Taft presidential canvass, for a popular primary of Ohio Republicans for a candidate for president.

About 100 ardent supporters of Senator Foraker, members of the committees or holding proxies, were in attendance at the meeting. Conrad J. Mattern of Dayton, first vice-president of the league, presided in the absence of President Harvey V. Spielman.

The resolutions endorsing Senator Foraker were presented by Warren G. Harding, formerly lieutenant-governor, and they were adopted unanimously, the announcement of the vote arousing cheers.

The resolutions recite that the "general officers of the Ohio League of Republican clubs, together with its advisory and executive committees representing the 88 counties of Ohio in session assembled, believe it opportune to declare:" Then follow the resolutions.

When told of the action taken at the meeting Insurance Commissioner Vorys dictated the following statement:

The resolutions profess that the committee is 'representing the 88 counties of Ohio.' As a matter of fact, the committees were not elected by the Republicans of the several counties of this state. At the time these committees were announced it was generally understood that the members were named by a representative of Senator Foraker.

"I hope that this action may precipitate what the friends of Secretary Taft so much desire; that is, an opportunity for a direct expression, by the Republicans of Ohio, of their choice for presidential candidate. I am satisfied Ohio Republicans are overwhelmingly for Taft."

Form Deeper Waterways Association.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—Representative men from 15 of the Atlantic coast states here have formed a permanent organization under the name of the "Atlantic Deeper Waterways association," the object of which will be to bring about a system of waterways to permit the free movement of traffic by inland waters between the various Atlantic seaboard states from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico. This is the outcome of a two-days' conference held in this city by delegates appointed by the governor or trade bodies interested in the Atlantic inland waterway project. The association adopted resolutions declaring that all canals should be free, and asking congress to take up the great project because it is demanded by the commercial interests of 30,000,000 people on the Atlantic seaboard.

Powers Wins First Victory.

Georgetown, Ky., Nov. 21.—Caleb Powers, in his fourth trial for the murder of Governor Goebel, has won the first substantial victory. Judge Morris has sustained the motion to discharge the second venire. The main contention throughout the proceedings so far has been that politics has been injected into the case at all previous trials; that an effort to continue this condition has been made in the selection of a venire of 200 men from Harrison county, and that the defendant could not obtain justice at the hands of a jury composed entirely of political opponents, who are Democrats.

Cured of Bright's disease.

Robt. O. Burke, Elnora, N. Y., writes "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up 12 and 20 times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recmended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50. bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Self made men are usually egotists, because they worship their creator.

Half a loaf is better than a dozen loaves of the kind some bakers make.

You can't be well if you have a weak unhealthy, tired out stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. These little stomach troubles are signs of indigestion, which may and very often does turn into a very bad case of dyspepsia. Don't allow this to go on a single day without doing something to overcome it. Take some good reliable and safe digestant like Kodol for dyspepsia. Kodol is the best remedy known today for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

This is worth remembering.

As no one is immune, every person should remember that Foley's Kidney Cure will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. For sale by all druggists in Tecumseh.

If you don't tell people how good you are a lot of them will never suspect it.

Relieved children and prompt relief in cases of croup, sore throat, coughs and colds. The best remedy for mothers to use is Kennedy's laxative cough syrup. It tastes nearly as good as maple sugar, it contains no opiates and it is fair, sweet and strengthening. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

And the heiress who marries a title seldom wears it herself.

There is nothing better for stomach troubles than hot water taken half an hour before meals. Kodol is a perfect digestant and a pleasant tonic for the relief of indigestion, flatulence, sour stomach, belching, heartburn, sick headache and all stomach troubles. Sip at times when you don't feel just right, when you are drowsy after meals and your head aches or when you have no ambition and you are cross and irritable, take a little Kodol. It digests what you eat, it will make you healthy. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Mrs. Bradley Tells Jury She Had No Recollection of the Shooting of Ex-Senator Arthur Brown.

Washington, Nov. 21.—That Mrs. Bradley came to Washington with the intention of killing former Senator Arthur Brown and that she did remember shooting him she told the jury in her trial here today. The statement was not made until the afternoon session of the court, the first half of the day being given largely to the identification of letters from Mr. Brown to Mrs. Bradley and from her to him, very few of which were read.

The real tragedy formed the subject of the afternoon sitting. At that time Judge Powers brought out the statement in his examination in chief. This consumed only a few minutes of time, and as soon as he had concluded District Attorney Baker entered upon his cross-examination. He devoted comparatively little attention to the shooting itself, but, going back to the early days of the relationship between Senator Brown and Mrs. Bradley, sought to show by reading letters and questioning the witness that she had deliberately undertaken to break up Senator Brown's home, and that she was at enmity with Mrs. Brown as early as 1901. He brought out the fact that Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Brown had originally been strong friends and that their friendship even extended beyond the time of the birth of Mrs. Bradley's first child by Brown.

Mrs. Bradley was, upon the whole, more composed than preceding days.

The fact that upon first going to Senator Brown's room at the Raleigh hotel Mrs. Bradley found there a letter from Mrs. Annie Adams, the actress, to the senator, was dwelt on at some length by Judge Powers, making it evident that it is his intention to attempt to show that the discoverey of this letter supplied the immediate motive for the killing of Mr. Brown. That letter was read at length.

The only other letters read during the day were three from Mrs. Bradley to Brown which were introduced by Mr. Baker as a part of his cross-examination.

Sailors Give Helen Gould Cup.

New York, Nov. 21.—Five thousand men of the navy have presented Miss Helen Gould with a silver loving cup. This is done in return for a Y. M. C. A. building and furnishings, costing $900,000, the fund for which was furnished equally by Miss Gould and Mrs. Russell Sage. The presentation was made in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. building near the navy yard, and though only $50 men could be spared from the routine work for the occasion, those present included representatives of all war vessels now in the harbor. The bluejackets cheered Miss Gould with a roar that could be heard blocks away when two apprentice seamen pulled while the flags and revealed on a base of roses the cup, which James McNeill, third-class yeoman, afterwards tendered to the woman philanthropist. Rear-Admiral Joseph B. Coghlan, retired, spoke on behalf of the navy, and Rear-Admiral C. S. Sperry made an address for the fleet. Miss Gould gave expression of her appreciation in a characteristic little speech.

MODERN SURGERY.

Its Minute and Elaborate System of Sterilization.

The scene at an operating table in one of our hospitals now would make one of the old masters of surgery stare. The operator himself and all his staff are dressed like the old holy priests of Solomon's temple, wearing white caps and gowns, with the nurses standing around like priestesses all in spotless white, while every one about the table has gone through as many ablutions as befits the occasion of a bloody sacrifice under the auspices of the immaculate goddess of cleanliness. A minute and elaborate ritual has been observed of sterilizing everything—towels, threads, needles, forceps, instruments and what not—while the floor itself is made of glass or glazed tiles rather than of wood. The surgeon himself does not venture to cut the victim till he has put on his sterilized gloves, because he cannot possibly clean his fingers enough. Should any onlooker take his hand out of his pocket to reach for the gaping wound he would be ejected instanter for spoiling the whole performance with his doubting touch.

The results of this vigilant war against microbes are simply marvelous and can be fully appreciated only by those who, like myself, can remember the surgery of former days in hospital wards and on the battlefield.—Everybody's Magazine.

Salvador Frees Political Prisoners.

San Salvador, Republic of Salvador, Nov. 21.—The government has issued a decree granting amnesty to all political prisoners. They were at once set at liberty. The decree also declares that all political exiles should be allowed to return to the country. President Figueron has issued a proclamation to the people of Salvador promising them a fair administration of the national government and urging them to forget past differences and to work in harmony for the prosperity of the country. The state of siege in the republic has been suspended and constitutional guarantees again are effective.

Taft Disappoints Chinese.

Harbin, Manchuria, Nov. 21.—The train which is carrying Secretary Taft and the members of his party from Vladivostok to St. Petersburg arrived here Wednesday. The secretary spent one hour in Harbin. He was met by Frederick D. Fisher, the American consul here, and Willard D. Straight, the American consul-general at Mukden. The Chinese authorities in Manchuria are disappointed that they will have no opportunity of according the secretary special honors. They were anxious to entertain him in order to give evidence of the good will of China toward the United States.

Destroyed Czar's Picture; Were Shot.

Odessa, Nov. 21.—The trial by a special military court of 27 men of the 11th Nicholas I. regiment, on charges of mutiny and insubordination, has come to an end here. Two sergeants and one private, who had destroyed a picture of Emperor Nicholas, were sentenced to death and at once shot; nine other men were sent out to the mines for life; twelve were sent to the mines for ten years, and others were acquitted. The proceedings were secret.

Train No. 14 of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad ran into an open switch derailing two cars, in one of which Mr. Cannon was riding. The speaker's car turned squarely across the track, but miraculously, did not overturn. Beyond being badly shaken up none of the passengers or trainmen were injured.

Peculiarly Injured.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—While engaged in a friendly scramble at football with two of his friends, at his home in Wallingford near here, Frederick E. Platt, a student at the University of Pennsylvania, fell and fractured his spinal column near the base of his neck. His condition is regarded as grave by a surgeon who made an examination with X-rays. Platt retains his mental power but experiences no sensation below the neck.

Two Brakemen Killed.

Grand Rapids, Nov. 21.—Two Pere Marquette brakemen, living in this city, have met death while at work on their trains on different branches of the road. Stephen Unger, 23 years old, and C. B. Ames, 30 years old, were the victims. Unger was walking on top of his train near East Saugatuck when he slipped and fell beneath the cars, the wheels passing over his body. Besides a widow four small children survive him. Ames was working on his train, running between Freeport and Belding, when he was knocked off the side of a box car and crushed under the wheels.

A Letter.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19, 07.
Tecumseh Herald, Tecumseh, Mich.

DEAR SIR:—I was called east suddenly to look over some large offerings in the clothing trade and have succeeded in picking up some exceptionally large bargains to be placed on our tables at Clinton for the Thanksgiving and Holiday trade, never neglecting the question of advertising in an old established paper like the HERALD. I am sending you copy [illegible] Friday's edition.

Very respectfully yours,
C. J. ROBISON.
For Clinton Clothing Co.

While fishing at Wamplers lake one day this summer a well known resident of Morenci, lost his watch. After a diligent search the timepiece was given up. This week while Lynn Halstead of Toledo, was fishing at the lake he pulled in a fine 10 pound pickerel. Hr. Halstead's astonishment can be imagined when he found a watch lodged in the throat of the fish and upon being extracted it was found that the watch was the one lost by the Morenci fisherman and the timepiece was running and had lost only three minutes. The watch being a stem winder and the stem projecting down into the throat, the plausible supposition is that in masticating its food the fish wound up the watch daily. The watch was engraved with the letters C. F. B.—Morenci Observer.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Council Chambers, Village of Tecumseh,

Special meeting held Nov. 18, 1907. President J. H. Combs in the chair.

Present Trustees, Slater, Teachout, Magers, Lowry.

Absent Heesen, Sherman.

The following resolution was offered by Trustee Slater

Whereas: Owing to the present currency stringency, it would be impossible at present to realize the full value upon an immediate issue of the sewer bonds lately authorized.

And, Whereas, it is believed that said bonds can be sold for fall value in January of 1908 but that such sale at that time is at present uncertain.

And, Whereas, it is probable, owing to the present condition of business affairs that if bids for the construction of the sewer of this village, were invited in February of 1908, the bids would be made at no higher figures than at present and probably at lower prices, and it being unwise to contract for the construction of said sewer until there can be greater certainty of realizing full value upon said bonds.

It is hereby resolved, That all bids heretofore received for the construction of the sewer be and are hereby rejected, and that the clerk of this village be instructed to return to the parties entitled thereto, all certified checks in his hands deposited by bidders for sewer contract.

Being supported by Trustee Lowry, said resolution was adopted unnamiously.

Moved and supported that Council adjourn.

W. L. JONES, Clerk.

"What shall we eat?"

Every day it's the same old question, "What shall we eat for breakfast, for luncheon, for dinner?" assails with monotonous regularity the patient housewife who seeks to provide good living for the family in agreeable variety at a moderate cost. The Chicago Record-Herald has gone far toward solving the problem by devoting space to three departments on this all important topic in its various issues. "Meals for a Day" which appears daily gives the daily menu and the necessary recipes. Housewives everywhere are invited to participate in the contest and weekly prizes are offered for the best menus.

Marion Harland's Sunday page gives weekly a list of selected recipes which if clipped and pasted in a scrap book make a most valuable collection. "Martha's Management," which appears on Mouday, is filled with good advice and helpful hints to the housewife

A hard debt to pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid" writes G. E. Clark of Westfield, Ia., "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were seriously affected and death seemed imminent when I commenced taking this remedy. The ominous hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used and two more bottles cured me." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for colds, throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

"BEN HUR"

Again to be staged in Toledo.

Toledo is to have another "Ben Hur" season. General Wallace's awe-inspiring tale of the Christ so stupendously staged by the Klaw & Erlanger Co. is to fill the week of Dec. 9 at the Valentine theatre. In addition to the six evening performances matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

"Ben-Hur" with its lustrous Star of Bethlehem, its camels, Arabian steeds, oriental trappery, and mimic splendor of the "gorgeous East" is beyond dispute the most elaborate spectacle ever staged in the history of the world. Its series of 17 scenes present to the eye a feast of multifarious beauty and variety all set to a symphonic accompaniment of graceful music. The exciting episodes, such as the galley scene with its horde of chained slaves, the sea-fight, rescue in mid-sea and the thrilling race with three chariots and twelve horses, combined with the picturesque scenes illustrating the wise men in the desert, the moonlit lake in the Orchard of Palms where Ben Hur and Iras enjoy seclusion and make love in Iras' barge, the palm-waving worshippers on Mount Olivet, and the Grove of Daphne with its nymphs dancing in the skins of beasts to the music of kissing cymbals, simply captivate audiences wherever it is enacted.

"Ben Hur" appeals to all ages and all denominations of the christian faith and draws to it as to a place of worship thousands, who seldom, if ever, go to the theatre. The Saviour never appears bodily in the play, yet in the scene in which the healing of the lepers is implied the approach of the Master indicated by a stream of pure white light and heightened in impressiveness by the singing of a chorus of 100 voices joining in "Hosannas" of praise to the Lord.

The seat sale will open on Thursday Dec. 5. Mail orders with remittance will be promptly attended to. All communications should be addressed to the manager of the Valentine Theatre, Toledo, Ohio.

PLAN TO FIGHT DISEASE.

Druggists will battle stomach troubles in Tecumseh.

The increase of stomach troubles in Tecumseh has led C. A. Wright & Son to take effective measures to combat the disease. They have the local agency for Mi o a stomach tablets, and in order to induce people suffering with weak stomach or indigestion to use the remedy, offer to supply it with the distinct understanding that money will be refunded in every case where it does not cure.

Mi-o-na is not a mere digestive, but an absolute strengthener and builder-up of the whole digestive tract. If you suffer with headaches, giddiness, palpitation, bad taste in the mouth, nervousness, coated tongue, distress after eating, use Mi-o-na and see how quickly these symptoms of a weak stomach disappear.

The remedy strengthens the muscular walls of the stomach and increases the flow of gastric juices so that nourishment is extracted from the food and the refuse is expelled without the aid of purgative or laxative medicines.

Strengthen the stomach and make it do its own work by using Mi-o-na. Do not fuss or nurse it along by digestive tablets that do no lasting good. Make a complete cure of your stomach troubles and replace weakness with strength by using Mi-o-na.

Remember that C. A. Wright & Son give a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures. They take all risk, and there is no danger of you losing anything except indigestion when you buy a 50c box of Mi-o-na.

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Tecumseh readers cannot doubt what has been twice proven.

In gratitude for complete relief from the pains of bad backs, from kidney ills, thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Tecumseh people who so testified now say their cures were permanent. This doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to local kidney sufferers.

S. Erskine, living on Evans street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "For 10 years I was troubled with kidney complaint and pains in my back. It was always more severe after hard work or if I lifted anything. I was annoyed at night by the too frequent action of the kidneys which greatly disturbed my rest. The secretions were highly colored and showed much sediment. On using Doan's Kidney Pills I felt better and stronger than I had for a long time. This was 5 years ago and I was so grateful that I gave a statement for publication. I think just as highly of them today as I did then and am glad of the opportunity to recommend them that others may be led to try this remedy and receive the same results I did."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's—and take no other.

Railroad Need Not Adhere to Two-Cent Rate.

COMMISSION SO DECLARES.

Constitutional Convention Does Not Propose to Put Time Limit on Submission of Proposals—Two Candidates to Succeed Bishop.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 21.—The state railroad commission holds that the Chicago, Kalamazoo & Saginaw Railway company may charge three cents a mile on its line for passengers.

Ever since the two-cent fare law went into effect numerous complaints have come to the commission relative to the rates in force on this road. In this first decision of the new commission much care was exercised in investigating the matter. As reason for the action taken the commission states that the capital stock of the road is owned in equal shares by the Michigan Central and Lake Shore railroad companies, each of which operates under the two-cent law.

The Chicago, Kalamazoo & Saginaw railway is operated independently; however, from either of these companies and it is the opinion of the commission, as well as of the attorney general, that in view of the decisions of the courts the railway could not be required to come under a two-cent basis on account of its relation with the Michigan Central and Lake Shore companies. Its earnings are under the $1,200 limit specified in the law.

The constitutional convention Wednesday rejected a committee report to have no proposals for amendments introduced after Dec. 10. Delegate C. M. Burton of Detroit raised the point that the doors should not be closed until the last day of the convention to any citizen of Michigan who had an idea that he wanted to contribute. The convention could not hear too much from the people, he believes.

Twelve proposals were submitted at Wednesday's session.

Ludington, Mich., Nov. 21.—Major Loomis, private secretary to Governor Warner, has been in the city testing the political barometer, on the question of a successor to R. P. Bishop, who resigned from the constitutional convention to accept an appointment on the Spanish war claims commission.

O. N. Craner and H. C. Hutton, both prominent lawyers, are in the field for the position. Mr. Craner claims right to the honor by virtue of having been a candidate for the position at the primaries.

It is thought the majority of Mason county Republicans, however, favor Mr. Hutton who has the indorsement of the majority of county officers and of the county committee.

MRS. CONNOLLY GUILTY.

Convicted of Manslaughter in Superior Court at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Clara Connolly has been found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in the superior court. She was charged with the murder of her husband, James Sweeney, in their room on Commerce street.

The woman put up the claim that she acted in self-defense, and that the shot was fired while her husband was attacking her because she refused to lead a life of shame. The jury was out about five hours.

When the verdict was [illegible] the woman broke down, and burying her face in her hands, wept bitterly.

Rebuke to Adventists.

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 21.—Though expelled from the Adventist church Elder George C. Tenney has been notified by the Ministerial union of Battle Creek that their invitation asking him to deliver the annual Thanksgiving day sermon still holds good. The decision, reflecting the opinion of practically all of the churches in the city, is taken as an open rebuke to the Adventists who expelled Tenney and Dr. John H. Kellogg. Tenny's sermon will be delivered in the Independent Congregational church.

Hunters Accidentally Shoot Man.

Owosso, Mich., Nov. 21.—Roscoe Hart and Stanley Wallace, business men of Perry, stopped in the city en route home from a hunting trip to the north woods. They were in the upper peninsula a week, and their trip was cut short by the accidental shooting of another hunter by Hart. He had emptied his gun at a bevy of partridge, when he found he had wounded a man, who lay writhing on the ground with two loads of buckshot in his back. Wallace, who is an undertaker and has had considerable experience in surgical work, removed several of the shot from the injured man's back with his pocket knife. Then the hunters built a stretcher out of saplings and carried the injured man to a farm house, three miles distant, where medical aid was secured. The man shot declined to disclose his identity. After being assured that the wounded man would recover Hart and Wallace lost no time in getting home.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ECZEMA

Cured in less than four weeks.

Those who have had experience with this stubborn disease can hardly believe at first that Wonderful Dream Salve can and does cure Eczema.

There is no doubt about the matter whatever. A great many letters are on file in our office from grateful patients, telling of the quick and easy way in which Wonderful Dream Salve has removed all traces of this torturing skin affliction.

Mr. John T. Kealey, a well-known business man, located in the Stevens Bldg., Detroit, Mich., was recently cured of a bad case of Eczema of fourteen years' standing. After treating with many doctors and taking many remedies without relief, Mr. Kealey was induced to try Wonderful Dream Salve, and in four weeks was entirely cured. He says:

"I certainly consider this a remarkable cure, inasmuch as I have spent hundreds of dollars in the fourteen years of annoyance with this troublesome itching skin ailment. I have since the cure of my case heard of other cures, some of them even more remarkable than mine, which go toward demonstrating the value of Wonderful Dream Salve as a great skin healer."

If you have Eczema, why not try a box of Wonderful Dream Salve. If it fails, your druggist will refund your money. Isn't that fair enough? Keep it in your home for Chilblains, Chapped hands, Piles, Cuts, Burns, Frost-bites, Boils and Sores of any kind. You will never use anything else. 25c a box at your druggist or mailed prepaid direct.

"THE STORE THAT TREATS YOU FAIR"

FACTS AND FIGURES.

All argue in favor of our goods and our methods. What we say is substantiated by the evidence of our stock. The argument of careful selection is beyond dispute—its here to be seen almost at a glance.

The argument of genuine values is every bit as plain. Our plan keeps out everything doubtful. The argument of low prices then comes to cinch the matter.

For the person who studies his or her own gain there is nothing left to do but visit this store at any time that there is a Jewelery buying in contemplated. Always glad to show you—for seeing is believing.

COULD NOT AGREE.

Jury Discharged in Steve Adams Murder Case.

Rathdrum, Ida., Nov. 25.—The jury in the Steve Adams murder case has been discharged, being unable to agree on a verdict, after being out for 24 hours. The jury stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction.

Jurymen J. F. House, Charles Dittamore, D. L. Garwood and S. A. Varnum were the four men who believed Steve Adams guilty of the murder of Fred Tyler in the Marble Creek district of Shoshone county, Ida., in August, 1904.

POSTPONE THAW TRIAL.

Those Concerned Hesitate in Beginning Proceedings So Near Holidays.

New York, Nov. 25.—The second trial of Harry Kendall Thaw, set for one week from today, will again be postponed, and there is little chance that it will be called until some date well along in January.

The decision to ask for a postponement has been agreed to by both sides. It is due partly to the fact that the task of selecting a jury would be made doubly hard by the approach of the holidays and the prospect before the talesmen of spending both Christmas and New Year's day locked up under the care of court bailiffs, and also to the fact that Thaw's counsel has applied to the court for permission to inspect the secret evidence presented before the lunacy commission during the progress of the first trial.

As an added cause for delay there is a rumor that the attorneys now representing Thaw may apply for a change of venue declaring that a fair trial for their client in New York county is impossible. Such a move, if made, would be based upon the alleged unfriendly attitude of many of the local papers and the extent to which the evidence was printed and read in this community. District Attorney Jerome will seriously oppose the granting of a change in the scene of the trial.

CUBA'S POPULATION.

Census Taking Completed—Estimated There Are 2,000,000 People.

Havana, Nov. 25.—With the completion of the enumeration of the population of Cuba there has been accomplished the first step in the direction of the termination of " American intervention and the re-establishment of the Cuban republic. While officially described as a census, this enumeration was actually an enforced registration of voters, the determination of the population of the island being of scant importance compared to that of registering all persons entitled to the electoral franchise, in order to insure the purity of election of the next Cuban president. No pains have been spared to accomplish this, but pending the difficult task of tabulating, the results probably will not be known for some weeks. Taking precedence of all other features of the census is the preparation of the registration lists by municipalities and wards. These naturally will be subjected to much revision involving considerable delay.

An estimate by one of the most accomplished statisticians in the service of the provisional government places the population of the island at 2,000,000, of which about 400,000 are foreigners, who are not entitled to the franchise.

To even speculate on the outcome of the next election is futile owing to the confusion consequent on the dissensions in the liberal party and the undefined attitude of the conservatives.

MANY PLANS IN HAND

Cortelyou Considers Legislation for Improving Currency.

MAY FOLLOW FRANCE'S PLAN

Establish Central Bank—Proposition Finds Much Favor—Bids Coming In For Panama Bonds — Banks May Soon Resume Cash Payments.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Details of many new projects for improving the currency are being submitted to the president and Secretary Cortelyou and are receiving such attention as the other exigencies of the financial situation permit.

Measures relating directly to the currency which are being discussed among bankers and incoming members of congress may be roughly grouped under four heads, a central bank of issue; a central organization of the existing national banks; the issue of additional circulation against various classes of bonds other than United States bonds, and the issue of circulation upon general assets with the security of a gurenty fund.

The project of a central bank, based upon the general outlines of the Bank of France or the Imperial Bank of Germany, has apparently been attracting more attention of late than at any previous time in recent years. Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota, who is a member of the finance committee, has announced that he will introduce a bill for such an institution. Mr. Wexler, vice-president of the Whitney-Central National bank of New Orleans, is openly in favor of a central bank.

Ridgeley Changes His Mind.

It is considerel somewhat significant in some quarters that Mr. Ridgely, the comptroller of the currency, has just declared for a central bank of issue after having in previous reports recommended only a general credit currency for the existing banks. The utterances of Mr. Ridgely are not, however, considered to commit the administration, since Treasurer Treat has a different plan which he is advocating whenever he is invited to deliver a public address on the subject.

It is so long since a central bank existed, or was even seriously discussed in the United States, that there is much difference of opinion as to the details of the organization. Those who advocate it generally insist, however, that the secretary of the treasury and the comptroller of the currency should be ex-officio members of the board of directors, and that the president should appoint or approve the selection of the head of the bank.

The project of combination among the national banks through their clearing house committees or otherwise, to guarantee a special circulation in case of emergency, is embodied in several plans which have been submitted to the secretary of the treasury. While these plans are declared by experts to have some degree of merit it is feared that they are too complicated to receive serious attention in congress.

Most of the plans presented at previous sessions of congress have dealt with the question of increasing the elasticity of the circulation issued by local national banks by permitting issues on other security than United States bonds. There is a radical difference of opinion, however, between two schools of thought as to the nature of these additional issues.

Will Be Over-Subscribed.

The events of the past week in the financial situation relative to the offer by the government to receive bids for $50,000,000 in two per cent bonds for Panama canal construction and offers at par for $100,000,000 in treasury certificates running one year at three per cent indicate they will be oversubscribed. The mail bringing offers from national banks for the Panama bonds is very heavy. The envelopes will not be opened until the time for receiving bids closes on Saturday next.

A weekly statement of the New York clearing house banks shows a decrease in required reserves of less than half a million dollars. This has created a favorable impression in banking circles.

It is hoped that it will soon be possible to resume cash payments at all principal banking centers. Bankers from Chicago, New Orleans and other cities declare that they are ready to resume as soon as New York gives the signal.

TALK OF REVOLUTION.

Conditions Not Altogether Harmonious in Portugal.

KING STANDS BY PREMIER.

Manner In Which Finances Are Handled Displeases Subjects—Premier Franco Insists That People and Soldiers Are Still Loyal.

Paris, Nov. 25.—Reports representing that Portugal is on the eve of a revolution are received here with caution, as dispatches coming directly from that country have been censored, and those indirectly across the frontier are held more or less under suspicion.

Both the reports of the banishment of the crown prince and the mutiny of the fleet are denied by the Portugal embassy here; nevertheless, the making of arrests, the suspension of a newspaper and other repressive measures which have been taken by what Premier Franco terms "an administrative distatorship" seems conclusive that matters in Portugal have entered upon a critical phase.

This condition undoubtedly has been precipitated by the interview with King Carlos which was published last week in which he announced his absolute faith in Premier Franco. The parliamentary opposition, which has been stirring up the country for months past, expected by a gigantic demonstration planned for Jan. 2 next to force the king to dismiss Premier Franco, but his majesty's bold endorsement of the dictatorship removes this abruptly, consolidating the entire opposition in the direction of republicanism.

Republic Inevitable.

Senor Liua, the proprietor of the newspaper Vanguardia of Lisbon, which was suppressed, is now in Paris, and he considers that a republic is inevitable and that the issue will be decided before Jan. 1. He declares that the people are hostile to a dynasty and that the army is disaffected.

"If the king cedes," he said, "there will be a peaceful republic as in the case of Brazil. If he does not there will be revolution with all its violent consequences."

A correspondent of The Temps, who has just returned after an investigation of affairs in Portugal, and who has had interviews with King Carlos, Premier Franco and opposition leaders, makes clear that the situation is the outgrowth of scandalous political conditions and affairs which have been endured for years.

Premier Franco, when he assumed the dictatorship, cut off the parliamentary sinecures, arousing the fury not only of the politicians but of the courtiers as well; even the queen. On the other hand, he legalized money "advances" to the king, which were never returned and increased his allowances by decree on the ground that the civil list was so insufficient that the royal family were obliged to sell the crown jewels, mortgage their property and hypothecate their holdings of government bonds.

Premier Franco, according to the correspondent, insists that the people, with the military, are loyal to the king and that the surface effervescence has been engineered by the politicians.

Lisbon, Nov. 25.—A government decree just issued, in addition to extending the life of the decrees against the press until the Cortes assembles, under which eight papers of Lisbon and Oporto were suppressed, creates an extraordinary tribunal to judge without juries persons concerned in conspiracies or attempts, public or non-public, to provoke risings against social order and the security of the state.

The decree permits an appeal to the court of cassation, but gives the court the right only to annul or confirm the sentence of the tribunal.

Opera Singer Commits Suicide.

Berlin, Nov. 25.—Theodor Bertram, the celebrated opera singer, has committed suicide at Bayreuth. He had been melancholy and despondent since the death of his wife, who was drowned on Feb. 21 last in the wreck of the steamship Berlin, off the Hook of Holland. Theodor Bertram's most successful roles were Wagnerian and he made his greatest reputation as Wotan.

Self made men are usually egotists, because they worship their creator.

You can't be well if you have a weak unhealthy, tired out stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. These little stomach troubles are signs of indigestion, which may and very often does turn into a very bad case of dyspepsia. Don't allow this to go on a single day without doing something to overcome it. Take some good reliable and safe digestant like Kodol for dyspepsia. Kodol is the best remedy known today for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by B. J. Pulver

FRENCH RED TAPE.

A Professor, His Lobsters and Some Casks of Sea Water.

Last year a professor became of the Paris universities received to study the habits of lobsters in his laboratory. As they live in salt water, the first care of the professor was of course to procure a supply of the sea water. The common mortal will probably consider it a most simple task, requiring only a few barrels of sea water. This, however, is not so in France. Sea water contains salt, and the production of salt is a source of revenue. This made it necessary for the professor to first obtain the permission of the minister of finance before he could travel and transport the water. When his application reached the minister, the subordinate official was directed to inquire into the standing of the petitioner. This involved considerable correspondence, which passed through numerous channels and finally reached the chief of the department, who now initiated another investigation in order to ascertain why a Parisian professor should be so anxious to lower the level of the Atlantic ocean. After several weeks the inspector made favorable report. Some days later the petitioner was notified of the favorable consideration of his request in the usual elaborate official language, accompanied by circulars giving extracts from the penal code relative to infringements of the salt monopoly.

Finally, after months of waiting, the professor was enabled to have some casks filled with salt water at a designated point on the seashore, of course under the supervision of another official, who duly issued a permit for the transportation of the liquid into the interior.

COSTLY RAZORS.

Some Gold Handled That Sell For $50. Handles of Silver and of Ivory.

If a man were content to shave himself with a razor having a hard rubber handle, as indeed most men are, he could buy one with a blade of very excellent quality for a dollar, but there are razors far more expensive than this.

Thus there are sold razors with handles of 18 carat gold and of plain smooth finish that bring $50 each. A pair of such razors in a plain silver box can be bought for a hundred dollars.

But $50 is not the limit of what one may pay for a gold handled razor. If the handle were elaborately chased its cost might mount up to twice that, or $200 for a pair.

There are also sold, among those more expensive, silver handled razors which range in price from $6.50 to $30 each, $15 being the price for one with a plain silver handle, while those more costly have their handles more or less elaborately chased or carved.

A man who did not altogether like a hard rubber handled razor might find his fancy suited with one having a handle of ivory, and an ivory handled razor need not necessarily be expensive. A razor with a plain ivory handle can be bought for $2. Of course any carving would add to the cost.

Costly razors are usually sold for gifts.—New York Sun.

"Crocodile Tears."

The phrase "crocodile tears" owes its origin to the imagination of some of the old travelers, who invented the fable that the crocodile weeps over its prey. One of the earliest English globe trotters to mention this fiction was Sir John Mandeville, who in his "Travels" (1499), speaking of "Ethiop," "Ynde" and an "Yle clept Silla," says:

"That Lond is full of Serpents and of Cokadrilles. These Cokadrilles ben a manner of Long Serpente, zalowe and rayed aboven, and had four Feete and schorte Thyes and grete Nayles as Clees or Talouns, and there ben sume that had five Fadme in length and sume of six and a halfendal. And in the nyght thei dwellen in the Water and on the Day wen upon the Lond. Theise Serpentes slue men, and thei eten hem weypnge, and when thei eten thei moven the over Jowe and noughte the nether Jowe, and thei have no tonge."—St. Louis Republic.

HER ECONOMY.

She Wasn't Ashamed of It, but Didn't Like It Advertised.

"Of course," said the pretty schoolteacher who had just returned from her long vacation trip to Europe—"of course foreign labels slapped all over a suit case may give it an interesting look, and they certainly indicate that one has been abroad, but I don't feel very proud of the record pasted on my bag. The trouble with it is that I had to economize frightfully while I was in Europe in order to have the trip at all, and I had to stop at the very cheapest hotels I could find. It seemed as if those Europeans were determined to conduct a large advertising campaign through the medium of my suit case, for I couldn't escape their labels.

"I tried in every possible way to prevent the porters from getting hold of my luggage long enough to take it out from under my eyes, but they would grab it up, run away with it to some secret place and come back proudly displaying another huge label stuck to it. In every case I noticed, with additional pain, that the cheaper the hotel was the larger the label it used. It happens that I have a few really swell acquaintances in New York, who know Europe like a book, and they'll take it all in at a glance. Of course I'm not ashamed of having economized, yet I don't exactly care to flaunt my poverty. I only wish the foreign hotels would allow us a choice in the matter."—New York Press.

War and Waur.

He was a gallant colonel of militia, but scarcely a good horseman. Owning even large and popular emporiums on even the best of Edinburgh's best streets does not of itself breed centaurs.

His mount was fresh to an extreme, and the silent figure of Sir Walter Scott, looking down upon the assembling troops from its marble pedestal, may well have expected to see an accident. That, too, was probably the thought of a small street urchin who loitered just out of reach of the prancing hoofs.

"Boy, get away!" exclaimed the ruffled rider testily. "Have you never seen a war horse?"

"Aye," came the answer, "but never a water rider."—Dundee Advertiser.

In the Smoker.

"What's my state? Wash.—and the richest state in the whole Union."

"According to that," remarked the traveler from Pittsburg, "I hail from one th only for pigs—or literary men."

"Wealthy sinners ought to settle in my state," was the contribution of the Bostonian.

The man from Nashville closed the conversation. "This is too smart a crowd for me," he said, "and yet my state can beat any nine others you fellows can pick out."—New York Times.

He Knew the Step.

A young constable arrived in a certain borough in Scotland and in the course of duty found it essential to apprehend a very old offender. Arrived at the police station, he ushered him into the cells with the comment, "Mind the step."

"Gae awa', man," said the prisoner, with contempt. "I kent the step afore ye was born."—Dundee Advertiser.

What She Was After.

"Well," replied the beautiful heiress, "what do we care? I get it, don't I?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Suspicion and jealousy never did help any man in any situation.—Lincoln.

More Important.

"Did I understand you to say," asked Mrs. Chatters, "that your husband had no vocation?"

"Worse than that," replied the minister's wife. "I said he'd had no vacation."—Philadelphia Press.

Nine Go Up In Balloon.

Pittsfield, Mass., Nov. 25.—A balloon flight of more than ordinary interest starts from this city today, when a party of nine will go up in the big balloon All America, for a long distance voyage in the air. For all but three members of the party this will be their first ballooning experience. Leo Stevens, the New York aeronaut, will pilot the car, and his companions will be A. Holland Forbes, F. Forbes and White are the only ones who have ever made a balloon ascension. The balloon, All America, was used by Captain C. F. Chandler and J. S. McCoy in the recent international race from St. Louis, and has a capacity of 77,000 cubic feet.

ROUND ABOUT US.

Among those burned out by the fire at Prattville Saturday night were Geo. Elliott. His stock was worth about $4,000 and was insured for $1,900. It is estimated that about $2,000 worth was saved and this was dumped into an old church building across the road just as it was carried from the burning building.—Onsted News.

A party living near town, who purchased an overcoat from the representatives of the Chicago Supply Co., operating here several weeks ago, now has five pieces of goods on his hands and a note for $49.50 to pay instead of the original $9.50. These swindling hawkers sold this overcoat, which he had cut and made, and for which he says he gave his note for $8.50. Following came the other piece of goods, not mentioned in the contract, and his note for $9.50 had been raised to $49.50. The case will be looked up by the authorities.—Homer Vidette.

A colt belonging to Dewitt Jennings, north of the city, was sick last Monday, and when Mr. J. was handling it he was bitten viciously on the hand three times. Then the colt had what seemed to be a fit, and died. About three weeks ago a dog in the neighborhood showed signs of hydrophobia, and was killed. It was noticed that the colt had been bitten or scratched on the nose at the time. It is now thought the colt was bitten by the dog.—Hudson Post.

Mrs. Adam Ruth, near West Unity, was terribly bruised and narrowly escaped death from the attack of a cow she attempted to untie in its stall, after she had milked the animal, that had never before let a women milk her. After the milking Mrs. Ruth stepped to the manger, to untie and turn the animal out. The cow then attacked Mrs. Ruth, butting her viciously. She jumped into the manger and called for help. The cow continued its attack until it heard her daughter come into the barn in response to her mother's call. She told her mother to jump out of the manger. Before the woman could get out of the stall the cow again attacked her, knocking her to the floor and continuing to strike the woman with its feet until the daughter was able to pull her mother from the cow stable. Mrs. Ruth was unconscious for a time, and it was found that the cow had bruised her chest, head, arms and limbs in a terrible manner. It was thought for a time she could not recover.—Hudson Post.

General Passenger Agent John J. Kirby of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad, Monday announced that the trains of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton will hereafter run into Toledo, both passenger and freight. The route will be over the Ann Arbor lines from Dundee to Toledo. From Toledo to Napoleon the route will be over the Wabash tracks.

As it is now, the D. T. & I. trains between Dundee and Tecumseh run over the Lake Shore. The Tecumseh people will be as well served as before, but that division will be operated as a branch line.

The distance from Detroit to Toledo over the new route is exactly the same as over the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, 65 miles. Both passenger and freight trains will take the new route. The placing of Toledo on the main line is considered an important move and preliminary to running through trains between Detroit and Ironton. The change will go into effect on Dec. 1.—Detroit Free Press.

A Letter.

Longmont, Colo., Nov. 21.

Mr Stacy, Tecumseh.

DEAR SIR:—Your favor of the 19th was received with pleasure. After being here for two weeks it seemed good to hear from home again. My paper is going to be late each time, but I believe it will be quite welcome at any rate. We are here two weeks today and are very much pleased with the climate, also the country. The town is a very pretty place. Thanking you again for sending me the paper, I remain as ever, yours truly.

A. C. CHEEVER.

That no one knows what a day may bring forth was announced with no uncertain sound last Monday when it was reported that Mrs. Wm. Smith had been called to her eternal rest. No one was prepared for this sudden news. Mrs. Smith had been apparently in her usual good health and had complained of no indisposition. During the forenoon she had done a large washing out of doors back of the house. Failing to finish her work before the noon hour she prepared dinner for her family as was her wont. After dinner Mr. Smith returned to his work in the fields. The children were in school and so Mrs. Smith was left quite alone save for the little baby who was playing near her. Clearing away the dishes she returned to her work out of doors and was evidently engaged in clearing away the muss when death claimed her. At 3 o'clock Joseph Smith her husband's father, went to the house and discovered her lifeless form on the ground near the tubs. The alarm was given. Dr. Haynes was opportunly visiting a patient across the street and was soon on the scene as were several of the neighbors. A careful investigation was made and all possible data taken. There were no indications of any act of violence, foul play or self destruction. The unanimous verdict of all present was that death came as a result of heat failure. Mrs. Smith whose maiden name was Ada Cook, was born in Tecumseh. About 16 years ago she was wedded to Wm Smith and to them were given 4 children, the oldest of whom is about 14 years of age. Many relatives and friends are left to mourn her untimely demise. The funeral was held Wednesday. Interment in London cemetery.—Dundee Reporter.

Mrs. Geo. W. Totten

Louisa J. Woodward was born Oct. 19, 1824, near Rome, Oneida county, New York, and died in Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 6, 1907, aged 83 years and 18 days. She came to Michigan with her parents when about 16 years of age. The family came to Tecumseh, Lenawee county where she lived for over 40 years. At the age of 22 years she was married in Tecumseh to Geo. W. Totten. Mr. Totten was a flour and feed merchant for many years. In 1882 the family moved to Kalamazoo where Mrs. Totten made her home for the rest of her life. Mr. Totten was superintendent of the Coldstream mills and afterwards with the Den Bleyker Manufacturing Co., where he was hurt while adjusting macoluery. This accident caused his death one week later. He died March 13, 1887.

Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Totten all in Tecumseh. Three died in infancy and three lived to survive their mother, Mrs. Delle Harmon and Miss Mary Totten of Kalamazoo, and Eugene Totten of Buffalo, N. Y. There is one grandson, A. G. Harmon, of Kalamazoo and two great grandchildren.

Mrs. Totten was converted when 16 years of age and joined the Methodist Episcopal church in Tecumseh. Upon her coming to this city she united with the First M. E. church by letter and was an honored member until her death. She was a member of the M. E. church 67 years. Mrs. Totten was a devout christian woman devoted to the church and a faithful attendant. She was particularly interested in the Woman's Home Missionary society.

Mrs. Totten was a patient, cheerful, kindly woman. She was greatly devoted to the sick and spent much time in visiting and caring for them. One who knew her well says, "She was always doing something of that kind in the neighborhood."

Mrs. Totten lived a good and beautiful life and died a beautiful death. She had cared for others and in her age and feebleness she received the most constant and tender care from her daughters.

The funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Arba Martin of the first Methodist Episcopal church of Kalamazoo, and by Rev. Dr. W. M. Puffer, presiding elder of Kalamazoo district, who had been her pastor for six years.—Kalamazoo Evening Telegraph.

One of the most beautiful sights seen in many a day was observed at an early hour some time ago on Round lake, where a large flock of white swans were seen gracefully swimming around and feeding on the tender acquatic foliage growing on the lake's bottom. Every swan in the flock excepting two or three were pure white and they presented a most beautiful sight as they floated around, their white coats glistening in the early morning sun light. The birds were very wild and spectators were unable to approach.—Onsted News.

AMUSEMENTS.

"It is a tax on the memory to recall its equal" is what the New York Times said about "Our New Minister" at the time of its first presentation in New York City where it ran for 100 nights at the American theatre. The favorable mention that this piece has received has been the same everywhere, in small one, night stands and in the largest of cities. It will be seen at the New Bradley, Tuesday, Dec 3 and every detail of production, effects and cast will be seen that has been seen elsewhere during the last six years.

It is said that two can play any game but as a general rule one only thinks he can.

FEDERATION

Of Women's Clubs of Tecumseh met with

MRS. WM. ALBERT

Last Thursday Evening. Work planned for coming year.

Tecumseh Town Federation Women's Clubs held one of its most successful meetings at the home of Mrs. Wm. Albert last Thursday evening. Miss Florence Linton with some instrumental music was the first number on the program and Miss Carrie Sawyer, acting as secretary in the absence of Mrs. A. W. Mills, read the minutes of the previous meeting. The president, Mrs. N. A. Howland, announced that this was a program of suggestions for the winter's work and called upon Mrs. J. J. Belcher, president of Research Circle to contribute her views as to what a Town Federation might do.

Mrs. Belcher spoke very earnestly in favor of a curfew ordinance and thought club women might propose the matter to the proper authorities and see it carried out. Mrs. Albert, president of the Monday club, being called on, proposed an old fashioned 4th of July celebration as a lesson in patriotism to the younger generation and suggested that the reading of the Declaration of Independence, some good speeches and singing and a picnic dinner would be conducive to that end.

Mrs. Howland, president of the Federation, spoke in favor of a night school at which instruction in the common branches, sewing and cooking, should be given by club women, each woman volunteering to teach one hour a day once a week a class in some of these branches.

Miss Edith Magers, accompanied by Miss Grace Albert, sang delightfully after which Mrs. Thos. Mingay expressed it as her opinion that good work for club women would be to see that the law was enforced regarding the selling of cigarettes to minors and make some other reforms along that line. Mrs. Mingay was supported in this as was also Mrs. Belcher's proposition, by Mrs. A. B. Smith, Mrs. Eugene Camburn, Mrs. Andrew Wilson, Mrs. Vincent Bryan and others.

Mrs. F. O. Tefft read a short paper containing excerpts from the report of the State Historical Association in regard to marking historical places and preserving historical landmarks. Mrs J. D. Shull followed with a paper on Mrs. Abbie Evans, the first white woman to live in this county and both these ladies, Mrs. Tefft and Mrs. Shull, recommended the placing of a boulder by club women to mark the spot where the first log house, the first home in the county, was located. The sentiment was generally approved and a committee formed at once to carry out the idea.

Mrs. S. W. Temple thought that a very fitting work for the clubs to undertake at this season of the year was to make Thanksgiving contributions to charity. Twenty-five ladies immediately responded and gave their names to Mrs. Temple as willing to assist in this work. A committee was formed of which Mrs. Temple was chairman, to receive and distribute such contributions on Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Temple's.

Mrs. Simmons then rendered a piano solo for the entertainment of all. All of these plans were met with hearty support. Mrs. Hoag proposed that a supper be given to forward the boulder movement and Mrs Henry Wilson was asked to act as chairman of such committee and Mesdames Thos. Mingay, Crane, Will Hall, Andrew Wilson, Vincent Bryan, Misses Mary Whitelock and Lizzie Smith have the matter in charge. Cards were passed about each inscribed with a different line of work and the ladies were asked to enlist under one of these causes. Every card was returned full of names. Some agreed to work for all the objects proposed.

Refreshments were served, a social hour enjoyed and the ladies went home feeling that there are plenty of things to be done. This work is not to be confined to club women alone, especially the charity offering. Any lady who has any gifts of food or clothing or reading matter which she would like to give is earnestly requested to send or bring it to Mrs. S. W. Temple's residence some time during the forenoon of Wednesday, and any farmer who has a boulder on his farm that would be suitable to mark the place of our first settler and which he is willing to donate for this purpose will he kindly notify the president or secretary of the society.

Who is desirous of attending a night school at which any of the common branches will be taught, tuition free and any club woman or other person who is willing to assist in the teaching of such classes will they also please notify some of the officers of the town federation.

A hard debt to pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid" writes G. E. Clark of Westfield, Ia., "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were seriously affected and death seemed imminent when I commenced taking this remedy. The ominous hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used and two more bottles cured me." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for colds, throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by C. A Wright & Son, druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

The charitable man never had to wait long to get busy.

SOUTH MICHIGAN

League Meeting held in Detroit on Monday.

CIRCUIT

And business matters for next year is talked over.

Members of the South Michigan League met in Detroit Monday at the Griswold house for the annual meeting and attended to all of the business matters of the league. The only change in the league which came up at this meeting was through the application of A. S. Burkart, owner of Mt. Clemens for transfer of his franchise to Saginaw.

This matter was not decided but a committe consisting of Messrs. Heesen, Tecumseh; Black, Battle Creek; and Morrissey of Lansing, were appointed to look up the Saginaw situation and report at the meeting held in the Downey House in Lansing on Dec. 9. This committee was also appointed to inquire into the applications of all the towns desirous of entering the league for the season of 1908. The towns that talk of entering are Muskegon, Port Huron and Jackson.

The Free Press contained the following in regard to Tecumseh:

The Tecumseh delegation was on hand strong and laughed at reports that they might not continue. The league ordered a pennant from A. G. Spalding & Bros. for the littlest town, which won the championship this year and from the talk of the meeting it is suspected that the day on which this flag is thrown to the breeze the Tecumseh folks will show the real reason why, in baseball, they are know as the Indians.

The election of officers was passed over to the Lansing meeting. Trade was talked but none were made. Few changes will be made in the management of the various clubs. Myers says he is done with base ball, this will make a change at Kalamazoo. Deneau will be back at Battle Creek, Slear is expected to again take care of Tecumseh, Taylor at Bay City, Morrissey at Lansing. Flint will have to name their manager and Burkart is keeping quiet the name of the one who will manage his Mt. Clemens or Saginaw team.

Now is the time

To order your winter suit if you have not done so already. We can truly say that we have never before had a more beautiful line of fabrics than this year and strange to say with everything the price have not gone up. Try and see. Price and quality alright same as always. J. M. JONES & SON, The Tailors.

THOUSANDS CURED.

Wonderful success of Hyomei in curing catarrh, even in chronic stages.

Hyomei is the most unusual remedy ever known for the cure of catarrh.

It follows nature in her methods of treating diseases of the respiratory organs, as its healing, balsams are taken in with the air you breathe, thus reaching the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs that may be present.

Relief comes with almost the first breath of Hyomei, while lasting and complete cure follows its faithful use. There is hardly a town or village in the whole country where there are not many who have been cured by this natural treatment. In Tecumseh C. A. Wright & Son can tell you of customers who have been cured of catarrh, by Hyomei, many of them after they had given up all hope of even relief.

Be wise in time and use Hyomei at the first symptoms of catarrh. Do not allow the disease to extend along the delicate mucous membrane gradually going from the nose to the throat thence into the bronchial tubes, and then onward and downward until the lungs are reached. Hyomei will cure all curable forms and stages of catarrh. C. A. Wright & Son take all the risk of trial and offer to refund the money for a $1 outfit if it fails to cure.

BUTTER BY THE YARD.

The Way It Is Sold, Pure and Sweet, In Cambridge, England.

In Cambridge, England, butter is sold by the yard. For generations it has been the practice of Cambridgeshire dairy folk to roll their butter into lengths, each length measuring a yard and weighing a pound. Deftly wrapped in strips of clean white cloth, the cylindrical rolls are packed in long, narrow baskets made for the purpose and thus conveyed to market. The butter women who, in white linen aprons and sleeves, preside over the stalls in the market have no need of weights or scales for dispensing their wares. Constant practice and experienced eyes enable them with a stroke of the knife to divide a yard of butter into halves or quarters with almost mathematical exactness.

The university people are the chief buyers of this curiosity shaped product. In addition to being famed for its purity and sweetness, Cambridge "yard butter" is eminently adapted for being served to the students in the daily commons. Cut in conveniently sized pieces and accompanied by a loaf of the best wheat bread, a stated portion is sent round every morning to the rooms of the undergraduates for use at breakfast and tea.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Warned Not to Commit Suicide.

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 25.—Upon the assumption that there would be a third trial Mrs. Josie Sloyer was warned by the police that if she tried suicide again she would be arrested. The woman made two attempts. First she turned on the gas after choking every crack under the door or window with clothing, but her landlord, H. Tinker, smelled gas and called the police, who broke in the door. After she was restored to consciousness Mrs. Sloyer leaped out of the second-story window to the ground, but, oddly enough, escaped unhurt. Domestic troubles cause the desire for death.

Thought He Knew Him.

A laborer was engaged in the grounds of an asylum and received instructions to pay no attention whatever to the remarks of the patients.

Some little time after he commenced work the governor of the asylum, a well known doctor, looking at the progress of the work, mildly suggested one alteration. The workman dug steadily on and never lifted his head.

The doctor raised his voice, but the man, without answering, went on digging energetically. The doctor threatened, stormed and finally thundered out:

"Do you know who I am?"

The laborer straightened his back, looked at him a minute and, shaking his head, sorrowfully exclaimed:

"Poor chap! I am sorry for ye," and went on calmly with his work.—London Express.

A Monster Spring.

No state in the Union has larger or more numerous springs than Florida. Many of them form good sized streams from the start, and some of them are navigable. The largest spring in the state, and one of the largest and probably the best known in the United States, is Silver spring, which is located six miles east of Ocala. This spring forms the source of the Oklawaha river, a tributary of the St. Johns, and steamboats traversing the river enter the spring basin, which has an area of several acres. The water is from twenty-five to thirty feet deep and is wonderfully clear, appearing absolutely devoid of color.—Minneapolis Journal.

Etiquette Not Involved.

Mrs. Hendricks (the landlady)—Can I help you to some more soup, Mr. Dumley?

Mr. Dumley—No, thanks.

Mrs. Hendricks (engagingly)—Don't refuse, Mr. Dumley, because it isn't considered good form to be helped twice to soup. We're not particular people here.

Mr. Dumley—Oh, etiquette has nothing to do with it, madam. It's the soup.—Pearson's Weekly.

Didn't Half Try.

Father—How's this, Harold? I hear you have been as bad as you could be today. What have you got to say for yourself? Small Harold—Please don't believe all you hear, papa. I could have been a whole lot worse.—Chicago News.

The Woman Suicide's Hat.

An interesting contribution to the study of feminine psychology has been made by the Hampstead coroner. "Women always take off their hats before committing suicide," said he.—London Telegraph.

Cunning always has been the offensive and defensive weapon of ignorance. "Match cunning with cunning" only as a last resort.—John A. Howland.

Not Fatal.

No Matter What Doctors Say—We Know That Heart Trouble in Many Cases Can Be Cured.

There are seven main features of heart disease, viz.: (1) Weakness or Debility; (2) Rheumatism or Neuralgia; (3) Valvular Disorder; (4) Dilation; (5) Enlargement; (6) Fatty Degeneration; (7) Dropsy.

Documentary evidence will prove thousands of so-called "incurables" have been absolutely cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Patients often have no idea their disease is heart trouble but ascribe it to Indigestion, Liver Complaint, etc.

Here are some of the symptoms: Shortness of breath after exercise. Smothering Spells. Pain in Chest, left Shoulder and arm. Discomfort in Lying on one side. Fainting Spells. Nervous Cough. Swelling of Feet and Ankles. Paleness of Face and Lips. Palpitation. Nightmare. Irregular Pulse.

"I have great faith in Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and speak of its merits whenever opportunity presents. I can now go up and down stairs with ease, where three weeks ago I could hardly walk one block." One year later—"I am still in good health; the Heart Cure did so much for me, that I find it a far greater medicine than you claimed it to be."—S. D. YOUNG, D. D., 697 North Pine St., Natchez, Miss.

READ COMIC PAPER.

Then Port Huron Woman Committed Suicide.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 25.—By swallowing a teaspoonful of strychnine, Mrs. Pearl Foster, 22 years old, wife of Grand Trunk engineer William Foster, committed suicide.

Less than half an hour before taking the poison Mrs. Foster went to the home of a neighbor and borrowed the comic supplement of a Sunday paper. She seemed to be in the best of spirits as she chatted and laughed with the neighbor. When her husband came in she asked him why he appeared so "mad." He tried to explain that he wasn't vexed or angry, but the woman rushed into her bedroom and swallowed the fatal dose.

At first Mrs. Foster refused an antidote, saying she wished to die, but just before she went into convulsions she said she wanted to live. Three physicians worked over her, but could do nothing. Coroner Schweikert decided an inquest unnecessary.

Besides the husband a child three months old survives. Mr. and Mrs. Foster were married a year ago.

It is though the woman became suddenly insane.

Drank Carbolic Acid.

South Haven, Mich., Nov. 25.—Walter Davis, aged 31, has killed himself by taking carbolic acid. Davis was a piano tuner in the employ of the Cable-Nelson company, and of an extremely nervous temperament as the result of his work. He had been drinking, and when he returned to his room in the home of George Neid, his wife upbraided him. He went to the bathroom, and, seizing a bottle of carbolic acid from a medicine chest, drank it before his wife could stop him. He died in her arms. This was Davis' fourth attempt to kill himself.

Many Teachers Wanted.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The bureau of insular affairs has received a cablegram from the governor-general of the Philippine Islands indicating that probably 300 teachers will be required at the beginning of the next school year which opens in June. These teachers will be selected from among those passing either the teacher or assistant examinations which are held semi-annually by the United States civil service commission. The assistant examination is of a higher grade than that for teacher and appeals more to those having the benefit of college or university training. Special examinations will be given during the Christmas holidays. This examination will be open to the wives, fiancees or other women who are near relatives to those already in the service or candidates for positions as teachers. The age limits are 20 to 40 years. The bulk of the appointments will be made at the entrance salary of $12,000.

Remorseful Man Surrenders.

Detroit, Nov. 25.—Remorseful over three petty forgeries committed in Colorado Springs, Colo., some time ago, R. A. Bronson, for the last five weeks a resident of Detroit, has delivered himself up to the police. An officer will be sent from the Colorado city to take him back.

Her Purse and His Handkerchief.

"The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts." The other day a young woman who had dropped her purse, full of pay money for the corps of girls under her charge, considered the thoughts of youth to be rather too "long."

She was in one of the large department stores, and as her hands were occupied she let her purse lie for a few moments where it had fallen. But her eye was on it. In the meantime a bright little fellow not more than nine or ten years old left his parents near by and deftly covered the purse with a handkerchief.

The woman, who is a perfectly self possessed young person, could hardly believe her eyes, but she waited to see what the boy would do. Just as he was stooping to his prize she placed her foot quietly upon it. The youngster slipped back without a word to the well dressed "respectable" people with whom he was.

Then the woman picked up her purse and, taking the handkerchief over to the lad, handed it to him, saying, "There is no reason why you should lose your handkerchief just because you didn't get my purse!"—New York Post.

Too Good to Miss.

"Theater audiences have improved in recent years," said a manager. "Why, with provincial touring companies in the past maltreatment was regularly expected. In fact, the companies profited by it in more ways than one.

"I know of a company that was playing 'The Broken Vow' in Paint Rock, a one night stand. The audience didn't like 'The Broken Vow,' and eggs, cabbages and potatoes rained upon the stage.

"Still the play went on. The hero raved through his endless speeches, dodging an onion or a baseball every other minute and pretty sore from those missiles that he hadn't been able to dodge.

"But finally a gallery auditor in a paroxysm of rage and scorn hurled a heavy boot, and the actor, thoroughly alarmed, started to retreat.

"'Keep on playing, you fool,' hissed the manager from the wings as he hooked in the boot with an umbrella. 'Keep on till we get the other one.'"

How a Tree Grows.

Both earth and air are required for the growth of a plant or tree. The roots absorb moisture from the soil, which, in the form of a watery fluid called common sap, rises through the fibers of the last deposited annular ring, traversing all the branches and leaf stalks until it reaches the leaves; there it undergoes a change by the absorption of carbonic acid from the air. It then travels downward again in the form of proper sap, just underneath the bark, which is expanded by the accession of moisture and in the cavity so formed a new layer of material is deposited which gradually hardens and forms a new annular ring. And so, from absorbing the moisture and minerals of the soil and the carbonic acid of the air the tree goes on until it finishes its cycle and dies.—New York American.

Jack Tar at a Christening.

A sailor went up to the font to have his baby baptized. Sailors as a class claim little stock in babies, and naturally enough this one presented the infant feet foremost.

"The other way," said the minister, and accordingly Jack turned the infant upside down.

"Excuse me," said the clergyman, "I mean the other way." So back came the embryo foretopman to the first position, to the discouragement of everybody.

"Wind it, Jack," said the nautical assistant, and with an "Aye, aye, sir," Jack promptly turned the baby end for end, and it was duly christened head first.—"On a Man-of-war."

The Alternative.

SIX STUDENTS JAILED.

Drinking Orgie at Ann Arbor Ends Disastrously.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 25.—Six students ended a drinking orgy by smashing furniture and glass in a hall near the Michigan Central depot and landing in jail. They were bailed out after being in over night and will have a hearing before Justice Doty.

Ever since the proposition to make Ann Arbor a dry town was made in the constitutional convention and articles on it published in the newspapers the local saloonkeepers have been extremely cautious. They have been and are closing regularly at 10 o'clock each night.

The sextette of students got a keg of beer before that hour and took it to the hall mentioned. When the booze was gone the celebrators started in to break things.

The students gave fictitious names, and J. J. Goodyear came to their rescue by furnishing the bond required. The offense this time is looked on more seriously than usual and it is feared that the young men will thoroughly repent before the law has done with them.

Warner Confident of Re-Election.

Bad Axe, Mich., Nov. 25.—"I regard Huron as a boxer county. I shall make a personal campaign in every township next summer and am confident of success." Governor Warner while in Bad Axe made this statement regarding his campaign for a third term. "I am so confident of securing the nomination," he said, "that if there are 200,000 votes polled at the next primaries and I do not receive 51 per cent of them I shall not ask for a third term."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who contest themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Duma Decrees Title of Autocrat Is No Longer Tenable.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 27.—The duma has decreed that the title of autocrat, which has been borne by the emperors of Russia for centuries, is no longer tenable within the Russian state, and is incompatible with the regime inaugurated by the manifesto issued by Emperor Nicholas on Oct. 30, 1905.

At the close of a great constitutional debate the Russian parliament, by a vote of 112 to 146, rejected the word autocrat, and then adopted a reply to the address from the throne unanimously, amid scenes of intense excitement, prolonged cheering and the singing of the national hymn.

The result of the session is regarded as a fine victory for the Constitutional Democrats, under the leadership of Prof. Paul N. Milukoff, who succeeded in forcing the Octoberists' hand. The final vote was taken after the demonstrative withdrawal of the Extreme Right Social Democrats, members of the Group of Toil and the Poles.

Brownsville Case Near to End.

Washington, Nov. 27.—With the possible exception of one more witness, the senate committee on military affairs has concluded the hearing of testimony bearing on the riot in Brownsville, Tex., on the night of Aug. 13, 1906, and another meeting will be held Friday for the purpose of listening to the remaining witness if it is decided to put him on the stand. Whether any more testimony is taken or not the committee expects to be able to meet next Monday for the purpose of considering the question as to what report shall be made on the inquiry. It is expected that there will be two reports, one holding the colored soldiers responsible for the shooting and justifying the course of the president in discharging them, and another to be prepared by Senator Foraker taking the position that the testimony has not been sufficient to hold the troops responsible.

French Severely Rebuke Tribes.

Lalla Maghnia, Algeria, Nov. 27.—The French column, which was engaged in a serious fight with the tribesmen, have returned after administering severe punishment in the shape of a bombardment of several villages. BRADLEY TRIAL DRAMATIC.

Alienist Witness Had to Be Admonished by Judge.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Dramatic scenes marked the proceedings Tuesday in the trial of Mrs. Annie M. Bradley, charged with having killed former Senator Arthur M. Brown of Utah, in this city last December. Dr. Britton D. Evans of New York, the alienist who testified in the Thaw case, not only declared that Mrs. Bradley was insane when she shot Senator Brown, but entered with such vigor in defending his opinion and in denunciation of the conduct of the dead senator, that Justice Stafford reminded the witness that the late Senator Brown was not on trial and was not there to defend himself, and admonished him to refer to the dead man only when necessary to show the effect of his acts upon the mind of the defendant.

The appearance on the stand of Max Brown, son of the dead senator who was called in rebuttal, was affecting in the extreme. The young man, tall, slender and fragile of physique, tottered as he made his way to the witness chair. He carefully avoided looking toward the defendant who sat within ten feet of him. When he told of seeing his father and Mrs. Bradley in the kitchen of their home, with jars of fruit they had brought from the cellar at a time when his mother had been called away from the city to the bedside of her dying sister, the defendant laughed and lowered her head in confusion. But there was no sign of merriment on the face of the witness.

A number of witnesses from Salt Lake in addition to Max Brown were introduced by the government in rebuttal, several of whom testified that Mrs. Bradley, during their years of acquaintance with her, appeared at all times rational and affable. It was brought out that Senator Brown had made a proposition to Mrs. Bradley to accept a $5,000 house and $100 a month until her youngest child should be 21 years of age if she would leave Mr. Brown alone, but she indignantly declined the offer saying that she wanted to marry Brown in order that her children by him might be given a name.

During Tuesday's testimony Mrs. Bradley wept and sobbed, and in the forenoon session gave every indication that she was about to collapse. She, however, mustered such strength as she possessed and continued the day's ordeal in fair condition.

The resting of the defense came in the nature of a surprise as it had been expected that the alienists would be kept on the stand for a much longer period.

FINDS SOLACE IN DEATH

Deposed Brooklyn Bank President Takes His Own Life.

HE WAS UNDER INDICTMENT.

Howard Maxwell Took His Arrest and Confinement in Jail Greatly to Heart.—His Bank Ruined and His Entire Fortune Gone.

New York, Nov. 27.—Howard Maxwell, deposed president of the Borough bank of Brooklyn, who was under indictment for grand larceny and forgery and was released from jail on $30,000 bail, has committed suicide. He cut his throat and left wrist with a razor and pen knife, in the bath room of his home in Brooklyn, and died at Long Island college hospital.

Maxwell, when locked up, felt his humiliation keenly, and during his incarceration appeared hopelessly despondent. He had, however, given his family no intimation, so far as known, that he contemplated making away with himself. His wife was prostrated by the tragedy.

Maxwell was 49 years old, and leaves a wife, but no children. On Nov. 21 he was jointly indicted for grand larceny with former Cashier Arthur Campbell and Director Wm. Gow of the Borough bank. There were other indictments against him involving forgery in a quarterly bank statement made to the state banking department. When these three men were arraigned Campbell and Gow secured bondsmen, but, to the suprise of many who knew of Maxwell's popularity in financial circles and socially, none offered to go upon his bond. This desertion on the part of men to whom he had looked for his freedom, it is said, embittered and depressed Maxwell, and the despondency increased before his release was brought about.

During his arraignment Maxwell's counsel stated that his client had put up every dollar in the world that he possessed to secure the bank, and that he had absolutely stripped himself to protect the institution.

Maxwell had been regarded as one of the rising financiers of Brooklyn and was reputed to be worth $200,000 when the crash in banking affairs came.

Following so soon upon the suicide of Charles T. Barney, resigned president of the Knickerbocker Trust company, this suicide caused an unusual sensation.

Brothers Jointly Indicted.

New York, Nov. 27.—John G. Jenkins, Jr., until recently president of the Jenkins Trust company of Brooklyn; Frank Jenkins, deposed head of the Williamsburg Trust company, and Fred Jenkins, formerly a director of the latter institution, have been jointly indicted for forgery in the third degree. The indicted men are brothers, and the charges against them grew out of loans made the brokerage firm of F. and J. G. Jenkins, Jr., & Co. by the Jenkins Trust company. The transactions were disclosed during the examination of the trust company's books made by the state banking department after the institution had suspended. These revelations, with others, brought about the receivership and later were laid before the Kings county grand jury which has concerned itself with banking irregularities in Brooklyn. The three men were arraigned, and after entering pleas of not guilty, released, each under a bond of $10,000.

Big Labor Demonstration.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Wm. Jennings Bryan and President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor were the principal speakers at a great mass meeting of organized labor, at Convention hall, in this city last night. An audience of 7,000 persons greeted the speakers, and thousands more could not gain admittance to the hall. Other speakers were, John Hodge, a member of the English parliament; President James O'Connell of the International Association of Machinists, and W. R. Trotter, president of the Typographical Union of Manitoba. A parade, consisting of the union labor organizations in the District of Columbia to the number of about 15,000 persons, preceded the mass meeting. The object of the parade and the mass meeting was to demonstrate the strength of organized labor here.

ADAMS AGAINST IT.

Believes Ten-Day Notice Plan Would Delay Legislation.

PROPOSAL IS HELD UP

Adoption of Proposition Would Have Prevented Snap Legislation—Section in Constitution Relative to Chaplains Will Stand.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 27.—A proposition that would make snap legislation impossible at future sessions of the legislature was temporarily opposed at Tuesday afternoon's session of the constitutional convention. The opposing was directed by Delegate Edgar J. Adams of Grand Rapids, who was once speaker of the house. Over an hour was spent trying to put the proposition through. Then it was recommitted to the committee on legislative department. It may come up again next week.

The proposition was that no bill should be passed until ten days after it had been introduced. A custom has long prevailed in the legislature to pass, without printing and sometimes on the very day upon which it is introduced, purely local bills. The committee had unanimously reported that the ten-day bar be put up.

Delegate Adams didn't think a bar was necessary, seeing that the convention is going to do away with special legislation. About 50 per cent or more of the bills introduced every session are local measures.

The main plea of Delegate Adams was that a ten-day bar would unnecessarily delay legislation. Chairman Henry M. Cmpbell of the committee and seven others, Delegates Flannigan, Hemans, Hally, Fall, Sawyer, Holmes, Stewart and Barbour, took issue with them. Delegate Flannigan proposed an amendment that every bill introduced in the legislature be printed in the official journal, but it did not muster enough votes to carry. Publicity and plenty of it was what the advocates of the ten-day bar insisted could alone head off snap legislation.

In the present constitution there is a section which has stood since 1850 and which reads:

"The legislature may authorize the employment of chaplains for the state prison, but no money shall be appropriated for the payment of any religious services in either house of the legislature."

It was on the general order Tuesday afternoon to re-enact this section. Delegate Wixson of Tuscola moved to eliminate the first clause of it, and Rev. Mr. Rowe of the Kent county delegation moved the elimination of the second clause. Wixson's motion was lost, 42 to 26, and Rowe's failed, 34 to 26.

Four new proposals were submitted during the day.

General Pritchard Drops Dead.

Allegan, Mich., Nov. 27.—General B. D. Pritchard dropped dead last evening, of heart disease, at his home here. He was 73 years of age and a man of state-wide reputation, having been one of the leaders at the capture of Jeff Davis, the confederate president. He has held the office of state treasurer, and was for years the treasurer of grand lodge, I. O. O. F., of Michigan. Mr. Pritchard was one of the pioneer settlers of Allegan, coming here in the old lumber days and engaging as a teacher. He later practiced law. At the outbreak of the Civil war he enlisted in the Fourth Michigan cavalry. His advance was rapid in the ranks and he was mustered out as brigadier-general, having received this appointment for his part in the capture of Davis.

Secret Marriage Disclosed.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 27.—Through the statement of her family here friends have been made acquainted with the fact that Miss Nellie Einter was married a year ago and is now seeking a divorce from her husband, Frank Ames of Charlotte. On Aug. 15, 1906, she married Mr. Ames. The ceremony was kept secret, and she came to Lansing to a business college, while her husband went to Peoria, Ill., to learn the jewelry trade. She is employed as present as cashier in a large department store, and nothing was known of her marriage

You can't be well if you have a weak unhealthy, tired out stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. Don't allow this to go on a single day without doing something to overcome it. Take some good reliable and safe digestant like Kodol for dyspepsia. Kodol is the best remedy known today for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by B. J. Pulver

JOHN J. ORR.

Humorous Chinese Graft.

A certain Chinese official, [illegible] having told his [illegible] to bring two [illegible] sent to his mansion. The [illegible] the [illegible] in question, the property of [illegible] to bring it to Hong Kong. The [illegible] said to his underlings: "Gentlemen, if they are to sell to me at [illegible] price, just give them [illegible] of gold and put the [illegible] in my treasury, and thus their [illegible] is settled. Goodbye." So the [illegible] of the women did so, but [illegible] shopmen hung around waiting. The official asked them why they were waiting, when their account had [illegible] settled. "Said the shopmen: 'Why did your honor pay your [illegible] servants?' Then the magistrate answered with a very fierce air: 'Take no heed' (impertinent slaves). Did you not say that these two gold ingots were half price to me? Then did I not give you back one ingot and keep the other, and thus settle your account without the least injustice according to your own proposition? So [illegible] with you or my lictors will give you a taste of the scourge."—Harper's Weekly.

A Singular Calculation.

It would require, according to the calculations of a scientist, the power of a 10,000 horsepower engine about [illegible] years to lift the earth a foot in height, and to do this work, allowing thirteen pounds of water per horsepower per hour, would require [illegible] 10,000,000,000,000,000,000 gallons of water, or more than would be discharged at the mouth of the Mississippi in 4,000 years. This would be enough, the writer estimates, to cover the entire surface of the earth to a depth of not less than 300 feet, to convert which into steam, using good boilers, would require some 4,000,000,000,000 tons of coal. If the latter quantity of the mineral was loaded on cars of twenty tons each it would demand 200,000,000,000,000 such cars. If the latter were thirty feet long and all coupled together in one train it would reach around the earth 43,000,000 times and, if running twenty-five miles per hour, would consume 25,000,000 years in running the length of itself. So much for figures.

The attitude of unhappiness is not only painful; it is mean and ugly.—James.

Sick Man Kills Himself.

Vassar, Mich., Nov. 27.—Claude Willer, 21 years old, killed himself at his home on the farm of his father, six miles north of here. He used a shotgun, blowing off one side of his head. The young man had never known a sick day in his life until a couple of days ago when he was troubled with his head and heart. He was despondent over his illness.

Motive For Warfield's Act.

Bay City, Mich., Nov. 27.—Horace T. Warfield, secretary of the Elmlawn cemetery, who shot himself in his office in the cemetery, is dead. Light has been thrown on the motive for Warfield's deed by the alleged discovery of a shortage in the cemetery funds which he handled.

Seven Take Ride In Balloon.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 27.—An immense balloon, the All America, carrying seven persons, has made a successful trip from Pittsfield, Mass., to Canterbury, N. H., near this city, one of the longest journeys ever accomplished in New England. Though he drove the balloon to an altitude of two miles, Pilot Stevens said that he was unable to get into any current which would take him to the eastward. He then dropped to within two of three thousand feet of the earth, and with the light winds drifted slowly over the Berkshire hills, across the mountains of southern Vermont, up the Connecticut river valley for a way and then across the south central portion of New Hampshire, making a successful landing in a field near Canterbury, nine miles northeast of Concord. Mr. Stevens said that they had encountered snow throughout the voyage. The distance covered from Pittsfield to Canterbury, as the crow flies, is about 125 miles. Not the least interesting feature of the voyage was that a majority of the passengers in the car had their first experience above the clouds and [illegible] stories upon landing were full of enthusiasm for the sport. Mr. Stevens' passengers were: J. D. Larkin of Buffalo, N. Y., Leroy M. Taylor, F. H. [illegible] and A. Holland Forbes of New York, and A. H. Morgan and J. T. Lemon of Cleveland.

Treaty of Peace Framed.

Washington, Nov. 27.—A draft of a proposed treaty of peace between the five Central American republics, including a provision for general arbitration, is now before the conference of delegates from these countries in session here. It was submitted to the delegates by the committee of three, appointed last week, and was at once taken up for informal consideration. The report is said to have been unanimous. Copies of the proposed treaty will be made at once and furnished to the delegates, who will consult their home governments before committing themselves to any of its provisions. After hearing the committee's report the conference adjourned.

Amador to Visit President.

Washington, Nov. 27.—President Amador of Panama, who is now in New York with his family and friends, will arrive in Washington Thursday and will be met at the railroad station by the president's naval and military aides. Friday he will make an official call on President Roosevelt and at night will be entertained at the White House at a dinner to be followed by a reception. Saturday the visitors will be taken to Mt. Vernon and on Sunday they will return to New York.

Lee Booth.

Lee Booth died at his home in Metz, Mich., of consumption, last Monday. The remains were brought to Tecumseh yesterday at 10:30 and short services were held at the depot, Rev. Dunning officiating. Deceased leaves a wife, who was formerly Miss Margaret Osborn of this place, and a sister of Mrs. Frank Willey and two sons, Harry Booth of Metz, Mich. and Percy Booth of Wellsville, O. Mrs. Booth will spend the winter here with her sister.

Rapid changes of temperature are hard on the toughest constitution.

ALL DRUGGISTS; 50c. AND $1.00.

Two famous musicians—Joseph Joachim and Edvard Grieg—whose deaths occurred not long ago, are celebrated in the December number of the Putnam's monthly. Richard Aldrich writes critically of the violinist and the composer, and Dr. George Smith tells of a summer sojourn in Norway in early years of Grieg's country home where he spent many a happy hour. The two articles are illustrated with portraits and a facsimile of the composer's autograph of several bars from "Ich liebe dich."

The Christmas Metropolitan magazine is rich in color. In addition to the full color and gold cover by Blendon Campbell, there is a strikingly attractive front-piece by the same artist and a series of color drawings by Frederick L. Stoddard, showing many different phases of life at Christmas time. Much of the other illustrations is in keeping with the season.

There is no more timely theme for fiction than bridge and the novelette which opens the December number of the Smart Set, entitled "The Backsiders" by Dorothea Deakin, deals in a brilliant way with this vital subject. How a young girl acquires a tremendous passion for the game to the detriment of her character is told with remarkable power and her final redemption is brought about in a most dramatic manner. This popular author has never before from her pen revealed so much strength.

Did you ever know a father who would want a son to follow in his footsteps.

It is easier to learn some things than it is to unlearn them.

Laziness is a habit that grows fast and clings close.

The Christmas number of The Century makes an immediate impression and appeal through its tint and color pages: in color, M. Sigismond de Ivanowski's portrait of Mme. Esmée as "Aida," and four exquisite drawings by Leon Guipon for Edwin Markham's poem, "The Juggler of Touraine"—itself a feature to attract attention; in tint, an impressive drawing by Paul J. Meylan to accompany Susie M. Best's poem, "Miracle Dreams" and the portrait of the first Duchess of Marlborough by Sir Godfrey Kneller.

The December McClure abounds in strong features. Burton J. Hendrick's "Great American Fortunes" is the history of by a few men of the richest country in the world. The present instalment deals with Ryan and the Metropolitan Railway Co. Cleveland Moffett describes the evolution of the oldest of toys, the spinning top, into the gyro car which bids fair to revolutionize the life of the world.

What may be described as the law of opposites often influences men and women matrimonially inclined, making them choose life partners who are quite different from themselves, both temperamentally and physically. As a rule these marriages are happier than when the contracting parties are very much alike, but sometimes troubles arises from such differences. On one such case hinges the plot of the complete novel in the December Lippincott's, "The Career" by Kathryn Jarboe. The heroine, Janet Marchmont, is a musical prodigy who has been brought up to believe that her "career" should take precedence over all.

Thanksgiving Day

Has it ever occurred to you that this is the only day on which as a nation, we acknowledge our dependence upon a supreme power and express our thankfulness for His gifts. That we are a united people whose interests are the same all over the land, that the confident feeling and good fellowship is realized over the entire world, nothing ought to be more interesting to every American citizen than the origin of this great American feast. We keep other commemorative days but they are associated with other events or public men.

Thanksgiving started with the landing of the Puritans in New England in 1620 and in 1621 they gave thanks for the bountiful harvests of the year. This is the origin of Thanksgiving. It was first declared a legal holiday by the President of the United States in 1865, at the close of the Civil War. Every sign points to a continuance of the marvelous prosperity the country now enjoys. The position of the farmer is an enviable one. He is more independent than ever before in the history of our Nation. Official estimates place the total value of farm products for the year at $8,000,000,000 against $6,800,000,000 for 1906. The product of the United States is nearly 50 per cent. greater than that of Great Britian, double that of Germany and two and a half times the output of all the other countries combined.

We, The Clinton Clothing Co., are thankful for the liberal patronage we have enjoyed from both Lenawee and Washtenaw counties. We carry the largest line of up-to-date clothing, hats, caps and gent's furnishings to be found in Southern Michigan. We are always pleased to show you our goods whether you purchase or not and any goods bought here which you are not satisfied with, your money cheerfully refunded.

Yours for Dependable Clothing,

Car fare allowed on all purchases of ten dollars or over.

A Radical Departure.

The most popular illustrated weeklies and monthlies are produced at an enormous cost. Competition for the work of the leading authors and illustrators has established a scale of expense that is almost prohibitive.

Yet in addition to its many attractive features the Chicago Sunday Record-Herald furnishes its readers with a Sunday magazine which compares favorably with the independent periodicals in every way and has some merits peculiar to itself. The most famous writers and illustrators contribute to it. Fine paper and handy size make it a pleasure to read this entertaining publication which marks a radical departure in Sunday journalism.

Advertised Letters.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Christmas number of Everybody's Magazine is one of the biggest and best that the publishers have ever put out. It is rich in notable and significant articles, and in stories that are worth while. Its most important offering, in view of the recent financial crisis, is "What Caused the Panic"—an authoritative and timely discussion by Lyman J. Gage, Thos. W. Lawson, Prof. W. G. Sumner, Stuyvesant Fish, Jas. J. Hill and Bryon W. Holt.

The most important writings yet given to the world by the gifted blind and deaf girl, Helen Keller, will be printed in the Century during the coming year. The poem is her first published poetical expression and is called "A Chant of Darkness." The essays are a most eloquent description of the world in which she lives—a world in which the five senses are reduced to the three senses of touch, taste and smell. Miss Keller shows how, by correspondence and analogy, she gets her ideas of sight and hearing and how she does in a way, really sense many common sounds. The essays will be published under the title of "Sense and Sensibility" and should prove of rare interest to the thoughtful.

TECUMSEH POISON FACTORIES

You will be surprised to learn how many there are.

Did you ever feel stupid and dull after eating a hearty dinner?

When food is retained too long in the stomach, because of stomach weakness, the poison factory works overtime and there is giddiness, confusion of thought, despondency, heart burn, sleeplessness, nervous trouble and other forms of indigestion.

It is high time to look about for quick relief when you have dizzy spells after eating.

The general use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets puts within the reach of everyone a reliable and positive cure for all stomach weakness. Mi-o-na quickly cures the worst case of indigestion and the pain and distress which is often felt after meals will soon disappear, such is the wonderful curative power of this little tablet.

Mi-o-na acts upon entirely different principles from any of the other remedies that have been used in stomach trouble. It is taken before meals and has a specific strengthening action upon the muscles of the stomach, increasing the flow of digestive juices and making the stomach get to work and digest easily and naturally the food which is eaten.

C. A. Wright & Son have seen so many cures made by Mi-o-na that he gives a guarantee with every 50-cent box that the remedy costs nothing unless it cures. Try Mi-o-na on this guarantee of theirs, as they take all the risk and the remedy will not cost a cent unless it cures.

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is lots of solace when you can depend on a well earned reputation.

For months Tecumseh readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills and read of the good work they have done in this city. No other remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

Wm Witherell, living on Pottowatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "In 1901, I gave a statement for publication telling how Doan's Kidney Pills had helped me and today, Dec 12, 1904 I still hold the same high opinion. When I first used Doan's Kidney Pills, I was troubled with severe pains across my back. If I attempted to stoop, sharp pains would dart through me and I would have to lie down. I think the trouble was caused years ago by being in a bent over position when I used to shear a great number sheep. I got a box of the Pills and received great benefit from the first few doses so I continued using them until cured. The cure then made has proven permanent as I have not been troubled since. I shall continue to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity."

KILLED BY BURGLAR.

Kalamazoo Citizen Fought With Intruder While Wife Looked On.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 27.—While struggling with a burglar in his home early in the morning Horace S. Davis was shot through the heart by the intruder, dying instantly.

Mrs. Davis awoke and saw a man pass between her and the window, and she called out:

"What are you doing here? What do you want?"

"You just keep your mouth shut, or I'll blow your brains out," the man told her, pointing a revolver in the woman's face.

The talking aroused Mr. Davis, who, taking the situation in at a glance, sprang from his bed and seized the burglar by the throat, and brought him nearly to the floor when a shot rang out. Here Mrs. Davis sprang from the bed, and darting across the floor, tore the burglar's hat and mask off, and grabbed him by the hair. Another shot, and Mr. Davis fell. The woman clung to the intruder's hair, and in the scuffle he dropped his gun, but succeeded in freeing himself and making his escape, leaving a lock of hair behind. The hair, hat, mask and gun were turned over to the police. Mr. Davis was 50 years old, and local agent for Wanamaker.

The police have arrested six suspects.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to rise so often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Governor Warner has appointed O. N. Cranor of Ludington a member of the constitutional convention, to succeed R. P. Bishop, resigned. He is a lawyer.

The Modern Woodmen lodge at New Boston held a sparrow shooting match, and about 2,000 of the birds were killed. The proceeds received from the bounty will be used for a supper for the lodge.

Davis Madison, formerly a well-known farmer residing in Monroe county, has been arrested by Sheriff Briggs on a charge of threatening to kill his wife and several other persons, it is alleged. He was bound over for trial.

After paying off a $600 mortgage on their farm Mr. and Mrs. Grubba quarreled on the way home. Mrs. Grubba, who is alleged to have been beaten by her husband with a chair, was found unconscious, and is in a serious condition. Grubba is missing and is thought to be hiding.

The school board of Albion has inaugurated a campaign against pubils frequenting pool rooms—a habit which has increased lately. As there are restaurants in connection with all the pool rooms it has become a problem to tell whether a boy is in the place to eat or to watch men poke the balls.

For some years there has been a misunderstanding between the only two churches in Muir, and it has been impossible for them to unite for any purpose or in any service. Better days seem to be at hand as a union service has been arranged. The service is to be in the Presbyterian church, with the Rev. George Stevenson of the Disciple church, preaching the sermon.

Thinking the organ a safer place to deposit her money than the bank, Mrs. Ella Prindle of Plainwell placed $45 in the organ, but she found that the mice had used it in the construction of a nest and that the bills were badly mutilated. The local bank sent the bills to treasury department at Washington, and now Mrs. Prindle has nine crisp, new five-dollar bills.

THIRD LARGEST NAVY.

United States Outranked by Only Two Other Nations.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The United States will have third place among the navies of the world's great nations when the vessels now ordered are completed. England is first, France second, Germany fourth, Japan fifth, Russia sixth, Italy seventh, Austria eighth and Brazil ninth, according to the annual United States navy report, just published.

Secretary V. H. Metcalf, in his report, says:

"The department invites attention to the continued marked improvement of the enlisted personnel, both as regards the general intelligence of the individual and his attention to duty. The earnest work of the recruiting service has contributed largely to this improvement, for the enlistments, especially from the rural portions of the country, indicate that the young men now obtained are drawn from a self-respecting and most desirable class.

"While the number recruited during the past year is satisfactory the present fiscal year promises to surpas all previous year. There were enlisted from July 1 to Nov. 1, 1907, 6,696, as against 4,159 for the first four months."

Secretary Metcalf speaks in high terms of Assistant Secretary Newberry, who is a Michigan man. In part he says:

"In closing this report I desire to express my appreciation of the valuable assistance rendered to me by the assistant secretary, Truman H. Newberry. His business training, his experience gained as a volunteer officer during the Spanish-American war, and his thorough familiarity with the work of the department and naval matters generally, especially fit him for the position he now occupies."

Mikado's Daughters to Wed.

Tokio, Dec. 2.—Within a short time there will be an imperial double wedding in Tokio, two daughters of the emperor being engaged to marry two princes of noble blood. The popular interest in the coming event is widespread. The date of the wedding is kept secret, the newspapers being permitted only to indicate vaguely that the ceremonies will soon occur. The two princesses have been very cerefully educated, and the bridegrooms-to-be are soldiers. Princess Masako is to marry Prince Tsunelisa, head of the noble house of Takeda; Princess Hisako is to become the wife of Prince Hatoliko, head of the noble house of Asaka.

DOCTOR IS KILLED.

Gas Plant Wrecks House, and Others Injured at Ogden Center.

Adrian, Mich., Dec. 2.—Dr. Artemis O. Wotring, aged 40 years, is dead and several others were injured as the result of the explosion of a gas plant, at his home in Ogden Center.

Miss Pink Wotring, the doctor's daughter, and several friends, whom she was entertaining, were driven out onto the porch by gas fumes when something went wrong in the cellar. Dr. Wotring went into the cellar to remedy the trouble. It is not known whether he struck a match or the gas plant exploded from some other cause. He had scarcely reached the cellar, however, when a terrific explosion practically wrecked the house.

Among the injured, none of whom are seriously hurt, are the following:

Miss Ruth Crane of West-Virginia, thrown into cellar and her back injured.

Miss Elsie Lyon of Cleveland, sprained ankle and injured about back.

John Pence, injured about shoulder and arm.

Elwin Seebring, lacerated about face.

Mrs. Wotring and her daughter escaped with slight injuries.

AUTOMOBILE UPSETS.

One Man Killed and Three Others Hurt; One Seriously.

Menominee, Mich., Dec. 2.—Captain Frank Bent of Co. I, Twentieth W. N. G., Marinette, Wis., was killed, Sumner Prescott was possibly fatally injured, and Isaac Stephenson, Jr. and Joseph Duxbury of this city, were seriously hurt in an automobile accident between Escanaba and Gladstone.

The quaretette, with Albert Holquist, were in Prescott's touring car, and on rounding a sharp curve at the point mentioned the machine was precipitated over an embankment. Holquist was thrown some distance and escaped unhurt, but the rest were pinioned beneath the car.

Holquist was unable to aid his companions, who were appealing for assistance, so he hurried to a nearby section house and aroused the inmates. When the tonneau was lifted Bent was found to be dead, his neck having been broken. Prescott sustained several broken ribs and internal injuries. Stephenson's arm was broken, and Duxbury sustained a broken arm and fractured collar bone. Both were also badly cut and bruised. A special train conveyed the dead and injured to this city and the latter are being cared for in a hospital. The attending physicians have doubts as to Prescott's recovery.

UNCOVERING PLOTS.

Soo Officers Vigilantly Pursue "Black Hand" Suspects.

TWO MEN GO TO PRISON.

That Section of Country Has Been Greatly Stirred Up For Some Time—Arrest of Prominent Man Creates Considerable Excitement.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 2.—After a month of hard work in which the police of the Canadian Soo and the Ontario government have been working together the officers believe they have solved the mystery of the "Black Hand" letters which have excited the people of this locality for several months. The arrest of John C. McLeod, a prominent Canadian Soo business man, who has confessed to writing some of the letters, seems to have opened the way for a complete expose of the work.

Packages Disappear.

Early in November several leading business men of the two Soos received threatening letters demanding $500. They were to place the money, done up in packages, in certain localities in default of which their property was to be destroyed and their families injured. The frightened recipients of the letters laid the matter before the police. Dummy packages were placed in the localities named in the letters and detectives put on watch. The officers watched all night, and saw nobody. Soon after the packages disappeared.

On Nov. 9 Harry Smith, a stranger, was arrested trying to pass bogus checks on the Lake Superior corporation. When searched other bogus checks were found, together with three knives. He implicated one Harry Howard, who was later arrested.

Believed It Smith and Howard.

Among their effects were grips full of burglars' tools, fuses, nitroglycerin and a newspaper clipping describing a new process of cracking safes. Books and letters found showed a handwriting similar to that of the "Black Hand" letters. Captain Letcher, John McKay, lawyer, and James Dunsmith, merchant, had received letters, the handwriting of which was almost identical. It was belived at the time that these men were the ones who had terrorized local citizens.

Smith and Howard were sentenced to terms in Toronto and Kingston prisons respectively.

Notwithstanding that the two suspected men were in jail "Black Hand" letters continued to appear. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Millington of Espanola were among those who received threatening letters. The letters referred to certain incidents in the early life of the family. John C. McLeod's wife is a cousin of Mrs. Millington, and it was believed that he was the only person outside of his wife who knew of it. Following this clue the detectives worked quietly on the case and finally McLeod was arrested. The sensation resulting has stirred both Soos. McLeod is one of the best-known business men in this part of the country.

Poisoned by Tainted Oysters.

Dorr, Mich., Dec. 2.—Poisoned by tainted oysters eaten at a Masonic banquet, two men are dead, four likely to die and about 20 others are seriously ill. Christian Zizer was the first to die. Arthur Felton, a mail carrier on a rural route, was the second victim. The four men who are likely to die of the poisoning are: George Heinzeman, master of the lodge; L. W. Ehle, Jr.; Louis Harnish, and Wallace Weaver. Physicians are somewhat mystified over the symptoms shown by those afflicted. In each case the patient appeared to be ill of typhoid fever. The malady strikes the heart.

Creamery Concern Fails.

Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Dec. 2.—The plant of the Farmers' Co-Operative Creamery company, a new organization which started here about 18 months ago in opposition to the Isabella County Creamery company, has been seized by the sheriff for a debt aggregating over $1,000 which is secured by chattel mortgages and stockholders' indorsements. Many of the farmers in the community are losers by being holders of unpaid cream checks, and it looks as though an assessment on the stock will be necessary to square things. This assessment may aggregate nearly 100 per cent, in which case there will be about 300 farmers, all told, that will be stung. It is reported that the seizure was made at the instance of the Isabella State bank, which held the paper and fostered the new institution.

EXPLOSION IN MINE.

Many Men May Be Dead As a Result.

MINE ENTRANCE BLOCKED

Black Damp In Naomi Mine of United Coal Company, at Fayette City, Ignites—Rescuers Hard at Work—One Body Recovered.

Fayette City, Pa., Dec. 2.—Between 30 and 60 miners are entombed in the Naomi mine of the United Coal company, near here, as the result of an explosion of black damp. It is thought many are dead behind tons of rock and coal which fell during the concussion and blocked the entrance. The explosion was caused, it is said, when a miner with an open lamp entered one of the old workings. Medical aid has been sent in from surrounding towns.

One body has been removed.

State Mine Inspector Lontitt is on the scene and pronounces the explosion a very serious one. He says the mine was well conducted and always considered safe. A large force of rescuers are working in relays, but it is feared it will be some hours before inner workings, where it is thought most of the men are, will be reached.

Pittsburg, Dec. 2.—The general office of the United Coal company is located in this city. Few details have been received here regarding an explosion of black damp at the company's Naomi mine.

The mine regularly employs from 275 to 300 men. Superintendent James D. O'Neill of the local office force said that there cannot be more than 25 or 30 men in the mine. Mr. O'Neill has had several messages from men at the mine, but they are unable to give him accurate information as to the cause of the disaster, the extent of damage or the number of men entombed.

Orders were issued to spare no expense or effort that would expedite reaching the entombed men.

TAFT AT MOSCOW.

Visits Historical Places, and Heartily Greeted by People.

Moscow, Dec. 2.—Secretary Taft, who has arrived here, is devoting some time to visiting historical places. All the palaces and churches are open for his inspection by order of Lieutenant-Governor Guerschelmann, governor-general of Moscow.

After the round of official visits had been paid the governor-general assigned his personal aide to conduct the American secretary of war and his party through the ancient Kremlin fortress. Secretary Taft showed remarkable familiarity with the historic laws, which he had learned from his father, who formerly was stationed in Russia. He was greatly interested in the crown jewels, the armor and relics of the former rulers of Russia, particularly those which had belonged to Peter the Great.

Sunday evening the secretary and his party attended a banquet given in his honor by the American colony. President Roosevelt and Emperor Nicholas were toasted. Secretary Taft responded briefly to the speech of welcome of the American consul, Samuel Smith.

Everywhere the distinguished representative of the United States is recognized while sightseeing and heartily cheered. Today there is an official dinner in his honor, and a special ballet at the opera in the evening. Secretary Taft will leave late in the evening for St. Petersburg.

Carp River Furnace Stops.

Marquette, Mich., Dec. 2.—Because of the depressed state of the iron market the Pioneer Iron Co. has suspended operations at its Carp river furnace here for an indefinite period of time. The plant has a daily capacity of 90 tons.

Mistaken For Deer.

Marquette, Mich., Dec. 2.—George Hulverson of Palmer was found in the woods near that place seriously wounded. He had been mistaken for a deer and shot by an unknown hunter. It is expected he will recover.

Deafness cannot be cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by the inflamed condition of the lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be reduced this tube may be restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but inflammation of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

THE DOLLAR.

Its Evolution From the One Time Bleat or Bellow.

The dollar took some rounding. Nor did it formerly ring true, but, much alive, simply gave a bleat or bellow. Cattle among country folk, at one time constituted the dollar, while primitive man generally made use of any article sufficiently abundant for the standard payment of all merchandise.

Thus, in ancient Greece, a large bronze tripod had the value of a dozen oxen. A good hardworking woman, on the other hand, was given in exchange for only four such beasts.

When metal took the place of money the dollar clung to its traditions, and coins were still called after live stock. Thus "pecunia," applied to metal money, derived its origin from "pecus" (cattle). From the custom of counting heads of cattle came the present designation of a sum in cash—capital or "capita" (heads). In Sanskrit roupa (herd, flock) made roupya or the Indian rupee, while ingots of electrum or admixture of gold and silver when first in use as money bore the impress of an ox or cow.

Not clumsy, but too fragile, were the shells in use as money by the negroes of Africa and throughout ancient Asia, where the natives, taken by its beauty, gave the shell a money value.—R. Holt-Lomax in Harper's Weekly.

THE MINE PACK BURRO.

Information Gleaned by the Newcomer In Camp.

He was a newcomer in the mining camp, and as everything he saw appeared novel and interesting he kept up a rapid fire of questions that seemed mighty foolish to the boys.

The placid little pack burros, mostly ears and voice, pleased him immensely, and he supposed they were kept as pets or else as camp scavengers to nibble the labels from old cans and eat stray newspapers. He came across one packing a wheelbarrow secured on its back with wheel and handles in the air.

"My good man," he asked the owner, "can you tell me why the little donkey is tied to the wheelbarrow in that odd fashion?"

"I shore can, stranger," replied that accommodating individual. "This here jassax has been acquired by old Walapai Higgins for a house pet at the Bully Boy mine, an', bein' as the animule is too delicat' to walk all the way over them rough trails, the old man drives him uphill an' at the summit jes' naterally turns him down the other side. Yessir, it do come hard on old Walapai, but it's mighty restin' for the jassax."—Success Magazine.

Eating on the Train In Spain.

As even express trains seldom attain a higher rate of speed than twenty-five miles per hour travel is slow and tedious, though fairly comfortable, and to enjoy Spain one must assume the leisurely indifference of the Spaniard to whom manana is always the chosen time. He is wise who carries his own luncheons, and never are dainty tea baskets more indispensable than on these long journeys. Spanish etiquette demands that the traveler before partaking of his food must politely offer it to those who share the compartment with him. It may either be graciously accepted or declined. In no country is it so difficult to travel and to secure information, as but little English is spoken even by important officials.—Travel Magazine.

Not Business.

Two highland farmers met on their way to church.

"Man," said Donald, "I wass wonderin' what you will be askin' for you bit sheep over at your steadin'?"

"Man," replied Dougal, "I wass thinkin' I wad be wantin 50 shullin's for that sheep."

"I will tak' it at that," said Donald, "but, och, man, Dougal, I am awful surprised at you doing business on the Sawbath."

"Business!" exclaimed Dougal. "Man, sellin' a sheep like that for 50 shullin's is not business at all. It's just charity."—Dundee Advertiser.

He Had the Name.

She had gone up the scales once, and then she had gone down the scales. Then she had done the same thing over again, after which some one asked:

"In what school of music were you taught?"

Thereupon some one else interrupted in an undertone:

"Judging by the speed, I should say it was a riding school."

And there were many present who deemed the sentiment a good one.

Fair Share.

It was at a theater in Manchester. The king, aged and infirm, was blessed with two sons. He was pacing up and down the stage, with a wearied, troubled look, exclaiming aloud, "On which of these my sons shall I bestow my crown?" Immediately came a voice from the gallery, "Why not 'arf a crown apiece, guv'nor?"—London Mail.

COTTON IN INDIA.

The Way It Was Discovered by a Man Who Was an Observer.

A remarkable story is told about the discovery of the cotton plant in India some years ago. Two gentlemen were driving out to dinner near Bombay, one the host and the other his guest. On both sides of the road were hedges.

It was getting dark, but the guest noticed some white stuff on the top of the hedges all the way along and at length told his friend that he thought it looked like cotton. His friend ordered the native driver to stop, and the two Englishmen got down and examined. The guest was right. It was cotton of an extraordinary strong staple.

Both men were cotton experts, and yet the host, who had driven along the same road for years, had passed the cotton without recognizing it. The guest immediately proceeded to buy up these hedges, for except them there were none that he had seen during a twelve years' residence in India.

During his investigations he discovered that natives often had one or two cotton trees in their gardens, and the English club compounds possessed three or four in different parts of India, but nowhere except in this Bombay district did he see cotton growing in such luxuriant abundance.

He bought up every tree and plant he could, for not a single native European imagined that it was a cotton tree that he possessed in his garden.—Cotton Age.

THE GREATEST WEDDING.

Over Twenty Thousand Persons Were Married by One Ceremony.

The biggest wedding ever known to history was when Alexander the Great and over 10,000 of his soldiers took part in a wedding in the court of Darius, king of Persia, after the latter's conquest by Alexander. Twenty thousand two hundred and two persons were made husbands and wives in one ceremony.

The facts are these: After conquering King Darius, Alexander determined to wed Statiro, daughter of the conquered king, and issued a decree that on that occasion 100 of his chief officers should marry 100 women from the noblest Persian and Medean families. He further stipulated that 10,000 of his Greek soldiers should take to wife 10,000 Asiatic women.

For this purpose a vast pavilion was erected, the pillars being sixty feet high. One hundred gorgeous chambers adjoined this for the 100 noble bridegrooms, while for the 10,000 soldiers an outer court was inclosed. Outside of this tables were spread for the multitude.

Each pair had seats and ranged themselves in a semicircle round the royal throne. As it would have taken several weeks for the few priests to have married this vast number of couples had the ceremony been performed in the ordinary way, Alexander invented a simple way out of the difficulty. He gave his hand to Statiro and kissed her, and all the remaining bridegrooms did the same to the women beside them, and thus ended the ceremony that united the greatest number of people at one time ever known.

Then occurred a five days' festival which for grandeur and magnificence never has since been equaled.

MAN AND HIS HORSE.

The Way to Show Approval That the Animal Will Appreciate.

Caress plays no small part in developing the best in any horse, but this is never to be by word of mouth. You may as well curse as bless for all your horse knows or cares. The caress of the hand addressed to the part with which the animal has just performed some feat is always appreciated—the expression shows that—and one loves to see a good man as he lands safe over a big place just reach back and give the clever horse a loving pat or two on that swelling muscular loin which has been the chief agent in negotiating the obstruction.

Do not pat neck or shoulder or any part not actively engaged in the undertaking. Caress may do no good, but it is pleasant to believe that it does, and we are quite positive that the voice simply diverts attention. The former mode of address is at least worthy of trial if only as a mark of appreciation between two gentlemen. The threatening tones appear sometimes serviceable, but this is so only when horses have been abused and associate punishment with the stern voice. The wild horse is as indifferent to the voice of affection as to that of rage.—From "Schooling the Hunter," by Frank M. Ware in Outing Magazine.

Drowned Manuscript.

James Russell Lowell, the first editor of the Atlantic, was walking across Cambridge bridge when his hat blew off and fell into the Charles with half a dozen or more manuscripts with which it was freighted and which he was returning to the Boston office. A boatman recovered the hat, but the scattered manuscripts perished in those waves of oblivion. "If they had been accepted articles, it wouldn't have been quite so bad, for," said he, "we might with some grace ask the writers for fresh copies. But how can you tell a self respecting contributor that his manuscript has been not only rejected, but sent to a watery grave?"—J. T. Trowbridge in Atlantic.

A Domestic Breakdown.

A well known lord discovered a thief in his London house. Aided by the butler, he secured the man and then rang the bell. A servant appeared, whom the peer requested to "go into the kitchen and bring up a policeman or two." The domestic returned and said there were no policemen on the premises. "What!" exclaimed his master in incredulous tones. "Do you mean to tell me that with a cook, two scullery maids, a kitchen maid and three housemaids in my employ there is no policeman in my kitchen? It is indeed a miracle, and our prisoner shall reap the benefit. Turner, let the man go instantly!"—London Standard.

True to Nature.

"Are you satisfied with your dentist?"

"Perfectly. He's a real artist. His false teeth are perfect jewels."

"Can't you tell the difference?"

"They are exact imitations of nature. There is even one that's so good an imitation that it aches sometimes."—Paris Journal.

Many Sides.

"That's the way the thing was told to me, but of course there's always more than one side to a story."

"Of course. There are always as many sides to a story as there are people to blame."—Philadelphia Press.

Quite a Difference.

"What does Vernon do for a living?"

"He works in a paint shop."

"Why, I understood he was a writer for the magazines."

"Well, you asked me what he did for a living."—Bohemian.

A Straight Tip.

Me and My Father.

The commercial traveler flicked the dust off his boots, straightened his tie and entered the emporium of Mr. Brown, the village grocer. He was new to the district, otherwise he would not have made the error which we now divulge.

Behind the counter was a young gentleman of fourteen, with bulging eyes and a high collar. To him the traveler addressed himself.

"My boy," he said, "is Mr. Brown in?"

"I'm Mr. Brown," the boy replied. "But possibly you want to see old Mr. Brown, my father. I'll get him."

And as the boy went in search of his prematurely aged parent it dawned upon the traveler that this is indeed an age of young men.—London Answers.

ANXIOUS WAGNER.

The First Performance of "Rienzi" at Dresden.

In Ludwig Frankenstein's Wagner year book Gustav Kiets tells this story in connection with the first performance of "Rienzi" at Dresden: "On the day of the first performance Wagner asked me to meet him in front of the theater after the box office had been opened, so that he could give me and my friend Schuster, the butcher, tickets for the performance. Wagner was in a state of great excitement, and when he gave me the two tickets Heine whispered to me, 'Take some one with good big hands with you.' He watched the people as they came toward the theater, and every time one went in he would make some remark to his wife which showed his satisfaction. I had to go within, but I shall never forget the childish joy of the composer when he saw groups enter the house and the disappointment when others passed the open doors. I thought of it even that evening when the enthusiasm was the greatest. How happy Wagner and his wife must have been at the following two performances, when the house was so filled that even his admirers, who had come to Dresden for that purpose, could not be admitted to the theater!"

THE DESERT SANDS.

Why the Arabs of Sahara Lose the Use of Their Eyes.

"I shall winter in the Sahara," said a traveling man. "With a caravan I shall traverse under a blinding sun and an endless plain of snow white sand, but none of my Mohammedan attendants will wear any kind of shade over his eyes.

"Against that dazzling glare the backs of their necks will be swathed in white linen, and even their ears will be protected. Nothing, though, will keep the sun out of their faces.

"Wondering about this, I said one day to the kaid of an Algerian village:

"'Why don't you Arabs wear a cap of some sort? You live in the world's worst sun glare, but neither fez nor turban under any circumstances has a peak.'

"'The Koran,' the kaid answered, 'forbids all true believers to shade their eyes. Obeying the Koran implicitly, we dwellers in the desert avoid like poison brims to our headgear. In consequence there is more blindness among us than among any other people in the world.'"—Los Angeles Times.

A Popular Play Indeed.

Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" has been translated into German nine times, into French seven, into Italian six, into modern Greek three, into Latin and Swedish twice and into Croatian, Danish, Dutch, Frisian, Polish, Roumanian, Russian, Magyar, Portuguese and Yiddish. There are seven or eight English acting editions of the tragedy. But one attempt actually to alter and improve it has ever been made. This was in 1722, when John Sheffield, duke of Buckingham, divided it into two parts at the death of Caesar, calling it "The Tragedies of Julius Caesar and Marcus Brutus," and made many other changes. To enrich this poor play, or, rather, these poor plays, Pope furnished some choruses, but they had the usual effects of ill adjusted ornaments—they served only to make the meanness of the thing they bedecked the more conspicuous.

Full Faith In the Doctor.

A young farm laborer called one market day at the registrar's office to record his father's death. The registrar asked the date of death.

"Well, father ain't dead yet," was the reply, "but he will be dead before morning, and I thought it would save me another journey if you would put it down now."

"Oh, that won't do at all," said the registrar. "Why, your father may take a turn before morning and recover."

"Ah, no, he won't," said the young laborer. "Doctor says he won't, and he knows what he's given father."—Liverpool Mercury.

Irish Wit.

As Sir Walter Scott was riding with a friend near Abbotsford he came to a field gate, which an Irish beggar, who happened to be near, opened for him. Sir Walter was desirous of rewarding him by the present of sixpence, but found he had not so small a coin in his purse. "Here, my good fellow," said he; "here is a shilling for you, but, mind, you owe me sixpence." "God bless your honor!" exclaimed the Irishman. "May your honor live till I pay you!"

CLEOPATRA.

The Story of Her Death From the Bite of an Asp.

It is admitted that Cleopatra killed herself to avoid being exhibited at Rome in the triumph of Octavius, who had made war upon her and Antony because the latter had divorced his (Octavius') sister on the queen's account. But did she die from a snake's bite? It is better to think not. "If her death had been caused by any serpent, the small viper would rather have been chosen than the large asp, but the story is disproved by her having decked herself in the royal ornaments and being found dead without any marks or suspicion of poison on her body."

Death from a serpent's bite could not have been mistaken, and her vanity would not have allowed her to choose one which would have disfigured her in so frightful a manner.

Other poisons were well understood and easy of access, and no boy would have ventured to carry an asp in a basket of figs, some of which he even offered to the guards as he passed, and even Plutarch shows that the story of the asp was doubtful. Nor is the statue carried in Augustus' triumph, which had an asp upon it, any proof of his belief in it, since the snake was the emblem of Egyptian royalty. The statue (or the crown) of Cleopatra could not have been without one, and this was probably the origin of the whole story.

ARTIFICIAL PEARLS.

What a Little Silver Fish Taught a French Beadmaker.

"I'll tell you," said a jeweler, "how the wonderfully perfect artificial pearl came to be invented.

"A rich French beadmaker, Moise Jaquin—he lived in the seventeenth century—found a pond in his garden covered one morning with a lovely silvery luster. Amazed, he called his gardener, who said it was nothing—some albettes had got crushed; that was all.

"Albettes were little silver fish, bleaks, the Leuciscus alournus. The gardener explained that if you crushed them they always gave the water a pearly sheen like that. Jaquin put on his thinking cap.

"For six years he worked with beads and bleaks, wasting millions of both, but finally he achieved success. He learned how to extract the pearly luster from the bleaks' scales and to cover a glass bead with it.

"What he did—and his method is still used—was to scrape the scales from the fish, wash and rub them and save the water. The water, decanted, gave off a lustrous fluid of the thickness of oil, a veritable pearl paint, a magic fluid that imparts a lovely pearly sheen to everything it is applied to.

"It takes 1,000 bleaks to yield an ounce of this pearl paint."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Lighted Streets In Europe.

The best lighted street in Europe, declares a weekly paper, is Unter den Linden, in Berlin. Perhaps it is, but we would not be sure. In the torrent seamed hills of the Jura, where water power is as cheap as anywhere in the world, there are little French villages in which every tiny cottage has its electric light installation, and the central street, that one could almost jump across, is flooded by the beams of arc lamps that would do credit to the Strand. However, the Berlin boulevard, otherwise a disappointing thoroughfare, is certainly well illuminated. Plate glass, Pilsener and policemen are the three most striking features of that capital, but the lighting of the streets is a good fourth.—London News.

JOHN J. ORR.

No Change Necessary In Rexall Remedies

The new Pure Food Law requires every patent medicine manufacturer to tell just what dangerous drug is in his medicine. Certain periodicals interested in patent medicine reform have declared that the formulas of many patent medicines will have to be changed before the manufacturers will dare conform with this law. These periodicals also declare that the public will never know of these changes, and never know what these remedies formerly contained.

This suspicion, however, cannot rest upon Rexall Remedies. You have absolute proof that Rexall Remedies have not been changed to conform with the new Pure Food Law, because you knew the formulas of these remedies four years ago! The Rexall formulas were never secret. The thousand Rexall druggists have always known all the Rexall formulas and given them to every customer who asked for them.

No one Rexall Remedy was ever claimed to be a "cure-all"—each of the 300 remedies is designed to cure a certain human ill—and does it. These 300 remedies were selected from among thousands because they were the most reliable and successful cures in the world. Far from wishing to conceal the formulas of these remedies, we are proud to tell just what they are, and always have been.

That's where the Rexall plan goes further to safeguard you than does the Pure Food Law. Even now you'll only know the dangerous drugs in other patent medicines, while you have always been able to know the complete formulas of Rexall Remedies!

The Rexall guarantee has been the greatest evidence of the sincerity back of the Rexall Remedies. For four years Rexall druggists have offered to return the money to any one who brought back an empty Rexall bottle or package and said they were not satisfied.

We, as one of the Rexall druggists, feel a genuine satisfaction in having been able to supply this community for four years with one line of medicines which the United States Government by its new Pure Food Law shows were always made right and sold right, and have deserved every bit of the faith you have had in them.

The Pure Food Law may necessitate changes in other medicines, but it only endorses Rexall Remedies.

A few of the 300 famous REXALL Remedies, one for each human ill, are:

FOR CATARRH—MUCU-TONE

The chief ingredients of Mucu-Tone are Gentian, Cubebs, Cascara Sagrada, Glycerine and Sarsaparilla.

Gentian is recognized in medicine as one of the greatest tonics ever discovered. It combines the tonic powers of all known "bitters," with none of the disadvantages applying to any.

Cubebs have long been recognized as a specific in the treatment of all catarrhal conditions. Its action is prompt and its benefit almost invariable.

Cascara Sagrada is especially introduced for its unapproachable laxative properties. The combination of these with Glycerine and Sarsaparilla makes Mucu-Tone a remedy that attacks catarrh from every point and gradually restores the diseased tissues. Bottle, 50c.

FOR NERVES — AMERICANITIS ELIXIR

The Rexall Americanitis Elixir is a tonic nerve food composed chiefly of free Phosphorus, Glycophosphates, Iron Pyrophosphate and Calisaya.

The wonderful results of this remedy are due to the fact that it supplies Phosphorus to the nerve cells in a condition in which it can be immediately and easily taken up by them.

The Glycophosphates, actual nerve-tissue builders, are one of the most recent and valuable additions to this branch of medicine and unquestionably a more efficient remedy than the well-known Hypophosphites.

The Iron Pyrophosphates are the most easily assimilated form of iron which give tone and color, and the combined alkaloids of Calisaya Bark have a tonic effect on almost all the functions of the body. 75c. and $1.00 a bottle.

REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC

The famous Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is composed in chief of Resorcin, Beta Naphthol and Pilocarpin.

Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective germ-killers discovered by science, and in conjunction with Beta Naphthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which not only destroys the germs which rob the hair of its nutriment, but creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpin is a well known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease of the scalp. It is not a coloring matter or dye.

This combination of curatives mixed with alcohol as a stimulant, perfects the most effective remedy for hair and scalp troubles known today. Per bottle, 50c.

"REXALL" ORDERLIES
The New Laxative

If you suffer from constipation or a sluggish liver, we want you to try this newest member of the Rexall family. It has never failed.

"Rexall" Orderlies have all the virtues and none of the defects of those laxatives and cathartics already known. They are harmless vanilla-flavored tablets that effect a re-adjustment of Nature's functions—no griping, no nausea, no purging. Pleasant to the taste—they give immediate relief.

A trial will prove to you that they are the best laxative and cathartic ever prescribed.

Train. Death visits other homes.

The community was shocked yesterday morning to learn of the terrible death of Frank M Wiley, conductor of the D. T. & I. freight, which occurred at Maumee, Toledo, O., at an early hour yesterday morning.

He had stopped his train at Maumee and was the only one in the caboose, when a Wabash train plowed through the caboose, wrecking several cars. His legs and back were broken and by the hard work of the train crew his body was rescued before the fire, which the stove had started, reached him. He lived but a few moments.

The sad news was received here in a short time and Giles and Ralph, oldest sons of the deceased, went to Toledo after their father's remains, returning at 1:35. Mr. Wiley was about 50 years old, leaves a wife, who was formerly Allie Osborn of this place, and three sons, Giles, Ralph and Earl, of his immediate family to mourn his loss. He had been sick for two weeks and this was his first run since that time.

The funeral will be held from the home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 p. m., Rev. Dunning officiating. Interment at Brookside.

ADDRESS

Delivered by

CHARLES D. HURRY

At the Y. M. C. A. International Convention at Washington, D. C.

Notwithstanding the bad weather, more than 1,000 boys, between the ages of 14 and 18 years, attended the big meeting for older boys, given under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association at the Belasco theatre yesterday afternoon.

Charles D. Hurrey, international secretary of the student department of the association, and who has recently returned from an extended trip through China, Japan, Korea and the Philippine Islands, in the interest of association work in the department, delivered an interesting and instructive address.

E. M. Robison, international secretary for boys' work, and senior member of the international committee of New York, presided. Mr. Robison, who is credited as having been the pioneer in the work for boys in connection with the association, made a brief address before introducing Mr. Hurry, who spoke immediately after prayer had been offered by Dr F N. Seeley, of the Springfield Training School of Springfield, Mass

Mr. Hurry urged the boys to prepare themselves to take exalted places in the world by shunning the evils brought before them by contamination with men of low ideals. He said the brave boy was the one who could renounce the many temptations brought before him every day of his existence, and not the boy who was ashamed to decline to do the evil things proposed by his conrades of bad character

"The trouble with many young men," said Mr. Hurry, "is they are afraid to decline to enter into these things for fear they will be stamped as cowards by others. The fact of the matter is, however, that the boy who announces himself as against the things in life that are wrong is much braver and shows himself to be more a man than the boy who succumbs to the will of the evil minded person."

Mr Hurry then told his audience of the men he had met in his recent trip They had been great athletes as well as Christian young men while in the big universities in this country and who were now in foreign lands helping the cause of Christianity in connection with the association work.

He cited an interesting instance in the late war with China, when a brave man was wanted to climb the thirty-foot wall that incloses the city of Pekin to ascertain the whereabouts of the enemy.

"The first man to volunteer was a former athlete in one of the large universities of our country" said Mr. Hurry "and a man who had been a leader in Y M C A. work at that institution. He successfully piloted his men over the wall. He was a brave man and showed himself as such in his younger days at college by renouncing the evils continually thrust upon him by his fellow students as well as on the field of battle."

Mr Hurry concluded his address by saying that because a boy was called a "sissy" by his associates for living up to the good teachings of this life, he was by no means a coward

"If he is anything" he said, "he is brave for no man can be brave without pure thoughts and deeds aroused through the teachings of christianity."

At the conclusion of the address Mr. Hurry requested that the young men present who had not been christians before the meeting but who were ready to declare themselves as such, to come upon the platform and register their name and addresses. More than 200 boys answered the call

A section of the Marine Band and the association male quartet furnished appropriate music.

Albert M. Chesley, director of boys' work for this city, led in the singing. Others present were, F. A. Crosby, associated with Mr. Robinson in boys work with headquarters at Chicago, H. L Hill in charge of educational work for boys in New York, R. A. Waight, director of evangelistic work D. R Porter in charge of boys' work in the high and preparatory schools.—Washington Herald.

RELIEVES IN FIVE MINUTES.

Help comes quickly when Hyomei is used for catarrh.

The quick relief that comes from the Hyomei treatment for catarrh is most remarkable. Put a few drops of liquid Hyomei in the little pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit and before you have used the treatment for five minutes you will notice relief from your catarrhal troubles.

It gives a tonic healing effect to the air you breathe, kills all catarrhal germs, stops the poisonous secretions, soothes the irritated mucous membrane and makes a marked improvement in the general health.

Hyomei is not a cure all; it has but one aim, the cure of catarrh and diseases of respiratory organs. When the catarrh is cured, the general health is improved, for then nature has a chance to build up the whole system.

If you suffer from offensive breath, raising of mucous, frequent sneezing, husky voice, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, loss of strength, spasmodic coughing and feeling of tightness across the upper part of the chest, general weakness and debility, or any other symptoms of catarrh, you should begin to use Hyomei at once. It will destroy all disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs and make a quick and permanent cure of catarrh. So strong is C. A. Wright & Son's belief in the power of Hyomei to cure all catarrhal troubles that with every $1.00 outfit they give a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

Detroit police made 12,324 arrests in the fiscal year, ending July 1, 1907, according to the annual report of Police Commissioner Smith. Fines to the amount of $39,650 were imposed. Of those taken into custody 6,413 were native born and 5,911 were foreign born.

Mrs. Polly Haines, aged 104 years, of Bad Axe, is dead. She was the oldest resident of Huron county, and enjoyed good health up to a few days ago. Mrs. Haines was born on Long Island, N. Y., in 1803, and was married three times.

Rev. Peter Goetz, pastor of St. Joachim's church in Detroit and a member of the Holy Ghost Fathers, has received a cablegram from the superior of the order in Paris, ordering him to British East Africa, where he will take charge of one of the most important missions of the order.

John Metzger, of Ceresco, for 16 years a Grand Trunk car inspector, was killed at South Bend by being crushed between freight cars. The body was taken to Ceresco for burial. Metzger left a wife and four children.

Leslie Van Wagoner, ten years old, of Battle Creek, was shot by Carl Bassett, a playmate. The Van Wagoner lad ran in front of Bassett's rifle just as it was discharged. The bullet struck the jugular vein, yet it was so glancing that Van Wagoner is not fatally hurt. Bassett was detained by the police, but dismissed with a reprimand.

Willing to pay $2.50 per share, but unable to do so because of the inability to get the cash, owing to the present financial stringency, the directors of the Calumet & Arizona Mining company made their quarterly dividend at the rate of $1.50 per share. This calls for the disbursement next month of $300,000. Three months ago the company declared $3 per share.

Destroyed Church Re-Opened.

Detroit, Dec. 2.—On April 11, 1906, St. Andrew's Episcopal church, corner of Putnam and Fourth avenues, was wrecked by fire. In the face of apparently insurmountable obstacles the congregation, headed by Rev. John Mockridge, has carried on a persistent campaign for funds, and services were held Sunday in the new structure for the first time. The church, which, although not yet fully completed, shows marked architectural beauty, was put in order by the combined efforts of the men, women and children of the parish in order to keep the expense as low as possible. Rev. Mockridge has accepted a call to Louisville, Ky., and will leave Detroit shortly.

A Historic Golfer.

The following entries in the accounts of James Graham, marquis of Montrose, when he was a student at the University of St. Andrews are quite in Falstaffian vein:

"Item: for two golfe balls, 10sh.

"Item: my Lord taking ane drink in Jhone Garus before he went out and after he came from the golfe, 45sh. 4d.

"Item: to the boy who carried my Lord's clubs to the field, 3sh."

With every allowance for change of tariff, the most completely refreshed giants of modern gold dwindle into abstemiousness beside that "ane drink."—London Athenaeum.

Crowded Out by Vain Man.

"I went into the office looking like a fright," said the woman. "I didn't have a chance to straighten my hat or pat my hair or anything. I had intended to primp going up in the elevator, but there was a man standing before each mirror twirling his mustache, and I couldn't even get a peep at myself."—New York Press.

Innocent Childhood.

Not Fatal.

No Matter What Doctors Say—We Know That Heart Trouble in Many Cases Can Be Cured.

There are seven main features of heart disease, viz.: (1) Weakness or Debility; (2) Rheumatism or Neuralgia; (3) Valvular Disorder; (4) Dilation; (5) Enlargement; (6) Fatty Degeneration; (7) Dropsy.

Documentary evidence will prove thousands of so-called "incurables" have been absolutely cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Patients often have no idea their disease is heart trouble, but ascribe it to Indigestion, Liver Complaint, etc.

Here are some of the symptoms: Shortness of breath after exercise, Smothering Spells, Pain in Chest, left Shoulder and arm, Discomfort in Lying on one side, Fainting Spells, Nervous Cough, Swelling of Feet and Ankles, Puffiness of Face and Lips, Palpitation, Nightmare, Irregular Pulse.

"I have great faith in Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and speak of its merits whenever opportunity presents. I can now go up and down stairs with ease, where three weeks ago I could hardly walk one block." One year later.—"I am still in good health; the Heart Cure did so much for me, that I find it a far greater medicine than you claimed it to be."—S. D. YOUNG, D. CONGRESS MEETS.

National Legislature Assembles for Sixtieth Time.

PLANS ARE NOT PERFECTED.

Many Matters to Be Legislated, But Even Leaders Are at Sea—Will Tackle Financial Question First—Likely to Adjourn Last of May.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The sixtieth assembly of the national legislature began at noon today.

Never at the beginning of any congress have the leaders of both parties found themselves more at sea concerning legislation than now. Very little except the financial situation is occupying the attention of any member, and all, whether leaders or followers, confess their inability to forecast what may be done on that subject. All of them lament the present situation, but all of them do not believe that the remedy for it is to be found in legislation. Those who believe that such a remedy will prove effectacious are in the majority, but their opinions as to means vary so widely that all admit the great difficulty of getting together.

The Democrats have already indicated a purpose of trying to force the tariff to the front, but the Republicans are so largely in the majority that their opponents have very little hope of accomplishing anything.

Among other subjects which will receive serious attention will be the question of taxing the sales made on the stock exchanges. There will be some anti-trust talk, but the financial panic will robably have the effect of curtailing it to a considerable extent. The Philippine tariff bill and the bills for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona as states will be introduced early in the session.

Deepen River Canals.

The friends of the scheme for the deepening of the channel of the Mississippi river will undertake to inaugurate that enterprise during the session, and in that connection there will be an effort looking to the systematic development of all the inland waterways. The president is expected to recommend in his message a channel of not less than 14 feet from New Orleans to Keokuk, and thus initiate a campaign. It is understood that the president will recommend an appreciable enlargement of the navy.

Even now the men who do most to formulate the policies of the two houses are putting their heads together with the view of securing an adjournment of the session at as early a date as possible. They are using the fact that the national conventions will probably be held in June to influence both Republicans and Democrats, and the response received is generally favorable to the view that the session should come to a close not later than the last of May.

Men With Records.

There are many interesting features of the sixtieth congress. In a large number of instances the new men who are included in the body come with records of active careers, and success in their various walks of life.

The senate is the largest in the history of the country, as it will be composed of 92 members, the increase being made by the admission of Oklahoma, whose two senators will be Robert L. Owen and T. P. Gore.

With the two senators from Oklahoma there are 17 new members of the senate which include successors to Senators Morgan and Pettus.

The senate has a majority of more than two-thirds Republican, so it will be possible for the majority to control legislation and even ratify treaties without a vote from the minority.

The house of representatives also has a Republican majority, there being 222 Republicans and 168 Democrats.

There is one vacancy in the house caused by the death of Mr. Slemp (Rep.) of Virginia.

There are 99 new members in the house, but of that number 12 have served in that body prior to the last congress.

Oklahoma's First Legislature.

Guthrie, Okla., Dec. 2.—The first legislature of the new state of Oklahoma met today. It will elect two United States senators, Messrs. Gore and Owen, already chosen by popular vote and who will present credentials of appointment by Governor Haskell to the senate in Washington. Much legislation is necessary to set the machinery of the new state in operation. A month ago it was expected that the legislature would consider drastic railroad legislation, but, the railroads having accepted the two-cent rate on state and interstate passenger traffic and displayed a conciliatory spirit in other ways, the railroad question has decreased in importance. The legislature will undoubtedly pass a law for the regulation of state banks. The first bill to be introduced in the state senate will be the "Jim Crow" measure by Senator Clint Graham of Marietta. It will provide for segration of the white and negro races in railway trains and waiting rooms, and will impose severe penalties upon roads who disobey the law.

Jamestown Exposition Closes.

Norfolk, Dec. 2.—With the turning out of the lights at 12 o'clock Saturday night, by President Tucker, the Jamestown Tercentennial exposition became a thing of history. Immediately before turning out the lights President Tucker delivered an address recounting the progress, joverses and difficulties of the exposition. The sounding of the midnight bell in the tower of the Pennsylvania building and the bugling of taps by soldiers marked the fair's death knell. The total paid admissions to the exposition will approximate 1,200,000, about 20 per cent of the total number estimated before the gates opened on April 26.

In Turkey there is a great consumption of the milk of the buffalo, the common cow, the goat and the ewe, but it is hardly ever used in a natural state. After slow cooling the milk is treated with a ferment taken from the previous day's supply. In a few hours a curd forms which is called yaghoun. The preparation is preferred to milk, and it has a pleasant, clean, acid taste and is, of course, nutritious.

PISO'S

Conquer That Cough

Don't go around with a mortgage on your chest. Every day that you let it remain, the tighter its grip becomes. The cough becomes more violent and exhausting; the delicate bronchial passages get inflamed under the continual backing; the lungs become lacerated under the constantly recurring paroxysms.

With Piso's Cure

there is a soothing and healing effect upon the entire respiratory mucous membrane. It has stood the test for nearly half a century as the one reliable remedy for consumption, colds and all chest affections. It goes right to the crisis of the trouble, removes the cause, and aids nature in restoring healthful conditions. Piso's Cure is absolutely free from objectionable ingredients. Its perfect safety, pleasant taste and unequalled efficacy make it the ideal remedy for man, woman and child. If you have a cough drive it out today

Battleships That Go to Pacific Will Be Prepared to Shoot.

New York, Dec. 2.—With 2,000,000 pounds of ammunition stowed away in her magazine rooms, and with nearly 1,000 men and officers aboard, the big 16,000-ton battleship Louisiana, representative of the largest class of fighting craft in the American navy, sailed at break of day from the Brooklyn navy yard, for Hampton Roads, the rendezvous of the Pacific-bound Atlantic fleet.

The Louisiana will be the first of the 16 magnificent vessels which are to go to the Pacific to reach the starting point of the famous cruise. The amount of ammunition stored aboard the Louisiana will be duplicated on all the vessels of her class. While this store of ammunition seems large it would be increased by at least one-quarter of the total weight if the fleet were being equipped in battle order. The heavy stores are explained by the fact that the fleet will expend nearly one month at spring target practice in Magdalena bay, lower California, before arriving at San Francisco.

Norfolk, Dec. 2.—The second flotilla of United States torpedo boat destroyers, which is to precede the powerful battleship squadron soon to sail for the Pacific under the command of Rear-Admiral R. D. Evans, has begun its long voyage of 15,000 miles. The six little vessels composing the flotilla sailed from Hampton Roads at eight o'clock this morning for San Juan, Porto Rico, where the first stop will be made.

The flotilla will be met by the Evans battleship squadron at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, between Jan. 15th and 20th.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

The annual report of G. F. Allens, forest supervisor in charge of the Mount Ranier National park, for the year ending June 30, 1907, states that 2,636 tourists visited the park, of whom 283 camped there three days or more.

Rev. Dr. R. A. Torrey has just closed one of the most remarkable evangelistic campaigns ever conducted in Chicago. The meetings were held in a huge steam-heated tent. Dr. Torrey has delivered 135 sermons to more than 275,000 listeners. About 3,200 persons have professed conversion.

Thousands of the Benis Nasser tribesmen, who have audaciously attacked the French forces in Algerian territory, have been forced back into Morocco. The French to the number of 6,000 are now concentrated on the frontier. Their plan is to drive the tribesmen into the hills, cut off their supplies, and then force them down into the plains where they hope to engage the insurgents in a punitive combat.

While the festivities in celebration of his marriage were at their height, George Bea, aged 38 years, of Bronwsville, Pa., accompanied by several companions, left the house to urge a friend living nearby to join in the fun. They had gone but a short distance when half a dozen men, supposed to be rejected suitors of Bea's bride, leaped from hiding, and one of them dealt Bea a blow that fractured his skull and caused his death. In the fusillade of shots John Jacovic, a guest, was hit in the face by a bullet and seriously injured.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

INTO RECEIVERS' HANDS.

Jamestown Exposition Company Admits Being Insolvent.

Norfolk, Dec. 5.—In the United States district court Judge Waddill has decided to appoint receivers for the Jamestown Exposition company. He announced that the court, while taking charge of the affairs of the exposition company at once, will take two days to consider the names suggested by counsel for receiver. He said that at least two and possibly three receivers would be named.

The case was heard on the application of John Monk, a mechanics' lien creditor, and the Curran Printing company of St. Louis, a judgment creditor. President Tucker, Director-General Martin and other exposition officials were present. The exposition company's answer, which showed the company's desire for a receivership to protect the federal government and other creditors, admitted the allegation of insolvency, but denied that no proper accounting of its funds had been made, and denied the correctness of the mechanics' lien claims of $225,900.

RAILROAD WINS.

Supreme Court Reverses Decree Imposing $30,000 Fine on Southern Railway Company.

Raleigh, Dec. 5.—The state supreme court in a decision just handed down reversed the decree of Judge Long of the superior court in the matter of the $30,000 fine imposed on the Southern Railway company, for selling passenger tickets at a rate in excess of two and one-quarter cents, the state rate.

At thes ame time the decision affirms the act of the court and the constitutionality of the legislative act prescribing punishment of agents and officials of the road for selling tickets at an excess rate; the bringing of penalty suits of $500 each by individuals against the corporation for violating the law, and holding that the federal court has no authority to issue an injunction gainst bringing suits, criminal or civil, against the railroad, as it would in thus enjoining a criminal action by bringing a suit against the state which is forbidden by United States laws, as the act of the legislature was self-operating as to passenger fares and required no action on the part of state officials.

MOTION WAS LOST.

Protestant Would Give State's Money to Parochial Schools.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 5.—An unusual spectacle was presented in the constitutional convention Wednesday afternoon when a delegate who is a protestant tried to have provision made in the revised constitution for the division of a part of the primary school moneys to parochial schools; while two delegates who are Catholics, and have educated their children in parochial schools, opposed the proposition.

Ex-Speaker Edgar J. Adams of Grand Rapids is the protestant; Richard C. Flannigan of Norway, upper peninsula, and Louis E. Tossy of Detroit are the two Catholic delegates. The committee on bill of rights, of which Delegate Martin J. Cavanaugh of Ann Arbor, himself a Catholic, had reported a bill of rights. The second section reads:

"The legislature shall pass no law to prevent any person from worshiping Almighty God according to the dictates of his own conscience, or to compel any person to attend, erect or support any place of religious worship, or to pay tithes, taxes or other rates for the support of any minister of the gospel or teacher of religion."

Delegate Adams moved to strike out the last four words, "or teacher of religion." He said that there are communities in Michigan where a majority of the children attend parochial schools, yet in taking the census to determine how much of the primary funds should be given to the community out of the state treasury, on a per capita basis, the parochial school pupils as well as the public school pupils are enumerated.

Inasmuch as the one great end of our educational system is to educate the young, the state ought to give assistance to schools that educate large numbers in any community, even though they are not public schools.

Delegates Tossy and Flannigan led the opposition, and finally succeeded in putting down the motion.

During the day's session the following new proposal were offered:

By Delegate Snow, Saginaw—To require that all judges of probate must be a lawyer.

By Delegate Babcock, Muskegon—To tax vessel property on a tonnage basis in lieu of all other taxes.

By Delegate Deuel, Charlevoix—That all legislative appropriation bills shall originate in the house of representatives.

Wounded by His Own Gun.

South Haven, Mich., Dec. 5.—William Wakely, 17 years old, living near North Glenn, ten miles from this city, is in the hospital here with a gunshot wound in his left breast. While hunting he dragged the gun across a log, when it was discharged, the load of shot barely missing the heart. He lay unconscious an hour before being found. His chances for recovery are about even.

National Rivers and Harbors Congress Convenes.

ASSEMBLES IN WASHINGTON.

Organization Hopes to Induce Congress to Make Appropriations For Improvements of Waterways of the Country.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Prominent officials of the national government, governors of states, representatives of foreign powers, members of the senate and house of representatives and leaders in all walks of civil life in America participated Wednesday in the opening of the convention of the national rivers and harbors congress. Nearly 2,000 delegates, representing every state in the Union, were present.

It is not expected that any definite or concrete action in promotion of the projects advocated by the congress will be taken, but it is hoped that the work of the convention will so impress the national congress now in session a to induce it to make adequate appropriation for the improvement of rivers and harbors of the country. It is the desire of the delegates to secure such action by the congress of the United States as will promote the trade and commerce of America. It is not a special project the convention has in view, but the adoption of a policy by the government looking to the extension of the transportation facilities of the United States.

On behalf of the national administration, Mr. Elihu Root, secretary of state, extended to the congress hearty sympathy in the work which it had undertaken and gave assurance of the support of the administration in the conclusions arrived at by the delegates.

The congress will be in session for three days and the body will be addressed by some of the most prominent publicists and economists of the United States.

King Oscar Seriously Ill.

Stockholm, Dec. 5.—A serious situation has arisen in Sweden. King Oscar, who is nearly 80 years of age, is in such ill-health that he has been compelled to hand over the reins of government to Crown Prince Gustave, who has been formally appointed regent. The illness of the king is such that there is little hope for his ultimate recovery, his heart and kidneys being seriously affected. Dissensions in the cabinet have arisen which have resulted in the resignation of the minister of war, Colonel L. H. Tingsten; minister of the interior, Juhtin, and Admiral Dyrssen, minister of marine. Premier Lyndman will take temporary charge of the war office, and Count Ehrensxaerd and Count Hugo Hamilton were sworn in as minister of marine and minister of the interior respectively.

Special Grand Jury Ordered.

New York, Dec. 5.—A special January grand jury has been ordered by Justice Dowling in the supreme court, on application of District Attorney Jerome, who declared that there are grave and important matters which he desires to sumbit to such a body. The district attorney, it is said, proposes to make a thorough investigation of the affairs of the International Trust company, which was controlled by practically the same interests which dominated the suspended Borough bank of Brooklyn, and to look into certain phases of the local banking situation which have developed during the past few weeks. But reticence is maintained by the district attorney regarding the inquiry which the special grand jury will be asked to make.

Rescue Child From Gypsies.

St. Louis, Dec. 5.—By means of a writ of habeas corpus secured from the Clayton county circuit court, Antonio Thompson and his wife of Los Angeles, Cal., secured possession of their 16-year-old daughter, Marie, from a band of gypsies encamped on the outskirts of St. Louis. The parents declare the daughter was stolen from them a year ago, and that since then they have traveled thousands of miles and spent practically all their money in searching for her. Disguised as gypsies themselves they invaded the gypsy camp and found their daughter. The gypsies refused to surrender the girl until confronted by an order of the court in the hands of a deputy sheriff.

Reasonable.

His Lordship—Whatever could you have been thinking of to steal the sheep? The Prisoner—I, dunno, my lord; I must ha' been woolgatherin'.

Glazier Asks For a Little Time and Patience.

DEPOSITORS WILL NOT LOSE.

State Treasurer Issues Statement—Declares Certain Published Reports Are Falsehoods—Bird Asks For Receiver For Chelsea Bank.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 5.—Mr. Glazier authorized the publication of the following statement in the Ann Arbor News-Argus:

"No depositor of the Chelsea savings bank will lose a single dollar. I have not a dollar of personal indebtedness to the Chelsea savings bank that is not secured. The stove company has a loan of $60,000 on which I am an endorser. For this amount there is collateral security of $200,000 in stove company stock. The bank is thus doubly secured.

"An attempt is being made by certain parties to scare depositors so as to be able to buy up the depositors' accounts for a small amount and thereby enrich themselves. There is no question but that all depositors will receive their money in full, dollar for dollar. Regarding the loan of the Dexter Savings bank, this is not a direct loan to me, but a loan of $25,000 to five different parties for $5,000 each, upon which I am indorser. Collateral securities of $50,000 in stove stock secure this amount.

Books Thrown Open.

"The story that the records and books in the treasurer's office in Lansing cannot be seen is a deliberate falsehood. These books have been thrown open to newspaper reporters and the auditor for the bonding companies and others who may be interested. I have authorized Attorney-General Bird to make a full and complete examination of the state treasurer's office and report on the condition of the state moneys and also on the bonds and mortgages held to secure the business of the insurance and trust companies doing business in the state. This examination is now being held, and everything will be found to be straight and regular.

"There is no cause for worry or anxiety on the part of the public in any way, and time will straighten out everything and all obligations will be met. All that is necessary is a little time and patience on the part of the depositors and creditors."

The following from Archie Wilkinson, who represented the Chelsea Stove company at the meeting of Detroit creditors, is also published:

Business Fell Off.

"For the post two months business of the Chelsea Stove Company has been practically cut in two, as has all manufacturing business, and said stove company having papers becoming due to the amount of $120,000, $20,000 of which was demanded, together with about $13,000 due on buildings, was unable at the present time to meet these obligations.

"There have been no attachment suits against the company, as stated, nor will there be, as there is nothing to base the suit on. Kenneth, Anderson & Co., however, have replevined some goods sold to the company for January delivery and shipped ahead, they having feared a cancellation of the order on account of depression in mnufacturing lines."

Attorney-General Bird and Bank Examiner Henry M. Zimmerman appeared before Judge Kinne last night and made formal application for a receiver for the Chelsea State Savings bank. Although several names were presented an agreement as to the appointee was not determined on.

Thought Him Long Since Dead.

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 5.—Twenty-eight years ago John Gallagher left home and nothing was heard of him until it was thought he was killed by a train near Flint. The relatives buried the remains in Flint, and have since that time believed the man dead. While his mother, Mrs. John Rouprec, was eating supper there came a knock at the door, and she opened it to find herself face to face with a stranger. "Hello, mother," exclaimed the man. But mother didn't know her son, so changed was he, and it took some minutes to convince her that her boy stood before her. Gallagher has traveled nearly around the globe several times and has learned more or less of eight languages during his

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by the inflamed condition of the lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflammed your hearing is imperfect and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation is relieved and this tube made healthy, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but inflammation of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness, caused by catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure.

CLUB NOTES.

The Monday Club held its second social afternoon of the club year at the home of Mrs John Hicks last Monday. This being an Irish year with them the house was decorated every where with shamrock and a phonograph played "Wearing of the Green" while the guests were assembling. The program was composed entirely of sketches and songs from Thomas Moore, the greatest Irish bard, and after the rooms were filled the president, Mrs. Wm. Albert, distributed very good pictures of the poet mounted on cards bearing the numbers of the program on the reverse side.

As announced it was:

Song, "Kathleen Mavourneen"

Sketch of Thomas Moore and his writings—Mrs. N. A. Howland.

Reading "The Shamrock"—Mrs. Chas. Clark.

Song "'Tis the Last Rose of Summer"—Trio, Mrs. Mead, Mrs. Hodges and Miss Magers.

Review of Lalla Rookh—Mrs. Alfred James.

Vocal solo, "Oft in the Stilly Night"—Miss Edith Magers.

Recitation—Mrs. Chas. Clark.

After the program the ladies adjourned to the dining room where the walls were decorated with Irish flags and the table with fern and shamrock. A bountiful Irish menu was served, Mrs. Henry Wilson and Mrs. Horace Weller presiding in turn at the coffee urn. Miss Lizzie Smith decorated each leaving guest with a sprig of arbor vitae and a word from "Wearing of the Green." About 75 ladies enjoyed Mrs. Hicks' charming hospitality and congratulated Mrs. Albert on one more successful afternoon added to the Monday Club's list of pleasant entertainments.

The ladies of the committee who have the thanks of all for an enjoyable Irish luncheon are Mesdames Henry Wilson, Rice, S. W. Temple, Hayden, Will Hall, Leon Temple, Bordine, Shull, Weller, Faron Anderson, Hardenburg, Ernest Howard, Brown, Hicks, Misses Lizzie Smith and Leva Gillespie. The visiting ladies from out of town were Mrs. Chas. Clark and Mrs. Kemp of Clinton, and Mrs. Ralph Hillman.

King's Daughters Entertainment.

A few years ago a custom was inaugurated by the King's Daughters society of giving some form of entertainment each year, the proceeds of which are used to alleviate want and suffering in our community. There are many of these cases that are crying for assistance as the winter season draws on. The citizens of Tecumseh, have always responded liberally to these calls for their support in this most worthy cause, on the other hand it may be safely stated that the society of King's Daughters have never attempted to put on an entertainment unless they were satisfied they were giving full value received.

This year they have been fortunate in re-engaging Prof. J. H. Raymond, who made such a favorable impression last year and who will continue his talks on European capitols. This year we will visit Athens, Rome, Copenhagen, Berne Brussels and Madrid. Each of these six lectures is fully illustrated with a fine collection of hand colored stereoptican views.

Those who saw the views last year will remember that they were as clear and handsome slides as were ever shown in this city and are in themselves a remarkable education and give one a fair introduction to our neighbors and their cities who are just across the "pond." The price of tickets for the six lectures will be $1.50. Reserved seats without extra charge. First lecture will be given early in January.

Roberts—Thayer.

A pretty wedding took place in the home of H. Brant Roberts Wednesday evening, Dec. 4, '07, when his daughter, Blanche Estella Roberts, was united in marriage to Glenn Page Thayer of Grand Rapids, Mich. The ceremony was performed at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. John Wirt Dunning, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who used the ring service. The Lohengrin Bridal Chorus was played by Mrs. Edward Codling.

The rooms were tastefully decorated. The ceremony was performed under a white bridal canopy which was artistically trimmed with smilax, ribbon and candles with holly shades which was originally designed and arranged by Mr. Ross Ferguson.

The bride was gowned in cream silk lace over white silk and carried a beautiful bouquet of English violets. She was attended by Miss Mayme Kaiser, who wore pink suesine silk trimmed with Irish lace and carried pink Detroit roses. N. Clare Morey of Grand Rapids, was best man.

After the ceremony refreshments were served in the spacious dining room which was decoarted in pink and white and was in charge of Misses Kaiser, Aylesworth, Schreder and Stringham. The punch was served by Miss Bessie Babcock. Many very beautiful gifts were received, the gift room being in charge of Miss Mabel Mills and Miss Clara Doty of Grand Rapids.

The out of town guests present were George A. Thayer of Carson City, Mich. and Mrs. Wm. E. Slater of Utica, N. Y., father and sister of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. L. Hamilton, cousins of the bride and Miss Clara Doty of Grand Rapids, I. B. Hamilton of Grandville, Mich., Eugene Marstellar, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anglemeyer of Clinton, Mich.

Smith—Service.

The marriage of Miss Rosa Smith, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Smith, to Wm. Service of this place, took place in Detroit Thanksgiving day at the home of Rev. Manning. Mr. and Mrs. Service are highly respected young people and are receiving the congratulations of a host of friends. They will go to housekeeping at once in rooms over the laundry.

Any man would get boiling mad if his wife kept him in boiling water all the time.

REMOVE THE CAUSE

How to remedy much of the suffering in Tecumseh.

There is hardly a family in Tecumseh where there are not one or more members who suffer at times from the effects of a weak stomach.

It may be that this occurs only after eating some food that does not agree, or because of a supper late at night; or it may be that the stomach is so weak that scarcely any food can be eaten without pain and distress.

The only way to treat a condition of this kind successfully is with Mi-o-na. It removes the cause of indigestion, weakness of the muscles of the stomach and bowels and restores the whole digestive system to health and strength so that it takes care of all the food that is eaten.

When the stomach is weak, indigestion, is followed by flatulence, dizziness, headaches, sleeplessness and many other disagreeable symptoms. The one remedy that can be absolutely relied upon to cure this condition is Mi-o-na, for this removes the cause of the suffering, the weakness of the stomach and intestinal tract and restores health so that all food is easily digested without pain or suffering.

Get well and strong by using Mi-o-na tablets. Take the remedy at the first symptom of indigestion, when you can be cured easily with a few doses. However, no case of stomach trouble is too severe or chronic for Mi-o-na to overcome.

C. A. Wright & Son sell it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money unless it cures. A 50-cent box lasts for a couple of weeks and will do more real good than a dozen boxes of the ordinary digestive tablets.

The Best Laxative for Children.

Parents should see to it that their children have one natural, easy movement of the bowels each day. Do not dose the child with salts or griping pills, as they are too powerful in effect, and literally tear their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before. Laxative Iron-ox Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate all the little organs to healthy activity. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never gripe or nauseate. 10c, 25c and $1.00

BILLS FOR SENATE.

Nearly One Thousand Measures Introduced.

NEARLY ALL ARE OLD ONES.

Senator McCumber Introduces Measure For Control of Corporations—House Committee on Banking Finds Itself Near to Understanding.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Nearly a thousand bills were introduced in the senate Wednesday, and all of them were referred to committees, where they will be taken for consideration after the new senators shall be given committee assignments. No other business of importance was transacted. Almost all of these bills were considered in the last congress, and most of them are private pension bills.

Senator McCumber introduced a bill which embodies his ideas concerning the control of corporations doing an interstate business. This bill provides that any corporation doing an interstate business may take out a national incorporation, but does not make such action mandatory. In this way he expects, he says, to separate the sheep from the goats, and "to gradually have the most substantial of corporations acting under a national charter, the requirements of which will be a guaranty of their wholesale business methods." The control he proposes to institute for these corporations is similar to that now exercised by the government over national banks. In addition his measure provides against the watering of stock. This bill was referred to the committee on interstate commerce.

Senator Newlands also introduced a bill for national incorporation of interstate carriers under national law with a provision for the acquisition by them of state incorporated railroads with the consent of the respective states.

Other Measures.

Among the more important other measures introduced Wednesday were the following:

By senator Fulton—Amending the railroad rate law in such manner that a change of tariff filed with the interstate commerce commission cannot go into effect where objection is made until the commission had declared the rate fair.

By Senator Dick—The administration measure providing for an increase of pay for members of the army, navy and marine corps.

By Senator Burks—Providing for the teaching of agriculture in normal schools; free postage on reading matter mailed to the blind, and prohibiting telegraph and express companies from transmitting returns pertaining to gambling.

By Senator La Follette—Requiring that railroad rates shall be fixed so as to yield only a fair return on the valuation of a road's property.

By Senator Nelson—Extending the free delivery service to all towns having a postal revenue of $8,000.

Two single statehood bills were introduced, one by Senator Teller for the admission of New Mexico, and the other by Senator Stone for the admission of Arizona as a state.

The newly appointed house committee on banking and currency held its first meeting Monday, spending two and one-half hours in discussing the currency question in several of its phases. At the conclusion of the meeting several of the members stated as a result of the conference the members of the committees were nearer together than they ever had been before, notwithstanding the same men, with the exception of three, composed the committe during the 59th congress.

The only definite action taken at this initial meeting was the authorizing of the chair to appoint a subcommittee of five to draft and submit a currency bill to correct the present financial situation.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

WITH NON-UNION MEN

Attempt Will Be Made to Open Mines In Goldfield, Nev.

Goldfield, Nev., Dec. 9.—Captain Sage of the Consolidated Mines company's detective patrol reports that he has seized 100 rifles that had been hidden, presumably by miners, within a short distance of Goldfield.

This is presumed to be a part of the cache of arms and ammunition which the miners are represented to have collected during the last few days.

Captain William Cox, the representative of Governor Sparks in Goldfield, states that he had information from the Mine Owners' association that an attempt will be made during the week to re-open the mines here with non-union men.

There are now nine companies of troops here. Colonel Reynolds, commanding all of the troops here, refuses to say whether he will detail soldiers to patrol the mines when the attempt is made to re-open, but merely states that the troops are here to preserve order, and that they are prepared to handle the situation.

All of the mines are picketed at present by union men, and, according to the statement of the owners, it is impossible for the owner or manager of a property to visit his property to ascertain what condition it is in, much less to put men in the mine to work the pumps.

Both sides freely state that the fight is on, and that this is to be a fight to a finish and that they are prepared for it. Martial law has not been proclaimed and the officers and troops have done little more than make themselves as comfortable as possible.

Storms Delay Lusitania.

New York, Dec. 9.—Buffeted by storms that retarded her progress from the time she left Liverpool until she passed the grand banks, the Lusitania of the Cunard line, has arrived has arrived. The time of passage was 5 days 22 hours and 25 minutes. It was the first time that the new, five-day ship has been compelled to battle with heavy seas during an entire voyage. The Lusitania made an average speed of 19.52 knots.

Courtrai, Belgium, Dec. 9.—One of Van Dyke's great masterpieces, "The Erection of the Cross," has been stolen from the church of Notre Dame. The thieves carefully cut out the canvas from the frame and carried it away. They are believed to have been experts, as special watchmen employed in guarding the treasurers of the church, observed nothing.

BOYS GO THROUGH ICE

Five Have Lost Their Lives as the Result.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENTS.

Three Lads at Flint Attempt to Cross River With Fatal Result—Detroit Boys Run Away From Home, and Two Drown.

Detroit, Dec. 9.—Eddie and Willie Gill were forbidden by their father to leave the yard. But when Dewey and Eddie Stallard came along and told them that the canal was frozen over they ran away. It took them only a few minutes to reach the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad bridge near Zug island.

Down the steep bank the boys raced and out upon the ice which gave way under their weight. Eddie Gill and Dewey Stallard, each eight years old, were drowned. Willie Gill, aged ten, was pulled from the icy water by Eddie Stallard, who tore a plank from the railroad bridge, waded out as far as he could and pushed it under the sinking boy. Eddie is 17 years old.

Recover Boy's Body.

Childish screams attracted a throng to the water's edge. Two shivering boys, two floating caps and broken ice was all that could be seen.

M. R. Harris, 107 James avenue, and J. E. Higgins, 108 James avenue, River Rouge, helped Patrolman Hastings and Cowan from the Delray station drag the bodies to the surface. The water is eight feet deep at this point.

The drenched form of Dewey Stallard was first recovered. There was still some warmth underneath the soaked clothing that clung to his thin body, but although Dr. Hugh Carey and others tried to revive him, the water had done its work.

Nearly paralyzed with cold, Willie Gill was taken to the police station, while A. O. Moran, undertaker, took charge of the two bodies.

The Stallards live at 75 Burdeno street. James W. Stallard, the father, works in the Solvay process plant.

Flint, Mich., Dec. 9.—A day's outing in the country had for its tragic sequel near here a triple drowning accident, of which the victims were Joseph and Floyd Randall, ten and eight years old respectively, and Ernest Boutelle, 12 years old.

The two brothers and their companion were on their way from one piece of woods to another, and in attempting to cross the Flint river at a point about two miles and one-half below the city the thin ice gave way under their weight and all went down together.

Elmer Randall, six years old, a brother of two of the victims of the drowning, remained on the bank while the others ventured out on the ice, and his screams soon brought assistance from neighboring farm houses. It was then too late to render the drowning boys any help as the only evidence of the tragedy to be seen were three little caps floating on the water.

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 9.—William Waldbauer, 12 years old, son of Valentine Waldbauer, and his cousin, of the same name, aged 13, broke through the ice while skating on Saginaw river and sank in about eight feet of water. Other boys, who were with them, ran to a nearby brewery and summoned help. Men threw boards out to the struggling youths, who, after being in the water about 20 minutes, were rescued, but were almost overcome by cold.

Church and School Dedicated.

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 9.—St. Hyacinth's Polish Catholic church and school, built at a cost of over $600,000, were dedicated by Bishop Richter of Grand Rapids, assisted by a large staff of priests of the diocese, Sunday. The new church was constructed by the Polish residents of the south end of the city because the St. Stanislaus church, one of the most magnificent in the city, was no longer adequate for the immense congregation that attended there, and a new organization was formed. The new building is a combination of school, church and public hall.

Policeman Gets Life Sentence.

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 9.—"Guilty as charged," was the verdict in the case against former Policeman Isaac W. Lewis, charged with the murder of Police Captain Holzaptel, Feb. 5. The jury deliberated only a little more than an hour. Judge Parkinson immediately sentenced the ex-policeman to imprisonment in Jackson prison for the rest of his natural life.

REMARKABLE SUNDAY

"Lid" Clapped On Tight For Once in New York.

POLICE WERE EQUAL TO IT.

Populace Found Amusement Only In Walking Streets—Church Attendance Materially Increased Sunday Night.

New York, Dec. 9.—New York city, which can usually be depended upon to provide something new and sensational, Sunday treated its millions of residents and tens of thousands of week-end visitors to the novelty of a thoroughly "blue" Sunday, the first and probably the last in the history of the metropolis. Few had expected to live to see the day.

Incidentally the police department demonstrated that it was equally effective in enforcing obnoxious or popular statutes. The aldermen will meet Tuesday to modify the ordinances so far as their authority goes.

There were few attempts to evade the law following Police Commissioner Bingham's announcement that all Sunday entertainments must cease in accordance with Justice O'Gorman's interpretation of the Sunday closing act.

The effect of the closing was everywhere apparent. Broadway was deserted except for those who found nothing better to do than to walk the streets. The hush throughout the great "White Way" was painful to ears accustomed to weekday noises and Sunday harmonies. Upon the closed doors of the opera houses, theaters, music halls, dancing academies, skating rinks and penny arcades placards had been posted. These bluntly announced that the places had closed for the day in accordance with Justice O'Gorman's decision.

At the various branches of the Y. M. C. A. the usual exhibits illustrating scriptural texts and moving pictures, which have been a feature, were suspended. The services followed strictly religious lines.

In the foreign sections the residents were much bewildered by the new order. The closing of the Chinese theaters was looked upon by many of its accustomed patrons as an ill-omen.

The Greeks, Russians and Scandinavians, who were turned away from their dancing academies and other resorts, shook their heads dubiously while they argued over the merits of the law.

Coney Island was shut up tight, and the few who visited the resort spent the day strolling the beaches.

The effect of the closing was to send thousands of people to the hotels and cafes for prolonged dinners. There was no perceptible increase in the size of the church congregations at the morning services, but the evening meetings attracted audiences reported to be unusually large.

Michigan Took 31 Medals.

Grand Rapids, Dec. 9.—Michigan took 31 medals at the Jamestown exposition, according to reports received from Herbert E. Sargent, director of exhibits and curator of the Kent Scientific museum of this city, who has been at the exposition all summer. Mr. Sargent is now closing up the affairs of the Michigan commission.

Kaiser's Rest a Long One.

London, Dec. 9.—The kaiser remains at Highcliffe and, judging from appearances, is benifitting from his holiday; but, in the face of official statements, its prolongation is not without mystery. Facts, however, are stronger than official denials and there can be no doubt that the emperor's health has been the cause of considerable concern for some time past. His restlessness cannot be checked.

Force Saloons to Close Sundays.

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 9.—Bay City saloonkeepers have observed the Sunday closing law very religiously for the last three weeks as the result of a few prosecutions started by a local manufacturer of lumber. The liquor men are very sore over this interference with their business and are putting up a "holler" about paying for "rights" and think they should be protected. With this fight comes the advent of the Anti-Saloon league starting an active campaign against the liquor traffic for the first time in local history. This town thus becomes the center of attack on saloons in this section of the state. The anti-saloonists will first try to get Bay City in line and then will advance on the traffic in the surrounding country, working to the north, which, like this, has for many years been free and easy in regard to grog.

CALL GOES FORTH.

Republican National Convention Will Be Held In Chicago, June 16.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The official call for the Republican national convention, to be held in Chicago on June 16 next, has been issued. The call is addressed "to the Republican electors of the United States," and the part relative to the selection of delegates reads as follows:

Said national convention shall consist of four delegates-at-large from each state, two delegates for each representative-at-large in the congress, two delegates from each congressional district and from each of the territories of Arizona, New Mexico and Hawaii, two delegates from the District of Columbia and two delegates each from Alaska, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. For each delegate elected to this convention an alternate delegate shall be chosen to serve in case of the absence of his principal.

All delegates shall be elected not earlier than 30 days after the date of this call and not later than 30 days before the date of the next Republican national convention.

The credentials of each delegate and alternate must be forwarded to the secretary of the Republican national committee at Washington, D. C., at least 20 days before the date fixed for the meeting of the convention for use in making up its temporary roll.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Delegates to the Republican national convention will find the Coliseum, the big hall where the 1904 gathering of the party was held, improved and enlarged. Just as soon as word was received in Chicago that the national committee had selected this city for the convention engineers and architects were told to go ahead with tentative plans for alterations which had been under consideration, and, as a result, the big structure will be remodeled so as to seat 15,000 persons.

The building is unique, not only for its seating capacity, but also for its light, acoustic properties and ventilation. At the south end of the Coliseum proper is an annex of two floors, either one of which is large enough to accommodate all the delegates. The upper hall of the annex has galleries under the east and west ends, beneath which are rooms that may be used for committee work.

Taft's Mother Is Dead.

Millbury, Mass., Dec. 9.—Mrs. Louisa Taft, mother of Secretary of War Taft, is dead. The funeral will not be held until after the arrival of Secretary Taft, who is on his way home. Mrs. Taft was the widow of Alphonso Taft, secretary of war and attorney-general under President Grant, and later minister to Austria and Russia. Mrs. Taft was born in Boston, Sept. 11, 1827. She is survived by four children of whom Secretary Taft is the eldest. The two other sons are Henry W. Taft of New York, and Horace D. Taft of Watertown, Conn. The daughter, Fanny L., is the wife of Dr. William A. Edwards of Los Angeles. C. P. Taft of Cincinnati is a stepson.

Deafness cannot be cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by the inflamed condition of the lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflammed your hearing is imperfect and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation is relieved and this tube made healthy, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but inflammation of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness, caused by catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure.

SWEDEN'S KING DEAD

Venerable Oscar II. Passes Away After Long Illness.

SON TAKES OATH OF OFFICE

Whole Country is Bowed in Grief Over Death of Oldest Ruler of 19th Century—Cabinet Consents to Serve Under New King.

Stockholm, Dec. 8.—Oscar II., king of Sweden, died at 9:10 o'clock Sunday morning. The death of the venerable monarch occurred in the royal apartment of the palace where, surrounded by the members of his family, including the aged Queen Sophia and the crown prince, Gustav Adolf, and high officers of state, the inevitable end has been awaited, while outside the palace great crowds stood with bowed heads and tearful eyes long after the announcement came of the death of their well loved sovereign.

The whole country is bowed with grief, for King Oscar was something more than a ruler of his people, and had endeared himself to them as an intimate and personal friend. When the flag on the palace was dipped to half mast there was a moan of anguish from the assembled multitude, and many of them cried, "Our dear old king is dead."

New King Takes Oath.

The succession to the throne of Sweden now passes to Oscar Gustave Adolphe, duke of Vermland, the oldest son of the late king. At a meeting of the council of state Sunday afternoon the new king took the oath of allegiance under the title of Gustave V., and adopted the motto, "With the people for the fatherland."

KING OSCAR II. OF SWEDEN.

The last hours of the expiring monarch were passed in unconsciousness and up to the end he gave no signs of recognizing those about him. The queen was grief-stricken because he could not bid her farewell.

When King Gustave V. took the oath of office before the cabinet and court all were assembled in the grand gallery. The oath was administered by Minister Lindman. Then the princes of the blood swore allegiance to the king, who embraced and kissed them, giving his favorite brother, the giant Carl, a hearty slap on the back.

This ceremony being concluded, the cabinet resigned, but the king begged the ministers to remain at their posts and assist him as they had so ably assisted his father. They acceded to his request and took the oath of office. King Gustave then read his proclamation and announced his motto. After the officers of the army and navy and the civil officers had taken the oath a cabinet meeting was held behind closed doors.

Memorial Services Held.

There was a memorial service an hour later in the palace chapel, which was attended by the whole royal family with the exception of Queen Sophia and the new queen, until now Crown Princess Victoria, who arrived here from the continent today. The service consisted of that of the Lutheran church, simple and solemn in form, with the singing of psalms and a sympathetic sermon.

No national mourning will be proclaimed. Today all the theaters opened again with the exception of the Royal Opera. King Gustave's proclamation is addressed to the administrative and ecclesiastical authorities, informing them of his accession to the throne, and a further proclamation is addressed to the people, in which he refers in eulogistic terms to their late sovereign.

The death of King Oscar is not expected to be followed by any serious disturbance of Sweden's political conditions. The venerable monarch had been slowly failing for many months past, and last January he experienced an illness that at the time was expected to end fatally. All precautions have been taken for the orderly passage of power in the hands of his able son and successor.

King Oscar has long been one of the most interesting figures of European royalty; his descent from Napoleon's great field marshal, Bernadotte; his gigantic statute, and his family connections with many of the other great houses of Europe combining to give him an interesting personality. His truly democratic habits have made him idolized by his subjects who have regarded him more as a father than a monarch.

Norway's Separation Grieved Him.

Under King Oscar Sweden's stability and progress have been uniform until the events culminating in the recent separation of Norway. The final success of the separation movement was a grievous blow to the aged king. Both his pride and heart were wounded, and his constant brooding over this unhappy event doubtless contributed to his death.

The new King Gustave much resembles his father in gigantic statue and in light Saxon-blonde features.

The young monarch is not unused to the cares of state, as he has frequently acted as regent during the illness and absence of his father, and has displayed good sense and ability.

Oscar II., king of Sweden, and previous to 1905 king of Sweden and Norway, was born Jan. 21, 1829. He was the third son of King Oscar I and of Queen Josephine, daughter of Prince Eugene of Leuchtenberg and a grandson of Marshal Bernadotte. Oscar II. succeeded to the throne at the death of his brother, King Carl XV., Sept. 18, 1872. He was married June 6, 1857, to Queen Sophia, born July 9, 1836, daughter of the late Duke William of Nassau. Four children survive King Oscar—Crown Prince Gustave, born June 16, 1858; Prince Oscar Bernadotte, born Nov. 15, 1859; Prince Carl, born Feb. 27, 1861, and Prince Eugen, born Aug. 1, 1865. Prince Gustave was married Sept. 20, 1881, to Princess Victoria of Baden-Baden. Their eldest son, Prince Gustave, was married June 15, 1905, to Princess Margaret Victoria of Connaught.

Arbitrated Samoan Claims.

An event of international importance in the life of King Oscar was his arbitration of the Samoan claims in 1902, when he adjudged the American and British governments to be responsible for the fighting in the Samoan islands in 1899.

King Oscar was called the ablest ruler of the 19th century and the most democratic king that ever lived. He was distinguished in philosophy, having received degrees from so many universities of Europe that he may fairly be called, so far as degrees indicate, the most learned man in Europe. He was an author, a translator, a learned man in political economy and the science of government, a musician, a historian and a playwright. All the great master pieces of literature—historical, philosophical and religious—he translated into Swedish.

Deaf Dogs Are Rare.

People have been known to excuse watch dogs for dereliction of duty on the ground that the dogs might be hard of hearing. This excuse ought not to go. A veterinary surgeon of Cleveland remarked that in his thirty-five years' experience he had never heard of a deaf dog. His remark led to inquiries among two or three other veterinaries and not one had ever heard of a dog that couldn't hear. When a watch dog or any other dog doesn't hear a man that is prowling about the house it is because it doesn't want to hear. Horses are frequently treated by veterinaries for deafness, and even cats are hard of hearing occasionally, but deaf dogs seem to be unknown in Cleveland at least.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Mohammedan Oath.

Of all the many forms of taking the oath used in the courts perhaps the most picturesque is that which the Mohammedan is required to take. It is a silent ceremony. The son of Islam places his right hand flat upon the Koran and puts the other on his forehead; then he brings his forehead down to and in contact with the book. He then raises himself and looks up steadfastly for some seconds. The officer of the court should then—though he sometimes forgets this—ask the Mohammedan, "Are you bound by the ceremony you have performed to speak the truth?" and the answer is, "I am." In India the ceremony has been abolished in favor of an affirmation.

Grass Eggs.

When a hen is made sick eating too freely of grass she lays what are known as "grass eggs." Grass eggs are poor stuff. They have an unpleasant flavor, and the yolk wabbles around in a weak and watery white and is green and dull in color. The term is one applied by candlers, who discover while testing that there is a pale greenish hue to the eggs and that they are not at all of the bright, fresh color that we find in healthy eggs.—Baltimore American.

What He Wanted.

A very baldheaded man went into the barber shop in the American House in our town and, plumping himself down in the chair, said:

"Hair cut."

Ed, the barber, looked at him a moment and replied:

"W[illegible] man, you don't need no hair cut. What you want is a shine."—Life.

Lighting Country Homes for Less Money.

THIS is being done today with white Acetylene.

Calcium Carbide, from which Acetylene Gas is made, looks like coal, won't burn, can't explode, and comes in moisture proof steel drums containing 100 lbs.

When Carbide is dropped into a tank of water it immediately produces Acetylene Gas which combines with Air for Lighting.

The resulting Acetylene Gaslight is identical with Sunlight. It is so Sun-like that it makes plants grow as naturally at night as Sunlight makes them grow by day.

Acetylene Light is brilliant, white, cool, clean, odorless, steady and safer than any other known Illuminant.

Two million Americans use it regularly,—and already 248 Towns are publicly lighted with it.

One pound of "Carbide" costs 3¾ cents, in most of the States east of the Rocky Mountains.

And this pound makes 5 cubic feet of Gas.

This 5 cubic feet of Acetylene Gas will give 24 candle-power Light for 10 hours.

All for 3¾ cents observe.

Compare this cost per candle-power with common Kerosene Light as regularly used.

A Kerosene Lamp which will give an actual 24 candle-power of light for 10 hours will average a cost of 6 cents for Kerosene, Chimneys and Wicks.

Six cents against 3¾ cents for Carbide and water.

Don't let the contrast escape you.

Observe that the Acetylene Light will be cool, clean, brilliant and white like Sunlight. You can see pale blue, pale pink, or pale yellow as clearly by it as by Daylight.

And, forty Acetylene Lights need only 20 minutes' work per month.

This means about 6 hours per year of labor for 40 Light capacity, as against (30 minutes per day, or) 182 hours per year with Kerosene Lamps.

Write me today how many rooms you've got, or how large your store, and I'll tell you what it would cost to light them with brilliant Sunlike Acetylene.

Address me thus—Acetylene Jones, 11 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

Very Nicely Done.

Gallant Man (aside)—At last I have her all to myself. Now I can tell her how I love her and ask her to be mine. How shall I do it, I wonder?

Gentle Maid (behind her fan)—It is surely coming. I am so nervous and frightened. I know he is going to be terribly dramatic. I do hope I shan't have to help him up off his knees. Goodness, why doesn't he say something? I must break this horrible silence. (Aloud, recklessly) Have you ever been abroad?

Gallant Man (smilingly)—No. I'm saving it for a wedding tour.

Gentle Maid (demurely)—Why, how funny; so am I.

Gallant Man (meaningly)—Then why shouldn't we take it together?

Gentle Maid (innocently)—Possibly your wife and my husband might object to going in such a crowd.

Gallant Man (brilliantly)—The crowd wouldn't be objectionably large if your husband and my wife were husband and wife.

(Further conversation was disjointed and indistinct.)—Pearson's Weekly.

Where Animals Beat Men.

"Nature faking aside," said the zoo keeper, "mice won't eat olco. It is a fact. Lay a pat of oleo and a pat of butter side by side and in the morning the butter will be gone, but the oleo will remain untouched.

"Oh, yes, some animals are facredibly nice about their food. The otter, when living wild, will only eat one piece, one mouthful out of each fish he catches. He will land a beautiful trout, but only one bite of it from the back, just behind the neck, is good enough for him. The rest he tosses aside. This epicure often kills a dozen fine, big trout to make one meal.

"Chimpanzees have very delicate tastes. A banana or a pineapple that to you seems delicious to a chimpanzee may be revolting. His taste is keener. Grapes grown in hothouses where sulphur fumes are used as an insecticide taste all right to a man, but a chimpanzee will have none of them.

"The ichneumon loves eggs. He can tell a fresh from a stale one simply by tapping the shell."—Los Angeles Times.

"Copy Reading" Howells.

The London Atheneum says of the following Howells paragraph that it is the best sentence perhaps in any recent English book. Describing a certain ancient edifice, Mr. Howells writes and the Atheneum quotes:

"What, in the heart of all this blossoming, was the great cathedral itself when we came in sight of it but a vast efflorescence of the age of faith, mystically beautiful in form and gray as some pale exhalation from the mold of the ever cloistered, the deeply reforested past."

Very fine, all must admit. But wouldn't that paragraph have been meat and drink to the man who used to mark up Mr. Howells' newspaper copy back at Bucyrus, O. If Howells the reporter had written that for the Bucyrus Blade he would have found it in the paper next day about like this:

"The cathedral, with flowers all around it, looks fine. It is 400 years old and needs paint."—Galveston News.

Thought Nine Enough.

The following amusing birth notice appeared in the Dresden Anzeiger: "To our seven hearty boys there came today, in God's early morning, not the wished for little daughter, but, in compensation, a pair of fine boys. We judge by this elementary event that these strenuous times demand more men than blossoms of the gentler sex, and console ourselves with thoughts of our fatherland, to which we call:

"Hurrah! Hurrah! Now there are nine.
Firm stand and true the watch on the Rhine!

"To all dear friends and acquaintances and to whom else the joyous tidings may be of interest we give this notice—the last of its kind—Eduard Rost and wife."

A Bargain.

Mr. Mason rubbed the edges of the umbrella with discriminating fingers while his wife listened to the saleswoman's enumeration of its good points:

"This is $10, isn't it?" he asked.

"Oh, no," replied the saleswoman reproachfully. "It is $9.89."

"She seems to regard the 11 cents as particularly invidious. I wonder why?" whispered Mr. Mason to his wife.

"Not at all," said Mrs. Mason, with mild heat; "nothing 'invidious' about it. Only very naturally it touched the girl not to have you perceive that you were getting a bargain."—Youth's Companion.

Cautious.

A five-year-old girl was very ill, and noticing the anxiety of her parent, she said, "Mamma, do you think I'm going to die?"

"No, my dear," replied the mother, "we think you will soon be better."

"Well," said the little one, "I'd like to die and go to heaven on a visit if I was sure I could come back if I didn't like the place."—Chicago News.

Looked That Way.

"I don't think she'll ever marry him," said Mrs. Henpeck. "She quarrels with him so and is so domineering that"—

"She is?" interrupted Henpeck. "I'll bet they've been secretly married already!"—Philadelphia Press.

BIRD SUPERSTITIONS.

Queer Beliefs That Were Held by the Ancient Mariners.

Birds as inhabitants of the air were naturally chosen by the ancients as oracles and augurs of future happenings. The sensitiveness to atmospheric changes shown by many birds aided in establishing these notions. The real indications often furnished by sea birds of a coming storm or calm were doubtless magnified by the anxious, superstitious sailor.

The custom of hanging the sea swallow so that the bill may point to the wind arose from the old time custom of suspending the bird by the feet, expecting it would renew its feathers as if alive.

Divination by the flight of birds was a favorite method in the olden times. Sailors watched their flight for indications of prosperous voyages and favoring winds. As they were thought to fly through the air to heaven, they easily became messengers of the will of the gods.

The albatross is believed by Jack tar to sleep on the winds. It was at one time thought that the petrel hatched its eggs under its wings.

The kingfisher was at one time kept in chests to keep away moths.

The fishhawk was esteemed a bringer of good luck; it boded good or evil as its cry was to the right or left.

There was an old superstition that gulls were never seen bleeding. Shooting stars were then supposed to be the half digested food of winter gulls.

Grippe or Influenza, whichever you like to call it, is one of the most weakening diseases known.

Scott's Emulsion, which is Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites in easily digested form, is the greatest strength-builder known to medical science.

It is so easily digested that it sinks into the system, making new blood and new fat, and strengthening nerves and muscles.

Use Scott's Emulsion after Influenza.

FRIEND STACY:—I come early to avoid the rush. It is with pleasure that I renew my subscription for 1908, enclosed find my share to help pay the devil, I mean the printers devil, for the coming year. It is 33 years since I left my home town but the HERALD has found me out every week since and always brings me news that I am glad to learn.

Resp'y yours,
L. C. BLOOD.

The Chrysanthemum.

Both in China and Japan is the chrysanthemum a great favorite. It is said that Chinese gardeners to whom the plant was first known will allow nothing to deter them from its culture. They will even give up their situations if forbidden by their employers to grow it. Chinese emigrants, too, take this "flower of their hearts" with them to other lands and cultivate it affectionately in their exile as a reminder of their native country. There is a Chinese "Everything comes to him who knows how to wait" which has been Anglicized as follows:

In the second month the peach tree blooms,
But not till the ninth the chrysanthemums,
So each must wait till his own turn comes.

Too Well Prepared.

Knicker—Preparedness is the best preventive of war. Bocker—Nonsense! When a girl engages herself to ten men it doesn't ward off matrimony.—Harper's Weekly.

No Genius.

Blobbs—Would you consider him a genius? Slobbs—No. Blobbs—Why, he's always trying to borrow money. Slobbs—Yes, but he doesn't get it.—Philadelphia Record.

Finds Herald Indispensable.

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 1, 1907.

Tecumseh Herald, Tecumseh Mich.

DEAR MR STACY:—Inclosed is $1.25 by postal order, to continue my subscription to the HERALD for 1908. I send this to you direct this time as I have found ordering through a news agent here not entirely satisfactory in the past

My wife and I eagerly look through the personal columns of your paper to find news from old friends and acquaintances in and around Tecumseh and for this purpose the HERALD is considered indispensible in our home, as it has been for many years

Duluth is growing in size and business importance, as you probably know. There are something like seventy-five thousand people here now. I have the satisfaction of contributing something myself towards its commercial advancement by my work on its harbor improvements in the position of principal assistant engineer. I recently found that the vessel tonnage through the Duluth Canal, which forms the entrance to the harbor, was more in the year 1906 than through the Sues Canal Nearly 11 times in fact. This makes an interesting comparison.

With best wishes for the prosperity of the HERALD Yours truly,
JOHN H. DARLING.

Badly mixed up.

Abraham Brown of Winterton, N. One bottle did me more good than all the 6 doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, all stomach, kidney and liver complaints at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store. 50c.

BANQUET

Business Men's class of the METHODIST CHURCH

Gave a banquet to 150 guests last Thursday night.

The banquet given by the business men's class of the Methodist church on Thursday evening was largely attended over 150 covers being laid. Promptly at 7 o'clock the line was formed and the guests marched into the banquet room, ... orchestra rendered the music. Rev. J. W. Dunning asked the blessing after which the guests were served to an elegant repast by the members of the Epworth League

Rev. W. M. Ward acted as toastmaster and as usual told several bright and witty stories while introducing the speaker. Miss Edith Magers opened the program with a delightful solo. The general topic was Life in different phases. "Real Life" was handled by Geo. S. Tiffany. Mr. Tiffany's speech was full of beautiful thoughts. He said to live a real life was to live a christian life.

J. W. Wightman followed with a short yet interesting lesson of "Dream Life." He thought the best illustration of this life was seen in the swarm of bees where the dreamer was killed and put out. Human dreamers should be brought to see that they were dreamers. Miss Mary Kriedler rendered a pretty solo.

"Life that is a failure" was spoken of by John S. Temple. Beside business failures he said the low life was a failure. He thought the bachelor life was also a failure as they had failed to embrace the opportunity. Rev. F. W. Kamm of the Baptist church, who was to have given a short talk on "Choice of Life" was unable to be present on account of duties at his own church. Charles Tansley, a member of the orchestra, gave a cello solo in place of Rev. Kamm's speech.

Frank R. Hurst was the next speaker on "Humor in Life." He thought that people who had troubles and didn't tell of them were the ones whom the world hailed with delight. The person who took the humorous things in life as they were intended was a fair illustration. The ladies' orchestra followed with a selection.

'Tis better to be a man was well handled by Wm. Waldron, who thought that if man did his duty there would be no occasion for Women's Rights, but Mrs. Wm. Smith told us that she thought woman would scarcely care to sign her name to some of the laws made by man. Her first duty of course, was to the home, but when the home was not properly protected by the head of the household it was time the women took things in charge. When the true mother has reared the little ones intrusted to her care the father turns and places the greatest of all evils of the world in their path, the American saloon.

"Blest be the Tie" sung by the company and the benediction pronounced by Rev. E A. Wollam of the Friends church, closed one of the most successful and delightful meetings in the history of the Business Men's class.

BRIDGE COMPLETE

And the gang of Bridge Builders have departed.

TUESDAY

Teams were driven over for the first time.

Last Tuesday for the first time teams crossed the red mill bridge which is now all done, abutments, bridge and all. Now people can come from Clinton and all around to Tecumseh as they used to do. Our merchants and mill men are delighted.

It is pronounced one of the best bridges in Lenawee county. It was made upon honor by men who know how to build bridges and they are all paid. It was made with no idea to save expense but to build a good bridge to last for always. John Wells drove the first team across the new structure.

Presbyterian Church Fair.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church held a fair and supper in Witherell hall last Friday afternoon and evening and by doing so, added about $160 to their treasury. The ladies aid society have been holding thimble parties, one afternoon of each week for sometime, making aprons for sale with the articles contributed by the church members, fancy articles suitable for Christmas gifts, dolls and candies

From 5 until 7 a three course supper was served under the supervision of Mrs. J. J. Freeman. The young ladies who assisted her were dressed as Pricilla maidens. They were, Nell Stringham, Lula Aylesworth, Blanche Schreder, Mrs. Don Reid, Edna Gaston, Sarah Platt, Florence Eccles, Bess Babcock, Mrs. Lena Jones, Leora Boyd, Ethel Slayton, Louise Erskine, Mrs. Raynor Benedict and Beth Widney.

CATARRH A GERM DISEASE.

Wonderful success of the Hyomei treatment. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son.

Catarrh is an insidious disease of most destructive tendency. Its approaches are unalarming and its victims are well on the road to a chronic stage or to dread consumption before they realize their danger.

It is not a blood disease, but is caused by germs that lodge and grow in the air passages, causing irritation with poisonous and offensive mucous discharges. To cure this condition, stomach dosing is ineffective and the only healing agent is Hyomei. It goes directly to every nook and corner of the air passages, disinfecting, healing and curing. To be convinced of this, you have only to give Hyomei a trial and C. A. Wright & Son will sell you an outfit with the understanding that if the trial is not satisfactory and the treatment does not relieve, your money will be refunded.

You cannot afford to trifle with catarrhal troubles, for if neglected they grow worse and the annoyance and danger rapidly increases. It is best to get Hyomei at the first symptoms of catarrh, such as stoppage of the nose, offensive breath, raising of mucous, droppings in the throat, spasmodic coughing. The sooner you use Hyomei, the sooner you will be freed from all these troubles. Remember that it will not cost you a cent to try Hyomei unless the treatment helps you, for C. A. Wright & Son's guarantee is clear and plain to refund the money if Hyomei does not give satisfaction.

NEED VINOL

for it hastens recovery by creating strength

There is just one thing the matter with a person who has been sick—that is, weakness.

To all such people in this vicinity we recommend our delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, as the very best strength creator for convalescents

Vinol strengthens the digestive organs, creates an appetite, promotes sound sleep, makes rich, red blood, and builds up a depleted sytem to health and vigor.

This is because Vinol contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil with the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added. We guarantee it.

Tecumseh citizens endorse them.

Henry Keyse, retired, living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I still hold the same good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills as I did 5 years ago when I gave a statement recommending them. For a number of years I had a weakness of the bladder and my back ached all the time. Sharp pains would attack me and often I would have to grasp something for support, neither did I rest well at night I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. I received great benefit as they completely rid me of the backache. I advise all suffering from kidney trouble and backache to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

ROBBERS WERE FOILED.

Freak Explosion Prevented Them Getting Government Cash.

Olivet, Mich., Dec. 9.—Three men made a bold but unsuccessful attempt at robbing the postoffice here between two and three o'clock in the morning, and sheriffs, deputies, other officers and citizens are scouring Eaton and Calhoun counties in search of the trio. The attempt resulted in the loss of Postmaster Green's safe for the second time by a similar method in five years, and only an explosion freak saved $1,500 government cash.

The burglars first invaded the blacksmith shop of Guy Bracey, where they secured tools with which they pried open the back door. Nitroglycerin was used on the safe, and the explosion, which blew off the door, was heard in nearly every part of the town. The inner door was broken and part of it was wedged in against the strong box so that the $500 cash and $1,000 worth of stamps could not be secured. It took the postmaster and another man two hours to get the piece of door out.

George Andrews, living near the postoffice, was awakened by the impact and he aroused a couple other citizens, who got out just in time to see the men hurrying away.

Deliberate Woman Jumps Into River.

Detroit, Dec. 9.—Craftily eluding her companion at the church door with the excuse that she wished to take a short walk, Miss Mary Fitzpatrick, aged 40 years, living at 518 Cass avenue, hurried to the dock at the foot of Third street and, in a fit of temporary insanity, hurled herself into the river. As she ran down the dock John E. Connors, manager of the Lewis Truck & Cartage company, saw her and attempted to stop her. She brushed past him, however, and hardly pausing a second on the brink, leaped over into the current. Connors grabbed a long plank that was near at hand and, watching for the woman to reappear, thrust it out to where she struggled. Evidently the icy ducking renewed Miss Fitzpatrick's love of life, for she clung to the end of the board until Connors could haul it in and lift her to the dock.

Knox Candidate For President.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The boom of Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania for the presidency was formally launched at a notable banquet in this city last night when the Pennsylvania Republican congressional delegation placed itself squarely on record in favor of the Pennsylvania senator as President Roosevelt's successor. The occasion was a dinner given by former Representative Joseph C. Sibley of Pennsylvania to the Pennsylvania delegation in congress. Mr. Knox's candidacy was hailed most enthusiastically by his colleagues in congress.

Aoki Will Not Return.

Tokio, Dec. 5.—The recall of Viscount Aoki, Japanese ambassador at Washington, is the result of his own desire to resign, and it is regarded here as a foregone conclusion that he will not return to Washington. Among his probable successors are Baron Kaneko, formerly special envoy to the United States; Baron Chinda, vice-minister of the foreign office, and M. Takahira, Japanese ambassador to Italy and formerly minister of Japan in Washington. Takahira is first choice.

My Breath.

Shortness of Breath Is One of the Commonest Signs of Heart Disease.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health many thousands who had found no relief in the medicines (allopathic or homoeopathic) of regular practicing physicians.

It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing those diseases.

Nearly always, one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whether it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exercises, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping powers—there is something wrong with it.

The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.

"I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells and pains in my left side. For months at a time, I would be unable to lie on my left side, and if I lay flat on my back would nearly smother. A friend advised using Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which I did with good results. I began to improve at once, and after taking several bottles of the Heart Cure the pains in my side and other symptoms vanished. I am now entirely well. All those dreadful smothering spells are a thing of the past."—F. P. DRAKE, Middletown, O.

ECZEMA

Cured in less than four weeks.

Those who have had experience with this stubborn disease can hardly believe at first that Wonderful Dream Salve can and does cure Eczema.

There is no doubt about the matter whatever. A great many letters are on file in our office from grateful patients, telling of the quick and easy way in which Wonderful Dream Salve has removed all traces of this torturing skin affliction.

Mr. John T. Kealey, a well-known business man, located in the Stevens Bldg., Detroit, Mich., was recently cured of a bad case of Eczema of fourteen years' standing. After trusting with many doctors and taking many remedies without relief, Mr. Kealey was induced to try Wonderful Dream Salve, and in four weeks was entirely cured. He says:

"I certainly consider this a remarkable cure, inasmuch as I have spent hundreds of dollars in the fourteen years of annoyance with this troublesome boiling skin disease. I have since the cure of my case heard of other cases, some of them even more remarkable than mine, which go toward demonstrating the value of Wonderful Dream Salve as a great skin healer."

If you have Eczema, why not try a box of Wonderful Dream Salve. If it fails, your druggist will refund your money. Isn't that fair enough? Keep it in your home for Chilblains, Chapped hands, Piles, Cuts, Burns, Frost-bites, Boils and Sores of any kind. MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Sam Taylor, an intinerant peddler, was run over by a Michigan Central train and both feet cut off at Jackson. He laid down on the tracks and went to sleep.

August Vickstrom, a Houghton miner, was killed by falling ground in the Meaward shaft of the Quincy Mining company. Other workmen escaped, but Vickstrom, who was the last of the party to leave the drift, was caught by tons of rock and earth.

Anton Peterson, recently adjudged insane, became violent in the county jail at Houghton, where he was temporarily confined, and attempted to kill a couple of prisoners who were guarding him. He was finally overpowered and heavily ironed, and taken to the asylum at Newberry.

Large deposits of lead and zinc are said to have been found six miles east of Caseville, on the shore of the Saginaw bay, in Huron county. Drilling has been carried on for more than three months and the results are reported to have been so satisfactory that a mining company will be organized.

Carl Fox, miner at Bay City, was caught under the edge of a mass of falling slate in the Central mine, and narrowly escaped death, the slate weighing over a ton. His head was badly injured, his nose broken, his back wrenched and he was otherwise cut.

Judge Graham in the juvenile court at Port Huron ordered two girls, Georgina Holland, 14 years old, and Grace Sheehy, 12 years old, spanked by their mothers. The girls admitted stealing $32 from the drug store of E. C. Skimin, and $6 from the law offices of Moore & Wilson. The spanking was done in the crowded court room.

With the largest number of guests ever assembled at a wedding at Battle Creek, Miss Edith G. Hall and Albert W. Kingsley were united in marriage on the stage of the Post theater, after a six-act. rendition of "Wormwood," by the Himmelein Stock company, and 1,600 people congratulated the bride—from the audience. The event came as a surprise.

Ernest Hecht, 40 years old, a farmer living near Vassar, while waiting his turn to unload a wagonful of beans at an elevator at Vassar, attempted to lead his horses by the bridles. He backed into a wagon, and the horses, frightened by his cries, lunged ahead, driving the tongue of the wagon through his body. He probably will die.

Whether a knave or a fool can do the greater harm is one of the questions which twenty centuries of experience has not fully determined.—Dallas News.

RECOVERING BODIES.

Victims of Mine Disaster Have to Be Buried Immediately.

Monongah, W. Va., Dec. 9.—The recovering of bodies from mines six and eight of the Fairmont Coal company is proving slow work. A majority of the bodies brought to the surface are in a terrible condition, necessitating almost immediate burial

It is now believed that the number of dead will not be over 400. A thorough investigation made by the company reveals the fact that many miners believed to have been entombed escaped because they had not gone to work Friday. A score or more of these men reported to the officials.

Thousands of sightseers from the surrounding towns have gathered about the openings. Efforts are being directed toward extinguishing a fire that has broken out. It is said by members of the rescuing party that over 100 bodies have been located in both mines and that they will be brought to the surface as soon as the fire has been extinguished. It is not believed the fire will reach any of these bodies.

Clarence Hall of Washington, a government mine expert, has arrived at Monongah. He will remain here until he can make a thorough investigation of the disaster when he will return to Washington and report to the government. The report of Mr. Hall, as to the cause of the accident is awaited with great interest.

While the world lasts fashion will lead it by the nose.—Cowper.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Young Man Faced Possible Arrest For Murder of Child Found In River.

Grand Rapids, Dec. 12.—A special to the Herald last night from Delton, Mich., says:

Heartsick and desperate over impending exposure and facing the possibility of arrest on a charge of murdering his six-weeks-old baby, Morris Newton, aged 22 years, shot himself at the home of his parents near this village late this evening. In the house at the time was his bride of a few hours, Francis Titus of Cloverdale, victim of an ill-starred love.

They were married in Grand Rapids in the afternoon and came directly to his home.

A baby was discovered in a large telescope, submerged in Grand river, within the Grand Rapids city limits. Within the cover of the telescope, from the top of which an address had been carefully erased, was the name Edward Titus, Cloverdale, father of the girl, which led to the apparent identity of the pair.

Newton found himself within a net of evidence that was closing about him. To his interviewers over the telephone he admitted that he had been in Grand Rapids with the Titus girl, but denied that a child had been born to her. But soon after the interview he ended his life in the living room of his parents' home, shooting himself through the heart.

A woman, while picking up wood on the shore of Grand River here, found a suit case floating, partly submerged in water. She found within a six-week-old baby girl, richly dressed, dead.

On the suit case was found a tag bearing the name and address of Edward Titus, Cloverdale, Mich.

ALL READY TO SAIL.

Entire Fleet Assembled Off Old Point Comfort.

MINNESOTA LAST TO ARRIVE.

Sailors Fond of Sweets—Large Quantity Taken Aboard Along With Other Supplies—Men From Ships Play Football.

Old Point Comfort, Va., Dec. 12.—The last vacant berth in the imposing double line of Pacific-bound battleships has been filled. The heavily armored Minnesota, the flagship of Rear-Admiral Thomas, steamed into Hampton Roads and took her place at the head of the outward column, thus completing the line. The Minnesota is the ranking member of the second squadron of the fleet, and Admiral Thomas, who commands, has duties and responsibilities second only to those of the commander-in-chief, Rear-Admiral Evans.

The size and dignity of the fleet that is to carry the flag through the Magellan straits and add such an important new chapter to American naval history is best emphasized by the fact that no less than four rear-admirals are in the command. The battle at Santiago found a commodore and a captain temporarily assigned to flag rank as the commanding officers of the American forces. Dewey sailed into Manila bay a commodore.

The last supplies of food and ammunition have been placed aboard the ships, and the roadstead is filled with craft of every description. One of the most interesting items in the district of accumulating supplies is an evidence of the sweet tooth of the sailor man. Great boxes of taffy and candies have gone aboard the various ships. They were placed in what the sailors now call the "denatured canteen." It is a tribute to the thoughtful solicitude of the government for the wants of the men that on one of the supply vessels 15,000 pounds of a high grade of chocolate bon-bons have been stored. This is to be drawn upon in case the canteen candies on ships are exhausted before the cruise ends.

That the ships are ready to set sail and that all the more serious work of preparation has been accomplished is shown by the shore liberty given the sailors each afternoon, when football games between teams from the various ships and sometimes with the artillerymen at the post, are played. Wednesday the Kansas team walloped the Kentucky eleven, and the Vermont players beat the Alamaba after the liveliest sort of struggle. Several hundred blue jackets from the contesting ships were ashore and, headed by their bands, marched from the dock to the fort. The contests were surrounded by all the features of college games. The ships' crews have their individual flags and yells and they go into the sport with all the exuberance of under graduates.

A ball at the Chamberlain last night was one of the first of the social features planned for the navy farewell week.

Family Accused of Bank Looting.

New York, Dec. 12.—John J. Jenkins, formerly president of the First National bank of Brooklyn, and his three sons were indicted by the Kings county grand jury on charges of conspiracy and perjury. The sons are, John G. Jenkins, Jr., former president of the Jenkins Trust company; Frank J. Jenkins, former president of the Williamsburg Trust company, and Frederick Jenkins, director in the institutions which closed several weeks ago. It is charged that the Jenkinses borrowed $947,000 from the two trust companies.

Blames His Ruin to Oil "Trust."

Washington, Dec. 12.—Lawrence S. Nicolai, formerly a prosperous independent oil dealer, has killed himself. He left a letter saying that since last August he had contemplated suicide on account of financial and domestic troubles. He attributed his misfortunes to the "unbusinesslike methods of the Standard Oil company," which, he declared, had left him penniless.

President Sends Probers to Goldfield.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Assistant Secretary Murray of the department of commerce and labor; Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, and Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, have left Washington for Goldfield, Nev., to investigate the trouble between the miners and mine operators. Their trip was announced after a conference with President Roosevelt.

GLAZIER MUST GO.

Governor Warner Will Oust Him From Office.

HE REFUSES TO RESIGN.

State's Chief Executive and Attorney General Bird Visit the Chelsea Financier—Feeling Against Glazier Growing In His Town.

Chelsea, Mich., Dec. 12.—State Treasurer Glazier won't resign, and Governor Warner announces that he will immediately take steps to remove him from office.

The governor and Attorney General Bird came here from Lansing Wednesday morning. They went directly to the Glazier home and were closeted with the state treasurer about an hour and a half.

When they issued from the Glazier home the governor handed out a typewritten statement which he had prepared while in the house. This was the statement:

"Mr. Glazier declines to resign, and I shall at once commence proceedings for his removal, believing the best interests of the state demand such action. Having decided to continue in office Mr. Glazier will doubtless avail himself of every legal method to defeat my purpose to make a change.

"I am informed, however, that the procedure in such cases has been well defined in Michigan, and I have no doubt of the result.

"I shall cite Mr. Glazier to appear before me and show cause why he should not be removed, and shall set forth the facts as they exist in connection with the state funds. Quoting the very words of the constitution authorizing the executive to remove certain state officers, I believe there was gross neglect of duty by the state treasurer. The position of those who advise and sustain Mr. Glazier in his refusal to resign is absolutely untenable in my opinion.

"I will do what I believe to be my duty in this matter. I had no desire to present this matter to Mr. Glazier while he was physically incapacitated and have waited on that account. I can see no reason why these proceedings should be any longer drawn out, but shall certainly endeavor to bring about a settlement as soon as possible. The public will be taken into my confidence as to all the proceedings relative to Mr. Glazier's removal.

"I have been acquainted with Mr. Glazier many years. Even before he was a state officer, and always esteemed him highly. The fact that we were personally on good terms will not interfere with my duty now."

Glazier simply lay in bed when the governor made his demand that the state treasurer resign, closed his eyes and refused to consider the proposition. From what can be learned he will fight.

It is reported that he claims that he has acted at all times under the direction of state officials, and has assisted them by loaning them money, implicating in this way not only the governor but Attorney General Bird. On this point Governor Warner was asked:

"Do you owe Glazier any money?"

"I do not, nor do I know of any official connected with me who is indebted to Mr. Glazier. I am surprised at Mr. Glazier's attitude"

Bank Examiner Zimmerman says he does not believe any of the Michigan state tax titles are in the Chelsea bank.

Feeling against Glazier is growing stronger in Chelsea. Creditors expect now to get only a small part of their money. Glazier made the statement to the governor that he would pay dollar for dollar.

Gets $5,000 For Loss of Arm.

Corunna, Mich., Dec. 12.—For the first time in more than ten years a suit for personal injury against a railroad in this county has not been reversed by the supreme court. Announcement has been made that the case of William Gillespie of Durand against the Grand Trunk had been affirmed, so Gillispie gets his verdict for $5,000. The young man was a switchman in the Grand Trunk yards at Durand two years ago, and while switching in a part of the yard where he had not worked before and was unfamiliar he tripped over a pile of cinders in making a coupling and his right arm was cut off at the shoulder. The circuit court jury gave him a verdict of $5,000 and the railroad appealed.

Postoffice Looted.

Jamestown, O., Dec. 12.—Thieves entered the local postoffice early in the morning by using a skeleton key. They looted the office, securing a large quantity of stamps, registered mail and a small amount of cash.

PRESIDENT WON'T RUN

Final Edict Goes Forth From White House.

ALL DOUBTS NOW DISPELLED

Roosevelt Declares He Intends to Adhere to Declaration Made When Elected in 1904—New Yorkers Think Hughes' Chances Are Good.

Washington, Dec. 12.—President Roosevelt will not be a candidate for a third term.

All doubts on this point are dispelled by the authoritative statement from the White House that Mr. Roosevelt adheres to the declaration of renunciation made on the night of the election three years ago. In the statement just issued President Roosevelt says he has not changed and shall not change the decision communicated to the American people in 1904.

It appears that the president had been awaiting the call for the Republican national convention to afford the proper opportunity for making his position clear and unmistakable, thus leaving the field clear for Fairbanks, Taft, Cannon, Knox, Foraker and others declared or receptive candidates for the Republican nomination. The president's statement follows:

"On the night after election I made the following announcement:

" 'I am deeply sensible of the honor done me by the American people in thus expressing their confidence in what I have done and have tried to do. I appreciate to the full the solemn responsibility this confidence imposes upon me, and I shall do all that in my power lies not to forfeit it. On the fourth of March next I shall have served three and a half years, and this three and a half years constitute my first term. The wise custom which limits the president to two terms regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination.'

"I have not changed and shall not change the decision thus announced."

Russia Compelled to Borrow Heavily.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 12.—In his budget statement to the douma Minister of Finance Kokovsoff stated that the government will have to borrow $93,000,000 for extraordinary expenditures, to be apportioned as follows: For national defense, $28,000,000; for the army, $27,000; for the navy, $5,000,000; for improvements in communications, $23,000,000; for agriculture, $6,000,000, and $3,000,000 each for public instruction and the ministries of the interior, finance and justice. The extraordinary expenditure for the last year amounted to $102,000,000.

Deafness cannot be cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by the inflamed condition of the lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed your hearing is imperfect and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation is reduced and this tube made healthy hearing will be destroyed forever. nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but inflammation of the mucous surfaces.

Badly mixed up.

Abraham Brown of Winterton, N. Y., had a remarkable experience, he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me, one said heart disease, two called it kidney trouble, the fourth blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble but none of them helped me, so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the 5 doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, all stomach, kidney and liver complaints at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store. 50c.

Chorus girls must be mighty sharp at bargains to be able to buy such expensive jewels on such small salaries.

Are you having trouble with your kidneys? There are lots of people today who wonder why they have pains across the back, why they are tired and lacking in energy and ambition. Your kidneys are wrong. They need relief without delay. Take DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills, they are for weak back, inflammation of the bladder, backache and weak kidneys. Sold by B. J Pulver.

How like Atlas of old is the Saintly John D. Rockefeller. They both held up the world.

This is because the genuine Foley's honey and tar in the yellow package contains no opiates or other harmful drugs. Guard your health by refusing any but the genuine. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Things above criticism are never beneath notice.

Whenever you feel that your stomach has gone a little wrong, or when you feel that it is not in good order as is evidenced by mean headaches, nervousness, bad breath and belching, take something at times and especially after your meals until relief is afforded. There is nothing better offered the public today for stomach troubles, dyspepsia, indigestion, etc., than Kodol. This is a scientific preparation of natural digestants combined with vegetable acids and it contains the same juices found in every healthy stomach. Kodol is guaranteed to give relief. It is pleasant to take, it will make you feel fine by digesting what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Getting Married and Selling Clothing

How easy it is for some people to get married and on the other hand how easy it is to buy a new suit, overcoat, etc. But notice the difference in selecting a partner for life. A fellow wants to look out pretty carefully or he will get stuck. He wants a wife who has a pleasant disposition, good looker, good cook and general all around helpmate and companion. One who will share his happiness and at least part of his sorrows. It is pretty tough on a fellow if he has to give his wife all his dough and has to stay home, wash the dishes and mend the socks while his wife is taking in the theatre and having all the good times. That is one reason why we say a fellow wants to look out. You have to take her as she is as she is not returnable but you have to keep her and look pleasant.

On the other hand if you buy clothing, boots, shoes, caps, etc from the Clinton Clothing Co., and if they do not prove satisfactory in every respect YOU CAN HAVE YOUR MONEY BACK for the asking. We have the best goods in every line, that the market affords and by buying in large quantities for spot cash we are able to offer you the largest selection and

NEW CURE FOR STOMACH.

C. A. Wright & Son give Tecumseh readers a chance to try it

Druggists do not often guarantee anything.

But C. A. Wright & Son assure persons suffering from distressing indigestion, sick headaches, bloating, dizzy spells, distress after eating, sleeplessness and many other symptoms of stomach trouble, and have found the usual remedies powerless.

At last a perscription called Mi-o-na stomach tablets is offered to the medical profession and general public as a final solution of curing stomach and intestinal troubles. Its success everywhere has made it, in the last few years, the acknowledged specific it is today.

Indigestion, which is so common a trouble, is the principal cause of a great share of the general poor health. It has misleading symptoms that seemingly have no reference to the stomach, such as headaches, sleeplessness, nervous symptoms, etc These conditions, if neglected, become chronic and hard to shake off.

Strengthen the whole digestive system with Mi-o-na and you will soon find that the stomach and bowels do their work as they should. There will be no distress after eating and the refuse will be expelled from the system without the aid of physic.

C. A. Wright & Son have so much faith in the power of Mi-o-na to cure stomach ills that they give a guarantee with every 50-cent box to refund the money if the remedy does not do all that is claimed for it. They take all the risk and you cannot afford to pass by a reliable medicine that is sold in this way.

For a number of years I had a weakness of the bladder and my back ached all the time. Sharp pains would attack me and often I would have to grasp something for support, neither did I rest well at night. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. ORCHARD ON STAND.

Tells His Story at Pettibone Murder Trial.

Boise, Ida., Dec. 12.—For four hours Wednesday, in the trial of George A. Pettibone for the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, Harry Orchard was on the witness stand. When court adjourned his story was only half told. Under the guidance of James H. Hawley, chief counsel for the prosecution, Orchard told of the blowing up of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mine in the Couer D'Alenes; the killing of Charles McCormack and Mel Beck in the Vindactor mine in the Cripple Creek region of Colorado; the murder of Lyte Gregory in Denver; the blowing up of the Independence depot, and the attempts made on the life of Governor Peabody of Colorado.

In the main the testimony was the same as given at the Haywood trial but the questions emphasized Pettibone's alleged conspiracy. A side feature of the evidence was that Pettibone had told Orchard in 1904-1905 he had purchased 100 rifles from a hardware company in Denver and shipped them to the Couer D'Alenes for use in the riots of 1899. According to Orchard Pettibone paid $1,000 of Western Federation money for the rifles.

Another portion of the testimony that the state regards as important was the statement that Pettibone visited Orchard's house at Cripple Creek and showed Orchard how to use "Pettibone dope."

It is said by the prosecution that corroborative evidence will be introduced.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ECZEMA

Cured in less than four weeks.

Those who have had experience with this stubborn disease can hardly believe at first that Wonderful Dream Salve can and does cure Eczema.

There is no doubt about the matter whatever. A great many letters are on file in our office from grateful patients, telling of the quick and easy way in which Wonderful Dream Salve has removed all traces of this torturing skin affliction.

Mr. John T. Kealey, a well-known business man, located in the Stevens Bldg., Detroit, Mich., was recently cured of a bad case of Eczema of fourteen years' standing. After treating with many doctors and taking many remedies without relief, Mr. Kealey was induced to try Wonderful Dream Salve, and in four weeks was entirely cured. He says:

"I certainly consider this a remarkable cure, inasmuch as I have spent hundreds of dollars in the fourteen years of annoyance with this troublesome itching skin ailment. I have since the cure of my case heard of other cures, some of them even more remarkable than mine, which go toward demonstrating the value of Wonderful Dream Salve as a great skin healer."

If you have Eczema, why not try a box of Wonderful Dream Salve. If it fails, your druggist will refund your money. Isn't that fair enough? Keep it in your home for Chilblains, Chapped hands, Piles, Cuts, Burns, Frost-bites, Boils and Sores of any kind. You will never use anything else. 25c a box at your druggist or mailed prepaid direct.

The Best Laxative for Children.

Parents should see to it that their children have one natural, easy movement of the bowels each day. Do not give the child with salts or crude pills, as they are too powerful in effect, and literally tear their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before. Laxative Bromo-Lax Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate all the little organs to healthy activity. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never gripe or nauseate. 10c, 25c and $1.00.

Confesses Killing Her Babe.

Indianapolis, Dec. 12.—Mrs. Frances Cooper, 18 years old, has confessed that she killed her ten-months-old baby. Her husband, Stephen Cooper, was sent to the penitentiary recently. According to Mrs. Cooper's story she tried to get employment, but the stigma of relationship to a convict caused her to lose one place after another. In desperation she killed the child, and attempted to drown herself in a little steam in Bartholomew county, where she left her baby's body.

APPEAL FOR AID.

Relief Committee at Ill-Fated Mines Calls on Public.

Fairmont, W. Va., Dec. 16.—The permanent relief committee, headed by Governor W. M. O. Dawson, to provide for the widows and orphans, in distress through the recent explosion at the mines of the Fairmont Coal company at Monongah, has prepared an appeal for funds that is being sent to Chambers of Commerce and kindred organizations all over the country.

All newspapers are urged to aid the work by receiving contributions, acknowledging them through their columns and sending them to the treasurer.

Contributions of clothing, toys for the orphans at Christmas time, and similar donations are to be sent to W. H. Moore, mayor of Monongah and chairman of the committee looking after the temporary wants of the victims. The committee's appeal contains the following:

Fully 250 widows and 1,000 children are left without any means of support. The most of these families live in the company houses at Monongah; the remaining ones in various countries of Europe. The company has generously declared that the families occupying its houses may remain until other provision is made for them; but operations cannot be resumed at the damaged mines until these houses are available for the new force.

As near as can be determined at this time almost $50,000 from all sources has been subscribed. Upon the basis of $500 for each widow, and $100 for each child under 16 years of age, $175,000 will be required. At least $25,000 additional will be needed to provide on relatively the same basis for the aged dependants.

The immediate needs of the resident families are being amply met by the company and a committee of women from Fairmont and Monongah.

The committee begs to express its profound gratitude for the contributions already so generously made. The magnitude of this disaster is too great for West Virginia alone to render all the help required.

Ithaca, Mich., Dec. 16.—The case of William A. Hodge of St. Louis on trial at Ithaca, resulted in a verdict of $5,000 as damages, for injuries received June 12, 1903, by falling on a defective sidewalk in that city. The case was tried once before, with a verdict of $1,700, which the supreme court set aside on the ground of contributory negligence. The case will again go to the supreme court.

HOARDS FROM EUROPE

Enormous Is Increase In Immigration.

SARGENT ISSUES A REPORT.

Incoming Foreigners During 1907 Exceeded Number For 1906 by 184,614—Despite Regulations Number of Japs Has Trebled.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Immigration to America during the year ended June 30th, 1907, was vastly greater than in any previous year of the history of the United States. This fact, with all its interesting and important details, is placed in strong light in the annual report of Frank P. Sargent, commissioner-general of immigration and naturalization, which has just been made public. Of this great flood of immigrants Commissioner Sargent says:

"An army of 1,185,349 souls they have come, drawn hither by the free institutions and the marvelous prosperity of our country—the chance here afforded every honest toiler to gain a livelihood by the sweat of his brow or the exercise of his intelligence—surpassing in numbers the record of all preceding years."

The report contains in tabulated form every phase of information bearing upon the question of immigration, and in submitting this carefully compiled data, Mr. Sargent says:

"The immigration for the year 1907 exceeded that for 1906 by 184,614, and that for the year 1905 by 258,850, or an increase over the year 1906 of more than 17 per cent, and over the year 1905 of more than 25 per cent. During the fiscal year 1906 12,432 aliens were rejected at our ports; during the past year 13,164, an increase of 632; hence the total number of those who have sought admission in 1907, viz., 1,298,413, exceeds the number who applied in 1906, viz., 1,113,167, by 185,246."

Many Land in South.

Commissioner Sargent says it is of particular significance that many immigrants landed at ports in the south during the past year, and he refers especially to a party of 473 Belgians—excellent types of immigrants—received at Charleston, S. C., having been induced to go there by the state authorities. The increase of immigration to the south, the commissioner says, "is directly connected with the growing desire of the southern states to draw within their boundaries a number of the better class of immigrants, it being considered by practically all of the leading men of that section that the future development and welfare of the south depend upon its ability to receive and absorb a reliable laboring and farming element.

While the exclusion laws have rendered practically all the immigration from China, the immigration from Japan, although relatively not great, has trebled in the past year. This increase is significant, too, because it comes in the face of regulations adopted by the American government, with the assent of Japan, which, it was supposed would curtail the immigration of Japanese.

A table showing the outward passenger movement during the past year develops the fact that that movement was greater than in any preceding year. The total number of passengers was 569,882.

In a discussion of the new immigration act, Commissioner Sargent strongly urges that "advantage be taken of a provision it contains for calling an international conference on immigration and emigration. In his opinion now is the time to act.

Legally Dead; Yet He Lives.

Brighton, Mich., Dec. 16.—Missing ten years, and declared legally dead by the probate court more than three years ago, Thomas Andrews has reappeared to claim his property, which has been divided by his sisters, Mrs. L. H. Thomas of Brighton, and Mrs. James Tobin of Lansing. These women will probably return his farm without legal contest.

Labor Union Officers Arrested.

Muskegon, Mich., Dec. 16.—Muskegon labor circles are stirred. LeRoy Webb, a prominent union man and secretary of Carpenters' union No. 824, has been arrested charged with embezzling $42 of the union's funds.

New Church Opened.

Saline, Mich., Dec. 16.—St. Paul's Evangelical church, built here last summer at a cost of $9,000, was opened Sunday. The services were conducted by Rev. Theodore Pabstdorf, who has been here nearly a year. St. Paul's congregation is now 100.

TWO SERIOUS FIRES.

Saginaw and Manistique Have Big Blazes.

LOSSES TOTAL THOUSANDS.

Two Men Lose Their Lives at Manistique—Seven Firemen Temporarily Knocked Out at Saginaw When Produce Company Burns Out.

Saginaw, Mich., Dec. 16.—The Saginaw Produce & Cold Storage company has been completely destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $34,000. Seven firemen were temporarily knocked out in fighting the flames.

What caused the fire is unknown. The building was a large three-story affair at the corner of Monroe and Niagara street near the river on the west side. The walls were double-bricked with a packing of sawdust between and this made the efforts of the firemen almost futile. Then, when the blaze seemed almost under control, the ten-inch water main in use burst and, while steamers were being put in action near the docks, the fire got a fresh start.

Fumes from ammonia, carried in stock, overcame two firemen and five more were injured by falling walls. They were soon revived and suffered no ill effects as the result of their experience.

The place was stocked principally with flour and cheese. Manager H. M. Smith gives the loss on the building as $14,000, and on the contents as $20,000, the total being partially covered by insurance.

The building was in the midst of a number of others, and when it was seen that the storage plant could not be saved partial attention was directed to these, so that the flames were confined to their original limits.

Manistique, Mich., Dec. 16.—The Chicago Lumbering company's mill has been totally destroyed by fire. Henry Hammel, night foreman and Andrew Norton, in charge of the refuse carriers and burner, lost their lives in the fire.

The blaze started by sparks from the friction wheel running the band saw machine, and on account of the oil-soaked timbers and accumulated sawdust it was beyond control before water could be turned on.

The flames spread throughout the mill in a very few minutes and in an hour's time the monster plant had been reduced to a smouldering heap. The fire department gave its attention to the lumber yard and by heroic work stopped the spread of the element.

The mill was one of the largest in the peninsula. The loss is estimated at $75,000 with no insurance.

Not Sorry He Killed Man.

Flint, Mich., Dec. 15.—Robert McComb goes to the state prison at Jackson for life with no regret for the killing of John Irwin, whom he shot down on Aug. 12, while the latter was returning home after his day's work. From the testimony of the accused himself the murder was carefully planned and committed with deliberation. His last words on the witness stand were, "I'm not sorry that I did it." The jury deliberated 20 minutes and returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. Immediately after the verdict Judge Wisner sentenced the prisoner to life imprisonment at hard labor and in solitary confinement. McComb's only comment on the verdict and sentence was to the effect that he was satisfied.

ROYALLY WELCOMED.

Korea's Crown Prince Reaches Tokio With Marquis Ito.

Tokio, Dec. 16.—Arrival of the Crown Prince of Korea and Marquis Ito here was made the occasion of a brilliant spectacle. Thousands of people assembled at the Shinbasi station, where the party detrained.

The crown prince of Korea was heartily welcomed by the crown prince of Japan, in official dress, amidst salvos of artillery. The appearance of the party at the entrance to the station was the signal for sustained cheering, and the young crown prince was evidently delighted over his reception.

He was driven to the Shiba palace accompanied by the crown prince of Japan and Marquis Ito along a route lined by imperial guardsmen. Flags were profusely displayed all over the city.

The crown prince will be received in audience by the emperor of Japan on Dec. 18.

Plans for the education of the Korean prince have not yet been completed, but they will now be arranged under the direction of Marquis Ito.

SHIPS FELT STORM.

Those on Atlantic Had Some Trying Experiences.

New York, Dec. 15.—Battered by engulfing seas that delayed their passage across the Atlantic seven transatlantic steamships have crept into port with their sides and superstructure showing evidence of the continual storms they met.

The belated Anchor line steamer Astoria reached here after a stormy passage, during which her machinery broke down and compelled her to lay to for 24 hours.

La Lorraine of the French line which led the delayed trans-Atlantic fleet up the harbor, had a rough trip and her passengers were permitted on deck only occasionally. The Lorraine bucked into heavy head-seas which kept her decks awash. One day the Frenchman made only 194 miles. The steamship Breslau, from Breman, ran into the storm as she neared port and Captain Prager decided to remain outside at anchor. The Breslau was caught in a hurricane on Dec. 6, during which the steamship labored heavily. Great walls of water bore down upon the plunging steamer and Captain Prager reports that the spray from the wave crest oft-times concealed the fore cross-trees.

The steamships Minnetonka, Lucania, St. Paul, Arabic and Pennsylvania all came in with stories of calm and seas.

Thomas Shields, a pilot, was drowned at sea by the capsizing of a small boat while being transferred from the steamship Talisman.

Bank Is Re-Opened.

Kansas City, Dec. 16.—The Union Avenue Bank of Commerce, which was obliged to close by the suspension of the National Bank of Commerce, reopened for business today. All the small banks carried down by the National Bank of Commerce's failure have been rehabilitated. Four government bank examiners are now working on the books of the National Bank of Commerce, and upon their report will depend whether the bank shall be re-opened or liquidated.

Russia Warns China.

Pekin, Dec. 16.—The Russian government has warned the Chinese government that unless Japan and China within a reasonable time come to an agreement similar to that embraced by the Russo-Chinese telegraph convention, signed last October, Russia will present its notification that this convention terminate within the year.

Hummel Is Near Death.

New York, Dec. 16.—Abraham Hummel, the lawyer, who is serving a sentence in Blackwell's island penitentiary for conspiracy in connection with the Dodge-Morse divorce case, is near death from kidney affection, according to prison physicians. Dr. Matz said that Hummers condition was such that he was likely to die at any moment. Hummel's sentence on Blackwell's island would expire within a few weeks

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by the inflamed condition of the lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflammed your hearing is imperfect and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation, is relieved and this tube made healthy, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but inflammation of the mucous surfaces.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Half a loaf is better than a dozen loaves of the kind some bakers make.

There is something about Kennedy's laxative cough syrup that makes it different from others, as it causes a free yet gentle action of the bowels through which the cold is forced out of the system. At the same time it heals irritation and allays inflammation of the throat and lungs. It is pleasant to take. Children like it. Contains no opiates nor narcotics. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Self made men are usually egotists, because they worship their creator.

Passed examination successfully.

Jas. Donahue of New Britian, Conn writes: "I tried several kidney remedies and was treated by our best physicians for diabetes, but did not improve until I took Foley's Kidney Cure. After the second bottle I showed improvement, and five bottles cured me completely. I have since passed a rigid examination for life insurance." Foley's Kidney Cure cures backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

When a woman's husband is a joke it is little wonder she can't see one.

Public speaker interrupted.

Public speakers are frequently interrupted by people coughing. This would not happen if Foley's Honey and Tar were taken, as it cures coughs and colds and prevents pneumonia and consumption. The genuine contains no opiates and is in a yellow package. For sale by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Men like to be coaxed but there isn't one woman in ten who knows where coaxing ends and nagging begins.

It's jealousy in women that makes them say mean things behind your back but in men it is pure meanness.

They need relief without delay. Take DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills, they are for weak back, inflammation of the bladder, backache and weak kidneys. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Chorus girls must be mighty sharp at bargains to be able to buy such expensive jewels on such small salaries.

Whenever you feel that your stomach has gone a little wrong or when you feel that it is not in good order as is evidenced by mean headaches, nervousness, bad breath and belching, take something at times and especially after your meals until relief is afforded. There is nothing better offered the public today for stomach troubles, dyspepsia, indigestion, etc., than Kodol. This is a scientific preparation of natural digestants combined with vegetable acids and it contains the same juices found in every healthy stomach. Kodol is guaranteed to give relief. It is pleasant to take, it will make you feel fine by digesting what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Things above criticism are never beneath notice.

Millions of bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar have been sold without any person ever having experienced any than beneficial results from its coughs, colds and lung troubles. This is because the genuine Foley's honey and tar in the yellow package contains no opiates or other harmful drugs. Guard your health by refusing any but the genuine. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

A Wonderful Dog.

I ran a news stand at Port Jervis, N. Y. I owned a common shepherd dog which was a very intelligent animal and was of great assistance to me in the newspaper business, running across the street with papers in his mouth to customers. He attracted much attention, and he got me many new customers, for everybody liked him, he was such a business dog.

I was sick one day and not able to sell my papers. My dog came in my room where I lay in bed. He fumbled around in my pants pockets and took the keys to my news stand and ran out of the house, and the first thing I knew he had the newspaper stand opened up and doing business.

He was very clever in making change, changing five and ten dollar bills without [illegible] the cash register with his paws, and everything ran smoothly until a man came up and passed him a lead quarter. My dog got mad and lost his temper entirely, and I was forced to interfere. With much trouble I managed to pull them apart.

If this dog had not had such a quick temper I would have started him in business for himself. This dog is still living.—Boston Post.

Crushed by Beecher.

Henry Ward Beecher was once approached by a young man who considered himself very clever.

"Do you know, Mr. Beecher," said he, "I've been thinking that I would settle down. Now, I like your preaching, but when I go to your church and see such men as old S. and others, grasping skinflints and hypocrites to the core, sitting there in full membership, why, the thing is just a little too much for me, and really," he added, "I cannot join."

"Well, you're right," said Mr. Beecher. "Every church has such men, and I fancy Plymouth is not free from them, and until you spoke I have always wondered why the good Lord permitted it. Now I understand."

"Ah," gurgled the young fellow, "I am glad I have thrown light on the question! What strikes you as the reason, Mr. Beecher?"

"Well," replied the great preacher, "it is permitted in order to keep just such fools as you out of the churches."

The Nearest Approach.

An English tourist visited Arran and being a keen disciple of Izaak Walton was arranging to have a day's good sport. Being told that the ghillie, or horsely, would suit his purpose admirably for a lure, he addressed himself to Christy, the highland servant girl, "I say, my girl, can you get me some horsedies?"

Christy looked stupid, and he repeated his question. Finding that she did not yet comprehend him, he exclaimed: "Why, girl, did you never see a horsedy?"

"Naa, sir," said the girl, "but a wanse saw a coo jump over a preshipice."

Grandfather's Portrait.

A villager, intensely conceited and ignorant, but quite wealthy, was persuaded to have his grandfather's picture repainted.

The artist, not having been decently treated by the villager, drew the portrait almost in a nude form. Rolling it up, he told the man not to look at it before the coming New Year. On that day the villager ordered the picture to be hung up that he might pay it his New Year respects. As it was being unrolled he frantically waved his hands and shouted: "Wait! Wait! The old gentleman is not ready, for he is not yet dressed."—From the Chinese.

The Worth of His Money.

Not seldom in highland districts the attendance at church during unpropitious weather is but scanty. One minister, finding himself on a boisterous Sunday confronted with but one solitary auditor, who happened to be a gruff, outspoken character, took him into his confidence, with a view to propitiate him. "Will I go on with the sermon, John?" John answered gruffly, "Of course." Getting into the pulpit and leaning over it, he asked, "Will I give you the Gaelic sermon or the English one?" "Gie's baith. Ye're weel paid for 't," said John, more gruffly still.—Dundee Advertiser.

Bituminous Coal.

Shortly after the adoption of bituminous coal as a fuel in England a royal proclamation was used forbidding its use and authorizing the destruction of the furnaces of the users, who were characterized as evil doers. Scarcity of fuel, it seems, shortly compelled the resumption of its use. In the reign of Elizabeth bituminous coal was again prohibited during sessions of parliament lest the health of the members suffer thereby.—London Telegraph.

The Richest.

That country is the richest which nourishes the greatest number of noble and happy human beings; that man is the richest who, having perfected the functions of his own life to the utmost, has also the widest helpful influence, both personal and by means of his possessions, over the lives of others.—John Ruskin.

A Philosopher.

Frances Willard once wrote to a friend who had just lost a daughter: "Dear Sister Anna, how much richer are you than I! Here I sit alone without a child to die, while you are mother to an angel."

The Hat Scale.

A fifty dollar hat is a conceit.
A thirty dollar hat is a confection.
A two dollar hat is a sin and a shame and a perfect justification for going home to mother.—Pittsburg Post.

A Remedy.

"Yes," said Quiggles, "I have a good deal on my hands just now."

"So I perceive," replied Fogg. "Why don't you try a little soup and water?"—London Answers.

"Flirting" With Brook Trout.

If the farmer boy is more successful in his catch than the city fisherman it is because he realizes the advantage of keeping out of sight. Of course the supposition is that other conditions are equal. Familiarity with a stream often has much to do with the size of the string. Trout especially love to hide under wooden bridges, water soaked logs, branches, etc. They seem to realize that safety is found in such places. When the current will not take the worm to these spots one must resort to "flirting." This is done by holding the hook in the left hand and bending the pole until the tension is sufficient to throw the worm over the spot. Considerable practice is necessary to make the bait land exactly where it is wanted, but "flirting" is an art well worth acquiring.—Circle.

Sunlight-at-Night

Think of the pleasant winter evenings Acetylene Lighting insures.

Think of the eyesight it prolongs and saves; the valuable Reading it encourages; the Social advantages it means: the Contentment-at-home of the Young Folks.

Think of the years of lamp-cleaning it saves, and the ever-present risk in carrying around lighted hand lamps which it precludes.

Then reflect upon this:

When once installed a modern Acetylene Light Plant will give you as much Light as you now get from Kerosene—at a third less cost.

In this way, and in the labor saved on Lamp cleaning 365 times per year, an Acetylene Plant pays for itself, [illegible] is valuable as any part of the house,—good for 40 years service.

Write me today how many rooms you've got to light (or how large a store) and I will tell you how little it need cost to install the right sort of Lighting Plant for your individual purpose.

Address me thus—Acetylene Jones, 7 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

PARIS IN 1869.

Never Had the Empire Seemed More Assured, the Court More Brilliant.

The last flicker of the candle, the last flame of the dying fire, is ever the brightest, and so it was with Paris in 1869.

Never had the empire seemed more assured, the court more brilliant, the fetes more gorgeous. The light hearted Parisians reveled in the daily sights of royal processions and cavalcades. The Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysees, where we were living at that time, were crowded with splendid equipages. I remember often seeing the Empress Eugenie, then the handsomest woman in Europe, driving in her daumont, the green and gold liveries of the postilions and outriders making a brave show. Nor were four horses and postilions the privilege of royalty alone. Princess Metternich, the wife of the Austrian ambassador, often went out in similar style. The beautiful Mme. de Canisy and the Duchesse de Mouchy, the empress' greatest and perhaps only intimate friend, and a host of court ladies habitually drove out in great state and helped by the magnificence of their appearance to give to Paris that air of elegance and distinction which could neither be surpassed nor emulated by any other capital in Europe. Even among those who had forebodings of the gathering storm no one had descried the black shadow cast on the blue sky by the approaching figure of Bellona, her fierce eyes fixed on happy, smiling, tranquil France.—Lady Randolph Churchill in Century.

QUITE A NICE GAME.

Why the Girl Who Proposed It Lost Her Temper.

The other day Miss Fannie Lomer ran across the road to see an intimate friend. As is usual with young ladies, they had a good deal to tell one another. In the course of the conversation Fannie said:

"I used to think that Gus Simpson was a nice young man, but I just hate him now."

"Why, what has he done?"

"He's treated me shamefully."

"In what way?"

"Why, the other evening at a party I said to him: 'Let's play the old game of temptation. If I say "Yes" or "No" to your questions, I'll owe you a box of gloves, and if you say "Yes" or "No" you'll give me a box.'"

"Then what?"

"Well, after the party he took me home, and all the way there he talked as sweetly as could be about love and that men should not live alone, and all that. And when we got to the front gate he said, 'Fannie, I have waited for this opportunity a long time—will you marry me?' I whispered 'Yes' in a low voice, and"— (Here her sobs choked her voice).

"And what did he do then?" inquired her listener eagerly.

"He—just—chuckled and said, 'You have lost, Fannie; I take No. 9's.' then laughed with all his might. That's what he did." — London Answers.

A Tennyson Growl.

In Walter Crane's autobiography he gives an interesting picture of Tennyson. It was at a dinner party at the Rev. Stopford Brooke's and the poet was reading to the company his "Ballad of the Fleet" "in his deep, impressive voice in a way which reminded me of his own description in the 'Morte d'Arthur' of how the poet Everard Hall (which may have been himself)

"Read, mouthing out his hollow o's and a's, Deep chested music."

When the reading was finished and when the applause and gratitude of the small audience had subsided the laureate growled out, 'Yes, and to think that these wretched fellows of the nineteenth century gave me only $1,500 for it.'"

Marriage as a Failure.

There is more nonsense talked in the abstract about marriage as a failure than is talked about any other branch of the conduct of life. If a census on the subject could be taken I am sure it would be found that the majority of married people jog along very comfortably and are much happier in their united state than they possibly could have been had they remained unmarried. The number of divorces is usually quoted to prove that marriage is a failure, but what, after all, is the number of divorces in proportion to a population of many millions of married people?—Mme. Sarah Grand in London Chronicle.

Thoughtful.

Mrs. Greene—My husband is such a thoughtful man! He always goes down into the basement kitchen to smoke. Mrs. Gray—And lets the smoke come upstairs into the dining room through the dumb waiter. Mrs. Greene—Yes, but that's because he is absentminded, poor man! That has nothing to do with his thoughtfulness, you know.—Boston Transcript.

Fighting Geese.

In Russia pits for cock fighting are unknown, but "goose pits" some sixty years ago were common throughout that mighty kingdom. The effect of this can be seen today in the geese which are indigenous to the country, the Arsamas and the Tula varieties particularly showing to a marked degree the fighting characters of their ancestors. The Arsamas gander has a bill which is entirely different in form from that of the geese known in any other part of the world. This special structure enables the bird to take a firm grip on the neck or back of its antagonist.

The Black Hole of Calcutta.

A scientist, writing of the black hole of Calcutta and its atmosphere, says: "On the 20th of June, 1756, about 8 o'clock in the evening, 146 men were forced at the point of the bayonet into a dungeon eighteen feet square. They had been but a few minutes confined in this infernal prison before every one fell into a perspiration so profuse that no idea can be formed of it. This brought on a raging thirst, the most difficult respiration and an outrageous delirium. Such was the horror of their situation that every insult that could be devised against the guard without and all the opprobrious names the viceroy and his officers could be loaded with were repeated to provoke the guard to fire upon them and terminate their sufferings. Before 11 o'clock the same evening one third of the men were dead, and those next morning only twenty-three came out alive, but most of them in a high putrid fever. All these dreadful effects were occasioned by the want of atmospheric air and by their breathing a superabundant quantity of nitrogen emitted from their lungs."

Sealed Orders.

The custom of having warships sail under sealed orders arose from the desire of maritime powers to prevent the plans from becoming known to the enemy. In the American navy such orders come from the president and are delivered to a commander of a ship or squadron by a confidential messenger who knows nothing of their contents. Sometimes they are in cipher, but they are always sealed with the official seal of the navy department and the package cannot be opened until the time marked on it, which is usually several hours after the hour of leaving port. By this precaution the newspapers are prevented from disclosing prematurely the movements which may be of the greatest importance, and the spies of the enemy are rendered useless so far as their ability to discover the secret of such movements is concerned. Sailing under sealed orders is now the common naval practice in time of war. These instructions are found in the packet of sealed orders, which is opened when well out at sea.

A Runaway River.

The problem and the peril of the Colorado river are not difficult to understand. A great river running slowly on a ridge of its own creating, running in a broad and tortuous channel, choked with islands of mud and bars of sediment, running with a fall of only one foot to the mile, while to the north and west lay a vast depression below sea level and inviting the sluggish river to a swifter flow; between this sunken area and the uncertain course of the river a great garden of Eden in promise and potency, needing only to be watered and kept, then a canal tapping the river, a flood gathering at the far away sources, a breach in the unprotected bank and the whole volume of the river, forsaking its ancient and outgrown bed and rushing into that pit in the desert, sweeping in its course through miles of fertile farms and cutting canyons where canals had been—this is an outline of the situation and a hint of the peril.—A. J. Wells in Sunset Magazine.

The Dean's Raiment.

Dean Stanley was once driving with a friend from Monreale to Palermo. Both men were reading. Stanley suddenly discovered that he was shivering with a cold. He mentioned the matter to his friend.

"Well, hadn't you better put something on?" said the latter, pointing to the dean's bag, which was close at hand.

Stanley thought it rather a good idea, and the friend went on reading. As they entered Palermo there were shouts of astonishment. Stanley was placidly reading. His friend found that the distinguished churchman had absentmindedly drawn out a nightshirt from his bag and put it on over his other clothing and thus arrayed was riding triumphantly into the city.—London Sketch.

The Earth's Shadow.

The earth has a shadow, but very few ever see it, except in eclipses of the moon, or else few recognize it when they see it. Nevertheless, many of us have noticed on fine, cloudless evenings in summer shortly before sunset a rosy pink arc on the horizon opposite the sun, with a bluish gray segment under it. As the sun sinks the arc rises until it attains the zenith and even passes it. This is the shadow of the earth.

Knew His Capacity.

Stranger (to waiter)—Isn't that man named Meier who is paying his bill over there?

Waiter—I don't know. I haven't been long here.

S.—What has he had?

W.—Ten glasses of beer and a bottle of wine.

S.—Oh, yes; it is he then.—Paris Rire.

Two Failures.

"I married for beauty alone," said a presumably happy benedict to an old chum. "And yet you remind me of a friend of mine who married for money," was the rejoinder. "How's that?" "He didn't get it," said the chum sarcastically.

Sarcastic.

His Wife—You have been drinking again. Haven't you, now? Her Husband—M'dear, I cannot tell a lie. His Wife—You can't! Then you are further gone than I thought!—Illustrated Bits.

The Dear Friends.

Clara (exhibiting photograph)—How do you like it?

Hattie—It's perfectly lovely!

"You think it a good likeness?"

"Oh, no; it doesn't look a particle like you, you know. But I wouldn't mind that, Clara. You are not likely to have such wonderful luck again if you sat a thousand times!"—London Telegraph.

STAGE FRIGHT.

The Way Henry Miller Rendered a Well Studied Line.

In Toronto, almost my first appearance on the stage, I was cast for the Earl of Shrewsbury in "Amy Robsart." The title sounded imposing, and I felt quite important, although I had but a single line to speak. In answer to Queen Elizabeth's command, "I charge thee, my Lord of Shrewsbury, arrest that man," I was called upon to reply, "Whom does your grace mean?"

My perturbation over that line was probably more serious than anything in my subsequent career. What emphasis to give, what intonation to use, what manner to assume, gave me greater concern than I felt later over an interpretation of Hamlet. I repeated the line a thousand times, stressing first one word and then another, using this inflection and that, and getting into it every grade and shade of meaning. With what result? So far as I could learn afterward, I did not speak it at all on the opening night. The leader of the orchestra was the first person I broached on the subject.

"How did I speak my line?" I asked him after the play, longing for the encouragement none had vouchsafed to volunteer.

"I didn't hear you say anything at all," was his disheartening rejoinder. And neither did any one else whom I could discover.—Henry Miller in Bohemian.

MISTAKEN OCCUPATIONS.

Do Not Continue In a Pursuit For Which You Are Not Fitted.

There is, in these alert days of competition, of quick opening and closing of places where bread may be earned and a path in which to go forward secured, no time for doing anything that one can't or that is of no moment when accomplished. Know for a certainty that never half the harm has come from a firm and dignified refusal to enter upon or to continue in a pursuit not fitted to one as from engaging in such pursuits. What loss the world would have sustained had Handel consented to become a lawyer, Turner to remain a barber, Claude Lorraine a pastry cook, Schiller a surgeon, Pascal a teacher of dead languages, as was intended by relatives. But, great as would have been the loss to the world, the loss to these men themselves would have been far greater.

Doubtless thousands of crimes which have ruined an incalculable number of lives could be traced to mistaken occupations. Joy and delight in one's work mean progress, and progress and its result and satisfaction mean a nobler life than stagnation and partial or entire failure could fashion. Doing the thing one can is working for morality and toward perfection on all the planes of life, physical, mental, spiritual.—Lida A. Churchill in the Delineator.

When unhappy people die they become ghosts and never get to heaven.

A nice looking old lady from the country with a bright looking boy was in one of the stores on Main street a few days ago where the artist of the establishment was trimming for Christmas. The visitors were greatly surprised and finally the lady whispered to the boy, "I want you to grow up and be a clerk, for then you will have nothing to do but play at kindergarten work all the time." It is unnecessary to say that the boy was happy and then and there he resolved to be a clerk and spend his life in play.—Hudson Post.

A CLEVER RUSE.

The Way an Ingenious Paris Merchant Saved Cable Tolls.

A wealthy merchant in Paris who does an extensive business with Japan was informed that a prominent firm in Yokohama had failed, but the name of the firm he could not learn. He could have learned the truth by cabling; but, to save expense, instead he went to a well known banker who had received the news and requested him to reveal the name of the firm.

"That's a very delicate thing to do," replied the banker, "for the news is not official, and if I gave you the name I might incur some responsibility."

The merchant argued, but in vain, and finally he made this proposition:

"I will give you," he said, "a list of ten firms in Yokohama, and I will ask you to look through it and then tell me, without mentioning any name, whether or not the name of the firm which has failed appears in it. Surely you will do that for me?"

"Yes," said the banker, "for if I do not mention any name I cannot be held responsible in any way."

The list was made. The banker looked through it and as he handed it back to the merchant, said, "The name of the merchant who has failed is there."

"Then I've lost heavily," replied the merchant, "for that is the firm with which I did business," showing him a name on the list.

"But how do you know that is the firm which has failed?" asked the banker in surprise.

"Very easily," replied the merchant. "Of the ten names on the list only one is genuine—that of the firm with which I did business. All the others are fictitious."

STRANGE DISHES.

Lion's Flesh, Tiger's Meat and Baked Elephant's Foot.

Lion's flesh is said to furnish a very good meal. Tiger meat is not so palatable, for it is tough and sinewy. In India nevertheless it is esteemed, because there is a superstition that it imparts to the eater some of the strength and cunning that characterizes the animal. This notion is not, of course, held by the followers of Brahma and Buddha, whose religion forbids the eating of flesh.

There appears to be considerable difference of opinion among authorities on the subject as to the merits of elephant's flesh as an article of diet. By some it is considered a dainty, but there is the authority of at least one European against it. Stanley said that he frequently tasted elephant's flesh and that it was more like soft leather and glue than anything else with which he could compare it. Another explorer, however, declares that he cannot imagine how an animal so coarse and heavy as the elephant could produce such delicate and tender flesh. All authorities agree in commending the elephant's foot. Even Stanley admitted that baked elephant's foot was a dish fit for a king. It is the greatest delicacy that can be given to a Kaffir.—St. Louis Republic.

Moments That Counted.

Bacon's fame is mainly due to books written in his spare hours while he was England's chancellor. Humboldt's days were so occupied with his business that he had to pursue his scientific labors in the night or early morning. Burns wrote his most beautiful poems in his spare moments while working on a farm. Grote wrote his "History of Greece" during the odds and ends of time snatched from his duty as a banker. "Moments are the golden sands of time" if rightly used.

First Veterinary Hospital in County

Has been fitted up in Old Pioneer hall building by Dr. M. L. Pattison.

Dr. M. L. Pattison, veterinary surgeon has opened the first veterinary hospital for the county in the Pioneer hall building at the southwest corner of Sixth and B streets. He is equiping the place and when his work is finished, will have one of the most complete hospitals on the coast.

There will be accomodations for at least 15 horses. Nice comfortable box stalls are being fitted up and a number of patients are already luxurating within them. There will be an operating table and a specialty will be made of surgical and chronic cases.

There will be an attendant in the hospital night and day and night calls will be made a specialty, as a phone order from the country may be sufficient to save the life of a valuable horse.

The interior of the hospital will be well whitewashed. There will be an office with all conviences, also medicine cases, etc.

A good veterinary hospital is a convenience that will certainly appeal to the residents of the valley. Its need has long been felt and Dr. Pattison is to be congratulated upon his enterprise. The above was taken from an Oxnard, Cal. paper. Dr. Pattison is well known in Tecumseh, and his many friends wish him success.

Walter S. Slear.

Bo Slear of Elkhart, will attend the meeting of the Southern Michigan league at Lansing and will again be given the management of the Tecumseh team. Slear is a fair example of Elkhart's base ball material. The season of 1908 will be his fourth year with the last year's Michigan pennant winners and his second year as manager. Indications that Slear's team is prosperous as well as winner of the league pennant is apparent from the financial backers refusal to retire from the circuit, although offered a big bonus for the franchise.

Walter S. (Bo) Slear is the son of Mr. and Mrs John W. Slear, of 510 Ellis street, and received his first base ball training upon local teams. This year he was offered a position with the St. Louis Nationals, but preferred to again manage the Michigan team.—Monday's Elkhart Truth.

A Real Wonderland.

South Dakota with its rich silver mines, bonanza farms, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mound City in the home of Mrs E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes" writes Mrs. Clapp "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine that saved his life and completely cured him." Guaranteed for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Funeral Services

Held Sunday over the remains of

GEORGE N. STACY

Editor of the Herald. Large number of friends gather to pay their last respects.

The funeral services of George N. Stacy were held from Stacyhome last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Blanch Young of the Universalist church, conducting the brief, but impressive and comforting services. The Sunbeam quartette rendered two beautiful selections, "Come Unto Me," and "Lead Kindly Light."

The bearers, friends of the deceased, were Arthur Kennedy, Fred B. Wood, Charles Patterson, B. J. Pulver, B. J. Garlinghouse and Newberry Satterthwaite, the members of the office force, Misses Lula Aylesworth, Fern Stringham, Ethel Brownson and Anna Wilson acting as honorary bearers. The many choice floral offerings from his numerous friends was only a faint token of the high esteem in which he was held by those who knew him best.

Mr. Stacy was a man with a genial disposition, a most companionable gentleman, respected and popular with all classes. Few men in the county were as widely and favorably known as he, and his demise causes much sorrow among his friends. The house was crowded on last Sunday, with friends and relatives, all of whom came to pay their last respects to a man whom they held in highest regard. He was a citizen whom they esteemed and a friend they cherished. No one can realize that generous, whole hearted, jovial and friendly Editor Stacy is gone, and he will be greatly and sadly missed in this community. The remains were laid at rest at Brookside beside his parents.

Among those from away who came to attend the funeral were, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bigelow, Detroit; Mrs. A. J. Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Turner, Flint; Geo. Monaghan, Columbus, O., Ecovil Walker and mother, Mrs. Mary Walker and Mrs. Frank Collins, Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bell, Chicago; Mrs. Will Wooden of Battle Creek; M. C. Walker and daughter, Edna, of Adrian

MILAN REYNOLDS

North Franklin man takes his own life.

SATURDAY MORNING

The home of Oliver Mull was the scene of the shooting.

Milan Reynolds, who has been living with his daughter, Mrs. Oliver Mull, five miles west of Clinton, committed suicide Saturday morning about two o'clock by shooting himself with a shot gun. Mr. Reynolds has been mentally unbalanced for some time, keeping the family awake nights with his actions.

Friday evening he examined a shot gun, which belonged to a member of the family and inquired how it worked but they did not think of anything like that at the time. His divorced wife lived at the home also, and thinking it strange that she did not hear him tearing around, went to investigate and found Mr. Reynolds in the kitchen, dead. The officers from Manchester were notified and an inquest was also held. The verdic was that he came to his death by his own hand. Mr. Hause of Clinton, took charge of the body.

Josiah J. Putnam.

The death of Josiah J. Putnam occurred at 12:30 Saturday morning in Adrian, death being due to old age and paralysis. He leaves a wife and one son, Elmer D. Mr. Putnam was proprietor of the Lake Park hotel at Sand lake which he built in 1882. On account of failing health of the father, the son, Elmer D. Putnam has conducted the summer resort for several years past. The funeral was held from the home yesterday at 1 o'clock.

The Triumph of a New Idea.

It has been a subject of comment that the usual features of the Sunday newspapers showed too little variety. A recent departure in Sunday journalism has met with popular recognition and approval. The great illustrated weeklies and monthlies no longer have a monopoly of the periodical field.

Conan Doyle received $35,000 for the American serial rights of his last story, the highest price ever paid for similar rights. Anthony Hope, Jack London, Sewell Ford and many other popular novelists contribute to the publication which set the pace by paying this record price. Celebrated men and women write constantly for it on all subjects of timely interest. Clever verse, wit humor and interesting miscellany complete a most interesting table of contents. It is profusely illustrated by the leading artists. In fact, the Sunday Magazine of the Record-Herald maintains the highest standard of periodical literature throughout. It gets the best at whatever cost.

A plea has been entered in the court at Toledo by the receivers of the Toledo, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti electric road to allow the completion of the line and its operation. Just what this step means only the future can reveal. We have quit "prognosticating"—so far as that electric line is concerned.—Milan Leader.

The body of Robert Overmier, 19 year old son of Homer Overmier of Akron, Mich., was found lying on the railroad track at about 10:30 o'clock this evening. It had evidently been run over, as the body was cut in two and both arms were severed. He had been been riding on the freight cars which were being switched around the yard during the afternoon and evidently fell off. The accident must have happened in the early evening.—Reese Review.

Members of the Adrian Lodge visited Tecumseh

ONE HUNERED STRONG

Last evening, coming by special train over Lake Shore.

About 100 members of the K. O. T. M. of Adrian, responded to the invitation of the local lodge to visit here last evening and exemplify the work upon a class of three. The visitors arrived about 7 o'clock on a special train over the Lake Shore. The Adrian team did the work in Odd Fellow hall upon J. H. Griffith, Edmund Cleary and Albert VanDoren in a creditable manner and received many words of praise.

At the close of the work the visitors and local lodge were invited to the Maccabee hall where several of the members of the L. O. T. M. served a delicious banquet to 200 Sir Knights. A smoker was enjoyed after the banquet in Woodmen hall. Guy Belding played the phonograph during the banquet hour. The visitors departed at 1:30 their entertainers feeling that one more successful social evening could be chronicled in the history of the lodge.

ROUND ABOUT US.

H. Siegel, the rag man, who has been living in Will Hause's house on Locust street, was arrested Saturday on complaint of a Detroit party. Marshal Bauer had him in charge till Sunday when officers came after him from Detroit. He was charged with taking goods and money but he claims he was in partnership, the other man furnishing the money and he the rig and doing the buying. He also claims they bought iron and it dropped in price which accounts for the loss of $150 which his partner claims he appropriated.—Clinton Local.

Mrs. Lyman Geer had an experience Monday afternoon she will not care to have repeated. She was on the Lake Shore train coming home from Jackson and when about a mile out of the city was struck in the side by a bullet which crashed through the double window near which she was sitting. The force of the bullet was somewhat broken by its passing through the window and thanks to her corset steel she escaped serious injury. The railroad detectives have been investigating the matter.—Napoleon Cor. Clinton Local.

A RECORD BREAKER.

Last year's sales of Hyomei, the guaranteed cure for catarrh, larger than ever.

The merits of Hyomei (the treatment that cures catarrh without stomach dosing), its popularity and growth, are unique in the annals of medicine. So pronounced is the relief and cure following the use of this treatment that it has been publicly recommended by leading druggists and physicians in nearly every state and town in the country with the result that last year's sales were larger than ever.

The fact that Hyomei is so simple and complete and that it cures by breathing medicated air and not taking drugs into the stomach, no doubt has helped to create this wide spread and rapidly increasing army of friends.

The way in which it has been sold by C. A. Wright & Son has undoubtedly aided greatly its introduction in Tecumseh. They are such firm believers in the power of Hyomei to cure all catarrhal troubles, that they urge people to use it with the understanding that the cost will be refunded to anyone who is not benefitted by the treatment. You do not risk a cent in testing the healing virtues of Hyomei, for C. A. Wright & Son take all the risk of its giving satisfaction and leave you to be the judge.

If you have catarrh, give Hyomei a trial and you, too, will become its friend and recommend it to others. The complete outfit costs only $1.00; nothing if it does not cure.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who do not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, along book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Tecumseh women are finding relief at last.

It seems that women have more than their share of the pains that afflict humanity, they must "keep up" and attend to duties in spite of aches and pains they must walk, bend and work in spite of sufferings from kidney troubles. Kidneys cause more distress than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only, endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. Chas Stevenson living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: 'I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as they have helped me greatly. When I was sick with malaria fever I began to be troubled with sharp pains across my back and my kidneys were in bad shape. My nurse advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box and took them. They proved to be the remedy I required and they gave me relief. In a short time the pain left, the secretions became natural and the gravel stones which had bothered me for years, disappeared. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and will continue to do so."

SIGNS OF OLD AGE.

How a Man May Know When He Is No Longer Really Young.

They were arguing about the signs of approaching old age.

"Well, I'll tell you one thing," said one. "When a girl ceases to take a lively interest in you and doesn't mind your seeing her with her hair slightly untidy and listens to your conversation indulgently where formerly she manifested interest and sympathy, then you may know you are growing old."

"No," said another. "That isn't an infallible sign, because some young women show interest and sympathy to everybody. It's when your bones creak slightly on arising from a chair and you no longer swing on a moving car —— Confidence and you walk up Bigger flights of stairs a step at a time, then you are growing old."

"Not so," chimed in a third, "for young people with rheumatic diseases sometimes exhibit these signs. When the workings of your liver come to be of more importance that the affairs of your heart, then you are growing old."

"You are all wrong," announced a fourth. "When in pulling on your trousers in the early morning you are compelled to gain the support of the bedstead when you slip on the other leg—then—then—you are growing old"—New York Press.

Believing in her husband's innocence and fully expecting that the supreme court would reverse the decision of the circuit the wife of Burton Wycoff of Marshall opened up their home and placed it in readiness to welcome Wycoff on Christmast day. Wakeful?

Sleeplessness Is a Sign of Nerve Trouble and Should Be Looked To.

There are three different manifestations of sleeplessness.

First, hardly to sleep a wink all night, second, to lie awake a long time before failing asleep; third, to fall asleep soon, waking up after several hours and then find it hard to sleep again.

They mean that somewhere in the nerve fibres, somewhere in the brain cells, somewhere in the blood vessels that carry blood to the brain, something is radically wrong, and must be righted, or the end may be worse than death.

To right it, take Dr. Miles' Nervine.

Some other symptoms of nerve trouble are: Dizziness, Headache, Backache, Worry, Fretfulness, Irritability, Melancholy, Lack of Ambition.

They indicate diseases which may lead to Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Prostration, Paralysis, Insanity.

Nothing will give such quick and lasting relief as Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"My husband had been sick for weeks, could not sit up to have his bed made. With all the medical help we could get he continued to grow worse. He could neither sleep nor eat. Our baby girl was sent away, and all callers barred, because he could not stand a bit of talking. I read of a case of nervous prostration cured by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. We began giving it to him, and in a few days he was able to be dressed. From that time he steadily improved. Nervine saved his life."—MRS. A. G. HASKIN, Freeville, N. Y.

FACES MURDER CHARGE.

Alleged Man Near Big Rapids Killed Woman With Whom He Lived.

Big Rapids, Mich., Dec. 16.—James Adair, 56 years old, of Barryton is in custody in the county jail here and will probably be arraigned on a charge of killing Ellen Cook, 50 years old. The assault occurred at Adair's home, at Barryton, after a quarrel.

Adair had lived with the woman for the past four years. He made accusations against the woman, and had been brooding over the trouble and drinking heavily, it is said. Adair returned home first and, when the woman came, he refused to admit her. She persisted in her determination to get in, to which Adair declared angrily, "You will never get in alive," according to the officers. Seeing that she was unable to gain an entrance she seized an ax and broke in the door.

No sooner had she stepped inside than Adair, it is alleged, struck her over the head with a chair and felled her. Adair, the officers say, repeatedly struck the woman until her head was beaten to a pulp. The woman's screams attracted neighbors, who called the sheriff. The woman died without regaining consciousness.

An inquest will be held.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 16.—Lieutenant-Colonel L. A. Lovering of the Fourth United States regiment, who was detailed as umpire at the last state encampment of the Michigan national guard, has submitted a report to the governor. The parades given by the guardsmen were good and their movements well executed. The camp site was highly satisfactory, the only criticism being that the brush was too dense to permit of good work by the troops. Brigadier-General Harrah's management of the brigade is complimented.

OFF FOR THE PACIFIC

Great American Fleet Sails Away From Hampton Roads.

PRESIDENT REVIEWS THEM.

Officers Pay Chief Executive Their Respects Before Departure — Great Crowds See the Start—Squadron Retains Atlantic Fleet Title.

Old Point Comfort, Va., Dec. 16.—The Pacific-bound Atlantic fleet left this morning on its journey through the Straits of Magellan enroute, as the official order reads, "for the west coast of the United States." The president arrived in Hampton Roads on the Mayflower shortly after eight o'clock.

From the time the president's yacht cast anchor in the center of the fleet the events of the departure moved rapidly. Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans, commander-in-chief of this most notable of American peace expeditions, repaired on board the Mayflower and paid his respects to the president, and was immediately followed by the other flag and commanding officers of the fleet. The reception was brief and more or less informal.

The reception and the journeys of the admirals and captains to and from the Mayflower occupied upward of an hour. Two hours later the first of the long line of fighting vessels cleared the Virginia capes and turned her course to the southward. The review of the passing fleet by the president took place near Thimble Shoal lighthouse, ten miles down the bay, and ended about 11:30 a. m.

The view of the departure of the fleet was most impressive. On shore wives, sweethears, officials and friends and sightseers waved a last farewell.

Shore liberty for the sailors ended at 10 a.m. Sunday, and at that hour the enlisted force of each ship, numbering nearly 1,000 men to the company, was lined up at the quarters to listen to the reading of the articles of war. The men seemed deeply impressed. Every man was told what his duty was to his country, to his flag and to his superior officers. They were cautioned to uphold the dignity of their uniform when going ashore at South American ports and always conduct themselves in an orderly and sober manner.

After the articles of war had been read the chaplains of the several ships read from the Bible at divine worship. A few stragglers who overstayed their leave from vessels of the auxiliary squadron, which has preceded the battleship fleet to Trinidad, have recently turned up. Admiral Evans has directed that they be taken along until the fleet falls in with the ships to which they belong.

Some belated stores were placed on several of the ships, a vast quantity of plum pudding going to the messes of the Georgia and the Vermont. Fresh meat boats have placed the last supply on board the ships.

"We couldn't take on another pound of provisions," said an officer, "unless we followed the very bad example of the Russians who were caught by the Japanese with eight-inch gun turrets stored with hams and powder chambers filled with caviar."

Several scouting parties were ashore looking for scrubby pines to be used as Christmas trees. Nearly all were successful, and the little pines will be carefully stowed away until Trinidad is reached on Christmas eve.

Although bound for an extended tour of duty in the Pacific ocean, the fleet still retains its title of "The United States Atlantic fleet," under which designation the last sailing orders were issued.

Was Digging His Own Grave.

Muskegon, Mich., Dec. 16.—Great excitement prevailed in a local cemetery when Joseph Narrowitz, an aged Muskegon tailor, who was once confined in the Traverse City asylum, was found digging a grave in the same plot where his wife is buried. Narrowitz told his neighbors that his wife and daughter had come back from the grave and beckoned him to end his life. He was placed in the county jail after a struggle with officers in the grave yard. He will be examined as to his sanity.

Americans and Porto Ricans gave a banquet in San Juan, P. R., in honor of Regis H. Post, governor of Porto Rico, who recently was re-nominated for that office by President Roosevelt. The principal speech of the evening was made by Senor Quinones, chief justice of the supreme court, who said that Porto Rican sentiment was unanimous for the confirmation of Governor Post's appointment. The latter made a fitting response.

Fred C. Hobein, an attorney connected with the firm of William C. Heimann & Co., mortgage brokers, 92 LaSalle street, Chicago, committed suicide at the Quincy House in Boston by shooting. He left a note asking that Rev. Edward L. Hobein, pastor of the German Congregational church in Clinton, Mass., a brother, be notified. Despondency, because of ill-health, is believed to have led to his suicide.

The charges will then be signed by Governor Warner and a date for the hearing set. Until the charges have been submitted to the governor they will not be given out for publication, but it is understood that the attorney-general's department does not propose to have the papers fail for lack of attention.

W. B. Baker, a traveling man, ordered blue points for the first course of his dinner at the Vincent hotel in Saginaw. The first oyster he removed with his fork revealed three beautiful pearls of good size nestled in a corner of the shell. Baker estimated their value in the rough at not less than $50. The meal cost 75 cents.

ARBUCKLES' ARIOSA COFFEE

"For over thirty years," writes a gentleman in Los Angeles, "I have used Arbuckles' Coffee. Many times my family has tried other coffee only to come back to our old reliable, unchangeable Arbuckles. No other coffee has this uniform never failing aroma, I care not at what price. I have often wished I could tell you this." Many other people have the same opinion. Arbuckles' was the first roasted packaged coffee, and its sales exceed all the others put together. That it costs you less is due simply to our coffee business being so much greater than any competitor, in fact, it is larger than the next four largest firms in the world combined. We naturally can and actually do give better coffee in ARIOSA than anyone else can give for the price; Being the standard article it is sold at the narrowest margin of profit.

Some grocers will try to sell you instead loose coffee which the roaster is ashamed to sell in a package bearing his name.

Don't take it, neither the looks nor the price indicate its cup quality. No matter where you buy Arbuckles' ARIOSA, or what you pay for it, it's the same old uniform 'Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee.

If your grocer will not supply, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

AN APPRECIATION.

And other tributes from his Editorial Friends.

There has just passed from our midst a personage whose living example seems to call far more than passing mention.

Born, raised and schooled in Tecumseh George N. Stacy was known to nearly every citizen in this community and as editor of the HERALD, by a large proportion throughout this county.

In his editorial work he was foremost in welfare of his home town; ever ready to speak a timely word for some needed improvement, or to help a deserving cause. Fearless always—the most desirable quality in an independant paper—attacking wrong or furthering the right.

In public life, broad of view and progressive, he has in many ways helped to shape our village history and growth; always assisting with his every energy in bringing factories and industries for our present and future advancement.

To the writer of these lines, as witty and original a speaker as ever graced a table or stepped before an audience. In business, prompt and faithful, an advocate of the "square deal."

As a citizen, genial and kindly, as a friend, sure and steadfast. Yet after all is said and done, it is perhaps in his home life that this man has made his greatest success. Thoughtful ever, and cheerful always, even through darkest hours.

GEORGE N. STACY.

Hospitality and good cheer have at all times radiated from Stacyhome where every nook and corner show handiwork of a master hand at home building. His work is done, may he have his reward and may Tecumseh and old Lenawee have more with his attainments, in the years that are to come.

The many friends of George N. Stacy editor and owner of the Tecumseh Herald, received a sad blow Friday morning last when they heard of his death which followed so closely on the heels of a stroke of paralysis which siezed him about 3:30 p. m. the day previous, while he was attending to his business affairs at the office.

The expressions of sympathy heard on all sides show that the deceased gentleman had a warm place in the hearts of the people of Tecumseh, where he was born, spent the years of his young manhood and then after a few years' absence returned to again make his home and take up what he was pleased to call his life work which singular to say, he had the proud consciousness of seeing completed the Tuesday prior to his death.

George N. Stacy was the youngest member of a family of 7 children of Judge and Mrs Consider Stacy and was the only one of the family who was born at Stacyhome. He was educated in the Tecumseh schools and afterwards went to Chicago to study music, of which he was passionately fond.

In 1884 he was married to Miss Gertrude Bigelow, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. J Bigelow and their married life was one of unalloyed happiness and peace.

With the exception of a few years spent in Elgin, Ill., engaged in newspaper work all his energies were devoted to the Tecumseh Herald.

Ten years ago when his brother, Scoyell C. Stacy died, he came back to Tecumseh and took charge of the Herald and the Stacy estate. He found all the property encumbered and then began his life work—the struggle to clear up the indebtedness and free it from all encumbrance. This was accomplished three days before his death and he had the satisfaction of once seeing his name at the head of the Herald as its editor and owner, and no one but his wife really knows how hard he labored in spite of six years of continued ill health to accomplish this object.

The many plans they made for what looked to them a bright future, she will have to carry out alone.

Mrs. Stacy will assume the management of the Herald and continue its publication as before

The funeral was held at Stacyhome Sunday afternoon, Rev. Blanche Young officiating. Those present from out of town were: Mr and Mrs Jay Bigelow, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bell of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner and Mrs. Emma Bigelow of Flint, Mrs. Mary Walker, Mrs. Frank Collins and Scovill Walker of Jackson, Geo. Monaghan of Columbus, O., and Mr. Walker and Miss Edna of Adrian.

The funeral services were attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends. The wealth of beautiful flowers that had been sent was an added testimony of the esteem in which the deceased was held by his friends. The services were of the simplest nature. In her remarks the minister paid a touching tribute to the life and character of Mr. Stacy. The Tecumseh male quartet, W. S. Dickinson, L. F. Abrams, Elmer Slayton and Floyd Slater, sang two beautiful selections. At the conclusion of the services the remains were borne from the house by Fred B. Wood, Charles F. Patterson, N. S. Satterthwaite, B. J. Pulver, B. J. Garlinghouse and Arthur E Kennedy the pall bearers, who were personal friends of Mr. Stacy, and were then conveyed to Brookside cemetery, where all that was mortal of the deceased editor was laid to rest in the family burial lot beside his father and mother and other deceased members of his family. The honorary pall-bearers were the employees of the Herald office, Misses Anna Wilson, Fern Stringham, Lula Aylesworth and Ethel Brownson.

Mr. Stacy was naturally of a jovial congenial nature and made many friends. When the editor of the News came to Tecumseh, Mr. Stacy was one of the first men to call on him and the friendship then formed has been uninterrupted during the year and a half he has resided here.—Tecumseh News.

This community was terribly shocked this morning to learn of the death of one of its leading business men, Geoege N. Stacy, editor of the Tecumseh Herald. Though Mr. Stacy has been in poor health for some time, his death comes as a shock to all of his friends.

Thursday afternoon Mr. Stacy was at the office, when he was striken with paralysis about 3:30 o'clock. He was immediately taken taken to his home on West Chicago street, and everything possible was done to save his life, but he, in his poor state of health, could not survive the shock, and death came to his relief at 8:30 this morning. The stroke rendered him perfectly helpless and speechless.

Mr Stacy was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Consider Stacy and the youngest of a family of seven.

At the death of his brother, Scovell Stacy, he came here from Elgin, Ill., and succeeded his brother as editor of the Herald. He has been editor of this paper for the past 10 years and was one of the best known editors in the state. Before coming to Tecumseh he held an important position with the News and Advocate of Elgin.

Deceased was about 48 years of age. About 25 years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Gertrude Bigelow, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Bigelow of Adrian, who with his only sister, Loana Stacy are left to mourn his untimely death.—Adrian Telgram.

While at work in his editorial office in Tecumseh Thursday afternoon, George N. Stacy, publisher of the Tecumseh Herald, was visited with a third stroke of paralysis which rendered him helpless and unconscious. He was quickly removed to his home and medical aid was summoned without avail and his death followed at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning.

George N. Stacy was the last of a noted family in Lenawee county pioneer history. He was the second son of Judge Consider A. Stacy and was about 50 years old He was educated in the Tecumseh schools and in his father's office, learned the printing business thoroughly and became a writer of fluency and strength. For several years he was editor of the Daily News, at Elgin, Ill., the paper still owned and managed by Prof. Lowery, and following the death of his brother, Scovel, some years ago, George returned to Tecumseh and took charge of the Herald, which he conducted with skill and profit, though sadly handicapped the past few years by paralysis. He is survived by his wife, who was a Miss Bigelow of Adrian. They had no children.—Adrian Times.

The expressions of sympathy heard on all sides show that the deceased gentleman had a warm place in the hearts of the people of Tecumseh, where he was born, spent the years of his young manhood and then after a few years absence returned to again make his home and take up what he was pleased to call his life work, which singular to say, he had the proud consciousness of seeing completed the Tuesday prior to his death. Mr Stacy was naturally of a jovial, congenial nature and made many friends, among whom we were pleased to be numbered. To the widow and sister who are left to mourn his loss we extend our heartfelt sympathy in their hour of sorrow.—Clinton Local.

In the death of Geo. N. Stacy, editor of the Tecumseh Herald, which occurred last Friday, Tecumseh looses another and almost the last of a once prominent and influential family. One that has had much to do with the affairs of the village since its earliest days. Consider A. Stacy, the father, was a prominent lawyer and judge of probate for several years. Scovel, the oldest son, was a bright lawyer and editor. Alphonzo and George were both bright fellows and had a multitude of friends.—Manchester Enterprise.

Mr. Stacy was an able newspaper man and was of a family which has been prominent in Lenawee county. His father, Judge Stacy, was a leading lawyer and the sons and daughters have all been of more than ordinary ability. Mr. Stacy has been editor of the Herald for ten years, succeeding a brother who died at that time. As a publisher he has been successful and as a citizen was highly respected.—Hudson Post.

Deafness cannot be cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by the inflamed condition of the lining of the Eust-chian tube. When this tube is inflammed your hearing is imperfect and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation is relieved and this tube made healthy, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but inflammation of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness, caused by catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure.

A Real Wonderland.

South Dakota with its rich silver mines, bonanza farms, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mound City in the home of Mrs E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes" writes Mrs. Clapp "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine that saved his life and completely cured him." Guaranteed for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

The best appreciation of any truth is its application.

AMUSEMENTS.

A Northland singer with all new songs including a beautiful lullaby and yodel will be with good old "Ole Olson" which will be presented at the New Bradley Tuesday, Dec 24, by an experienced company of players.

"Ole" furnishes a quaint picture of the developement of the awkward and untutored Swedish imigrant lad in a shrewd, honest and helpful Swedish American of the northwest. The story of the pleasing little play in which "Ole" the central figure, is a combination of wholesome comedy and natural heart interest, a stage replica of just such scenes as are enacted around many family hearthstones. In its good natured wholesome comedy, its touches of pathos and its utter freedom from straining for effect, the play offers a good example of wholesome entertainment and well deserved is its continued success.

The company that presents it here is authorized by Mrs. Gus Heege, to whom the play belongs, and is the same that has played it this season in New York, Brooklyn, Boston, St. Louis and other cities.

BIG BARGAIN PRICE

Then the Adrian Telegram will be $2.50 a year.

In common with all the $2 dailies, the Adrian Telegram has been compelled to announce an advance to $2.50 a year after January 1. Some time ago the Detroit papers went up 75 cents, while in Jackson, Battle Creek and most other Michigan cities the dailies have never been below $2.50. It is impossible to publish such a paper as The Telegram for $2 a year and many weeklies are raising their rates to $1 25 or $1.50.

Before the new rate takes effect the Telegram will make a special price on two "bargain days," December 30 and 31, at the very low rate of $1 75 for a year. This is cheaper than any daily paper in Michigan can be got outside this county and is 75 cents cheaper than any Detroit or southern Michigan paper that has the Associated Press dispatches.

Several improvements have been made since Stuart Perry purchased the Telegram, especially on the editorial page which has been enlarged by several new departments handled by clever writers.

Miraculous Cures.

Reginald of Durham, who wrote a chronicle some time before 1195, asserts that a young English nobleman was cured of leprosy at the shrine of St. Cuthbert in Durham cathedral and that a young woman who had been for the space of three years an inmate of a large hospital established at Badele, near Darlington, in the diocese of Durham, was miraculously healed at the shrine of St. Godric at Finchdale in the presence of Ralph Haget, sheriff of the county, and Norman, parish priest of Hailtune.—St. James' Gazette.

It Didn't Break.

A little girl held a mirror up before a visitor's face and asked, "Do you see yourself in it?"

"Yes, my darling."

"Are you quite sure?"

"Yes. Why should I not?"

"Because I heard mamma say the other day that if you ever peeped into a looking glass you'd smash it all into tiny little bits!"

Trying the Wrong Man.

An unusual verdict was rendered by the jury in a case tried in a California town a good many years ago. The question was as to the ownership of several head of cattle which the defendant was accused of having stolen from the plaintiff. As the case proceeded and different witnesses gave their evidence, it became apparent to all listeners that the defendant was an innocent man. When it came time for the jury to retire to consider their verdict, they did so, but returned to the courtroom in a few moments. The foreman looked the judge straight in the eye and said with a drawl and twang which betrayed his New England origin:

"Jedge, we find the plaintiff guilty."

"The court is not trying the plaintiff, but the defendant," said his honor hastily, and the matter being explained, the foreman was at length induced to express the jury's opinion that the defendant was not guilty.

"Howsomever," added the foreman solemnly, "'pears to me yo're considering the wrong man, your honor!"

Holy Land a World Center.

It used to be a fancy that the Holy Land was the center of the world. In a sense not then meant it was indeed central. It occupied a strategic position. Three continents converge here—all the continents known as the ancients—Asia, Africa and Europe. Contiguous to Palestine on the south lies Egypt and on the north Syria. Or, taking a wider view, on one side of it were India, Persia, Assyria and Babylonia, while on the other side of it were Egypt, Greece and Rome. A babe among giants the land of Jesus was indeed little among the geographical tribes; but, like a babe, it was monarch of the household of lands.

From its central vantage tiny Palestine saw through the march of centuries the procession of these mighty empires—Assyrian, Babylonian, Medo-Persian, Greek and Roman, being itself during much of the time a center of influence and determining force that have helped form the character and history of the civilized world.—Exchange.

He Could Dodge.

"There's nothing slow about Jones," he said reflectively.

The other laughed scornfully.

"I guess you never loaned him any money," he said.

"Oh, yes, I have," replied the first speaker. "That's what made me speak that way. I loaned him $10 six months ago, and I haven't been able to catch him since."

She Got a New One.

"I've stopped asking people if my bonnet is on straight." The Husband—Why, my dear? The Wife—I love you too much, John, to disgrace you by calling a body's attention to an old bonnet like this.—London Tit-Bits.

FOUND TRUE REMEDY.

C. A. Wright & Son are sure Miona will cure all stomach troubles.

The incalculable amount of good that Miona stomach tablets are doing in Tecumseh in making sick and even despairing people well, should compel the attention of every one afflicted with stomach troubles.

The underlying cause of nervous debility, headaches, sleeplessness and melancholy is faulty nutrition, the result of a weakened stomach and bowels.

So long as the stomach is weak the tissues cannot assimilate proper nourisment no matter how much food is eaten Miona increases the strength of of the muscular walls of the stomach, regulates the bowels and makes the blood capable of carrying nutriment to all the vital organs

The use of Miona stomach tablets brings the tired, nervous, sluggish condition and weakened stomach to an energetic, healthy bodily condition.

In no other way can you so quickly or so positively stimulate the stomach to good health as by using Miona. This remedy sold by C. A. Wright & Son under a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures, shows its superiority over ordinary, old fashioned digestives

A 50 cent box of Miona lasts a couple of weeks and will ward off a dozen attacks of indigestion and bring the weakest stomach into a state of strength and good health.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist and is so successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention this good offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Tecumseh women are finding relief at last.

It seems that women have more than their share of the pains that afflict humanity, they must "keep up" and attend to duties in spite of aches and pains They must walk, bend and work in spite of sufferings from kidney troubles. Kidneys cause more distress than any other organ of the body Keep the kidneys well and health is maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only, endorsed by people you know.

Mrs Chas Stevenson living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: 'I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as they have helped me greatly. When I was sick with malaria fever I began to be troubled with sharp pains across my back and my kidneys were in bad shape. My mother advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box and took them. They proved to be the remedy I required and they gave me relief. In a short time the pain left, the secretions became natural and the gravel stones which had bothered me for years, disappeared. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and will continue to do so"

NO DECISION REACHED

Way of Return of Big Fleet Is Still Undecided.

METCALF MAKES STATEMENT

Opinion Prevails In Naval Circles That at Most Only Squadron Will Return Via Suez Canal—Brazil Will Welcome Fleet.

Washington, Dec. 23.—"The program for the return of the battleship fleet is a matter that has been discussed among the officials of the navy department, but as yet no decision has been reached and will not be for some time to come," said Secretary of the Navy Metcalf.

The secretary's remarks were called out by a wireless message from the flagship Connecticut stating that Admiral Evans had authorized the Associated Press to say it is his opinion that the navy department's present intention is to have the battleship fleet return by way of the Suez canal, next summer or fall.

As the president, through Secretary Loeb, previously had spoken to the same effect, it seems clear that Admiral Evans' statement was not suggested by any definite move so far determined upon by those supreme in authority. In naval circles the opinion prevails that at most only a squadron, composed of such vessels as the voyage to the Pacific shall have demonstrated to be "the pick of the fleet," will be sent home through the Suez canal, while the remainder will take the shorter route around the Horn. It is not likely, however, that all sixteen battleships will make the return voyage, as the desirability of a stronger fleet in the Pacific may be met by the retention of perhaps several of Admiral Evans' ships in those waters.

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, Dec. 23.—When the American fleet of warships reaches this port it will be accorded a royal welcome. It is not intended, however, that the welcome shall be demonstrative, but that all courtesy shall be paid the visitors as though the visit was expressly made to Brazil. The fleet is expected here about Jan. 11, and it will remain at Rio Janeiro for ten days. Admiral Alencar, the minister of marine, has issued an order for a division, composed of the cruisers Barroso and Tamandare, and the gunboats Tymbira, Tamoyo and Tiradentes, to hold themselves in readiness to meet the American fleet on the high seas and accompany it into the harbor.

A number of fetes are being arranged, among which are dances, picnics and banquets.

Switch Was Tampered With.

Tallaposa, Ga., Dec. 23.—Train No. 23 on the Southern railway, bound from Atlanta for Birmingham, ran into an open switch at this point, killing Engineer Downey of Atlanta and injuring two firemen. The train was drawn by two engines, both of which left the rails and turned over. The postal car also was derailed, but the passenger coaches remained on the rails and, beyond a shaking up, none of the passengers were injured. The switch had been tampered with.

Man Shot Aged Recluse.

Toledo, O., Dec. 23.—Sylvester Soles, a recluse, aged sixty-five, was shot five times, with probably fatal effect, at his home south of Delta, O., by J. E. Roach, thirty-four years old. The latter was arrested here and taken to Wauseon jail. Roach claims he demanded pay for some work he had done for Soles, when the latter attacked him, and he shot in self defense. Soles managed to show by signs that Roach had demanded all his money and had threatened to shoot him if he did not hand it over.

Bloodless Duel Ends in Reconciliation.

Budapest, Dec. 23.—Dr. Wekerle, the Hungarian premier, and former Minister of Justice Polonyi have fought a duel with swords, as a result of an allegation of political dishonesty made against the premier by the ex-minister at a sitting of parliament a few days ago. The meeting was a bloodless one. Neither man was in any way injured and the two became reconciled.

Thirty-Three Bodies Recovered.

Jacobs Creek, Pa., Dec. 23.—Only thirty-three of the 200 or more miners caught by the explosion of the Darr mine of the Pittsburg Coal company last Thursday have been found by the rescuing parties and brought to the surface. Nearly all of the others are presumed to be a mile or more beyond the point to which the rescuers have been able to prosecute their

WARNER TO BE THERE.

Governor Accepts the President's Invitation

TO NATIONAL CONFERENCE.

Assemblage Will Freely Discuss Conservation of Country's Natural Resources—Suggestions Pour In on Government Officials.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Michigan will be represented at the White House conference, on the conservation of natural resources, in May. In answer to his invitation, the President has received from Governor Fred M. Warner word that he will be present, accompanied by three citizens of Michigan.

Governor Warner is one of some forty or more governors who have declared their intention of being present at the conference, bringing with them three representative citizens of their respective states. So far not a single governor has expressed his unwillingness to attend the conference. Governor Warner's letter is as follows:

Warner's Reply.

"Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States:

"Sir—I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your esteemed favor of Nov. 11.

"The plan outlined for a conference that shall have for its object the discussion of methods for the conservation of our country's great natural resourses meets with my cordial approval. Our people's energies have been devoted to the development and exploitation of these resources for more than a century and a quarter, and the time has come when this policy should be followed by an era of conservation. How to bring this about is a problem now confronting us as a people and to the solution of which we should devote the best there is in us.

"I will be pardoned if I refer to the fact that by reason of our state's splendid endowment of nature's riches we have a peculiar interest in the success of the conference which is to be brought about because of your intense interest in all that goes to make our country better.

"I am pleased to accept the invitation to attend the conference, and will select three citizens of Michigan to accompany me, as suggested.

"Very respectfully,

"FRED M. WARNER."

Interest Aroused.

That the conference of governors at the White House is to be a significant meeting is emphasized by the great number of letters which are pouring in at the White House and to the inland waterways on the subject of the conservation of this or that natural resource.

Men in the timbered regions of the country are making suggestions as to the course the conference should take in the matter of preserving our forests. Other letters from the coal regions show keen interest in the way the conference will take up the question of coal exhaustion, while from the whole Mississippi valley and valleys of other navigable streams come scores of letters dwelling on the importance of water power, prevention of floods, and some steps to stop the great waste of valuable farm lands by erosion.

No set program has been prepared for the conference, and the intention is not to have long speeches and tiresome papers. Those who have anything to do with the arrangments declare that the conference is to be a conference in every sense of the word, and not a meeting to which the governors will be invited to listen to the observations of scientific gentlemen and others on the question in hand. The fullest and freest discussion by the governors themselves is to be invited, and the three days' conference, which probably will be held in the east room of the White House, and which may be presided over by the president himself, will afford opportunity for every governor who has ideas on the subject to make himself heard.

CHILDREN GO HUNGRY

Conditions Prevailing In Berlin Are Heartrending.

THEY MUST GO TO SCHOOL

Else Parents Are Fined—Socialists Will Endeavor to Secure Aid From City Council—Royal Family and Soldiers Fare Well For Christmas.

Berlin, Dec. 23.—The municipality is face to face with a very serious problem in connection with the supply of food to thousands of virtually starving children attending the primary schools in Berlin, whose numbers have been greatly augmented this year in consequence of the industrial inactivity. Hitherto the Childrens' Canteen society has been able to cope with the task in a fairly satisfactory way by means of subscriptions from private sources, but the funds are this year so great that it will be unable to supply many of the children.

In the first week of December, according to official statistics from 245 out of 285 primary schools, no fewer than 11,947 children attended school in most cases without breakfast and in all cases without the prospect of obtaining a mid-day meal at home. Of those, 4,498 receive a simple daily meal from the fourteen canteens belonging to the above mentioned society; the other 7,449 are totally unprovided for.

The question of the city's responsibility for the children has now been raised by the socialists in the municipal council, who propose that the council should in the future undertake the task.

Much Money Needed.

The society will be able this winter to dispose of the sum of $8,421.50, and this will all be taken up by the provision of a meal a day to the 4,498 children on its books. Altogether, for the feeding of the 12,000 starving little ones during the winter, $37,500 will be necessary, and the council is to be asked to vote $30,000 to make up the amount required and place it at the disposition of the society.

Parents who do not send their children to school are fined unless they can give medical authority for keeping them home. Therefore, poor parents send children to school even though foodless and miserably clad.

Thirteen Christmas trees stand in the new palace at Potsdam for the members of the imperial family. Two large trees are for the emperor and empress and the others for their six sons and daughters, the wives of Crown Prince Frederick William and Prince Eitel and the two children of the crown prince.

The emperor's Christmas program begins after lunch on Tuesday, when he will walk through the grand park Sans Souci with several hundred marks, in coins freshly minted, in his pocket, bestowing five or ten or twenty-mark pieces upon poor persons whom he may meet. He continues his walk to the barracks of the first regiment of foot guards to attend the celebration of the so-called "life company," of which the emperor was captain as crown prince.

Every company in the German army has its own Christmas tree, for which gifts are sent from the mens' homes.

The imperial family gathers at six o'clock to give each other their presents.

Millions For Public Schools.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 23.—An interesting statement has been prepared by Auditor-General Bradley showing the amount of money which the state has paid out since 1840 to the primary schools. The total for the 68 years is $42,244,111.79. In 1840 the state paid out only $28,650.99, while last year $8,908,065.50 was apportioned. Over one-half the amount distributed during the 68 years has been paid out by the state during the last nine years.

Preacher "Held Up" Congregation.

New York, Dec. 23.—Addressing his wealthy congregation at the close of the formal sermon Sunday, Dr. C. A. Aked, who recently came from Liverpool to become pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church here, declared that he would not contemplate a permanent ministry in the church if the system of finance was continued. "I want," said Dr. Aked, "$7,000 from you before you leave this church this morning." He got it.

STEAD'S VIEWS.

Says United States Is Venturing Her Head Into Jaws of Japanese Lion.

London, Dec. 23.—William T. Stead, the editor of The Review of Reviews, in an article in The Daily Mail justifying his recent advocacy of Great Britain's replying to Germany's naval program by laying down two Dreadnaughts for every one Germany builds, argues that Germany has weakened instead of strengthened her position in the world by building a fleet, because the whole German navy virtually is a hostage in the hands of a stronger naval power.

"For any power to have a fleet on the high seas," says the writer, "which is not the strongest fleet afloat, is an increase not of strength but of vulnerability. For instance, the American fleet in the Pacific is supposed to be a menace to Japan. In reality, if it ventures in the northern Pacific, Uncle Sam will be bound over to good behavior to the whole value of the fleet. The United States, invulnerable on land, is venturing her head into the jaws of the Japanese lion and, while the fleet remains in the Pacific, Americans will be very civil to Japan."

Prompt and favorable replies are expected from the presidents of Honduras and Guatemala.

Mitchell Much Improved.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 23.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America, who has been critically ill, will return to his home in Spring Valley, Ill., Tuesday, according to an announcement made by his physician. Mr. Mitchell's condition has so far improved that he is able to sit up in bed much of the time, partake of considerable nourishment and to discuss office affairs with some of his callers.

Mrs Carter May Recover.

Battle Creek, Mich., Dec. 23.—Mrs. Grace Mitchell Carter, victim of attempted uxorcide, is likely to recover, say physicians at Nichols hospital. Mrs. Carter's life is spared because the bullet was deflected by a rib. It passed through her lung, into the back, and blood poison alone could produce death now. The funeral of her husband, Winfield S. Carter, who committed suicide after shooting his wife, occurred Sunday, and was conducted by colored Odd Fellows at the Second Baptist church.

THE ADRAIN TELEGRAM'S

Three Bargain Days

Saturday, December 28,
Monday, December 30
Tuesday, December 30.

Two years ago The Telegram held its first Bargain [illegible] proved a tremendous success.

Last year the offer was repeated and made even a grand hit with the people of Lenawee county.

Such a low price has never before been made on any high grade daily newspaper and the number of people who took advantage of it ran into the thousands.

It was a cash saving of 50 cents to each mail subscriber, and at the same time it saved the publisher much by giving him his money all at once, in advance, and by being instrumental in making new subscribers and saving a great amount of bookkeeping.

This year, while the bargain price is slightly higher than last year, the saving to the subscriber will be even more. It will be to each mail subscriber and $1.20 to every subscriber served by carrier boys.

In common with a multitude of other daily papers, The Telegram has been compelled to advance its rate to subscribers by mail.

Beginning with January 1 The Telegram will be $2.50 a year by mail or 10 cents a week by carrier which is still as cheap as any other daily in southern Michigan can be obtained, and cheaper than many of them

For the last three days of this year, however, you can get The Telegram for $1.75 by Mail.

or $4.00 by carrier. Remember, the day of cheap papers is past. Printing paper costs one-third more than a year ago. Detroit papers that used to go on rural routes for $1 75 now cost $2 50 net, with no commissions to anybody. The dailies of several of the medium-sized Michigan cities charge $3 a year. There is not a single newspaper that has the Associated Press service, in Southern Michigan, Detroit or Toledo that can be got in any way, by anybody, during 1908 for less than $2 50. Yet The Telegram offers the

ASSOCIATED PRESS SERVICE FOR $1.75

No newspaper can get the world's news fully and accurately without the aid of this world-wide organization—bigger and stronger than all other similar organizations in the world put together. The Associated Press dispatches are the back bone and life blood of the modern daily paper. No other Adrian paper has the Associated Press service.

In the department of state and local news The Telegram is equally strong. It covers the news of Lenawee county as no other paper ever attempted to do. Its editorial page and market reports are the favorites of thousands of readers. In short The Telegram is a complete high-grade, modern newspaper.

CONDITIONS OF THIS GREAT OFFER

1. It is open to everybody, whether now a subscriber or not.
2. Only one year's subscription will be accepted at the bargain day price, nothing less than one year and nothing more.
3. Present subscriptions will not run out until some date in 1908 can extend their time one year from that date by paying the Bargain Day price; this is to give everybody an exactly equal chance.
4. It is good for three days only—Dec. 28, 30 and 31. Either your money must be received on Dec. 28, 30 or 31, or your letter containing it must be mailed on Dec 28 30 or 31. Bargain Day subscriptions absolutely will not be received one day beyond that time, whatever the reason or excuse may be.
5. This offer is strictly cash; your money must accompany your order.
6. Every Bargain Day subscription must either be paid direct to the office, in person, or by mail, or else to a specially authorized agent
7. No commission will be allowed to anybody for forwarding Bargain Day subscriptions. If a commission be deducted the subscription will not be accepted.

That Little Brother of the Sun.

I mean Acetylene Light.

What is Acetylene made from?

Calcium Carbide and Water.

What is Calcium Carbide?

A dark and stony substance made from Lime and Coke melted together at the fierce heat of 6,000 degrees by an Electric Furnace.

How is it used?

This Carbide, crushed into nuggets like small coal, is put up in steel drums containing 100 pounds each.

These drums are water tight.

Carbide can't burn, can't explode, can't do anything till you bring it in contact with water and air,—the two cheapest of all elements.

When you drop Carbide into water its Carbon combines with the [illegible] to form Acetylene Gas.

Touch a match to [illegible] burner, and it gives [illegible] light, steady, cool and [illegible] which is nothing less than sunlight.

Now, what does Carbide cost?

It costs 3½ cents per pound in most of the States.

At 4 cents per pound it produces white Sunlight (Acetylene) of 24 candle-power, for two-fifths of a cent per hour.

This is a full third less than the same candle-power light costs from regular Kerosene Lamps the expense of Chimneys and Wick considered.

What does an Acetylene Lighting plant cost to install?

Write me the number of rooms in your House (or Hotel) or the size of your Store.

Then I can tell you which sort of Generator will best suit your purpose, and how little it would cost installed complete when you go the right way about it.

HE SAW THE SIGN.

Cause of the Smashup as Told by the Old Darky Driver.

The old darky was suing the railroad company for damages. The man contended that, not being warned by whistle or engine bell, he had started to drive his rig across the company's track when a shunted box car of said company crashed into his outfit, causing the death of the horse, loss of the wagon and minor injuries to himself. After the prosecution had closed its side of the case the company's lawyer called the old darky to the stand and went at him.

"Mr. Lamson," he began, "your rig was struck by the box car in full daylight, was it not?"

"I fink dar was some clouds ovahead, suh," answered the caviling witness.

"Never mind the clouds! And only a few days before this accident the railroad company had put a new sign at that crossing?"

"Dar was a sign dar; yaas, suh!"

"And didn't that sign say: 'Stop! Look! Listen?'"

"Now, dar am de whole accusation ub de trouble!" declared the darky, with animation. "If dat 'Stop' sign hadn't caught dis chile's eye jes' 's Ah war square on dat track, dar wouldn't 'a' been no smashup!"—Bohemian.

THE DEADLY UNDERTOW.

What to Do When Caught in the Treacherous Currents.

Those deadly undertows which so often prove fatal to swimmers are produced by tides and coast currents. The former only carry out at ebb tide; the latter usually zigzag along the shore.

"If you are a robust swimmer," said a professor of the art, "you can generally overcome them by quick, alert strokes. If, however, you do not at once succeed don't persevere, for this is one of the exceptions to the rule about perseverance. Stop fighting before exhaustion comes and go with the tide or current. By resting a short time, floating or swimming leisurely, you will have time to take your bearings and either make another attempt or call for assistance.

"Sometimes you will find the undertow runs parallel to the shore. You may then let yourself be carried along with the certainty that before long it will twist inshore, when a short spurt will bring you to safety."—Cassell's Journal.

All That Was Left.

A young married couple took a late train for Washington, intending to spend their honeymoon in rambling through the corridors of the capitol, Congressional library and other public buildings. The porter was awakening passengers at an unusually early hour that morning, and long before the train reached Baltimore he had them up. The groom told his bride that he would leave his coat and hat and retire to the smoking compartment of the train. He went out and met a friend, who asked him back into another car in order that he might meet a friend of his. Soon the conductor began making his rounds and taking up tickets. The young bride referred him to the smoking apartment, where, she said, her husband would be found. A moment later the conductor returned and informed her politely that the bridegroom was not to be found. The other passengers were startled by a loud shriek.

"My husband! Oh, my husband!"

"Don't be alarmed, madam," said the conductor reassuringly, "Nothing has happened to your husband. He is probably in Baltimore. We dropped two sleepers at that point." And that was why friends of the young couple who went to the station in Washington to meet them saw only the bride clinging to an overcoat and a silk hat and wailing, "This is all there is left of him!"

What the Lunatic Thought.

A clergyman was suddenly called upon, away from home, to preach at a lunatic asylum, and he decided to make use of a favorite missionary sermon of his.

After the service, as the clergyman was leaving the chapel, one of the inmates stepped up to him and said:

"That was a good sermon you gave us, sir."

The clergyman was pleased and replied:

"I am glad you liked it. What part in it especially interested you?"

"Where you told about the mothers throwing their infants into the Ganges."

"Yes," said the clergyman, "that is very sad, but it is true, and we must do our utmost to enlighten those unhappy people, that they may turn from the error of their way."

"Yes, indeed," continued the lunatic, "we must. And all the time you were preaching I wondered why your mother hadn't thrown you into the river when you were small."—London Express.

Don't neglect your cough.

Statistics show that in New York City alone over 200 people die every week from consumption.

And most of these consumptives might be living now if they had not neglected the warning cough.

You know how quickly Scott's Emulsion enables you to throw off a cough or cold.

WHEN BOSTON SHOOK.

An Earthquake That Rocked the City November, 1755.

On November 18, 1755, "a little after 4 on a serene and pleasant night," Boston was roused by an earthquake which lasted nearly five minutes. A writer of the times gives an account of the catastrophe, and Rev. Henry White quotes it in his "Early History of New England:"

One hundred chimneys were leveled to the roofs of the houses and fifteen hundred were shattered in part. The streets were covered with bricks which had fallen. The ends of brick houses were thrown down.

It was first introduced with a noise like several coaches rattling over pavements, or rather like many cart loads of paving stones thrown down. The first motion was a strong pulsation, which threw my house upward. Immediately after a tremor succeeded; then instantly a quick vibration with sudden jerks followed.

The first view I had was of the steeples of the churches, and I was glad to see them standing, but the spindle and vane of Faneuil Hall market were thrown down.

Many persons ran into the streets, shrieking with apprehension of its being the last day or the judgment, and some thought they heard the last trumpet sounding and cried for mercy. The beast creatures lowed, the birds fluttered in surprise, and all the animal creation was filled with terror. Every face looked ghastly, and many knees smote together. Never was such a scene of disaster in New England before.

DON'T BORROW MEDICINE.

Physician Points Out the Grave Danger of Such a Course.

"And whatever you do," said a doctor to a poor patient, "don't take any borrowed medicine."

"Wasn't that an unnecessary caution?" asked a woman who happened to be present.

"Not in this neighborhood," said the doctor. "It is a common thing for people down here to lend medicine. They do it, of course, to help each other along. So far as I know, no one has paid the penalty of this neighborly kindness with his life, but it is the greatest wonder in the world that one-half the people in the neighborhood hasn't poisoned the other half.

"The first thing a sick person does is to describe his symptoms to his friends. He is pretty sure to find somebody in the crowd who has been afflicted with apparently the same ailment. Usually the former patient has some of the medicine left and straightway it is proffered as a possible cure.

"'You might just as well have it,' says the kindly neighbor. 'It will be pretty sure to help you and will save doctor's bills.'

"Of course it doesn't do anything of the kind. Nine times out of ten the stuff taken was prescribed for an entirely different ailment and makes the patient worse than he was in the beginning, but until the altruistic spirit results in some serious accident the practice is likely to continue."—New York Press.

The Chatty English.

Every Englishman likes to be alone and have things to himself. If he cannot choose his company, he would rather have none. Englishmen are proud of the national idiosyncrasy, yet here comes one who, knowing all this, pays it no deference, but sets the national tradition at defiance and forces his intrusive presence on you. Why does this denationalized Englishman, when he may be as solitary as you wish to be yourself, not act as every true Englishman ought and go into the next carriage or take a seat at the other side of the room as far away as he can get from you? By all acknowledged laws of English intercourse he ought as much to dislike being near you as you dislike to be near him.—London Saturday Review.

MADE ONE BLUNDER.

But to Square It an Offer of Generous Restitution Was Made.

In one of the northwestern states they like nothing better than to tell how a few years ago there came to that section of the Union a Boston newspaper man whose mission it was to "write up" lynching in that quarter, although it appeared that there had not been an illegal execution in the state for a long time. The natives took the questions of the eastern scribe in good part and even "jollied" him into believing that for downright lawlessness the community wherein he was for the moment sojourning was about the most conspicuous portion of the United States.

"Don't you ever make a mistake in these lynchings?" gulelessly asked the Bostonian—"that is, don't you ever lynch the wrong man?"

"That happened once," put in some one, "but we tried to do the square thing by the widow."

"Indeed!"

"Yes; we appointed a committee to inform the widow that the joke was on us, and we gave her the choice of the crowd for her second husband."—Lippincott's Magazine.

A Good Thing.

"He seems to be making quite a lot of money now. Is his system of physical culture a good thing?"

"Well—er every one who pays for it is."—Exchange.

Sickness is every man's master.—Danish Proverb.

BLIND MAN'S BUFF.

Origin of This Favorite Sport of Childhood and Youth.

This favorite sport of childhood and youth is of French origin and very high antiquity, having been introduced into England in the train of the Norman conquerors. Its French name, "Colin Maillard," was that of a brave warrior, the memory of whose exploits still lives in the chronicles of the middle ages.

In the year 900 Liege reckoned among its valiant chiefs one Jean Colin. He acquired the name of Maillard from his chosen weapon being a mallet, wherewith in fight he used to crush his opponents. In one of the feuds which were of perpetual recurrence in those times he encountered the Count de Lourain in a pitched battle, and, so runs the story, in the first onset Colin Maillard lost both his eyes. He ordered his esquire to take him into the thickest of the fight, and, furiously brandishing his mallet, did such fearful execution that victory soon declared itself for him.

When Robert of France heard of these feats at arms he lavished favor and honors upon Colin, and so great was the fame of the exploit that it was commemorated in the pantomimic representations that formed part of the rude dramatic performances of the age. By degrees the children learned to act it for themselves, and it took the form of a familiar sport.

The blindfolded pursuer as, with bandaged eyes and extended hands, he gropes for a victim to pounce upon seems in some degree to repeat the action of Colin Maillard, the tradition of which is also traceable in the name, blind man's buff.

A REALISTIC ACT.

Amusing Story of Joseph Jefferson as Rip Van Winkle.

While he was playing Rip Van Winkle at Chicago Joseph Jefferson once went to the theater very much exhausted by a long day's fishing on the lake. As the curtain rose on the third act it disclosed the white haired Rip still deep in his twenty years' nap. Five, ten, twenty minutes passed, and he did not awaken. The audience began to get impatient and the prompter uneasy.

The great actor doubtless knew what he was about, but this was carrying the realistic business too far. The fact was that all this time Jefferson was really sleeping the sleep of the just, or, rather, of the fisherman who had sat eight hours in the sun. Finally the gallery became uproarious, and one of the "gods" wanted to know if there was going to be "nineteen years more of this snooze business?"

At this point Jefferson began to snore. This decided the prompter, who opened a small trap beneath the stage and began to prod Rip from below. The fagged comedian fumbled in his pocket for an imaginary railway ticket and, muttered drowsily, "Going right through, 'ductor."

At this entirely new reading the audience was transfixed with amazement, when all at once Jefferson sat up with a loud shriek, evidently in agony. The exasperated prompter had jabbed him with a pin. Consciousness of the situation came to him, and the play went on after that with a rush.

Getting an Opening.

A man had a story about a gun which he delivered himself of upon all occasions. At a dinner party one evening he writhed in his chair for over an hour, waiting for a chance to introduce his story, but no opportunity presented itself. Finally he slipped a coin into the hand of a waiter and whispered:

"When you leave the room again, slam the door."

The waiter slammed the door as directed, and the man sprang to his feet with the exclamation:

"What's that noise—a gun?"

"Oh, no!" resumed his host. "It was only the door."

"Ah, I see! Well, speaking of guns reminds me of a little story," etc.—Liverpool Mercury.

One Way to Judge.

"Do you know," said the head waiter at a fashionable restaurant, "that an experienced waiter can usually tell whether a diner is wealthy or not by the way he handles his meal check? If a man carelessly pitches out his money for the waiter to pay the bill without looking over his check we know the chances are that he isn't wealthy. He is indulging in a luxury and fears he might be ridiculed if he examined the check. On the other hand, the man who has plenty of money examines his check closely, as a rule. If he finds an item which he thinks is wrong he tells the waiter about it. It was probably just such care as that that made him rich. Is he laughed at? Well, I guess not. In fact, the waiters admire him for his carefulness, and the result is they are doubly particular about how he is charged."—New York Press.

THE FEATHER BED.

It Is a Poor Thing to Use Either in Summer or Winter.

"Few people, even physicians themselves, seem to know the principal reason why medical science condemns the use of feather beds in winter as well as in summer," said a New York physician recently.

"It is because feather beds are highly hygroscopic—a rather formidable word, but one meaning simply that feathers readily absorb and condense moisture. The body is constantly throwing off waste matter through the skin and the lungs. The feathers in the bed will absorb this waste matter as readily as it will simple atmospheric moisture. The feathers retain the waste matter during the day, when the bed is cold, even when it is aired, unless also warmed by sunshine during the time it is exposed to the air.

"At night, when the body of the sleeper warms the bed, the feathers renew their hygroscopic action and throw off the waste matter absorbed the night before. The susceptible body of the sleeper is soon surrounded by a dense and highly poisonous atmosphere, the accumulative effect of which cannot help but be very injurious.

"The skin, like the lungs, is continually breathing and is very sensitive to external influences; hence arises the need for air baths as well as for water baths. The entire body should be exposed to fresh air every day for as long a time as you can make possible, and all beds should be thoroughly ventilated."—New York Times.

Just a Spill.

"Beg pardon, sir," said the awkward waiter, "but was that last meal on you?"

"Not all of it, garcon," replied the guest as he meekly rubbed his much spattered trousers; "only the soup."—Pittsburg Press.

Lots of It.

"Initiative is the great thing that we all need and that most of us lack."

"Well, my husband has lots of it," replied Mrs. Gottawadde. "He's initiated in something nearly every night."—Chicago Record-Herald.

He Was Not Discharged.

This incident happened several years ago: One of the big national banks in New York was clearing for a certain other bank that was in trouble, and every day the president of the clearing house bank would certify a couple of million dollars' worth of checks for the other. Finally the paying teller called his attention to the fact that he was taking a mighty long chance, but the president paid no attention to the hint. Then the teller informed the clearing house of the situation, and the president was called to book.

"Did my paying teller tell you that?" demanded the president.

"He did," replied the chairman of the clearing house committee.

"I shall discharge him at once," declared the president, bristling up with indignation.

"You do and we'll close your bank tomorrow," calmly replied the chairman.

Needless to say, the teller was not discharged.—New York Globe.

Badly mixed up.

Abraham Brown of Winterton, N. Y., had a remarkable experience, he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me, one said heart disease, two called it kidney trouble, the fourth blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble but none of them helped me, so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the 8 doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, all stomach, kidney and liver complaints at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store. 50c.

Mrs. Fanny H. Coddington.

Fannie Halsey Teeter was born at Trumansburg, Seneca county, N. Y., Jan 12, 1840. After reaching maturity she taught school for several years and Oct. 17, 1877, married the late Ansel P. Coddington of the same county. Mr. Coddington had recently lost his wife and had a family of five young children, the youngest being little more than a babe. Immediately following their marriage they came to Michigan and settled one and a quarter miles northwest of Tecumseh, where they resided till his death in 1900.

In 1903 she was attacked with a very painful disease which finally required a dangerous operation for its removal, thereby her life was undoubtedly prolonged some four years; years of usefulness, for in those years she eased to the grave one of her sisters and the wife of a very much loved nephew, Rev. Frank S. Lyon of Toledo, a ministry that there seemed no one else to perform. About two months ago it was discovered that her mind was failing and soon thereafter the body also began to decline. She was given a home temporarily with Mrs Ella L. Sheldon in this village and later taken by her niece, Mrs. T. P. Earle, to the latter's home in Cincinnati, O. where doctors specially skilled in diseases of the nervous system tried in vain to relieve her. The end came peacefully and quietly one month from the time that she was taken to the city, when on Dec. 12th she passed from earth to the abode of the just.

The following day her remains were brought back to Tecumseh by Mr. and Mrs. Earle and her sister, Mrs. N. Gowdy, and the next day funeral services were conducted in the Baptist church by the Rev. F. W. Kamm and from that church which she had loved long and faithfully she was borne to Brookside and laid by the side of her husband to await the resurrection day.

For years Mr. and Mrs. Coddington kept "Open house" to all their relatives and friends and as well to all who were engaged in any church or philanthropic enterprise. The G. A. R, the temperance cause and any church work, denominational, interdenominational or undenominational found in them quick and hearty supporters.

In her girlhood Mrs. Coddington gave her heart to the Saviour and joined the Baptist church and in that church she faithfully served her God till the time of her death. In every branch of church work she was promptly on hand and she gave to her efforts such earnestness and ability that her administrations were of conspicuous success. In that church she is greatly missed. Truly, "She has done what she could."

As a step-mother Mrs. Coddington found her heart and hands both full but she gave to those motherless children her best efforts and won the approbation of her husband, the community, and the love of the children. To those of us who knew that home some 15 years ago when it was the scene of so many happy gatherings, the fact that the father and mother are dead and the children widely scattered, brings a feeling of profound sorrow. Such is life Peace to the dead; and to the living realization of all that happy home inspired in the by gone years.

Mrs. Coddington was of a family of ten children, all are now dead save Mrs. Hattie Gowdy of Cincinnati, O, and J. E Teeter of Manchester, Mich., both of whom were able to attend her funeral. Two of Mr Coddington's children were also present, A. J. Coddington of Barberton, O, and Mrs. Cora Remington of Clinton.

How She Rests.

In Germantown there dwells a family of ancient lineage which for years every summer has employed a colored woman named Liza as a cook while the family was at the shore. Sons and daughters have married and migrated, reared children and added to the branches of an already luxuriant family tree. On one occasion a number of these signified a desire to assemble again under the old roof. The old lady who now is the head of the family, seeing that special help was necessary, sent for Liza to come and help cook the dinner. Liza's answer was brief and dignified. "De winter am my vacation," she said, "an' den I doan' cook for nobody. In de winter I rests, an' all I does is washin' an' ironin'."—Philadelphia Record.

A Curt Reply.

A story is told of Professor Masson when editor of Macmillan's Magazine. It refers to the days when Kingsley and Newman were engaged in their famous pamphlet war. Conscious of the excellence of an article on the subject of the controversy which he had written in the magazine, Masson ventured to bring it under the notice of Newman, but he was not prepared for the reply he received, although he afterward spoke of it with philosophic humor. Newman's laconic message was in words such as these: "I have not heard of your magazine, and your name conveys no impression to my mind."—Westminster Gazette.

Heartfelt.

Lord Carrington when governor of New South Wales made his first public appearance at the mayor's dinner at Sydney. Having committed a few words to paper, he delivered them in reply to the toast of his health and then sat down, feeling very much satisfied with himself. Opposite to him there sat an M. P. who had suffered long from the abundant eloquence of the new governor's predecessor. When Lord Carrington sat down the man filled his glass to the brim and said, "Thank the Lord, he can't speak!"

ROUND ABOUT US.

Because his funds got low as a result of the financial stringency and he was unable to obtain sufficient currency, E. B. Lee today closed his two private banks at Jasper and Weston. In order to protect his depositors impartially he turned over to the receiver all of his property, including his home and his life insurance. He says that his total liabilities, including the deposits in both banks, is not to exceed $55,000 and his assets are upwards of $82,000.—Manchester Enterprise.

An exchange says: "Wanted—a friend one who will recognize me when I am compelled to wear patched pants; who will take my hand as I am sliding down hill, instead of giving me a kick to hasten my descent; who will lend me a dollar without two dollars security; who will pull off his coat and fight when odds are two to one; who will talk of me behind my back as he talks to my face. Such a friend is wanted by ten thousand human beings through the whole world."—Ask for the earth and you will get it as quick.

This joke is being told on an Indiana school teacher, who after having examined a boy's eyes, wrote his parents the following note. "Willie shows signs of astigmatism which ought to be attended to at once." and the next morning got a note from the boy's father: "I don't quite understand what it is Willie has been up to now but I have walloped him tonight and you can do it again tomorrow morning."—Ex.

A Letter.

ElDorado, Kan., Dec. 15, 1907.

DEAR HERALD:—Enclosed find post office order for $1.25 for a renewal of my subscription to your valuable paper. It is anxiously looked for every Thursday and Sunday for it is a most welcome letter from my old home and friends there.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. LENA C. MORRIS.

The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of the Misses McNair Friday at 2:30 o'clock. Topic, The Freedmen.

Sun, Moon and Tides.

The sun and moon conjointly affect the oceans in obedience to the fact in nature known as the law of the attraction of gravity. It is the nature of things that the sun and moon shall pull at the earth's waters, and no further explanation can be given. When the sun and moon are pulling in line the tides are highest and when pulling against each other the lowest. The moon is so much nearer the earth than the sun that it does most of the pulling, notwithstanding its greatly inferior dimensions.

GREAT DEMAND

For Hyomei, the catarrh cure that C. A. Wright & Son sell under guarantee.

The record for sales of any medicine by C. A. Wright & Son has been broken by the recent demand in Hyomei. This is not alone due to the pecular weather conditions that have increased catarrhal troubles, but also to the way in which C. A. Wright & Son sell Hyomei.

With every dollar outfit, C. A. Wright & Son give their personal guarantee to refund the money if Hyomei does not give absolute satisfaction and do all that is claimed for it. Some people may say "If only I knew it to be true, I would not hesitate a moment." This is the average individual's thought when reading some striking offer like this. You can, however, easily prove it by asking C. A. Wright & Son about the guarantee they give.

The reason that they can sell Hyomei in this unusual way is due to its wonderful curative powers. There is no stomach drugging with Hyomei. It is a medicated air treatment that kills all catarrhal germs, prevents their growth, soothes and heals any irritation in the mucous membrane, vitalizes the tissues and makes catarrhal troubles impossible. It has cured many right in this town and you should try it now and get relief and cure from catarrh.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first [illegible] should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Mrs. Geo Teachout living on Oneida street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I take great pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. Last fall I began to have kidney trouble, pains in the small of my back, extending to my shoulder blades At times when bending over sharp pains would catch me and I could not straighten At night I could not rest well on account of the frequent action of the kidneys. I consulted a physician but received little benefit. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and soon noticed the good effects and I continued using them until cured. I recommend the Pills to any one afflicted with kidney trouble."

Ice and Glass.

Ice has the property—peculiar to bodies which expand on freezing—of liquefying under pressure and solidifying again when the pressure has been removed. Consequently the weight of any body moving upon a sheet of ice causes the formation of a thin layer of water which separates it from the ice and thus, by reducing the friction to a minimum, enables it to move smoothly over the surface—i. e., makes the ice more "slippery." On glass, on the contrary, this liquid medium is wanting, so that the two solid and unyielding bodies come into actual physical contact, causing a friction which, in spite of the smoothness of the glass, considerably retards the motion of the body. If two smooth sheets of glass be taken and a few drops of water sprinkled over the one and the other placed above it, a thin layer of water will be formed, and until this layer has been pressed out the upper glass will move on the other as smoothly as if on ice. This peculiar property of ice is due to the effect of pressure in lowering the freezing point of water, so that whenever ice is subjected to great pressure it partially melts.

She Believed In Presents.

An old woman in Orkney was noted for selling whisky on the sly. Her house was a few miles from the town, and the excise officers had often tried, but in vain, to get her convicted. A young officer was appointed to the place, who said, on being told about her, that he would soon secure her conviction. Early one morning he left home and arrived at the old woman's house at 7 o'clock. Walking in, he saw no one. Noticing a bell on the table, he rang it. The old woman appeared, and he asked for a glass of milk. After a little he rang again, and the old woman appeared. He asked if she had any whisky. "Aye, sir," she said, "we aye have some in the bottle," setting it down before him. Then, thanking her, he laid down a sovereign, which she took and walked out. After helping himself he rang and asked for the change. "Change, sir?" said the old woman. "There's nae change. We hae nae license. Fat we gie we gie in presents; fat we tak we tak in presents, so good day, sir." The excise man left the house a sadder but wiser personage.—Strand Magazine.

Professorial Standing.

A professor of English literature in one of our universities once brought to me to publish in this magazine a learned piece of writing. It seemed to me a pretty dull thing and not important, according to my judgment, to anybody and not possibly interesting to more than a mere handful of special students. I told him this as politely as I could. He soon came to me again and smilingly took me into his confidence. "I hardly expected," he said, "that you would publish that 'study' that I offered you—in fact, I care little about it myself. I wrote it because my professional standing demands that I shall produce something at certain intervals, but now I have a piece of writing that I do take great pride in, and I want you to publish it without betraying the authorship to any living being. It would hurt my professional standing if it became known that I wrote this." It was a novel!—Walter H. Page in Atlantic.

Hard to Please.

"George, dear," said the newly made wife, "if you became a Mormon or a sultan and were allowed six wives, whom would you choose for the other five?"

George was diplomatic.

"I'd select," he replied, "five duplicates of your own pretty self."

"Oh, you nasty thing!" she sobbed. "When we were engaged you often said there wasn't another girl in the world like me!"

"But, my dear Gertrude," he replied, "it was you who suggested the problem, and, anyhow, I should never become a Mormon or a sultan."

"Oh, you wretch!" she shrieked. "You mean that if you found any others like me you wouldn't marry them! I'll pack my trunk now and go home to mother!"

It was the first tiff.—London Answers.

The Sequel.

"Funny thing about Dubley. He said he needed a little whisky because he was run down."

"Well, wasn't he run down?"

"I don't know about that, but I do know he was run in."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Suited His Temper.

"You seem to find that book very interesting," said Mrs. Henpeck.

"Yes," replied Henry; "it's delightful. I've glanced at the ending, and the hero and heroine don't get married after all."—Washington Herald.

Sensitive.

"Willie is so sensitive."

"Really?"

"Exceedingly so. When papa kicked him down the steps the last time he didn't call again for three weeks."—

"I have for several years suffered at times with heart trouble, I got so bad I could not sleep half the night, and had to sit up on the side of the bed lots of times to get breath. Three of my brothers have died of heart trouble, and I thought I was going the same way, but about two and a half years ago I got a pamphlet about Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and thought it would try a few bottles. After using them I recovered, and have had better health since then than before for several years. I can heartily recommend them for heart trouble."—REV. Too Much Sound.

In Dean Ramsay's book of anecdotes there is one which refers to a conversation between a Scotch minister and a sexton. The minister was a stranger to the gravemaker and discussed with him the doctrines of the neighboring clergy. As one after another was mentioned the sexton wagged his head gloomily and said, "He's no sound."

At last the minister, who was, by the bye, a long winded and rather empty preacher, mentioned his own name and inquired, "Mr. —— now, isn't he sound?"

"Oo, aye," said the sexton, with a twinkle in his eye. "He's aw sound."

Breakfast Table Revenge.

Breakfast is an excellent meal to which to invite one's enemies. There would be a certain wild joy in dragging one's best hated friends out of their comfortable beds at unearthly hours of the morning and then providing them with a "good, honest, wholesome, hungry breakfast" which they probably could not eat.—London Gentlewoman.

Legal emergency holidays, declared by Governor Gillette of California to aid banks during the financial stringency, have just ended. Homer S. King, president of the San Francisco clearing house, says of the situation: "The need of the holiday is past. Gold is plentiful on demand."

Grieving over a lack of money to pay her passage and rejoin her sweetheart in the old country, Gizella Schwartz, a pretty Jewess, eighteen years old, committed suicide by swallowing phenol, at a McKeesport, Pa., residence, where she was employed as a domestic.

Mrs. Cyrus Johnson, twenty-two years old, member of a theatrical campany, is dead at a hotel in Webster City, Ia., of an overdose of liquid extract of cotton root bark. A coroner's jury found that the fatal draught was swallowed accidentally. Mrs. Johnson's stage name was Miss Ruth Parsons. She was playing Sybil in "Faust."

Shakespeare and His Plays.

The Shakespeare-Bacon controversy is right where it began many years ago. The man from Stratford is still in possession, though there are many learned men who seriously question his rights. It has not been proved that Bacon wrote the plays or that Shakespeare did not write them. One thing the controversy has done, however—it has immeasurably heightened the mystery of the fact, if it is a fact, that the plays were written by the historical Shakespeare. Between the Shakespeare we know in history and the man who wrote "Lear," "Hamlet" and "Macbeth" there would seem to be an unbridged distance.—New York American.

The Way of New York.

In New York you buy your theater tickets from a speculator for two prices, and after the show you bribe a waiter to bring you food for which you pay the jolly innkeeper two and one-half prices, after which you may be hauled home by a rheumatic horse if you pay the driver once for hauling you home and once for not getting down from his perch and booting you out of the hansom.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

NEGROES SNATCH PURSES.

An Epidemic of Crime Prevails in Detroit—Police Puzzled.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 23.—An epidemic of purse-snatching by negroes prevails in this city. Five women were robbed in one evening, their assailants in every case escaping. The robberies are committed just at dark as women are returning from work or shopping.

Men are being arrested on suspicion almost hourly and several are held pending a further examination. The police are desperately active. Young women who earn their own living are selected, for the most part, as victims by the thugs and, while the amount taken has not been large in any one case, the losses are felt keenly.

A cap, dropped by one of the thieves in his flight, furnishes a clue which is regarded as valuable.

Riot at Escanaba Mines.

Escanaba, Mich., Dec. 23.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of twelve striking employes of the Escanaba Manufacturing company, who, armed with guns, drove the non-union firemen from the boiler room and let the water from the boilers. In a riot between strikers and non-union employes, three girls were beaten into unconsciousness.

Fisher Jury Disagreed.

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 23.—The jury in the grand larceny case against William Fisher disagreed after being out six hours and was discharged. Fisher will be retried at the January term. It is alleged that on the night of Sept. 16 Fisher entered the second hand store of Nathan Norris and secreted himself until after the proprietor locked up the place for the night, then gathered up 104 gold watches and other jewelry and made away with it. It is claimed he removed the lock from the inside of the door and handed the plunder out to a boy named Walter Lohen, who was caught by an officer with the goods on him. Lohen testified that Fisher did the stealing but the latter protests his innocence and sought acquittal on an alibi.

ROW IN THE NAVY.

Differences Arise Between Medical and Navigation Bureaus.

ADMIRAL BROWNSON RESIGNS

Probable Selection of Commander of Hospital Ship, Relief, Stirs Up the Trouble—Surgeon General. Rixey Says Medical Officers Should Command.

Washington, Dec. 26.—That a serious breach exists between the bureau of navigation and the bureau of medicine of the navy, involving the question of the responsibility of the latter bureau, is made apparent in a statement issued by Surgeon General Presley M. Rixey of the navy, in which he touches upon the circumstances leading up to the probable selection by the president of a medical officer to command the hospital ship Relief over the protest of Rear Admiral Willard H. Brownson, chief of the bureau of navigation, who has sent his resignation to the president. While disclaiming exact knowledge as to the cause of Admiral Brownson's resignation, the surgeon general's statement leaves little room for doubt that the controversy he reviews was a potent factor.

Formerly an Army Vessel.

Surgeon General Rixey maintains that hospital ships, as a rule, always have been commanded by medical officers, with a sailing master and civilian crew for purposes of navigation. This particular vessel, he says, formerly belonged to the army and was commanded by a medical officer when used as a hospital ship. In attempting to unify the medical service of the army and navy, he says that a joint army and navy board of medical officers, which was convened by executive orders more than a year ago, recommended that hospital ships should be commanded by medical officers and that the recommendation was approved by both the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy in general orders.

DR. PRESLEY M. RIXEY.

Since the civil war, he says, all hospital ships and medical transports of the army had been placed under the surgeon general of the army. He says further that Japanese naval hospital ships were commanded by medical officers after having tried line officers. These ships, he says, are simply floating hospitals, properly under the control of the medical department, and should be conducted the same in peace as in time of war. This is especially so, he adds, because during war time line officers cannot be spared and do not and should not desire the command of these ships.

Doubtful Question.

He maintains that it always has been a doubtful question if the Geneva and The Hague agreements could guarantee the neutrality of these ships if line officers and crews were aboard, and it was this doubt which prevented the Japanese, during the recent war with Russia, from using line officers on hospital ships.

"The internal administration of the bureau of medicine and surgery," he says, "has been, in my opinion, too much interfered with by the bureau of navigation. This interference has at times caused grave concern as to how I could meet the needs of those under our care."

The hospital ship Relief, he says, should now be with the battleship fleet on its cruise, but he adds:

"The bureau of navigation thought otherwise, and the fleet of 15,000 men, with its auxiliaries, is without a hospital ship and will be until it arrives at Magdalena bay, more than three months from now. He adds that he cannot understand how Admiral Brownson should be specially interested in the officering of hospital ships, as his duties lie in another direction, and that he should not interfere in a matter pertaining entirely to the bureau of medicine and surgery, and, therefore, to be decided by the secretary of the navy.

SAD XMAS FOR HIM.

Wife of Detroit Man Commits Suicide.

SHOT HERSELF WITH PISTOL.

Husband Returns From Stroll Only to Find His Life Companion Dead With Revolver In Hand—Cannot Account For Her Deed.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 26.—Willis Mahoney wished his wife a "Merry Christmas" on Christmas morning and left his apartments, 207 Cass avenue, to take a long walk. When he returned, about 1:30 p. m., Mrs. Mahoney lay on her bed, clad in a new gown—dead. Her right hand grasped her husband's 38 caliber revolver, the pillow was stained with blood from a bullet wound in her right ear.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney were to eat Christmas dinner with the former's brother, Frank Mahoney, in the evening.

The weapon in the dead woman's hand had been kept in a bureau for years. There was no explanatory note, but the fact that there was no indication of a struggle or anything missing makes the theory of suicide seem most plausible. Coroner Bennett has the case in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney had been married eleven years, and it is said that they were happy together. They had no children. Mr. Mahoney is the cashier of the Phoenix Accident Insurance company. "I can't imagine why she killed herself," he said. When I got up in the morning, she asked me whether I wanted my breakfast before I left or after I had finished my walk. I told her that I would wait until I got back. Then I called my dog and started. When I returned, about 1:30, the place was deathly still. I went from one room to the other and there, on the bed, I found her. She had on the dress that she had planned to wear to the dinner at my brother's.

"We were perfectly happy together, and when I left here she was in good spirits.

"The people living on the floor below say that she came down when the postman rang, about ten o'clock, and took the parcels he left.

"Last spring my wife was sick, and since then she has been troubled with pains in her head and her hearing has been poor. She must have been temporarily insane."

HAM AND EGGS.

Jackson Convicts Did Not Eat Turkey This Year.

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 26.—When Alonzo Vincent was warden of the state's prison, Christmas was one long gala day for the convicts. Under Warden Armstrong's administration things have changed somewhat. The prison shops were all closed and the men allowed the liberty of the corridors. They exchanged little gifts with one another, sang and chatted among themselves. When it became generally known that ham and eggs was to be the principal dish on the noon menu, to the tune of "Tammany," 80 convicts caroled:

Ham and eggs, ham and eggs;
Flip them, flop them, upside down;
Turn them 'till they're nice and brown.
Ham and eggs, ham and eggs;
Flip them, flop them, flip them, flop them.
Ham and eggs.

But the guards hushed this melody and the men filed into the dining room where a hearty meal, ending with fruits and nuts, was served.

Turkey was the order in the past. They spent the afternoon locked in their cells instead of attending an entertainment in the chapel as in days of yore. The present system allows the guards to quit duty at noon.

Body Fell From Window After Death.

Pinconning, Mich., Dec. 26.—Alexander McDonald, a saloon keeper, died of alcoholism while sitting in a chair on the second floor of his saloon building and fell through a window and into an alley in the rear of his saloon. The body was found there and it was at first believed that he had been murdered, but the coroner declared that death was due to heavy drinking.

Holland Cabinet Quits.

The Hague, Dec. 26.—The Dutch cabinet, comprising nine members, by whom the executive authority of the government is administered, has resigned. Dissolution of parliament probably will follow. The resignation of the cabinet is due to the defeat of the army estimates in the second chamber of parliament. The opposition contended that the efficiency of the Dutch army is not proportionate to its cost.

TO ENJOIN MINERS

Goldfield Mine Owners Have Filed a Petition.

SERIOUS CHARGES MADE.

Alleged Union is "Criminal Society" and in League With Industrial Workers of World—Roosevelt May Be Induced to Keep Troops There.

Goldfield, Nev., Dec. 26.—To carry the fight into the federal court will be the next move of the Goldfield Mine Owners association. Today a suit was filed in the circuit court of the district of Nevada, asking not only for an injunction against picketing and interfering with, but for the final dissolution of the Goldfield Miners' union.

The suit is filed by the Goldfield Consolidated Mine company against the Goldfield miners, the Western Federation of Miners, Charles A. MacKinnon, president of the local union, and nineteen other officers of the labor body. The complaint sets forth the alleged vast extent and richness of the mining interests involved and the large number of persons holding shares in the mines in various states and territories; alleges that the Goldfield Miners' union and the Western Federation of Miners are voluntarily unincorporated, and that it is part of another larger organization known as the Industrial Workers of the World, also unincorporated, which has the same principles and seeks to accomplish its results by the same alleged unlawful methods, and has in its ranks not only the miners of the Goldfield district, but other laborers, such as waiters, clerks, cooks, barbers and bar keepers. It is further alleged that the Western Federation of Miners is organized for the destruction of property and creating "endless strife, disorder, bloodshed and rioting."

Instituted Reign of Terror.

The Goldfield union is charged in the bill with "intimidation" and of being guilty of "wanton destruction of property, murder of innocent citizens, lawlessness and anarchy to such an extent that it has instituted a reign of terror in the Goldfield district."

It is further alleged that the Goldfield union is a "criminal society." The court is asked to cite the defendants before it to answer the allegations of the complaint, and to issue a writ of injunction restraining from obstructing the business of the Consolidated Mines company, by threat, intimidation or picketing. An injunction against boycott is further asked for.

The court is asked to enjoin the Goldfield union from holding any more meetings. Watchers or examiners are asked for full authority to enter upon the property of the complainant and to carry out the orders of the court and to arrest any person violating them. Finally it is petitioned that the injunction be made permanent and that the Goldfield Miners' union be abated and forever dissolved as a nuisance, and perpetually enjoined from any further meetings or action of whatever kind or nature. The complaint is signed by George Wingfield, vice president of the Consolidated Mines company.

One effect of the filing of this, it is said, may be to induce President Roosevelt to order a portion of the troops now in Goldfield to remain on the ground to assist in the enforcement of the mandates of the federal court, of necessary.

Paper Brought Cheer to Mexicans.

Mexico City, Dec. 26.—For the first time in the history of this capital, Christmas day was marked by a great dinner to the poor. The day was an ideal one. At dawn, 10,000 of the city's poor were at the entrance of the Tivoli Elisee, where the feast was to be given four hours later. When the gates were thrown open, the hundreds of tables were filled in less than ten minutes' time. Two military bands and three orchestras were distributed about the immense garden and played while the poor ate. Governo Landa y Escandol presided. A giant Christmas tree, upon which 10,000 toys were hung, was one of the features of the occasion. Each child at the dinner was given a toy. The dinner was inaugurated by the Mexican Daily Record, an American newspaper.

DENOUNCES MODERNISM.

Bishop Foley Calls Attention to the Pope's Encyclical in Christmas Sermon.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 26.—In his sermon at the solemn high mass at SS. Peter and Paul cathedral, Christmas morning, Bishop Foley took occasion to speak of the lately issued encyclical of Pope Pius X., in which his holiness denounced the teaching of the modernist school of religion as "the higher critic."

Bishop Foley took for his theme the "Incarnation," and dwelt with special emphasis on the fact of the entering of the divine into the human through the instrumentality and person of the Christ. The encyclical referred to was issued from Rome Sept. 8, 1907, and contained a severe arraignment of those who would eliminate the divinity of Christ from the religion of today.

"In the scheme of salvation, Jesus Christ, the son of God, is the first beginning and the last ending," said the bishop. "Without him we can do nothing. And, yet, there are those who attempt by their theories to offset the teachings of those divine records which have been handed down during the centuries, and which contain the sacred teachings of Jesus Christ. His holiness at Rome recently found occasion to condemn in an encyclical the growing tendency of modern thinkers to explain away the the teachings and actions of the son of God by reference to some so-called national theories. I wish to take public occasion to emphasize the words of his holiness, Pope Pius X., on this Christmas day, surely a most befitting time.

"There is too great a tendency today to regard the holy scriptures as some antiquated pamphlet on a par with the discoveries of history or the rites and ceremonies of an ancient people. These modernists would, were it possible, eliminate Christ from religion. They would make of him a mere man, on a par with other great men of history. Nothing too strong can be said in condemnation of such a theory. Any theory which would relegate the sacred person of the son of God to a subsidiary position in a system of religion is, at the bottom, false.

"Jesus Christ, the incarnated son of God, is the alpha and omega of the Christian religion. Without him no revelation or salvation is possible. No theory or complicated system of theology can do away with that fundamental truth."

Bishop Foley went on to speak at length of the mystery of the incarnation, showing how the two natures, the human and the divine, had been made one by the person of Jesus Christ.

"That was a union which was made not for a time, but to endure for all eternity," declared the prelate. "A union best expressed in the words of St. Paul: 'Jesus Christ yesterday, today and forever.' No so-called 'rational' theory can alter that fact."

Many Boats Launched During 1907.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 26.—Forty-four new lake vessels were launched by the shipbuilders during the season just closed. The new boats were all bulk freighters except three, two of which were package freighters and the other the sidewheel passenger steamer City of Cleveland, which was destroyed by fire last May, one month before it was supposed to make its first trip. The average tonnage of the new bulk freighters is 9,000 tons. The American Shipbuilding company leads the list in the number of new boats constructed, that concern having launched thirty-three of the forty-four vessels. The Great Lakes Engineering company turned out ten new boats, and the Toledo Shipbuilding company launched three of the boats.

ALL HOPE GIVEN UP.

Now Believed Everyone In Ill Fated Mine Is Dead.

Jacobs Creek, Pa., Dec. 26.—Little progress was made Christmas in the search for bodies of victims of last Thursday's explosion at Darr mine. The last faint hope of finding anyone alive in the mine having passed, the desire of the men to spend the holiday with their families tended to deplete the rescuing forces.

Twenty bodies were brought out during the day and remain unidentified. No attempt was made to bring out a large number of bodies found in entry number 27 among great heaps of debris, but the men worked beyond in entries 28 and 29. A few more hours of work, it is believed, will result in the uncovering of all in these three workings and the finding of a majority of bodies still missing. A total of seventy-six bodies has been brought out.

Here's good advice.

Deafness cannot be cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies Deafness is caused by the inflamed condition of the lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflammed your hearing is imperfect and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation is relieved and this tube made healthy, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but inflammation of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness, caused by catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure.

Postmaster Warns Public.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 26.—The following notice, issued from the postoffice department, is self-explanatory: Postmaster Homer Warren desires to caution the public in general and merchants in particular against cashing money orders Nos. 18816 to 19000 (both numbers inclusive) of station No. 129, Chicago, Ill., postoffice, said orders having been stolen, together with the rubber money order impression stamp. The arrest of any person presenting such orders for payment should be attempted.

Tragedy at Christmas Dinner.

Hyde Park, Mass., Dec. 26.—Dr. Walter R. Amesbury of Milford shot and instantly killed his wife, Anna, a teacher of music in Roanoke college, Danielsville, Va., as the family were about to sit down to their Christmas dinner at the home of Mrs. Jennie Rees, Mrs. Amesbury's mother, at 220 Metropolitan avenue, here. Dr. Amesbury was immediately arrested.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

The wigmakers of New York have organized the Human Hairworkers' union and threaten a strike. It is said that as soon as the organization is complete a demand will be made for shorter hours and more pay.

Christmas in New England was a green one. The ground, except in northern Maine and New Hampshire woods, was clear of snow, while the day itself was like one left over from the Indian summer or brought on from next spring.

Lawrence Delmour, who, until he retired from politics several years ago, was one of the most prominent members of Tammany Hall, is dead in New York. Delmour was sixty-nine years of age. His natural reticence earned him the sobriquet of "Whispering Larry."

It is estimated that during the Christmas rush there have been 3,840,000 parcels shipped out of New York by mail and express. The value of the packages sent by express is placed at $7,400,000. The number of packages sent out of the city is about 8 per cent greater than last year, while the value is 15 per cent less.

Harry Thaw has made Christmas present to everyone in the Tombs in New York, which has been his home since the night in June, 1906, when he shot Stanford White on the roof of Madison Square Garden. To each keeper he gave a box of cigars and to each matron a half dozen handkerchiefs. To each male prisoner he gave a box of candy and two cigars, and to each woman prisoner a handkerchief.

Flour shipments from Minneapolis for 1907 will fall short of the total during 1906 by nearly 1,000,000 barrels. This decrease apparently has not been entirely due to the financial flurry, as the figures for each month show that only in three months for the entire year have the shipments for 1907 exceeded those for the same months in 1906. The number of barrels of flour shipped so far this year is 13,825,375.

Thaw's Lawyer Ill.

New York, Dec. 26.—Daniel O'Reilly, personal counsel to Harry K. Thaw, is at a private sanitarium suffering from pneumonia.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Five hundred Christmas baskets, each one containing a good meal for five persons, were given away by the Salvation Army in Detroit to the poor.

William W. Hartson, aged seventy three, a pioneer of St. Clair county formerly a member of the legislature and for six years register of deeds, is dead.

Despondent for some unknown cause, Miss Anna Haack, aged twenty-one, of Saginaw took her life by drinking carbolic acid. Her family believes she was temporarily insane.

The fur store of James M. Farrell 221 Woodward avenue, Detroit, was entered by burglars at night and furs sets, valued at over $200, were stolen. A number of furs were found strewn about in the alley, the thieves evidently dropping them in their hurry to get away.

Alvah Barnhouse of Olivet, a junior student in the Olivet high school, is dead, having been killed by a falling tree. Barnhouse and Harry Thayer, a chum, were spending the Christmas vacation in cutting wood for a farmer. Barnhouse stumbled in the snow as a tree fell, and it crushed his chest

RAPID IMPROVEMENT.

Comptroller Ridgely Looks For It In Finances After First of Year.

New York, Dec. 26.—"I think," said William Barrett Ridgely, comptroller of the currency, "that the business and financial situation is improving and that after the first of the year this improvement will proceed even more rapidly. The returns from the last national bank call have come to hand so well that we know with considerable accuracy the situation as it is with the national banks.

"On the whole, it is satisfactory. We hope to issue from Washington soon a rather more complete tabulation of conditions with the banks than is usually put out. It will be found that the banks in a great many cities have done their duty by the public with surprising faithfulness. This is particularly true of New York city. The same may be said of other eastern cities and some of the west. St. Louis presented an instance of this same spirit, and there are a number of other cases."

The Assault.

"It is claimed by complainant that you assaulted him," said the judge.

"He lies, your honor. I never touched him. Croucher and Willoughby picked him up and carried him to the pump. All I did was to work the pump handle."—London Express.

Three Wars.

An old Georgia negro having told a judge that he had "been in three wars" was asked to name them, when he replied, "I wuz a cook in de Confedrit war, an' atter freedom broke out I wuz married two times!"

An Easier Way.

'Arry (on 'is 'olidays)—Fancy livin' 'ere all yer life! Ain't yer ever been to London and seen the sights? Old Salt—No, sir, but some of the sights comes hup and sees us.—London Tatler.

Don't neglect your cough.

Statistics show that in New York City alone over 200 people die every week from consumption.

And most of these consumptives might be living now if they had not neglected the warning cough.

TREE FROM A HANDSPIKE.

Memorial of a Woodsman's Enlistment For the Mexican War.

"There is a river birch tree on the banks of the Pond Fork branch of the Little Coal river in Boone county, W. Va.," said M. C. Eldred of Madison, W. Va., "and it would go hard with any man who put an ax to it. That tree has a story.

"When the Mexican war began in 1846 a recruiting officer visited a lumber camp in the vicinity of Madison, seeking enlistments from the sturdy woodsmen who were at work there. Among them was a giant lumberman named Jim Martin.

"He was using a handspike made from a river birch sapling recently cut and still green. Eager to go to the front, he thrust his handspike deep into the soft soil of the river bank and went away with the recruiting officer.

"The handspike Jim Martin used was too big and heavy for any of his fellows to handle, and it was left sticking where he had jabbed it into the ground. The next spring it was noticed that it was putting forth green shoots, showing that it had rooted in the ground.

"It was left undisturbed, and it grew to be a great tree, and it stands today on the spot where the patriotic Jim Martin thrust it into the earth as a battered handspike. Jim Martin was killed in battle, and his bones lie somewhere on Mexican ground, but he has his monument in this still sound and vigorous tree, which is a revered landmark in all that country."—Washington Post.

Court House Caught Fire.

Charlevoix, Mich., Dec. 26.—A defective flue caused a bad blaze in the court house here, the flames eating their way between walls, and when discovered the entire building was honeycombed by fire. Not a single record was lost. No loss on building and contents will approximate $15,000. The contents was covered by insurance, the county having $5,400. The prisoners were removed from the jail and locked up at Bellaire.

When Bride and Groom Were Thin.

In the year 1705 Dr. Douglas was made master of Corpus Christi college and then married Miss Mainwaring, a daughter of the Lady Margaret professor of theology. As both were very thin, Mansel wrote as follows:

St. Paul has declared that persons, though twain,
In marriage united one flesh shall remain,
But had he been by when, like Pharaoh's kine, pairing,
Dr. Douglas of Benet espoused Miss Mainwaring,
The apostle no doubt would have altered his tone
And cried, "These two splinters shall make but one bone!"

—Pall Mall Gazette.

Why He Was Mad.

"Can we send you up a tun of wine?" inquired the clerk.

"Naw," replied Mr. Nuritch.

"How about a few baskets of champagne?"

"Look here, young man, are you trying to kid me? Don't you s'pose I know that wine is sold in bottles? I know that you don't order it like you would coal."—Pittsburg Post.

Badly mixed up.

Abraham Brown of Winterton, N. Y., had a remarkable experience, he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me, one said heart disease, two called it kidney trouble, the fourth blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble but none of them helped me, so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the 5 doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, all stomach, kidney and liver complaints at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store 50c.

A RARE BARGAIN.

Ideal Newspaper Fiction.

Stories of newspaper scoops on matters of current news are many but it is seldom that a newspaper can claim a beat upon a popular novel Such a triumph was recorded recently by the Chicago Record-Herald when it printed serially "The Wings of the Morning" by Louis Tracy. The judgement of the paper has since been verified by the unprecedented sale she book has had both in the United States and England The Record-Herald's keen judgement in fiction enables its readers to get the best novels often before they reach the book stands while its policy of giving just the right amount daily and Sunday makes it a pleasure to follow its serials.

A radical departure in Sunday journalism was marked by the advent of the Sunday magazine of the Record-Herald. It is particularly strong in fiction, both serials and short stories and it has all the other attractive features of the famous illustrated weeklies and monthlies and challenges comparison with them.

It is easier to learn some things than it is to unlearn them.

It's jealousy in women that makes them say mean things behind your back but in men it is pure meanness.

AMUSEMENTS.

J. C. Rockwell's world famous New Sunny South company, composed of colored comedians, singers and clever entertainers will appear in the New Bradley opera house Thursday night, Jan. 2. A whirlwind of fun with laughable situations following each other with a rapidity not tiring to the risibilities, combined with specialties distributed throughout the performance In comedy conferences this one goes the limit and from what one sees nowadays it is possible to get more amusement and laughter out of the 'Sunny South" than from a cycle of ordinary every day artistic comedies. Much of the fun depends on the fun makers and a merrier bunch of them could not be picked up from any theatrical agency in America.

The big "Koon" town parade, headed by the solo concert band which accompanies the organization, takes place at noon.

Reunion of 31st Michigan Volunteer Infantry.

A unique reunion is being planned to take place in Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1909. It will be the first of its kind in the history of the country and promises to be a rousing success. It is a reunion of the 31st Michigan Volunteer Infantry and the 1st Georgia Volunteer Infantry on the very ground where they met in 1863. These regiments were known as the "Twin Regiments" during the Spanish-American war and were encamped at Chichamauga Park, Ga., where a lasting friendship sprang up between the two regiments.

An invitation to participate in this reunion has been sent to the officers of the 1st Ga. It is proposed that the reunion be so arranged that the first day can be spent at Chickamauga Park by those who wish to visit the park. The next day at 9 a. m. a trolley ride to Missionary Ridge and at 2 p. m. a trip to Lookout Mountain. A banquet will be served in the evening. If it can be so arranged on the return trip the two regiments will stop over for a day in Knoxville, Tenn. The matter will be taken up at the next reunion of the 31st Michigan at Tecumseh, Mich., May 17, 1908.

A Real Wonderland.

South Dakota with its rich silver mines, bonanza farms, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mound City in the home of Mrs. E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes" writes Mrs. Clapp "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine that saved his life and completely cured him." SENSIBLE HOBBY.

well known people devote much spare time to upbuilding health.

Physical culture is getting to be more and more of a hobby with many people, who devote their spare time not only to upbuilding their own physical health, but in preaching doctrine of good health to others.

There is no excuse today for any person, unless tainted with an incurable disease, remaining sickly, with the great advance in medical discoveries and the growing popularity of physical culture.

In the diseases of digestion and nutrition, for example, an acknowledged specific treatment has been found in Mi-o-na. It is relied upon as a certainty in relieving the worst troubles of digestion and assimilation and making a complete cure.

People suffering with headaches, palpitation, sleeplessness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, nervousness and general debility and any other of the many distressing results of a weakened stomach, should profit by the discovery of Mi-o-na stomach tablets.

C. A. Wright Son have seen so many cures by Mi-o-na of stomach and general run-down state of health that they are firm believers in the power of this remedy to cure practically every case and they show their faith by giving a guarantee with every 50c box of Mi-o-na to refund the money unless it does all that is claimed for it. They take the whole risk, and Mi-o-na will cost you a penny unless it cures.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if upon the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Last fall I began to have kidney trouble, pains in the small of my back, extending to my shoulder blades At times when bending over sharp pains would catch me and I could not straight en. At night I could not rest well on account of the frequent action of the kidneys. I consulted a physician but received little benefit. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and soon noticed the good effects and I continued using them until cured. I recommend the Pills to any one afflicted with kidney trouble."

Veterans Plan Unique Reunion.

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 16.—A unique reunion is being planned to take place at Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1909. It will be the first of its kind in the history of the country, and promises to be a rousing success. It is a reunion of the Thirty-first Michigan volunteer infantry and the First Georgia valunteer infantry on the very ground where they met in 1898. These regiments are known as the "Twin regiments" during the Spanish-American war, and were encamped at Chickamauga Park, Ga., where a lasting friendship sprang up between them. An invitation to participate in this reunion has been sent to the members of the First Georgia. The matter will be taken up at the next reunion of the Thirty-first Michigan at Tecumseh, Mich., May 17, 1908.

LEAVES PORT OF SPAIN

Big Fleet Departs After Stay Lasting Nearly Week.

RIO JANEIRO THE NEXT STOP

Great Concourse of People Witness Departure — Natives and Newspapers Unsparing in Their Praise of Men—Had Much Shore Liberty.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Dec. 30.—The American battleship fleet has weighed anchor and steamed for Rio Janeiro. Accompanying the fleet were the supply ships Culgoa and Glacier.

Long before the hour set, a myriad of small craft, chiefly launches and steam yachts, moved up and down along the lines of anchored warships, the merry parties aboard shouting farewells to the departing visitors. Thousands of residents climbed the surrounding hills to view the great white ships as they moved outward on their journey of three thousand miles and more, while boatloads of excursionists went to the small islands in the gulf and others to the floating dock to catch the last glimpse of the ships that were so royally welcomed to this port almost a week ago.

The fleet presented a magnificent appearance as it steamed out in four columns with the supply ships trailing, a distance of 400 yards separating one division from another. An average of from 10 to 11 knots an hour will carry the fleet to the end of the second lap of the 14,000-mile journey in about twelve days, and it was announced by Admiral Evans, before his departure, that he expected to reach Rio Janeiro on Friday evening, Jan. 10.

During the week of their visit here, the American officers and men received every courtesy at the hands of the residents. Sir Henry Moore Jackson, the governor of Trinidad Colonel Swain, and other high officials gave dinners and garden parties in honor of the commander of the fleet and his officers, and there were scores of excursions and entertainments for the men, all of whom enjoyed more than the ordinary amount of shore liberty. The newspapers here and the residents are unsparing in their praise of the exemplary behavior of the men, and the press compliments Admiral Evans in the warmest terms, expressing to him and his men the best wishes of the people of Trinidad and the hope that they will soon return.

She Sues For Reward.

New York, Dec. 30.—Laura M. Carter, in whose apartment Chester B. Runyan, the teller of the Windsor Trust company, concealed himself after making away with $96,000 of the company's funds, has brought suit against the trust company for $7,850, which she claims is due her as a reward for delivering up the defaulting teller. Against this action the trust company has brought suit to recover $25,000 from her, alleging that she and Runyan were in the conspiracy to rob the institution, and that this $25,000 was lavished upon her by Runyan. Runyan defaulted with $96,000 from the Windsor Trust company last summer.

Should Provide For Presidents.

New York, Dec. 30.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland, under the title of "Our People and Their ex-Presidents," has contributed an interesting article to a Boston magazine. Referring to the poverty of Jefferson after he left the presidency as a blow to national pride, Mr. Cleveland declares definite and generous provision should be made for the maintenance of chief magistrates at the expiration of their terms. He deals with the subject at length and explains that he feels he can do so without his sincerity being questioned, since he is beyond the need of aid from the public treasury.

Dead Woman Partially Identified.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 30.—Stunned by blows on the head and then thrust, head foremost, into a pool of water, was the manner of death of the woman whose nude body was found on the Hackensack meadows in the town of Harrison. This gruesome story was told at the autopsy which left no doubt as to the details of the murderous work. The body is believed to be that of Agnes O'Keefe, a domestic who had been employed by several families in Orange. The detectives are hard at work tracing the life of Agnes O'Keefe and, by this means, hope to arrest the murderer.

DISPUTE HER POWER.

Relatives or "Next Friends" After Mrs. Eddy Again.

TRUSTEES' HANDS TIED.

Ordered Not to Give Away $1,000,000 For Charitable Institution—Alleged Christian Science Leader Violates Her Deed of Trust in Doing So.

Boston, Dec. 30.—Disputing the power of Mrs. Mary Baker Glover Eddy, head of the Christian Science church, to make disposition of so large a part of her fortune, formal notices have been served upon Trustees McLellan, Farrand and Baker, having in charge Mrs. Eddy's estate, ordering them not to make the $1,000,000 gift to found a charitable institution, recently announced, or any other appropriation from Mrs. Eddy's estate, pending the outcome of litigation.

According to former United States Senator William E. Chandler, this action is to be followed by a new lawsuit, involving the Christian Science head and her trustees, brought by the "next friends," Mrs. Eddy's son, George W. Glover; his daughter, Mary Baker Glover, and Mrs. Eddy's adopted son, Dr. Ebenezer J. Foster of Waterbury, Vt.

The contention of Mr. Chandler is that the proposed appropriation of a million dollars is in direct violation of Mrs. Eddy's deed of trust of March 6, 1907, by which she turned over all her property to the three trustees for life, reserving only the right to use the income and certain realty, and which act marked the partial termination of litigation against her and the trustees by the "next friends" a few months since.

The new action, it is declared, will be entirely independent of another suit now pending against F. S. Streeter, Mrs. Eddy's attorney in Concord, demanding information concerning the deed of trust for $125,000 set aside by Mrs. Eddy for the benefit of her son, George W. Glover, and his daughter.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

William Bell, eighty-nine years old, a pioneer of Monroe county, is dead of old age. He came direct to Monroe from England in the early forties.

Nelson Walter of Mason is gunner's mate on the battleship Georgia, which with the rest of the Atlantic squadron, is now on her way to the Pacific. Mr. Walter is in his sixth year in the navy.

Mrs. H. L. Anthony of Sturgis, wife of the grand recorder of the grand lodge, F. & A. M. of Michigan, has committed suicide by shooting herself in the head. Mrs. Anthony has been in ill-health for a long time. She has long been a leading club woman of Michigan. She was fifty-two years old.

Two of St. Charles' oldest residents, Daniel Paul and Carl Shepan, both over eighty years of age, are dead. Both men have been residents of this place for forty years. Mr. Paul leaves a widow and one daughter. Mr. Shepan has been a widower for twenty years and leaves one son and two daughters.

Gus Haggett, twenty-five years old, residing eight miles east of Lake Odessa, was perhaps fatally injured when, while standing near a circular saw, his overcoat was blown into the teeth and Haggett was drawn against the saw. His left leg was nearly cut off. He was taken to a Grand Rapids hospital.

Sold Pistol; Arrested For Theft.

Ludington, Mich., Dec. 30.—Charles E. Benedict has been arrested in Custer and brought up in police court in this city on a charge of having stolen revolvers and knives from a local hardware store. The prisoner was bound over to the circuit court under bonds of $500, which have not been furnished. Benedict is twenty-one years old and says he is a steamboat sailor. He sold a revolver to a local saloon keeper, who reported his suspicions to the officers.

Twice Attempts to Kill Self.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 30.—Foiled in an attempt to blow his brains out with a revolver because he was reprimanded at the supper table by his mother, sixteen-year-old Arthur Alder of 468 Fifteenth street grabbed a bottle of arsenic and swallowed about thirty grains of the drug. Prompt attention of Dr. J. C. Russell saved the lad for the second time, and he is still in the land of the living.

CUT OUT SALOONS.

Ypsilanti May Urge It Upon Constitutional Convention.

PROMINENT MEN IN FAVOR.

Delegate Moore's Resolution Finds Favor—College Town Will Be Canvassed—Convention May Be Asked to Prohibit School Fraternities.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Dec. 10.—A resolution indorsing the section to the constitution proposed by Delegate A. L. Moore, prohibiting the sale of liquor in certain college towns and within four miles of the corporate limits thereof, has been adopted at a citizens' meeting in the First Methodist church here.

Several hundred men were present. It was a representative gathering of the clergy, Normal faculty, business and professional men, aldermen and citizens generally. Captain E. P. Allen, twice mayor of the city and a former congressman, presided, and Professor Baird of the Normal college was secretary.

It was decided that the chairman should appoint one man in each of the five wards of this city, who shall choose assistants to circulate petitions asking the constitutional convention to banish saloons from Ypsilanti. It is predicted that a large percentage of the population will sign them.

Some of the speakers favored state prohibition. This was indorsed also by vote of the meeting.

Marshall, Mich., Dec. 20.—Will high school, college and university fraternities be banished from the schools of Michigan? This is a question which may be brought up during the remaining days of the constitutional convention. Several well-known Michigan school superintendents and college presidents and professors have already taken a step towards their banishment by not recognizing these fraternities.

Several supreme courts have already taken a hand in the matter, and it would not be surprising if ex-State Superintendent of Public Instruction Delos Fall of Albion, a professor in Albion college, would be called on to introduce such a proposal.

An article in the current issue of The School Board Journal says:

"Let a secret fraternity be organized in a high school and all at once democracy has vanished and you find in the members of such organizations a snobbish and detestable aristocracy that attempts to monopolize all privileges, benefits and honors of the school.

"Arrogance abounds and egotism takes the place of modesty. The envy and heart aches, the distress and bitterness engendered by such organizations in the breasts of the pupils not selected for admission is often pitiful. The bitterness of such rejection and the neglect and cruelty which follow is often so pitiful that it cannot be passed as merely a childish grievance. Many a sweet-spirited girl whose heart has been crushed because she has not been admitted into this, to her beautiful and charmed circle, and who has been refused agreeable companionship of those with whom she formerly associated, has left school rather than become, to all intents and purposes, a social outcast. All this bitterness, wormwood and gall is for absolutely no purpose."

Neither of the fraternities in the Marshall high school are recognized by the faculty, and officially are now extant, but really exist sub-rosa. The mere fact that they are not recognized makes little or no difference as far as the results are concerned.

Births Not Frequent There.

Winsted, Conn., Dec. 30.—Bakersfield, Conn., a village near here, is rejoicing over the birth of a baby there, the first to arrive in ten years. The child, a boy, arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Snyder. Residents of the town are flocking to Snyder's home to see the child.

A Father at Eighty-Seven.

New York, Dec. 30.—At the age of eighty-seven years, Jean Henri Thiry, of 181 Academy street, Long Island City, has just become the father of his sixth child. It was a girl. Mrs. Thiry is thirty-one years old. Three of the children are by a first wife.

PLEA OF INSANITY.

That Will Again Be Defense at Next Thaw Trial.

New York, Dec. 30.—One week from today, Harry K. Thaw will be called a second time before a jury to make his defense to the charge of having murdered Stanford White. There have been several postponements of the date of the second hearing of this noted case, but it is said now there will be no further delay.

It is announced that Mrs. William Thaw, mother of the defendant, is expected in the city by next Saturday. Mrs. Thaw has been in poor health, it is said, but believes she will be able to come on to be with her son. Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who has been a daily visitor at the Tombs ever since the first Thaw jury disagreed, will be in the courtroom on Monday next.

There have been many rumors as to the plans of the defense for the second hearing of the case and it has been predicted that an entirely new line of action might be followed. It can be authoritatively stated, however, that the defense will again be the same; that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw will again relate her story to the jury, and that an imposing array of expert alienists will again undertake to establish the theory that Thaw was insane at the time he killed Stanford White in the Madison Square roof garden, but has so far recovered his mental balance since that time as to be no longer a menace to the community and, therefore, is entitled to freedom.

It is declared there will be no mention made of a higher or unwritten law, but the defense will adhere to a plea of legal insanity at the time the act was committed. There were mistakes made at the first trial which it will be the attempt of Thaw's attorneys studiously to avoid during his second hearing. In the expert testimony, for instance, they have been able to separate the wheat from the chaff and will only offer that which proved most effective before.

Martin W. Littleton of Brooklyn, who nominated Alton B. Parker for president at the last Democratic national convention, will act as leading counsel for the defense. He will have the assistance of Daniel O'Reilly and A. Russell Peabody, both of whom went through the first trial.

GOVERNMENT REPLIES.

Comments on Statements Issued by Standard Oil Company.

Washington, Dec. 30.—The reply of the commissioner of corporations to the Standard Oil company, regarding the $29,000,000 fine and its conviction for accepting rebates from the Chicago & Alton railroad, has been made public. At the beginning the report says:

"On Aug. 3, 1907, at Chicago, the Standard Oil company of Indiana was fined $29,240,000 for the violation of the Elkins anti-rebate law. This was the so-called 'Alton case.' Various statements have since appeared, one in particular signed by the president of that company, James A. Moffett, others in the public press, and also a series of confidential circular 'trade letters' all endeavoring to throw doubt on the legality and equity of that conviction.

"The report of the commissioner of corporations on the transportation of petroleum, published in May, 1906, on which this and all other pending rebate indictments of the Standard (except one) were based, set forth in detail the deliberate, long-continued conduct on the part of the Standard in violating the anti-rebate laws. But these recent statements have made it necessary to show once more that the transactions which form the basis of this conviction at Chicago were such as struck at the very life and spirit of the Elkins anti-rebate law and of the policy of congress in forbidding unfairness as between shippers."

The report then deals at length with the evidence and replies, in detail, to the Standard Oil company's statements.

Alleged He Bit Man's Nose Off.

Ludington, Mich., Dec. 30.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Jack Walker, a notorious character, on a charge of having bitten off the nose of John Thomas, a bill poster. Both are said to have been intoxicated and engaged in a fight in a local saloon.

Whole Town Is Burned.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 30.—Reports received here state that Richards' Landing, a town of 600 population on St. Joseph's island, has burned, with an estimated loss of $200,000. Only one store and two hotels were left.

Deafness cannot be cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by the inflamed condition of the lining of the Eust chian tube. When this tube is inflamed your hearing is imperfect and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation is relieved and this tube made healthy, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but inflammation of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness, caused by catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure.

Shop Worn Goods.

It was a hot afternoon and Mrs Perkins, who had taken the children, seven in number, to "the greatest show on earth," felt the heat and was otherwise much dissatisfied. "What's the nationality of them?" she demanded of one of the guards, pointing to the elephants.

"Those are from Africa," replied the man, and Mrs. Perkins looked doubtfully from the great animals to the gaunt and lank again to the elephants.

"They appear dreadful light colored to have come from Africa, seems to me," she remarked, "and that giraffe's neck isn't half I expected for length, either, and there's only one double bumper among the camels, and the hair's all rubbed off him in spots. I reckon this isn't the first show he's been on by a good deal."

She dropped the argument then as from the monkey's cage and turned again to the attendant.

"You tell the manager of this show from me," she commanded, "that I won't pay 50 cents for myself and $1.75 for this mess of children another year to see light colored elephants and a giraffe and a kangaroo with short necks and legs and a passy of single humpers, with one double bumper, and him a grey hound."

"You tell him that from Mrs. Philander Perkins, and tell him I mean it too!"—Youth's Companion.

A Terrible Situation.

There can be few more terrible discoveries than that the man in your company has suddenly gone mad and that you cannot escape him. That was the position of an old lady and her female companion when, just as their train was gliding out of a London terminus, a man popped into the carriage and banged the door after him. The first stop was eighty miles away, and it seemed as far as eternity when the man produced from his pocket a number of razors and began to cut up an orange. The old lady gave her fur boa an extra twist about her throat. "Do you like orange?" said the maniac as he stuck a piece on the end of a razor and popped it into her mouth. She accepted the gift with thanks, and he was anxious to feed her with more. She assured him that she liked to eat her orange slowly and made it last. She had to make each portion given to her on the razor last her so long that there was still a piece or two left when the first stoppage and rescue came.—St. James' Gazette.

And no fuss will be allowed afterward about it, and nothing will be allowed to deduct anything out of it."—Pearson's.

Fiddle and Grow Hair.

It is now a scientifically proved fact that music exercises a great influence on the growth of the hair. It is with good reason that great musicians, such as Paganini, Liszt and Paderewski, are represented with a growth of hair which Absalom might have envied. Science has proved that stringed instruments have a favorable influence on the growth of the hair, while brass instruments act in the opposite direction. Every one has probably observed that a bald violinist is as rare as a bald horn player is common. Wood instruments, such as the flute, seem to have no pronounced influence either way.—Paris Menestrel.

His Wife's Advice.

Sir William Treloar told me once of the nervousness he felt on the very first occasion when he acted as a chairman. He was on tenterhooks lest he should do anything malapropos and consulted his wife as to how he should act. The Time Allotted Us.

The time allotted us, if it were well employed, were abundant enough to answer all the ends and purposes of mankind, but we squander it away in avarice, drink, sleep, luxury, ambition, fawning addresses, envy, rambling voyages, impertinent studies, change of counsels and the like, and when our portion is spent we find the want of it, though we give no heed to it in the passage, insomuch that we have rather made our life short than found it so.

Blacking.

Liquid blacking, such as is now used, was invented early in the nineteenth century. Previously various mixtures were used. There are many allusions in eighteenth century literature to shoe blacks and blacking. In the London World of Jan. 31, 1754, Edward Moore, describing the miseries of an author, says that he would rather have started in life as a shoeblack had he but had the money to buy or credit to procure "a stool, brushes and blacktall." An old kind of blacking consisted of Ivory black, very coarse moist sugar and water, with a little vinegar. A mixture of whale oil and soot was used in Gay's time. The author of "Trivia" has several allusions to the "black youth" who stood at street corners then, as now:

Hark! The boy calls thee to his destin'd stand,
And the shoe shines beneath his oily hand.

De Foe makes his Colonel Jack describe himself when a boy as a dirty vagabond, "like a 'Black your shoes, your honor?' a beggar boy, a blackguard boy or what you please, despicable and miserable to the last degree."

Here is another quotation from "Trivia" (1715):

His treble voice resounds along the mews,
And Whitehall echoes, "Clean your honor's shoes."

—London Notes and Queries.

Arab Weapons.

Here in Muscat I saw the pure bred Arab man, sinewy, but not tall, a domineering, swaggering nobleness in his glance and a brace of daggers in his waist. When I recognized a beautiful hilt or noticed a slender inlaid native gun or singular shield, I offered to buy, but nothing would induce them to sell. "Sahib," said one man, "I killed my deadliest foe with this blade, right through his black heart. You see this dent in my shield? Ah, that dent was caused by a spear! The shield saved my life. Shall I, then, sell it for money? My gun? No, sahib. I am an Arab, and my gun is my other self. How could I be an Arab if I had no gun? This sword—it belonged to my grandfather—it has killed forty men. By Mohammed, it is true! These marks, sahib; you see these marks? Only one of these marks is put there when a man is killed." I offered three times the value. The answer always was: "No, sahib, I will not. I cannot."—Chambers' Journal.

Some Odd Pockets.

"A music pocket?" said the tailor. "Oh, yes, for professional singers I often make music pockets. They run across the back of the coat, as a rule, above the waist, and they hold, without crushing, a half dozen songs. I have three or four detectives among my patrons, and in their business suits I always put handcuff pockets. These pockets are in the sleeves. Their advantage is that the handcuffs can be drawn forth without the prisoner's seeing the action. When a rambunctious prisoner sees a detective's hand go toward an ordinary pocket he knows what is coming and prepares accordingly, but with my special pocket the handcuff is on him before he knows where he is at. One of my patrons has his trousers lined from the knee down with leather. Do you know why? Because a dog once bit a large chunk out of the calf of his leg, and he doesn't want to incur such a loss again."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Cutting Big Diamonds.

Big diamonds lose a great deal in the cutting. The Kohinoor was reduced by an unskillful stonecutter from 793¾ carats to 280 carats, a second cutting brought it down to 186 1-16 carats and a third to 106 1-16 carats, or less than a seventh of its original size. The original weight of the Pitt or Regent diamond was 410 carats, but in the hands of the cutter two-thirds disappeared, while the Star of the South, which was picked up in a river by a negress, lost a little over half its weight by cutting.

German Sportsmen.

Half a million sportsmen in Germany kill annually 40,000 head of red and fallow deer, 200,000 roebuck, 4,000,000 hares, 4,000,000 partridges and 400,000 wild ducks, in all some 25,000,000 kilograms of wild game of a value of 25,000,000 marks, or $5,000,000, forming nearly 1 per cent of the total meat supply of Germany.—C. G. Schillings' "In Darkest Africa."

A Pretty Big Discount.

"There was a children's hospital in New York which a society lady visited regularly, taking fruit and flowers to the little patients, and in a certain ward a boy was pointed out to her one day as a bad customer.

"'Oh, he is incorrigible,' sighed the nurse.

"Miss Society talked awhile with the little chap, and when she arose to go she said:

"'See here, I have heard bad reports about you. Now, I want you to promise me to be good. If you are good for a whole week, I'll give you a dollar when I come again next Thursday.'

"The boy promised to try to be good. This promise, though, he did not keep. On her next visit Miss Society, going to his cot, said:

"'I shall not ask the nurses how you have behaved this last week. I want to ask you what do you think—do you deserve that dollar I promised you or not?'

"The boy regarded Miss Society with a troubled frown. Then he said in a low voice:

"'Gimme a nickel.'"—New York Tribune.

Solution of a Mystery.

Sir Humphry Davy had been studying one evening in comfortable negligee of dressing gown and nightcap at a little table in his chamber when he became aware of a curious phenomenon. A bright dancing circle of light appeared upon the ceiling. It was unsteady, yet persistent, and he was unable to account for it. He extinguished his lamp, but it only appeared the brighter. It was accompanied by an odor—a scorching odor—and also by a slight sound of sizzling. He was greatly excited and running over rapidly in his mind all kinds of electrical and other interesting theories to account for the mystery when he became aware of a sensation of uncomfortable warmth about the scalp. He hastily put up his hand, and down tumbled his theories and a blazing nightcap. The tassel on its peak had bobbed into his candle as he bent above his book, and the fascinating problem on the ceiling was no more than the reflection of the evening bonfire on his cranium.

An Object Lesson In Cleanliness.

To impress upon his youthful mind the importance of guarding against infections the medical student at the laboratory is given this object lesson: Two test tubes nearly filled with a clear meat broth and then closed at the top with a cotton plug are given to him, with directions to wash his hands with soap and water and clean his nails with a brush as thoroughly as he can for some ten minutes. After he thinks that his hands have become altogether clean he removes the plug from one of the test tubes and barely touches with a finger tip its contained broth, after which he restores the cotton plug and puts both tubes away on a shelf for twenty-four hours. What he will see then is that the broth in the test tube which received his supposedly pure touch is turbid from the presence of millions of microbes, while the other tube remains perfectly clear.—Everybody's Magazine.

A Haunted Library.

One of the most curious "hauntings" occurs in a northern castle of great antiquity where Mary, queen of Scots, rested when she was being conveyed a prisoner through England. It is manifested in the library and takes the form that the books cannot be kept in order. They move about or are moved about from shelf to shelf. If you arrange the works of Shakespeare in correct order on one shelf, by next morning the volumes are scattered anyhow on different shelves. This has gone on for years. At different times the library has been searched and locked, watches have been set all night, servants have come and gone, but the mysterious occurrence goes on and is vouched for not only by the family, but by the guests who have stayed in the house. There is no legend to account for it.—London Modern Society.

A Long Scold.

Brewster, who was returning late from his club, was received by his wife on entering the bedroom with a well rehearsed curtain lecture. Fortunately he had not turned up the gas, and as the door was not closed he quietly slipped out and rejoined his friends at the club. Two hours later he again wended his way home and picked up his ears on reaching the bedroom door.

"H'm! She didn't notice it!" said he, chuckling to himself. "She's still scolding!"—Glasgow Herald.

Nurses Dread Lightning.

Of all people who are glad when the season of thunderstorms is past, none are more thankful than professional nurses.

"It isn't that we are so afraid of lightning ourselves," said a nurse in Roosevelt hospital, "but it has a harmful effect on our patients. Most sick people have an unreasonable fear of lightning. In cases of extreme weakness or nervousness a dozen flashes of blinding lightning reduce the patient to such a state of prostration that it takes extraordinary efforts on the part of the nurse to bring him around. If one sick person requires all that extra attention in a thunderstorm, just imagine the predicament of the nurse who has a whole ward full of them on her hands."—New York Press.

A banquet had been prepared, the menu consisting of chicken, creamed potatoes, cabbage salad, celery, cheese, pickles, fruit salad, coffee, cake and ice cream. The installation evening at Christmas time many Tecumseh Masons, who reside elsewhere, were present to enjoy the event. New acquaintance were formed and old ones renewed. Such occasions are wont to bind the fraternal ties more closely. It is hoped that these Masons may be allowed to enjoy many more such happy anniversaries.

FAMILY REUNION

A notable gathering was that which assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pangle on West Kilbuck street Christmas day, it being not only the first time in many years the family have all been together but also the anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Webster and the birthday anniversary of Winnifred Roena Schreder. The rooms were prettily decorated, the table loaded with good things to eat and amid the exchange of presents, and congratulations enlivened by good music a truly Merry Christmas was enjoyed by all. Those present were John C. Schreder, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pangle, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Dewey and daughter, Florence, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Webster and daughter, Evelyn, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Cadmus and son, Roy, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. V. Schreder and daughter, Winnifred, of Goodland, Kas.

FAMILY DINNER PARTY.

On Saturday, Dec. 27, occurred the reunion of the O. F. Coller family at the home of the venerable father of 84 and mother of 77. With them were gathered Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Coller and two sons, Glen and Lloyd, of Detroit; L. C. Coller and son, Fred, of Coldwater; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Coller of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Coller, also their nieces and nephews, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bordine, Miss Augusta Whitenack, Mr. and Mrs. Delos Whitenack, all of Tecumseh.

At one o'clock a four course turkey dinner was served after which toasts were given which brought to memory many of the pranks and good times of their younger days, thus with music and a general social time the happy day was brought to a close.

K. OF P. DANCE.

The Knights of Pythias gave a delightful dancing party at Lewis hall, Tipton, Friday evening, nearly 100 couples being in attendance. The State boys convention of the Y. M. C. A. was held in Jackson yesterday and today, 100 delegates being present from different parts of the state. The program consisted of phrases of the work of the boys' department. Speeches were given by different men of the Michigan Y. M. C. A. and also by international workers. A banquet for the delegates will be given this evening.

The work of the convention was held for a better organized effort of the boys' work throughout the state. Several papers along the line of bible study and social work for the boys were read by the delegates.

The delegation from Tecumseh was made up of Lynn Rogers, Earl Brown, Kenneth Ward, Dale Hodges, Theodore Higby, Frank Hurst, Earl McNeil, Ovid and Eali Marsh, Charles Stout, Perry Satterthwaite, Alvin Brazee and Curry Hicks.

A Curious Tree.

In the village of Clynnog, Wales, there is an old cottage, formerly a country tavern, upon the roof of which there is a full grown sycamore tree. About fifty years ago a seedling from a neighboring churchyard, where other sycamores are growing, found a resting place in the corner of the wall above a slab of stone over the entrance to the building. The young tree thrived for a time on the small quantity of soil collected in the corner of the walls and finally forced its roots downward through the walls into the earth below. From the outside no trace of the roots can be seen.

M. F. STEIN,

THE DETROIT OPTICIAN,

The eye, when properly cared for affords the keenest delight because of the pleasures we are able to enjoy through its medium. When not cared for and its warnings are unheeded, it becomes an instrument of torture. Headaches, eye pains, burning, itching sensation, strained vision, nervous troubles and many bodily ills are the result accruing from over worked eyes, eyes that need help. My examination reveals all hidden troubles, and it is my province to fit the right glass to any and all defects of vision. SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

Will be at THE SHAWNEE HOTEL

A SIBERIAN MAMMOTH.

Its Discovery In the River Lena and How It Was Lost.

In 1846 a young Russian engineer, Benkendorf, saw the river Lena in Siberia release a dead mammoth frozen ages ago in the bog. There had been exceptionally warm weather in the north of Siberia, and the river, swollen by melting snow and ice and torrential warm rains, swept out of its old channel and carved a new one, carrying to the sea vast quantities of his former banks and furrowing up the thawing bogs over which it raced. As he made his way in a steam cutter against the current Benkendorf saw the head of a mammoth appear above the flood. Rush upon rush of water more and more released the body. Its hind legs were still imbedded when he saw it, but twenty-four hours liberated these. The mammoth had sunk feet first into a bog. The ooze had frozen over it. Successive tides had heaped soil and vegetation upon it. Bone and flesh and hair were perfect. They secured it. They cut off its tusks. They dissected it and found in its stomach the last meal it had eaten, young shoots of the fir and pine and masticated fir cones. They were still at their work when the river, spreading farther, engulfed them. The men escaped, but the waters surged over the mammoth and carried it for carrion to the sea.

LITERARY NOTES.

Everybody's for January sets a pace for the new year that will be hard to beat. Foremost in importance is the inside story of the recent panic—"The Game Got Them"—by Edwin Lefèvre, the Wall Street expert. Wm. Hard takes up the question of "De Kid Wot Works at Night," and writes of the newsboy, the messenger boy, and the street gamin, and the problem they present collectively and individually to themselves and to society. "The Romance of the Reaper" is continued by Herbert N. Casson.

* * *

McClure's has gone up in quality as well as in price. "The Needs of Our Navy," by Henry Reuterdahl, gives some staggering facts about our battleships, and our preparation for war. "Great American Fortunes," by Burton J. Hendrick, sums up the history of the Metropolitan Street Railway and its effects on the public. "One Man and his town," by Marion H. Carter, is an account of a man who practically grew a town and gives some new and amusing first-hand anecdotes of the greatest American.

* * *

That high prices exist, there is no question. All average price levels, whether English or American, show in eight years more than 50 per cent increase. In other words, it requires $1.50 to buy what $1 would purchase on the average eight years ago. If these are not famine prices, because during eight years the crops have been bountiful, prices extremely rapid and the standard of living throughout the world upon the increase, then the causes should be sought in the depreciation of money.—From "The Gold Flood and its Problems," by J. Pease Norton in the American Review of Reviews for January.

* * *

The series "American Finance" begins in the January number of the Metropolitan magazine with a complete article on the October panic, its causes and inferences by John Paul Ryan. This article goes behind the scenes of the great panic and for the first time opens the doors of the secret conferences where the great financiers of the United States planned to carry the country through the crisis.

* * *

Emily James Putnam, 1st Dean of Barnard College, makes a strong plea in Putnam's for January for what is commonly called "A Classical Education." She does not claim that this sort of an education will insure the "ability to earn a living or to produce and rear healthy offspring" but she does claim that to those who would be benefited by culture as distinguished from a practical education, a training in the Greek and Latin classics should not be denied.

* * *

So many fine stories are being published in these days of keen editorial competition and high prices that one must be of exceptional merit to stand out above its fellows and attract the undivided attention of the reading public. Such a story, however is "The Duchess of Dreams" Edith Macvane's latest novel which is published complete in the January Lippincott's.

* * *

The Smart Set begins the year 1908 most auspiciously. Its contributors number many of the most notable living writers. The novelette is from the pen of that always delightful author, Anne Warner. It is entitled "Wanted—An Original Gentleman," and concerns the whimsical adventures of a young man who believes himself, stranded in Europe and answers a curious advertisement. The story, in itself a charming one, is illuminated by many clever human touches which cannot fail to divert every reader.

* * *

The Woman's Home Companion for January begins well with a handsome and showy cover design by Jas Montgomery Flagg. It is a notable number from the standpoint of illustrations. In addition to the striking cover design, there is a full page reproduction of W. Balfour Kerr's painting "Forgotten." It represents a winter farm scene, the house and barn in the distance and the old family horse standing drearily by the pasture bars, ankle deep in the falling snow—forgotten.

ROUND ABOUT US.

Wilson Gates of Sherwood, starts out this week on a novel trip. He has fitted up a large car wagon as a habitation and with his family of seven people will take a three years' overland cruise to California and return. When his horses play out he will replace them with fresh ones and will spare no expense to make the journey easy and comfortable. The party will stop at several different localities for weeks at a time, the object of the outdoor life being to restore Mr. Gates to perfect health. They expect to reach California some time in the autumn of 1909.—Coldwater Gazette.

Badly mixed up.

Abraham Brown of Winterton, N. Y., had a remarkable experience, he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me, one said heart disease, two called it kidney trouble, the fourth blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble but none of them helped me, so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, all stomach, kidney and liver complaints at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store. 50c.

Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes" writes Mrs. Clapp "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine that saved his life and completely cured him." Guaranteed for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

WEDDINGS

During Holiday Week.

MARRIAGES

Of Popular Young People of this Village.

At the pleasant home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Eaton in the presence of 75 relatives and intimate friends on Saturday, Dec. 28, at 6 o'clock, occurred the marriage of Miss Agnes L. Eaton and Mr. Frank A. Chapman of North Dakota. Promptly at the appointed hour "Love's Old Sweet Song" was sweetly rendered by Miss Ruth Waring of Evanston, Ill., after which during the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss May Jones of Ridgeway, came the bridal party.

Miss Mary Eaton, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Charles Waring as best man. Misses Edith Davis of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and May Goodrich of Ann Arbor, and Messrs. Roger Waring and Seymour Boyd of Tecumseh, formed an isle of ground pine through which the bridal party marched and took their places under a wedding bell in the east parlor, where the impressive ring service was performed by Rev. W. M. Ward, pastor of the M. E. church of Tecumseh.

The bride and bridesmaid were prettily gowned in white embroidered Swiss with valenciennes lace trimming, the bride carrying a shower bouquet of red roses. The house was prettily decorated in green and white. After congratulations a three course dinner was served by the Misses Leora Boyd, Eloise and Mabel Waring, Winnifred Johnson and Messrs Sherman Camburn, Roger Waring, Seymour Boyd and George Kephart.

The bride is one of our estimable young ladies, a graduate of our high school, also Ann Arbor University. During the past two years she has been a successful high school teacher in Wahpeton, N. Dakota, and Ottawa, Ill., where she has made many friends. The groom though a comparative stranger among us has made many friends in his recent visits here. The many valuable gifts testify to the esteem in which the young couple are held. They left for an extended visit with the groom's people in River Falls, Wis., after which they will made their future home in Carpio, N. Dakota.

The out of town guests beside those already mentioned were Mrs. Geo. Kephart and son of Berrien Springs, Miss Luella Waring, Kalamazoo; Miss Nita Hood, Detroit; Mrs. Lewis Forsythe, Mt. Clemens; Miss Anna Cawley, Morenci; Miss Sarah Best, Fargo, North Dak., Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ingersoll, Rochester, N. Y.; Miss Edna Bryan, N. Y.; Mrs. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hoag of Raisin Center; Mrs. G. P. Waring, Evanston, Ill., and Miss May Culbertson of Ann Arbor.

HUGHES—LANGTHORNE.

A pretty Christmas wedding transpired at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Vance Goheen, northeast of Tecumseh on Christmas evening at 8 p. m. when their neice, Miss Margaret Hughes, was joined in holy wedlock to Mr. Jas. D. E. Langthorn, in the presence of about 80 guests.

The parlors were beautifully decorated in Christmas colors, the wedding ceremony being performed by the Rev. John Wirt Dunning, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Tecumseh.

The bridal party stood in an archway of holly and ferns under a pretty wedding bell. Little Miss Fern Murphy was ring-bearer and dressed in white and carred the ring on a pink satin cushion trimmed with pink roses. The bride was tastefully gowned in brown chiffon silk and wore a wedding veil with a wreath of orange blossoms and carried brides roses and was given away by her uncle, Mr. Ira Goheen; her brides maid, Miss Jennie Murphy wore white and carried white astors, her maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Sherwood of Detroit, wore a handsome gown of blue chiffon silk and carried white astors, Leonard Langthorn, nephew of the groom, acted as best man. The groom wore the conventional black suit.

A bountiful wedding supper was served. Several young men and their wives as follows waited on the guests, Messrs. and Mesdames Lee Scott, Tom L. Murphy, Jas. Murphy, John E. Murphy, John G. Murphy, Fred Lowfel, Willis Schreder, Fred Goheen, Miss Jennie and Earl Murphy, also the bride and groom. All enjoyed a good time. The bridal couple received many useful and beautiful gifts from their numerous friends and both are well known and highly respected. They have hosts of friends and the well wishes of all.

The pretty and comfortable home of Mr. Goheen looked like a fairyland of beauty with its background of white draperiée, holly and evergreens clustered around the walls in graceful abundance with streamers of red and white ribbons and Christmas bells with red and white candles burning in groups around the room and a beautiful motto with the greeting "A Merry Christmas" hung in the archway between the parlor and dining room, everything went to make up a very pretty Christmas wedding.

ELLIOTT—DENNISTON.

COLLINS—PETERS.

Hyomei medicates the air you breathe and gives quick relief in catarrhal troubles.

Be wise in time and use Hyomei at the first warning of catarrhal troubles.

Do not let the disease extend along the delicate mucous membrane, gradually going from the nose to the throat, thence into the bronchial tubes and then downward until the lungs are reached and you are in danger of consumption.

Hyomei will cure all curable forms and stages of catarrh. It is so uniformly successful in curing this common yet dangerous disease that C. A. Wright & Son take all the risk of a trial treatment and agree absolutely to refund the money if anyone uses Hyomei and does not get relief.

There is no other treatment for catarrh that is like Hyomei or just as good. None can take its place, none give such quick and sure relief and at so little cost. Its medication is breathed through a pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, thus reaching the most remote cells of the air passages, killing the catarrhal germs and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane.

Begin the use of Hyomei today and you will soon find that the offensive breath, the droppings into the throat, the discharge from the nose and all other symptoms of catarrh are overcome and cured. The complete outfit costs but $1 00 and C. A. Wright & Son stand ready to refund the money if it does not cure catarrh.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are short of the list recognized by patent medicine and physicians, who claim for their remedies a cure for almost every form of kidney disease, with doubtful success in the effort to relieve the critical victim of this malady.

What To Do.

There is one kidney medicine so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects scalding, painful urination and soothing, painful urination, passing water frequently, and the effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

RHEUMATIC FOLKS.

Are you sure your kidneys are well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood and the failure of the kidneys to remove all uric acid from the blood shows the kidneys are inactive.

Don't dally with uric acid solvents for not until you cure the kidneys will you ever be well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid but cure the kidneys. Here is Tecumseh testimony.

Mrs. Sarah Austin, living on Pearl street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and think very highly of them. A year ago I was troubled with my kidneys accompanied by dropsical bloatings which made me feel miserable, distressing pains and rheumatism following. At night I did not sleep for the frequent action of the kidneys, passing a great deal of gravel with much pain. I doctored with physicians but received no relief. Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and I took them the results being more than satisfactory and I believe they effected a complete cure. I am glad to endorse such a reliable remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other Danger in asking advice.

When you have a cough or cold do not ask some one what is good for it, as there is danger in taking some unknown preparation. Foley's honey and tar cures coughs, colds and prevents pneumonia. The genuine is in a yellow package. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Babes as Bait.

"Wot do ye think," said the sailor, "of usin' live babies for bait? We done it in Ceylon."

"Babies for bait? Fishing for shark?"

"No. Crocodile. Baby bait is the only thing for crocodile, and everybody uses it. Ye rent a baby down there for half a dollar a day. Of course," the sailor went on, "the thing ain't as cruel as it sounds. No harm ever comes to the babies, or else, o' course, their mothers wouldn't rent 'em. The kid is simply sot on the soft mud bank of a crocodile stream and the hunter lays hid near him, a sure pertection. The crocodile is lazy. He basks in the sun in midstream. Nothin' will draw him in to shore where ye can pot him. But set a little fat naked baby on the bank and the crocodile soon rouses up. In he comes, a greedy look in his dull eyes, and then ye open fire. I have got as many as four crocodiles with one baby in a morning's fishin'. Some Cingalese women wot lives near good crocodile streams make as much as $2 a week reg'lar out o' rentin' their babies for crocodile bait."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Has a Job Waiting.

"I hear you're getting to be a real sport," a veteran in that line remarked to a youthful acquaintance of the conservative sort recently married.

The young man repudiated any such intention.

"Just placed a little bet among the boys in the office, you know," he added. "Put in $1.50 and won $40 in a trifling pool."

"Well, that's a good beginning, anyhow," said the veteran. "You'll grow up after awhile. What did you do with the $40—put it on the races or open wine?"

"Bought a ton of coal and a set of false teeth for my wife," was the reply.

When the veteran revived his young friend had disappeared.

"Gee," he soliloquized, "that's a new one in sport! If I win tomorrow guess I'll buy my mother-in-law a new cork leg and some darning cotton."—New York Globe.

Given Her Choice.

Little Harry's experience with death was limited to the decease of a pet canary which had been sent to a taxidermist and now adorned the parlor mantel.

His grandmother, of whom he was very fond, was taken suddenly ill. For some time after he learned of her condition he sat in a brown study. Then, as if coming to a sudden resolution, he tiptoed into the sickroom and, cautiously approaching the bed, fixed his serious big brown eyes upon his dear relative and said, with a little quiver in his voice:

"Say, grandma, if you die, which would you rather be—buried or stuffed? 'Cause if you're buried we can't see you no more, but if you're stuffed we can set you in the parlor."

Grandma immediately began to mend.—London Scraps.

Matter of Fact.

A visitor from London found in a cafe at Rotterdam a Dutchman who had been about a bit and who spoke English perfectly well.

This Dutchman was smoking a china pipe of remarkable size and beauty, and the Londoner, an admirer and collector of such bric-a-brac, took the liberty to comment upon it.

"You could not stumble upon a pipe like that every day," said the Englishman.

The Dutchman took three or four whiffs at the pipe and then slowly removed it from his mouth.

"Certainly not without breaking it," he said, gravely.—London Chronicle.

Soft and Light.

A lady famed for her skill in cooking was entertaining a number of her friends at tea. Everything on the table was much admired, but the excellence of the sponge cake was especially the subject of remark.

"Oh," exclaimed one of the guests, "it is so beautifully soft and light! Do tell me where you got the recipe!"

"I am very glad," replied the hostess, "that you find it so soft and light. I made it out of my own head."—Illustrated Bits.

How It Affected Him.

Mrs. Myles—When are you coming to call on us?

Mrs. Styles—Oh, I really don't know! "But you said you'd come soon and bring your husband?"

"I know I did, and I asked him last night to come over, and he said he'd lik etо dream over it, and, do you know, dear, he had an awful nightmare last night!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Something Lacking.

"These big hotels are not so complete."

"What's lacking?"

"The express elevator gets you to the fifty-second floor all right, but there a half mile corridor confronts you and no cabs."—Montreal Star.

On the Job.

Amusing epitaphs are common enough, but it is not often that a tombstone inscription is meant to carry a business advertisement. A West Virginia man tells of a singular one which may be seen in a certain cemetery. It was the idea of a widow of a man named Perkins, a partner in a commercial house known as Perkins & Parker. Soon after the decease of her spouse Mrs. Perkins married Mr. Parker, her late husband's business associate. The inscription reads:

"Sacred to the memory of James Perkins, for thirty years senior partner of the firm of Perkins & Parker, now Parker & Co."—Harper's Weekly.

The honeymoon had waned, and the cupboard was bare.

"Don't worry, Mabel," said the romantic husband as he opened the piano. "Remember music is the food of love."

But the practical little wife shook her head.

New York Life.

The life of New York seems a tragic matchleche, a religious can-can, the maddest blend in all Christendom of common sense and lunacy, dignity and folly, poetry and a furious pogrom against everything that makes for beauty.—Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

Telling Tales.

Unsophisticated Visitor (trying to use the telephone)—Kitty, what do you say when you take this thing off the hook? Little Girl—Papa always says, "Darn you, central, you've given me the wrong number!"—Chicago Tribune.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

A man who registered as M. B. Humphrey, New York city, and who said he was a salesman, committed suicide in his room in a hotel in Chicago, Ill., by turning on the illuminating gas. The man was apparently about forty-five years old.

Charles H. Perry, who traveled with several of the larger circuses for sixteen years figuring as "the skeleton man," was found dead in a hut in the outskirts of Providence, R. I., where he had lately led a hermit's life. Perry, although he was 6 feet 1 inch in height, weighed only eighty pounds.

Dr. Hinzpeter, Emperor William's first teacher, is dead in Bielefeld, Prussia. Dr. Hinzpeter held the position of tutor to the present emperor until the latter attained his majority, and the emperor always cherished a marked affection for his old teacher, which was shown publicly on numerous occasions.

After shooting and killing his mother-in-law, seventy years old, driving his wife and children from home, and holding at bay a sheriff's posse, which surrounded his house all night, Edward Butterfield, a farmer near Barton, Vt., was found dead in bed, having shot himself with a rifle. Butterfield is supposed to have been crazed by liquor. He was fifty years old.

Miss Edith M. Ashley, eighteen years of age, of Abington, Mass., is dead from a bullet wound inflicted by her lover, Samuel H. Stetson, twenty-four years old, who killed himself immediately after shooting her. The girl made no statement at the hospital, but after the shooting she said that she told her lover that he must give her up, and that he had then shot her.

"Kansas for Christ" is to be the slogan in an evangelistic campaign that is to be pushed simultaneously in every county of Kansas next year. Hundreds of preachers of various denominations, together with numerous Evangelists, are to hold revivals. An entire year will be spent in the movement, and an effort is to be made to demonstrate to the whole country what may be accomplished in concerted religious work carried forward on strictly business lines. The great revival is to be under the direct leadership of Rev. William Edward Biederwolf.

Monsignor Thomas F. Kennedy, rector of the American college in Rome, has been consecrated as titular bishop of Adrianapolis. He received thousands of telegrams of congratulation and many valuable presents from America as well as from a large number of prelates who had gathered for the ceremony. The presents included a beautiful gold pectoral cross from the pope, an episcopal ring from Monsignor Farley, archbishop of New York, the spiritual director of the college, and mitre and crozier from the students of the college.

Nebraska Politician Kills Himself.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 30.—Thomas D. Worrall, local political and business man, forty-seven years old, has committed suicide in his office by swallowing carbolic acid. Letters left to his wife and two sons and to Thomas A. Allen, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, showed that the act was premeditated for fear of a renewed attack of sciatica.

Hanging as a Sport.

We would not deny the gravity of death. It is a quite serious matter even to those of us who, while conscious of, or at least admitting, no really sinful performances in the past, would nevertheless, if pressed, confess to certain minor indiscretions which we would be only too willing to join with the Lord in forgetting. Nevertheless, if form or ceremony or general interest be considered the criterion, dying is one of the most popular things one can do. Nobody goes to see a man born, but the entire community turns out to see him buried. Indeed it is well known that many people, perhaps a majority, derive actual enjoyment from beholding with their own eyes life flicker out of a person's body. The almost universal satisfaction found from time immemorial in witnessing a hanging we can understand. The event is more spectacular and less expensive than a circus, possesses grisly human interest to a distinctive degree, is presumably grimly just and, in any case, is unpreventable. If the hanging is to take place anyway, why shouldn't we see it? That is the reasoning, and it seems good enough if one cares for that variety of sport.—George Harvey in North American Review.

The White Line.

The late David Christie Murray on one occasion told the story of the champion printer's error of his experience to the effect:

"I wrote at the close of the story of 'Grace Forbeach': 'Are there no troubles now?' the lover asks. 'Not one, dear Frank, not one.' And then, in brackets, thus [ ] I set the words [White lipe]. This was a technical instruction to the printer and meant that one line of space should be left clear. The genius who had the copy in hand put the lover's speech in type correctly and then, setting it out as if it were a line of verse, he gave me:

"'Not one, dear Frank, not one white line!'

"It was a custom in the printing office to suspend a leather medal by a leather boot lace round the neck of the man who had achieved the prize betise of the year. It was somewhere about midsummer at this time, but it was instantly unanimously resolved that nothing better than this would or could be done by anybody, and the medal was presented at once."—Westminster Gazette.

The Quicker Way.

"There goes a man," observed a steamship agent as he directed attention to a surly looking individual who had just engaged passage for Europe, "whose efforts are devoted to constructing short cuts in business methods and in eliminating all time consuming men and their propositions from his busy existence. He is a man of very few words.

"Some years ago this gentleman crossed the ocean and had a very unpleasant trip. One morning a sympathetic passenger offered him a lemon, expressing a sincere wish that it would give relief.

"The pale traveler seized the lemon, hurled it viciously into the ocean and growled:

"'This is a quicker way than the other.'"

RIVERS ON RAMPAGE.

High Water Damages Flood Wall Work at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 30.—As a result of a raise in the Grand river, the cofferdam at Eleventh street was partially destroyed and twenty-five workmen narrowly escaped drowning.

The men scrambled out as fast as possible and as they reached the shore they were startled, on looking back, to see one of their companions floundering in the water. The three men started back and rescued their drowning companion.

On account of the breaking of the dam, the work on the flood walls will have to be stopped for a few days, thus throwing about fifty men out of employment. The damage to the dam is placed at $1,500.

Marshall, Mich., Dec. 30.—The Kalamazoo river has risen several inches as the result of the eighteen inches of snow going off, and it is feared a flood will result.

Ground to Bits by Train.

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 30.—Ground into bits of flesh no larger than a man's hand, the body of John J. Melchert, fifty-four years old, a prominent contractor, was found on a sidetrack of the Michigan central railroad in the rear of Howard & Solon's wholesale fruit house. Some box cars had been switched off from the siding where he was killed, and evidently he was struck by them at the Milwaukee street crossing and dragged beneath the wheels for a distance of eight rods. Mr. Melchert was one of the most prominent Germans in Jackson.

Receiver Is Appointed.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 30.—Judge Kinne, at the request of the directors, has appointed the Detroit Trust company as receiver of the Chelsea Stove works, of which State Treasurer Glazier is at the head. The trust company immediately filed a trust mortgage of $425,000 to cover liabilities. It is estimated that the plant, with buildings, material, equipments and patents, is worth $750,000. The mortgage is filed so that all claimants will be treated alike.

An Ultimatum to Sugar Company.

Owosso, Mich., Dec. 30.—Declaring that the Owosso Sugar company is not fair with them in the matter of weight and tare, 200 representative farmers of the county met here and framed up an ultimatum to the sugar company. If refused, the farmers will grow no more beets. The growers demand a flat rate of $6, not applying to muck land grown beets; the erection of additional storehouses for the reception of beets at the factory, and that a representative of the growers' association be stationed at the factory to insure correctness of weight and tare. They insist that this representative shall be a man from the United States agricultural department, M. A. C., or a county man, as they shall decide. The men interested have 1,000 acres now given over to beets.

Found Dead in Lonely Spot.

Michigan City, Ind., Dec. 30.—The body of Miss Emogene Kinner of Penn Yan, N. Y., who disappeared from Michigan City on Dec. 11, has been found on the bank of a creek in a wild and unfrequented place. She had taught school in Yonkers and at Nyack, N. Y. Overstudy had caused nervous prostration, and she came here a month ago to recuperate her health and to spend the winter with her cousin, Frank M. Jones, an officer of one of the leading manufacturing plants of Michigan City. Late on Dec. 11, she started out to take a walk. No trace of her could be found after she left the house. It is supposed that she lost her way in the country and perished of cold.

ECZEMA

Cured in less than four weeks.

Those who have had experience with this stubborn disease can hardly believe at first that Wonderful Dream Salve can and does cure Eczema.

There is no doubt about the matter whatever. A great many letters are on file in our office from grateful patients, telling of the quick and easy way in which Wonderful Dream Salve has removed all traces of this torturing skin affliction.

Mr. John T. Kealey, a well-known business man, located in the Stevens Bldg., Detroit, Mich., was recently cured of a bad case of Eczema of fourteen years' standing. After treating with many doctors and taking many remedies without relief, Mr. Kealey was induced to try Wonderful Dream Salve, and in four weeks was entirely cured. He says:

"I certainly consider this a remarkable cure, inasmuch as I have spent hundreds of dollars in the fourteen years of annoyance with this troublesome itching skin ailment. I have since the cure of my case heard of other cures, some of them even more remarkable than mine, which go toward demonstrating the value of Wonderful Dream Salve as a great skin healer."

If you have Eczema, why not try a box of Wonderful Dream Salve. If it fails, your druggist will refund your money. Isn't that fair enough? Keep it in your home for Chilblains, Chapped hands, Piles, Cuts, Burns, Frost-bites, Boils and Sores of any kind. You will never use anything else 25c a box at your druggist or mailed prepaid direct.

MEN AND MACHINES.

The Limit of Human Speed Has About Been Reached.

One thing alone can intervene and put the curb on the desire for speed—man's powers of endurance. Already there are signs that it has almost reached its limit. The increase of nervous diseases, the spread of insanity, these and other warnings should serve as danger signals that the speed of modern life is excessive. The adjusting of a man's frame to rapidly changing conditions, great though it be, yet has its limits.

Machinery may be perfected to an incredible degree, but man—unless we are to conceive of him as becoming absolutely machine-like—will always have his limitations of flesh and blood. He will always be a fantastic creature subject to strange emotions, uncertain gusts of passion, sudden tricks of nerves or of physical exhaustion. Among the daily catastrophies from the lust of speed it is rare to find that it is the machinery which is at fault. It is the failure of the eye to transmit with sufficient rapidity the danger message to the brain or an error in judgment or a sudden nerve failure, one of these which brings about disaster. Man may perfect the machine but he remains himself ever imperfect. —London Saturday Review.

Gravity.

The most distant planet in our solar system, Neptune, is 2,750,000,000 miles from the sun, and yet the arm of the sun reaches out and controls the remote planet without the least difficulty. In a word, gravity is universal, every atom in the universe exerting its influence upon every other atom.—New York American.

A cure for misery.

"I have found a cure for the misery malaria poison produces" says R. M. James of Louellen, S. C. "It is called Electric Bitters and comes in a 50 cent bottle. It breaks up chills or a bilious attack in almost no time and puts yellow jaundice clean out of commission." This great tonic medicine and blood purifier gives quick relief in all stomach, liver and kidney complaints and misery of a lame back. Sold under guarantee by C. A. Wright & Son

Be good and you'll be happy in your loneliness.

If a cough once gets into your system it acts on every muscle and fibre of the body and makes you ache all over It especially affects the intestines and makes you constipated, so in order to get rid of a cold thoroughly and without delay you should not take anything that will tend to constipate. Kennedy's laxative cough syrup acts upon the bowels and thereby drives the cold out of the system. It contains no opiates—it is pleasant to take and is highly recommended for children. Sold by B. J. An Odd Place of Worship.

Burma can show the oldest place of worship to be found anywhere in the world. Some miles out of Moulmein, in the middle of a great plain, stands a lone rock so peculiar in form as never to be forgotten after once seen. Ages ago the caves which honeycomb this fortress were transformed from the habitats of bats and wild animals into places of devotion. Thousands of images of Buddha are carved on the walls, and in every chamber bronze, stone or wooden gods are standing, sitting or reclining in endless silence. It is computed that many millions of feet have pressed the earthen floors of these sacred caverns.—Boston Transcript.

She Was Too Quick.

She had buried three husbands, and the fourth lay cold while the undertaker measured him. She was known in the Kentish village to have put aside something more than husbands.

"It isn't p'r'aps the right time to mention such a matter," said the undertaker to the widow, "but if you was thinking of taking a fifth"—

"Now, that comes of being precipitous," replied the widow. "I've just took the barber what come to shave the corpse."

Reassured.

Mistress—Did any one call while I was out?

New Girl—Yes, mum; Mrs. Green called

"Did she seem disappointed when you said I was not at home?"

"Well, she did look a little queer, but I told her she needn't get cross about it, 'cause it was really true this time."

Her Powers.

Blank was accosted by a fellow citizen the other night, who said: "I heard your wife lecture. Her power of diction is wonderful."

"Yes, fair. But it's nothing to her power of contradiction."

Important Factors.

"The case had to be postponed again."

"Weren't the lawyers ready?"

"Yes, but the dressmakers demanded more time."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Household Hint.

How to cut your gas bill in two—Insert it between the blades of a pair of scissors and press together the blades. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

Pay of Army Officers.

A glance over the army list shows that over two-thirds of the officers are receiving less pay per day than good mechanics receive in civil life. The officer has no home, but must be prepared to live in the arctics or the tropics and change from one to the other at short notice. He must have equipment for both, and while in one place the equipment for the other is stored and deteriorating. He is sent on long journeys to distant stations and must suffer banishment from his family or take them along. Either is a great expense—on one hand for travel and on the other for maintenance of two establishments. His changes of station are so frequent that he must put his children in costly private schools or see them grow up in ignorance. Because he is an officer of the United States service to use the respectability position to add to his income commercially is regarded as reprehensible, and if he makes an investment he must intrust his interests to an agent.—Army and Navy Life.

The Old, Old Story.

Hot, tired and dusty, the excursion was returning from the seaside day trip, and Simkins, a little bald man with big ears, overcome with his day of happiness, dropped off to sleep. In the hatrack above another passenger had deposited a ferocious crab in a bucket, and when Simkins went to sleep the crab woke up and, finding things dull in the bucket, started exploring. By careful navigation Mr. Crab reached the edge of the rack, but the next moment down it fell, alighting on Simkins' shoulder. Not feeling quite safe, it grabbed the voluminous ear of Simkins to steady itself, and the passengers held their breath and waited for developments. But Simkins only shook his head slightly.

"Let go, Eliza," he murmured. "I tell you I have been at the office all the evening."—London Pick-Me-Up.

Men, Women and Adjectives.

Certain adjectives are reserved for men and others for women. A man is never called "beautiful." Along with "pretty" and "lovely" that adjective has become the property of women and children alone. "Handsome" and the weak "good looking" are the only two adjectives of the kind common to either sex. Even "belle" has no real masculine correlative in English, since "beau" came to signify something other than personal looks. It is singular that "handsome" should have become the word for a strikingly good looking person, since its literal meaning is handy, dexterous. But "pretty" likewise comes from the Anglo-Saxon word meaning "sly."

Beauty in the Angleworm.

If there is any living thing that seems to have nothing to relieve its ugliness it is the angleworm that crawls slimily across the sidewalk after a heavy rain. And yet even that is beautiful. Put a bit of its upper skin under the microscope and your ideas of the poor little worm will change mightily. It shimmers like the softest satin and sparkles with all the colors of the rainbow, for it is covered with little fine lines crossing each other like the cuttings in a glass vase.

The Smooth Handle.

Everything has two handles—one by which it may be borne, another by which it cannot. If your brother acts unjustly, do not lay hold on the affair by the handle of his injustice, for by that it cannot be borne, but rather by the opposite, that he is your brother, that he was brought up with you, and thus you will lay hold on it as it is to be borne.—Epictetus.

The eye, when properly cared for affords the keenest delight because of the pleasures we are able to enjoy through its medium When not cared for and its warnings are unheeded, it becomes an instrument of torture. BASE BALL.

"There were two pitchers in the Southern Michigan league last season who would have made good if they only had what the players call "noddle" and which the unitiated call brains Freeland, who started out with Kalamazoo and who finished with Battle Creek, where he pitched some and played the outfield quite a lot because of his hitting, came from the same town where Doggie Andrews hails forth during the snow ball months.

Andrews had seen him work and he said he was good and he was signed for a trial by Kalamazoo. He had everything that a pitcher ough to have except thinking machinery and showed an inclination to flinch under fire. But he plays out field nicely and clouts well and Battle Creek is going to give him another trial next spring in the outfield. Richardson, the south arm flinger, tried out by Jackson and Tecumseh, has all the pitcher's assortment, but he also lets his mental machinery go wrong. Another thing which hurt Richardson was his desire to tell "whoopers" to fellow players about his experience in Africa, South America, the Holy Land and Hastings. This made the players who have not traveled extensively, sore, and they did support him.

The Gazette tells also "What S M. Magnates want in their Sox," as follows:

"Dear Mr. Santa Claus: Will you please put in our sox:

"Lansing management: A manager to take the place of our dear little Mo and an angel with just as much coin and willingness as our departed Jas. Frank.

"Saginaw management: A blotter which will not blot out the memory of Mt. Clemens and Jackson and a rule book which will show us how to skin Bay City.

"Jackson management: A manager and a base ball team and willing hands to turn the turnstile with coin.

"Flint management: A third sacker like our lamented Midge Cragen.

"Tecumseh management: A gatling gun to keep big league managers from stealing our players.

"Battle Creek management: A promise that Secretary Reynolds will send just one bad umpire to our town so our fans can keep in practice chasing him over the back fence.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

WHAT CAUSES INDIGESTION

To be cured, weakness of stomach muscles must be overcome.

The chief cause of indigestion is the weakness of the stomach muscles and the lack of gastric juice.

To cure stomach trouble most people think they have to give up business and devote their time to dieting, exercise and a vacation.

To take Mi-o-na stomach tablets the muscles will be strengthened and the flow of gastric juice increased. Mi-o-na does not do the stomach's work; it makes the stomach strong enough to do it. In this way the trouble is cured and there is no further need of medicine.

No matter how severe a case you have Mi-o-na will cure it by strengthening the whole digestive system, the stomach and bowels working as they should.

C. A. Wright & Son sell Mi-o-na in 50c boxes and guarantee to refund the money if the remedy is not satisfactory. They take all the risk.

If you suffer with sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, heart burn, coated tongue, sleeplessness, nervous trouble or other symptoms of indigestion, here is the chance to get a remedy on the fairest plan ever known—costs nothing unless it cures.

ECZEMA

Cured in less than four weeks.

Those who have had experience with this stubborn disease can hardly believe at first that Wonderful Dream Salve can and does cure Eczema.

There is no doubt about the matter whatever. A great many letters are on file in our office from grateful patients, telling of the quick and easy way in which Wonderful Dream Salve has removed all traces of this torturing skin affliction.

Mr. John T. Kealey, a well-known business man, located in the Stevens Bldg., Detroit, Mich., was recently cured of a bad case of Eczema of fourteen years' standing. After treating with many doctors and taking many remedies without relief, Mr. Kealey was induced to try Wonderful Dream Salve, and in four weeks was entirely cured. He says:

"I certainly consider this a remarkable cure, inasmuch as I have spent hundreds of dollars in the fourteen years of annoyance with this troublesome itching skin ailment. I have since the cure of my case heard of other cures, some of them even more remarkable than mine, which go toward demonstrating the value of Wonderful Dream Salve as a great skin healer."

If you have Eczema, why not try a box of Wonderful Dream Salve. If it fails, your druggist will refund your money. Isn't that fair enough? Keep it in your home for Chilblains, Chapped hands, Piles, Cuts, Burns, Frost-bites, Boils and Sores of any kind. You will never use anything else. 25c a box at your druggist or mailed prepaid direct.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who are fond of treating the results, instead of doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or frequent calls the following day, and the necessity of being compelled to get up during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When answering mention this paper, and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

An engagement ring is a band of hope.

Even a little miss may make a hit when she grows up.

RHEUMATIC FOLKS.

Are you sure your kidneys are well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood and the failure of the kidneys to remove all uric acid from the blood shows the kidneys are inactive.

Don't dally with uric acid solvents for not until you cure the kidneys will you ever be well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid but cure the kidneys. Here is Tecumseh testimony.

Mrs. Sarah Austin, living on Pearl street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and think very highly of them. A year ago I was bothered with my kidneys accompanied by dropsical bloatings which made me feel miserable, distressing pains and rheumatism following. At night I did not sleep for the frequent action of the kidneys, passing a great deal of gravel with much pain I doctored with physicians but received no relief. Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and I took them the results being more than satisfactory and I believe they effected a complete cure. I am glad to endorse such a reliable remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

There's nothing so good for a sore throat as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil Cures it in a few hours. Relieves any pain in any part.

A man who pleases only himself must furnish all the applause.

How to avoid pneumonia.

You can avoid pneumonia and other serious results from a cold by taking Foley's Honey and tar. It stops the cough and expels the cold from the system as it is mildly laxative. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Hardly Negotiable.

Stories have been told of buttons, tacks and various extraneous substances found in contribution boxes, but it is seldom that a church member strikes a blow so severe as was that delivered by Amos Budd of Pottersville on one occasion.

It was at the close of a missionary sermon that Mr. Budd, whose wont it was to contribute 10 cents to each of the charities to the support of which the church subscribed, was seen to take a blue slip from his pocket and look at it keenly and affectionately.

When after a slight but evident hesitation he dropped the slip, carefully folded, into the box Deacon Lane, who was passing it, could hardly refrain from an exclamation of joy.

"The Lord will bless you, Brother Budd," he said, when the sermon was over, hurrying down the aisle to overtake the prosperous grocer.

"I hope so," returned Mr. Budd dryly, "but I'm afraid you can't lay on that being a check that I dropped in the box. It wasn't. 'Twas a receipted bill for kerosene the church owed me last year, and it had been overlooked. Of course it's jest the same as money, though, when you come to that."—Youth's Companion.

What His Music Bill Meant.

An architect who had planned and superintended the building of a west side residence had turned over the completed house to its owner. The architect had been in nowise hampered in the expenditure of money, yet his customer, being a good business man, gave his personal attention to the details of the cost.

"What does this mean?" he asked on a final inspection of the bills. "Three hundred dollars to a quartet of trained musicians. How can anybody have given a concert already in my house when no one is living there?"

"They were testing the acoustics of the rooms," the architect explained. "Every room in your house has been submitted to that test. There will be plenty of music there later on, and I certainly wouldn't want to finish the house without being sure that the sounding properties were satisfactory. In these days every private house or hotel that amounts to anything is put through the acoustic test before it leaves the architect's hands."—New York Sun.

Blind Men's Dreams.

One of the most intelligent inmates of a blind asylum, who came into the world blind, says that he never dreams of the things he has read about and never dreams of any thing or person that he has not in some way come in personal contact with. He dreams of music, of the voices of persons he knows, of such incidents as might happen at the home or in some place in which he has actually been, but never of incidents in other places or in other lands. Even although he has read descriptions of localities, of natural beauties, of the appearance of a street or a city, no idea of what they look like comes to him in the fancies of his sleep. There is a class of blind people who become blind when quite young. Such blind people never dream of any scene or object except those which have remained in the memory from what they actually saw before they became blind.—Pearson's Weekly.

Fish In Inclosed Waters.

Most people not without education and a general knowledge of natural history are mystified by the presence of fish in inclosed waters. For many years there was open mouthed wonder over the perch, bream and crayfish found in the newly cut dams near the Macquarie river, in New South Wales. In some cases the water had scarcely settled after the rain had filled the dam than the fish were observed, and the Australian farmers started a theory of spontaneous production. This obtained and gained wide credence until a Sydney professor chanced to pick up a wild duck and found its breast feathers and webbed feet well dotted with fertile and almost hatched fish ova, on which the "spontaneous production" theory was promptly withdrawn.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Old Time Mountebanks.

Coryat, describing the mountebanks he saw at Venice in the seventeenth century, who were adepts in the art of advertising, speaks of the "oration to the audience of half an hour long, wherein he doth most hyperbolically extol the virtues of his drugs and confections, though many of them are very counterfeit and false." And the author of a "Tour Through England" (1723) writes of a mountebank he saw in Winchester: "He cures all diseases and sells his pockets for sixpence apiece. * * * It is a prodigy how so wise a people as the English are guiled by such pickpockets."

Doglike.

As usual, he complained that the biscuits were heavy, the coffee weak, the bacon burned, and so forth.

His wife in the end looked up calmly from her letters.

"Don't growl so over your breakfast," she said, smiling. "Nobody is going to take it away from you."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Story of Beau Nash.

Beau Nash was not entirely a butterfly, as is proved by the following anecdote: His father was a partner in a glass business at Swansea. This was little known, and the Duchess of Marlborough once twitted him with the obscurity of his birth. "Madam," replied Nash, "I seldom mention my father in company, not because I have any reason to be ashamed of him, but because he has some reason to be ashamed of me."

Explained Away.

He was staring fixedly at his soup, or, rather, at a foreign body which floated upon the surface thereof. Presently he drew forth a pocket magnifying glass and examined the thing still more critically.

"Waiter," he shouted, "what does this mean? Here's a fly in my soup!"

The waiter bent obsequiously forward and examined the derelict which floated on that greasy ocean.

"Bless your heart, sir," he exclaimed, "that ain't no fly! It's only a bit of dirt!"

And yet that diner left the restaurant, another striking example of sour unreasonableness.

Dog Pets in Hotels.

"The one thing we have more trouble with than anything else," said the manager of one of the large hotels in upper Broadway, "is the fact that women insist on smuggling their pet dogs to their rooms. We have no objections to dogs as dogs. If the animal is not too large or too fierce our guests may take them to their rooms during the day and may even feed them there. But we draw the line at having dogs in the bedrooms at night. Any woman with a pet dog can have the beast cared for by the porter at night, and we have specially constructed kennels for all kinds of dogs, and we give them the best of care. But owners of pets seem to think that no one save themselves understands Fido or Gyp. The women seem to think that if doggie has not the comforting assurance of the owner's nearness then doggie will not sleep well. So women try to smuggle their pets to their rooms under their cloaks or by back ways or even bribe one of the porters to take it to their room, believing that we will not hear anything about it.

"As a matter of fact, the first thing the porter does after getting his tip is to tip me, and a couple of hours later the woman is called upon by a clerk, who tells her dogs cannot stay in the bedrooms all night.—New York Press.

His Neighbor's Cat.

A Cleveland lawyer tells of a man living in a suburb of that city whose sleep had been disturbed nightly by the howling on his own back fence of his neighbor's cat. At last, in despair, he consulted his lawyer.

"There sits the cat every night on our fence," explained the unhappy man, "and he yowls and yowls and yowls. Now, I don't want to have any trouble with this neighbor, but the thing has gone far enough, and I want you to suggest a remedy."

The lawyer looked solemn and said not a word.

"I am well within my rights if I shoot the cat, am I not?" asked the sufferer.

"I would hardly say that," replied the legal light. "The cat does not belong to you, as I understand it."

"No."

"And the fence does?"

"Yes."

"Then," concluded the lawyer, "I think it safe to say that you have a perfect right to tear down the fence."—Lippincott's.

Weeds Worth Millions.

New Zealand flax is one of a number of wild weeds that yield their gatherers great wealth. The flax, the strongest known, grows wild in marshes. When it is cultivated it dwindles and its fibers become brittle and valueless.

Indian hemp grows wild, and out of it hasheesh, or keef, is made. Keef looks like flakes of chopped straw. It is smoked in a pipe; it is eaten on liver; it is drunk in water; it produces an intense, a delirious happiness, and among orientals it takes the place of beer and whisky.

The most valuable weed of all the wild growths is the seaweed. The nitrate beds of South America, which yield something like $65,000,000 a year, are nothing but beds of seaweed decomposed.—Columbus Dispatch.

One Kind of Fame.

Authorities who have in charge some of England's ancient treasures try to discourage the habit of carving initials on these relics. A fine of $15 was recently imposed on a man who had chipped his name in letters six inches high on one of the stones in the "Druids' Circle" near Keswick. Close to the giant stone globe at Swanage a special slab is provided for the harmless reception of the names of all who are addicted to this self advertisement. On popular Alpine summits it is customary for names to be left on cards in emptied wine bottles.—Chicago News.

ACTION OF ALCOHOL.

The Seven Stages of Drunkenness and the Results.

According to the evidence given recently by Dr. T. T. Williams, an English physician, in a London police court, says the Literary Digest, he distinguishes seven stages of drunkenness—irritable, mellow, pugnacious, affectionate, lachrymose, followed, if the total doses were large enough, by collapse and death. It is noted by the British Medical Journal, from which this report is taken, that other authorities have formulated these stages in different ways. Says this paper:

"Magnan, who was one of the first to begin the scientific study of the physiological action of alcohol, distinguished five stages—first, slight excitement and a feeling of well being, in which speech and gestures became more animated; in the second stage ideas became crowded together and confused, the mood being, without any very obvious reason for the difference, gay or sad or full of tender emotion; in the third stage the confusion of ideas was greater and accompanied by incoherence, perversion of taste and smell, illusions, thick speech, vacant countenance and staggering gait; the fourth stage was coma and the fifth death. Magnan's second stage has been graphically described by Clayd Shaw as 'a loss of the sense of awareness of surroundings.'"

It is a Good Umbrella.

It was a sound, substantial umbrella, with a cheery wood stick. We found it hanging on a peg in the corner of our room in the hotel at Bruges (writes "P."). Such an umbrella could belong to none but an Englishman, and it at once occurred to us that it had been left behind by some former passing visitant. The umbrella was particularly interesting to me because I had foolishly come away from England without one. I eyed that umbrella as a small boy eyes a forbidden orchard. The next morning threatened rain, and I could not resist taking the umbrella tentatively from its peg, unrolling it and displaying its comfortable tent-like proportions. I put it back on the peg with a sigh and nobly went out unprotected. During the stay in Bruges my eyes and thoughts returned to the umbrella with strong fascination, and on the morning of leaving the temptation was still more acute. The angels of light and darkness struggled within me, but the good one triumphed, and we went to the station without the umbrella. We left our luggage in the hotel to be brought to us at the station by the boots. The Brussels train came in, but our luggage was missing. We took our seats, and at the last moment the boots rushed up, compensating for want of English by a large smile, and dragged our bags—and the umbrella. He threw it in to us, and the train departed. It is a good umbrella.—Manchester Guardian.

The Way to Succeed.

Here is a bit of advice that will go as far as any that was ever paid for: The only way to succeed is to be successful. Doesn't sound very profound, does it? It isn't. It's about as simple as anything that has ever been printed, and at first sight it may appear idiotic. But there is a lot in it. The man who succeeds is the man who brings to a successful termination every minute undertaking of every day's activity. The successful man's life is made up of a myriad of successes. If you let one little item of your day's work get by you without satisfying yourself that you have done your best on it you are preparing for a failure. A million treatises on how to be successful will not help you.

The trouble with too many of us is that we are so busy trying to see a great success in the future that we can't see the chances for little successes under our noses. Heaven is not reached at a single bound, and neither is success. The only way to succeed is to be successful. It is worth thinking over.—St. Paul News.

The Original Tobogganer.

The otter was the original tobogganer and his slide the first of its kind deliberately chosen. Whence came his information? I know not. Turn if you can the leaves of nature's wonderful volume back to the opening chapters of animal life for information upon this and countless other curious traits. Maybe the primal otter saw a cube of ice break from its parent glacier and go sliding down a polished path to the sea. He may have then tried the feat himself under the notion that such sliding was rare good fun for otters. Quien sabe? Wherever the otter may have obtained his idea of sliding, he has neither lost it nor improved upon it. He slides as his forbears did for love of sliding, but he does not altogether depend upon snow and ice. During summer earth slides serve well enough, and these will surely be found on the banks of streams frequented by otters.—Outing.

Westminster Abbey Customs.

Burial in Westminster abbey is not of course a question of money, but there are certain fees charged for interment within that ancient pile. Formerly the fees amounted to £150 or £160. Dean Stanley introduced many reforms in the scale of charges, with the result that the maximum cost is now £111 4s. 2d. It may, however, be £20 less. The variations in the cost arise in connection with the contribution demanded for the fabric fund, which is £26 or £36 or £46, according to the place of interment. Other items in the bill are £34 2s. 2d. for fees to the dean, canons, choir and vergers and £31 2s. on account of silk scarfs, hatbands and gloves to the clergy, choir and vergers, which were formerly provided by the undertaker and charged in his account.—Westminster Gazette.

Grounds For Suspicion.

The artist came in and seated himself with a foreign and unaccustomed air, a slight something of hauteur the woman thought.

"My landlord," he began, "came to me this morning and told me to have anything I wanted done in the way of improvements in my apartments. He told me to spare no expense."

The woman looked at him hard.

"I begin to suspect you," said she, "of having paid your rent."—New York Press.

Fish Have No Eyelids.

Goldfish do not close their eyes excause they have no eyelids. There exist in fishes no genuine eyelids, but in some (mackerel and sea mullet) there is a transparent film over the anterior surface of the eyeball, and in certain sharks there is a nictitating or winking membrane that is regulated by a special muscle.—St. Nicholas.

The Converse.

"Is success a crime?"

"I would not say that," answered the conservative citizen, "but I must state that crime seems to be a success in some quarters."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Self forgetfulness in love for others has a foremost place in the ideal character and represents the true end of humanity.—Peabody.

The Persian Language.

Persian is said to be not a very difficult language. The modern Persian is very much like the English in its sensible rejection of the inflections that burden so many of the world's tongues. There is no difference of termination to mark the gender either in nouns or adjectives, and all inanimate things are neuter. In other ways the Persian language conforms to the English.

Illegal.

Not Depressed.

"He says his whole life is a fizzle."

"Is he so pessimistic?"

"Not a bit of it. He's merely the clerk that attends to the soda water drinks."—Baltimore American.

It is for want of application rather than means that men fail of success.—La Rochefoucauld.

Mirth of a Murderer.

With the help of a little stick not unlike a tin opener, our burglar cut two long slits—one perpendicular, the other horizontal—in the iron shop shutter. Then he wrenched the flap toward him, bending it with his powerful hands as one twists open the lid of a sardine tin. Another minute and he was inside.

Quietly and methodically he thrust precious stones and rings into his little bag, choosing those which besides being small were of great value. The bag was all but full when the jeweler himself appeared at the back of the shop. He carried a candle in one hand and a revolver in the other.

The burglar bowed very politely and said:

"I did not care to pass by an old friend's house without stopping to bid him good day."

The unsuspecting jeweler allowed himself to be shaken by the hand, when, with a sudden thrust, the burglar stabbed him to the heart.

The bag was rapidly filled to almost bursting point, and before leaving the premises the burglar wrote a few words on a sheet of paper, which he pasted on the outside of the shop:

"Closed on account of death in the family."—London Scraps.

Professional Etiquette.

An eminent physician had a valuable cow, which became sick and seemed likely to die. He asked an Irish servant who lived with him if he knew anybody who followed cow doctoring. The doctor's groom said, "There's Jemmy Lafferty, who can cure any cow in the world." "Well, then," replied the doctor, "go for Lafferty." The cow doctor accordingly came and treated the brute for four or five days, and on the lapse of due time he waited on Dr. Lewis and pronounced her cured.

The doctor, greatly delighted, put his hand on his pocketbook. "Well, Lafferty, what do I owe you?" "Owe me!" replied Jemmy, drawing himself up with dignity. "Nothing, sir. We doctors niver take money of one another."

"My first impulse," said the doctor while telling the story, "was to throw his fee after him, but on second thought the whole affair seemed so ridiculous that I bowed him my acknowledgments with as much gravity as I could assume." — London Telegraph.

Loaded Ivory.

An ivory dealer uttered a cry of rage.

"Done again!" he said. "Done out of $50!"

And he laid aside one of the tusks from the great heap that he had been examining.

"It is ballasted with lead," he said. "That is a common Kongo trick. The native when he gets a good big tusk of eighty pounds or so melts up ten or fifteen pounds of lead and pours it down into the tusk's hollow. He fills it, so to speak, as a dentist fills a tooth.

"We dealers know the dodge, and every tusk is gone over carefully for a lead filling. My new trader, though, is rather careless, and this is the second filled tusk that has been worked off on him in the last quarter."

The dealer's frown vanished, and he smiled.

"Of course the trader and not I will have to stand the loss," he said.—Minneapolis Journal.

Old Age Is Selfish.

A lady residing in a quiet village in Suffolk used to take an interest in a very aged couple who were spinning out the last thread of life in "Darby and Joan" fashion, seated on either side of their fireplace. She often paid them a visit to cheer them up. The old man had been ailing, and at last a day came when the visitor found only one chair occupied. Darby was not in his usual place.

"Where is your husband?"

"Well, mum, he be gone at last."

"Oh, I'm so sorry! That is very sad for you," said the lady, seeking to find words of consolation.

"Yes, mum, it be sad," replied the old woman, "but, then, you see, he were fearfully in the way of the oven."—Pearson's Weekly.

Deadly East Indian Duels.

There are a good deal of savagery and stoical disregard of death left in the east yet despite the advance of civilization, and this extends to the so called sports of the people. Thus among the natives of Baroda there obtains still a kind of gladiatorial display in the shape of a fearful fist fight wherein the contestants wear a very formidable cestus of steel studded with murderous spikes. The duelists—usually big, brawny, athletic men who have been infuriated for the occasion with copious drafts of opium in which hemp is infused—enter the arena singing and set to with deliberate intent to kill, one or both invariably succumbing.

Life of Leisure.

There are still a few who are leisurely in their hours of freedom, but what about the old life of leisure? It used to be thought that such a life was innocent and admirable and that good fruit might come of it. But nowadays the man who does nothing but meditate and observe and write a little is a man condemned by the ordinary opinion of society.—London Reader.

It is indeed a desirable thing to be well descended, but the glory belongs to our ancestors.—Plutarch.

Guests Who Won't Order.

The business man returned to his office in a bad temper after the luncheon hour. "I wish people who haven't minds of their own would come to a realizing sense of the bother that they are to their friends and would develop a little initiative on their own account," he said. "Maybe it's only a mistaken idea of politeness, but anyhow it's a nuisance to be entertaining a person at the club and have him utterly without ideas as to what he wants to eat and drink. You ask him and he says he'll leave it to you, which is exactly what you don't want him to do. How can you divine his tastes, I'd like to know? What appeals to you very likely won't to him, and you know and he knows it. But your selections from the menu are always met with the comment 'That's very nice,' or 'You couldn't suit me better.' And so you go through the meal in a hit and miss fashion that certainly gets on the nerves of the host. The next time I run up against that kind of man I'm just going to sit back and let him do the entire ordering."—New York Press.

Effectually Squelched.

The clerk in a dry goods store was waxing sarcastic at the boarding house table because the schoolteacher said she was tired. "I don't see how you have the nerve to say that," he said. "You have a snap. Your hours are short, and, although you say you have to look over papers in the evening, I reckon you don't have to spend much time on them. Then look at the vacations you have—a week or two at Christmas, another in the spring, two or three days at Thanksgiving time and then the entire summer. Look at me. I have to work eight hours every day, with only a half hour at noon, and once in awhile I have to put in an evening at the store when they take inventory of stock. And my vacation! I get the legal holidays, two weeks in the summer and during the hot months a half day off, and heaven knows what a good half day does! Gee! Schoolteachers certainly have a cinch."

During this harangue the schoolteacher listened carefully to the noise he made while he talked. When he finished she said sweetly: "Well, why don't you become a schoolteacher? There's no law to prevent you that I know of."

And the rest of the table grinned audibly, while the clerk grabbed a toothpick and went out.—New York Press.

On the Dynamite Ships.

There is a service whose conditions are little known to the outside world, that of the men on the dynamite ships that lurk in the shadow of Canvey Island. It once happened that a cargo boat took fire near Canvey Island. The crew could not extinguish the flames, the vessel had to be abandoned, and the tide carried her straight for the dynamite ships. By a miracle the blazing hulk steered safely between them. But the tide turned, and with it back again she came. Another miracle and the floating inferno missed them all a second time. A spark from her blazing timbers, the least shock from a collision and she had exploded such a mine as would have blown the half of Essex into Ireland. She floated, hissing and spluttering, down the tideway and passed away, to burn herself to the water's edge beyond the reach of dynamite. And the silent, lonely men stayed unstirring at their posts and twice saw the grave open and close before them.—Army and Navy.

Missed the Towpath.

There was a little girl five years old or so living in an inland town up the state. Near her home there was no river nor, in fact, any water but the Erie canal.

The child's mother made a visit to New York and on her return was telling of her trip down the bay and of how wonderful the sea had looked to her. Her little girl was listening eagerly.

"Tell me just what the sea is like, mamma," she said.

Her mother made an effort.

"There's the beach," she said, "all smooth white sand. You stand on it and look out over the ocean, and all you can see is water, just moving water, waves coming in and breaking—nothing but water and sky."

The child sat trying to picture it, then in an awed little whisper asked: "Oh, mamma, isn't there a towpath?"—New York Times.

Little Mamie Rose Rose.

"It doesn't take these little Russian children long to catch on to things in this country," remarked a teacher of the Educational alliance. "When one explains a word to them they never forget it, and they are always ready with an illustration of its meaning too. I remember that some time ago I had explained to the class the meaning of the word 'ambiguity,' and then, as the custom is, I turned about and made them explain the word to me.

"'Now, is there any one,' I asked, 'who can give me an illustration?'

"A grimy little urchin at the back of the room stuck up his hand.

"'Here's a ambiguity fer ye,' he cried. 'Little Mamie Rose sat on a tack—little Mamie Rose. See?'

"Oh, no," concluded the teacher, "you don't have to explain a thing to the east side child twice."—New York Sun.

The Lady and Her Dog.

There are any number of men who would ask who you were talking to if you hinted that they were not absolutely masters in their own establishments, yet these very men are often the slaves of their dogs. By the way, unless you really want to make her your sworn foe, don't, whatever else you may say or do, speak disparagingly of a lady's dog, even if it is the most unholy mongrel that ever wagged a tail.—Fry's Magazine.

What We Want Daily.

Protein to make blood and muscle, bone and brain, and corresponding quantities of fat, starch and sugar and the like to be consumed in the body to serve as a fuel to provide warmth and give strength for the body. The protein is found in lean meats, fish, eggs, cheese, gluten of flour and in beans and peas and the like.—London Answers.

British English.

Englishman—I say, ye knaw, what's the bookage to Boston? Railroad Ticket Clerk—The whatage? Englishman—The bookage, ye knaw—the tariff What's the tariff? Ticket Clerk—I haven't time to talk politics. — New York Weekly.

The success of a movement depends much less upon the force of its argument or upon the ability of its advocates than the predisposition of society to receive it.—Lecky.

An English View of Robert E. Lee.

General Robert E. Lee was indeed fully Washington's equal as a hero and a gentleman and much his superior as a soldier. It is only in the larger political or semipolitical sphere that he stands lower and there perhaps only because his opportunities were so much smaller.—London Times Review of Trevelyan's History.

What Dropped.

"I heard you let something drop in the kitchen just now, Kate. Did you break anything?" asked the lady of the house when dinner was being served.

"Only one leg of the chicken, ma'am!" replied the girl innocently.—Charity.

When Pride Is Humbled.

"How can I ever hope to win such a proud beauty?"

"Drop around when men are scarce. She ain't nearly so proud then."—Washington Herald.

Acetylene Gaslight for Rural Homes.

ACETYLENE Gaslight is a natural Light.

It is plain, every-day, world-old, Sunlight in fact. But it is Sunlight muzzled so that you can use it as "soft" or as brilliant as you choose, by the mere turning of a tap on the chandeliers, or by the use of plain white-glass globes.

Moreover, Acetylene is practically filtered Light from which all useless or injurious color, soot, or excessive heat factors are eliminated.

On this account an Acetylene flame one-tenth the size of that from Kerosene, Gasolene, or City Gas, gives as much reading Light as ten-tenths of these other illuminants.

Which means that Acetylene produces only a fraction of the heat, air-consumption, and Carbonic Acid Gas poisoning which other Lights produce.

It also explains why Acetylene Gaslight costs a full third less than Kerosene Light for the same identical candle-power, when once installed in a Country Home, Hotel, or Store.

About two days labor will so install it, and forever dispense with the disagreeable lamp-cleaning, filling, wick-snuffing and chimney-wiping needed 365 days per year with Kerosene Lamps.

Write me to-day how many rooms you've got, or how large your store.

Then I will tell you how little it need cost you to install a suitable Acetylene Lighting Plant which will be good for 40 years' steady use afterwards, and pay for itself in the labor it saves.

Address me thus—Acetylene Jones—6 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

Many Color Lines in Cuba.

There are social distinctions in Cuba based upon color. There is not one but several color lines, though these are not eternal, hard, fast and unchangeable, as in the United States. In Cuba social life is run largely by social clubs. There are in almost every town and village negro clubs, two or three grades of mulatto clubs and white clubs. In one and at its functions may appear the husband, excluding the wife; in another, the wife, but not the husband; in a third, their children, but neither the father nor mother. To the world this will appear incredible, almost incomprehensible. Here it is convention, fixed, settled, accepted and operative. These distinctions, however, run but for a lifetime.—Army and Navy Life.

Where the Dog Is Valued.

In northern France and in Belgium especially the dog is indeed the friend of man. He is made to work. He gets little play except that small amount deemed sufficient to prevent canine dullness, yet he is so loved and so well cared for by his owner that he becomes a most important member of the family. The farmer, the tradesman, the householder, the guardsman of the frontier worships his dog—one of the first things he thinks of when founding his little home. He takes delight in rousing the dog's intelligence and loses no chance of pitting that intelligence against others. Local farmers vie with each other to improve a breed. Dog clubs take up the work, holding exhibitions in villages and towns. Cities challenge neighboring municipalities to contests on the grandest scale.—Wide World Magazine.

Wrecked by a Whale.

While cruising in the south seas the whaler Essex was furiously attacked by a cow sperm whale supposed to have been the mother of a calf which had just been harpooned. The whale had not been wounded herself, and her attack was very determined. At her first rush she passed under the Essex and carried away a great length of her false keel; then, coming to the surface a considerable distance away, she appeared to take bearings and deliberately charged the vessel again, ramming her with such violence that she stove in the bows, while the ship rolled so heavily that the captain thought she must be dismasted. The case is memorable because the crew had to abandon the vessel, and one boat was never heard of again.—Baily's Magazine.

Jingled His Wealth.

Young Scotch Precentor—Man Tammas, there's ae thing bothers me sair when I'm singin', an' I canna get ower't. I'm awfu' nervous.

Old Precentor—Aye, aye. I wis the same as you when I wis young, but I found oot a cure, an' I've aye kept tae't. I jist pit seeven or acht coopers in my pouch, an' when I feel the nervousness beginnin' I give them a bit rattle. It mak's me feel kin' o' whit I may ca' independent like. Try't, mon, try't.—Dundee Advertiser.

High Living.

An eminent man who is a strict abstainer from both wine and animal food is obliged in consequence of this peculiarity to refrain from dining out. He entertains, however, an occasional kindred spirit. One such was recently at his table.

"You ought to have seen them," said the eminent man's son, "rioting over boiled carrots!"

In Wooden Shoe Land.

Patience—Did you have any shoes made in Holland? Patrice—Well, I tried to have a pair made, but when I went to get them they told me they hadn't cut the tree down yet.—Yonkers Statesman.

Those spirits on the hunt for "sensations" in Constantinople will wish to "take in" the dervishes. The whirling plan have a convenient convent on the Grand Rue, where their circumnavigations may be witnessed at 7:30 o'clock on Friday evening for the admission of 10 cents. This weird performance personifies the solar system and is exactly ordered in all its phases. After preliminary circuits of the ring in single file to the discordant accompaniment of flute and tambourine the robed and turbaned dervishes commence their turning. With arms outstretched, the right palm upward to beseech blessings, the left depressed to signify mercy bestowed, the head is bent upon the right shoulder. The rapid revolving upon the right heel is effected by employing the left toes as motive power. As the circling accelerates, the long white skirts dilate until they stand out stiff after the manner of the attenuated garment of the premiere danseuse. Very little space is allotted to each priest, and it seems strange that there are no collisions. The dance ceases in an hour or so with the men exhausted.—Travel Magazine.

Boys' Use of Barometers.

Every English schoolboy who can afford it has a barometer that he keeps hidden under his bed or in his trunk, for in all English schools barometers are strictly forbidden to the pupils. Why should they be forbidden? Why should they be desired? Through the autumn and winter the English schoolboy plays football every afternoon, weather permitting. He must play two hours each clear day. These two hours are taken off his recitations. They make his school tasks two hours lighter; hence when he knows beforehand that the next day will be clear he may spare himself two hours of useless study the night before. His barometer pointing to "fine" saves him a lot of toil. But when the instrument points to "change" then the schoolboy knows that there will be no football. Thus a boy with a barometer has a big advantage. He often sells weather predictions at a penny apiece.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Giants Not Long Lived.

Giants are not long lived, says Dr. Woods Hutchinson in the American Magazine. "Of nearly 100 names recorded I have been able to find the ages at death of only eighteen, as follows:

Lewis Wilkins	28
The Giant Constantin	30
Charles Byrne, the Irish Giant	22
Cornelius McGrath	23
James Toller	24
Thomas Hasler	25
The Minnesota Giant	18
The Norfolk Giant	43
Patrick Cotter	45
Clerk in Bank of England	32
C. Munster	45
J. Winckelmeier	22
The Kentucky Giant	22
Lady Aama	18
S. Botis	37
Peter Tuchan	29
The Peruvian Giant	39
Antonius of Syria	35

"This makes an average longevity of barely twenty-eight years, or only a third as many years as they had inches. A giant living to a good old age is a thing unheard of."

America's First Book.

The first book printed in America was "The Eccale Espiritual Fara Flegar al Cielo" (Spiritual Ladder For Reaching Heaven). It was printed in the City of Mexico in the early part of 1537 by Juan Fabios on a press brought from Europe by Fra Julan de Zumarraga, first bishop of Mexico. The first attempt at a newspaper in America was the Mercurio Volante (Flying Mercury), Mexico, 1693. The first Indian school was founded in 1524, and industrial schools for Indians date back to 1543. "Half a century before our overland pony express was inaugurated there were regular monthly mails the length of Spanish-America—from Paraguay to San Francisco, a little matter of 5,800 miles."—M. A. Lambug in Scottdale Independent.

Howler and Healer.

Rokitansky, the father of the well known operatic singers, was professor of pathology at the Vienna university. Besides the two singers he had another couple of sons, who had acquired a certain celebrity as medical men. One day when the old professor was asked how his sons were getting on he replied, shaking his head:

"You see, friends, two of them heal and the other two howl, and the howlers earn four times as much as the healers!"—London Standard.

The Philosophical Father.

The old man had finally succeeded in marrying off two of his seven daughters.

"Your girls have been blessings," said the officiating clergyman after the double ceremony.

"Yes," the old man huskily asserted, "they are the sort of blessings that brighten as they take their flight."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Couldn't Take the Job.

An inland graduate came to New York to seek employment. Through a friend he received an offer of a place as shipping clerk to a certain firm. In reply he wrote as follows: "I regret that I cannot accept your kind offer of a position as shipping clerk, but the fact is that I am always sick when on the water."—Success Magazine.

Persuasion.

"I can't marry you," she said. "You are old enough to be my father."

"Don't hesitate on that account. Ten years from now nobody will suspect it."—Chicago Record-Herald.

There is always reason in the man for his good or bad fortune.—Emerson.

The Simple Minded Kurds.

Some of the peculiar traits of the Kurds of Asia Minor are described by a traveler: "If it were possible to imagine two colors more distinct than black and white it would be possible to imagine two characters more widely differing than those of the Arab and Kurd. The pure Kurd is the most unsophisticated and gullible person in the world so long as you keep away from the material issues. His respect for a man who can read and write is almost pitiable. The Kurds are on the whole blunt and somewhat uncouth, silent and quite incapable of falsehood. If they do wrong—and they often do—they admit the fault in the simplest and most unaffected way. I had a muleteer who was honest, civil and incorrigibly idle. 'Did you ever kill a man?' I asked him one day. Yes; sixteen on the Khazat road when I was a deserter from the army,' came the reply in a voice absolutely unmoved. 'You were a robber?' 'Yes, but now, praise be to God, I am married and a muleteer.'"

Had His Revenge.

The rivalry was great at the annual cricket match police versus publicans, and many friendly bets depended on the result. When the last batsman, Police Constable Robinson, walked to the wicket the police required only two runs to win, and naturally great excitement prevailed. He batted with due care until a loose ball came, and, hitting this past mid-on, he started for an easy run. He got home comfortably before the wicket was thrown down, but to his disgust he was given out.

"Why," exclaimed the indignant constable, "I was a yard past the wicket!"

"Mebbee," said the umpire in a supercilious tone, "but, yer see, it ain't what you say; it's what I say, an' I say you'm out!"

"But"— began the irate Robinson.

"D'yer remember," interrupted the umpire, meditatively scratching his nose, "sayin' to me 'bout six months ago, 'Don't argue with the law?' Well, you was the law that time an' I was run in. Now," he added, triumphant, "I'm the law an' you're run out!"—London Tit-Bits.

Most men think indistinctly and therefore cannot speak with exactness.—Johnson.

Large Deings.

On Long Island a hundred and more years ago there was fox hunting for three days during the season, and the biography of Catherine Schuyler contains the following apt lines from the pen of a witty woman whose name remains unknown:

A fox is killed by twenty men,
That fox perhaps had killed a hen.
A gallant act no doubt is here.
All wicked foxes ought to fear
When twenty dogs and twenty men
Can kill a fox that killed a hen.

Ideal Justice.

"Sammy," said a Germantown mother recently to her youngest born, "when you divided those seven pieces of candy with your brother did you give him four?"

"No, ma'am," replied Sammy, "I knew they wouldn't come out even, so I ate one before I began to divide."—Harper's Weekly.

The Poor Villains.

"Don't your heart ache fer the pore hero an' heroine, Hiram?"

"Oh, I dunno, Marthy. They allus come out right an' sassy in the end. Sometimes I can't help feelin' sorter sorry fer the villain an' the villainess."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mr. Tierney had been suffering for the past three years with consumption and had gone west in search of health. About four years ago he married Miss Anna Smallidge, formerly of Tecumseh, and they lived for some time in Detroit, where Mr. Tierney held a good position with Park, Davis & Co. Later he traveled for this company in the west. He leaves beside his wife, a father and brothers in Detroit.

LETTER

From George Graves who lives at

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Writes to Frank Davidson of this place and through his kindness we are allowed to print.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 26, 1907.

Mr. Frank Davidson.

DEAR FRIEND;—As I left Tecumseh I told you I would write you a letter from Los Angeles and tell you all about my trip and also this country just as it looks to me and start from the time I left Chicago. We left Chicago at 9 a. m., Saturday, Dec 7, over the Sante Fe R R. on the fast mail train, going through a prairie country and all you could see was large ranches covered with cattle and horses and corn piled up in large piles, probably 5 to 10 thousand bushels in one place.

We went through this kind of a country all day and when night came I went to my berth for the night and could not tell you anything until next morning at 6 a. m. when we arrived at Kansas City, Mo., which is a very large city with any amount of business in cattle and stock trade and large packing houses. Here is where all of the western cattle are slaughtered and shipped to all parts of the country. We left at 9 a. m with the sun shining which made this day's ride just grand as we were coming in sight of some of the finest country you ever saw.

This was in the edge of Colorado, which is all farming country with fine buildings. That afternoon at 2 p. m. we were at the foot of the mountains, stopping at this place 25 minutes for lunch and to get two more large engines to pull us up the mountains which was a four hours ride to the top. Looking on either side of the train you could see snow on their peaks but where we were it was nice and warm. Next came the finest ride of all, going down the mountains using only one engine and talk about running fast we just flew around curves and over large bridges until it became dark and then I retired to my berth for the night completely tired out.

At 6 a. m. I was up and ready for another day of pleasure. We stopped at a place called, Slegman at 8 a. m. and left at 7 a. m. I had lost an hour and had to set my watch back after the conductor and I had a little argument and I saw my mistake. This was Pacific time. That day we traveled through Arizona which is a very poor state. Miles and miles you would not see a house or a living thing, then you would come to a cattle ranch. Looking at the place where they were grazing you would say they would starve living on sage brush. Your cattle could not live there. All that day was alike.

At 5:30 we crossed Colorado river and into Needles, the hotest place in the United States. We stopped here 25 minutes for lunch and took a little walk around town seeing only Mexicans and Indians. No white people live here. That night we traveled through what is called the American desert and it is surely named right. I had to raise the car window to keep it cool enough to sleep and when I arose in the morning I was covered with sand which blew in our window.

But we had come to a better country which was 125 miles out of Los Angeles and orange groves on either side of the train. Trees just loaded with ripe fruit—a fine sight for December. This is a level country and very productive, growing all kinds of garden truck at all times of the year, the land being well irrigated by artesian wells. We continued through this kind of country until we reached Los Angeles which is located at the foot of Mt. Lowe and the finest place I was ever in.

The sun was shining bright and warm, flowers all out in full bloom with people mowing their lawns and picking flowers you would say it was the last of June in Michigan. The streets are nearly all payed, all cement side walks and the yard full of flowers and palm trees. You would say you were in paradise. But I have only told you the good side of it and as I told you when I left Tecumseh that I would tell you just as it is or as it looked to me.

I will tell you the other side if possible. Los Angeles is a tourist city, people coming from the east with plenty of money, to spend the winter and when spring comes, return back home again, leaving all of their money in Los Angeles which the land sharkers and grafters speculate on until they come back again. Talk about grafters you never saw anything like it, you have to watch yourself that some one don't hand you a lemon. Real estate men do a flourishing business, buying and selling city property, doing the business with a little money and the rest wind, but they get the money. City lots, 30 by 150 feet sell from $1000 to $2500 away out as far as 67th street, four miles to the city hall.

A laboring man can never make a home here as there are no manufactories. You may look in any direction and you will not see a smoke stack to any large factory and wages are not as good as they are in Michigan for common labor. Rail roading is a great deal better, any tradesmen is better or if you are a good grafter you are all right, but if you can not hold down any of these positions you had better not stop here.

Now in regard to the close times for money. I don't think it effects us here as the First National bank issued two hundred dollars of bank scrip and the city is full of it. Looks like the old shin plasters we had in olden times. This money is no good outside of the city limits. Now I have told both sides of the situation in Los Angeles, but not about my trip to Long Beach Christmas day 20 miles from the city which is a fine ride through a fine country. On reaching there we saw hundreds of people enjoying all kinds of amusements such as fishing, bathing, boat riding, gathering shells from the beach and everything that you would see in Detroit at Belle Isle park in August.

Here is where I saw my first whale which was in a park at Long Beach. The length of this fish was 63½ feet and its weight 48 tons. Now Friend Frank I will say that if you wish to enjoy yourself for one winter just come to Los Angeles. We are all well. My daughter is clerking in a large department store, Bert is working for an auto firm and I am going to work for the Santa Fe railroad next month. Now I hope this letter will find you and your family well. I hope you will write me all about Michigan and any information you may want I will try and give you.

Yours Truly,
GEORGE GRAVES.

Mrs. L. C. Covell.

In the fullness of time and the ripeness of years she has answered the summons "come up higher." Lurancy Caroline Morrell was born in New London, Oneida county, N. Y., May 9, 1838. She was the eldest of six children, four brothers and one sister, all having gone before except the youngest, Myron Morrell, of Kalkaska, Mich. May 9, 1850 she was united in marriage to Andrew Covell, who preceeded her to the great beyond. To this union three daughters were born, one dying in infancy, the others, Mrs. Logier Lowe of Cape Girardo, Mo., and Mrs. F. C. Meissner of Los Angeles, Cal., are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother.

In Jan., 1864, with her family she came to Michigan locating near Tecumseh, to which place they soon after moved and where she has since lived, with the exception of the past year spent with her granddaughter, Mrs. C. H. Beardsley, of Ogden Center, Mich., where she passed away Jan. 4, after many months of illness. Early in life she became a member of the Christian church and how consistently and faithfully she lived the life, those who knew her best can speak only in the highest praise.

Honest, upright and true, no higher tribute can be paid. During her more active days she was an ardent worker in the temperance cause. She was identified with the great crusade of years ago and up to the time of her death was a member of the W. C. T. U. She will be mourned by a large circle of friends who will miss her genial smile and helping hand where ever it was their joy to meet her.

The funeral was held from the home of Miss Margaret Haire this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Ward officiating. Burial at Brookside.

Henrietta Barnes.

The funeral of Henrietta Barnes was held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnes, southwest of town Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. Ward officiating. Miss Barnes died in Kalamazoo last Monday of organic heart trouble and through some misunderstanding the telegram failed to reach her parents and the contents read before Thursday.

By the use of the telephone the body was located at the undertakers and reached here Saturday morning. Miss Barnes was 20 years of age. Her parents have the sympathy of a host of friends.

Thomas Boyd.

Thomas Boyd, who resides west of town, died Sunday morning at 1 o'clock after an illness of several months, aged 79 years. He leaves four children beside his wife to mourn his loss, Mrs. Chet Haynes, Margaret and Wallace Boyd of Adrian, and Mrs. Wallace Tilden of Cambridge. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the house at 2 o'clock, Rev. Dunning officiating. Burial at Brookside.

Mary Dillingham.

Brief services were held over the remains of Mrs. Mary Dillingham Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Newcome, Rev. Ward officiating. The remains were taken to Clinton where a large concourse of friends had gathered in the church to pay their last respects to one whom they loved so well. The burial took place in Clinton cemetery.

Charles Gough.

Charles Gough, who resides southwest of town near the Prairie Side celery farm, died at his home Saturday afternoon of Brights disease. He was 52 years of age. The funeral was held from the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Ward officiating.

WONDERFUL DREAM SALVE CO., Detroit, Mich.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

An engagement ring is a band of hope.

Even a little miss may make a hit when she grows up

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Tecumseh people cannot doubt what has been twice proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from distressing kidney ills, thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Tecumseh residents who so testified years ago now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to local kidney sufferers.

S. Erskine, living on Evans street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "For 10 years I was troubled with kidney complaint and dragging pains in my back always more severe if I lifted anything. My rest was disturbed at night by the too frequent action of the kidneys, the secretions being highly colored and showed much sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and took them. They did me worlds of good and I felt better and stronger than I had for a long time. Take me five years ago and I was so grateful that I gave a statement for publication. I think just as highly of the Pills today as I did then and am glad of the opportunity to re-endorse them that others may try them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

A man who pleases only himself must furnish all the applause.

Cures baby's croup, Willie's daily cuts and bruises, mama's sore throat, grandma's lameness—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—the great household remedy.

The more vicious a woman has the less she talks about them.

A lazy liver leads to chronic dyspepsia and constipation—weakens the whole system. Doan's Regulets, 25c a box, correct the liver, tone the stomach, cure constipation

The only sure thing about a sure cure for a cold is that it isn't.

When you want the best, get DeWitt's carbolized witch hazel salve. It is good for little or big cuts, boils or bruises and is especially recommended for piles. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Evil minded folk measure others by their own standard.

How to avoid pneumonia.

You can avoid pneumonia and other serious results from a cold by taking Foley's Honey and tar. It stops the cough and expels the cold from the system. It is mildly laxative. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Wonderfully Good Sight.

The Duchess of X. once went to Greenwich to see the marvels of the observatory. It was a lovely night, and for the fair duchess' benefit the great telescope was duly leveled at the dazzling field of stars.

"What is that star?" she said, pointing to a very bright one.

"Oh, that's Aldebaran, a star of the first magnitude."

"Is it very far off?" asked her grace.

"About six or seven light years, your grace."

"What is a light year?"

"Merely an expression which one uses to convey an idea of the distance which light travels in a year. Roughly speaking, light travels at the rate of 190,000 miles in a second, and there are about 31,000,536 seconds in a year. In one year, therefore, light travels above 5,991,840,000,000 miles. The expression 'light year' includes these figures."

"And is that star all those millions of miles away?"

"Yes, your grace, as nearly as we can calculate."

"Then all I can say," remarked the duchess, "is that you must have wonderfully good eyes to make out that star's name at that distance, even with this big telescope. It's really most marvelous."—London Tit-Bits.

Slaughtered the Anthem.

"When I went west first," said a Unitarian minister, "I was in a small town called L., and in the choir of my church the village blacksmith did noble work as baritone. He had a voice that could shake mountains, and whatever it lacked in any other feature it made up in volume. He couldn't read music any more than he could English, but he learned a tune very readily.

"One Sunday we were to be favored with a new anthem because it was a special occasion, and the baritone had one portion all to himself. Unfortunately he had missed many of the practices.

"The anthem went along excellently until it came to a beautiful part which reads, 'And, dying, bids us all aspire.'

"Here the rest of the singers stopped short in that quick, sudden way that choirs have, and in the ensuing stillness sounded the ponderous tones of the blacksmith:

"'And dying brides are filled with fire.'"—Boston Herald.

To a Higher Table.

John Barrett, chief of the bureau of American republics, after various other experiments in diplomacy, came to Washington from Oregon during President Cleveland's second term to get anything he could. He brought a bunch of Oregon boomers with him, and for a time they stayed at the best hotels. The job was slow in coming, and they went from cheaper place to cheaper place, like Mark Twain's office seeker, until they were forced to eat at one of the lunch places on Pennsylvania avenue. One night while they were at dinner word came that President Cleveland had decided to appoint Barrett minister to Siam. Barrett rose from the table and put on his coat.

"Hold on, John!" cried one of his companions in misfortune. "Where are you going? Aren't you going to finish your dinner?"

"Gentlemen," said Barrett as he stalked out, "this is no place for the minister to Siam to dine."—Saturday Evening Post.

Not Certain About That.

Mrs. Verdigris was enumerating her various ailments. "I haven't kept track of all of 'em," she said, "but one of the first things I had was the lumbago in the small of my back. Then I had the influenzy awful bad. The next thing was the rheumatiz. Since then I've had neuralgy, nervous headache, sore throat, indigestion, a breaking out on my skin and ever so many other pesky little troubles that I can't remember."

"It would be an interesting list," said her sympathizing neighbor. "Why didn't you take an inventory?"

"I'm not certain but what I did," answered Mrs. Verdigris. "I took ever so many things. I'll try it if you think it'd help me, but unless it's very mild I just know it won't stay on my stummick."—Youth's Companion.

Made a Record.

"Yo' said in yo' sermon, Brother Dickey, dat Jonah wuz eat up by de whale?"

"I sho' did."

"Well, den, how comes he live ter tell it?"

That seemed to stagger the old man, but he gathered himself together and replied:

"Dat's easy. You see, Jonah wuz de fust fisherman, an' he had ter make a record!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Inquisitive.

"Nell—I declare! That woman finds out everything. I never knew any one so inquisitive. Belle—That's right. I believe she would even pump an organ."—Philadelphia Record.

No One But Yourself if You Don't Get Well When Sick.

All we can do is give advice. Of course that's easy.

But our advice is really worth a little more to you than most people's, for we offer to give you the first bottle of our medicine free, if it fails to help you

We could not afford to do this unless our medicine was good. Such an offer, on the wrong kind of medicine, would put a merchant prince in the poor house.

Dr. Miles' Nervine, however, as years of experience have proved, is a medicine that cures the sick.

Those whom it cannot benefit—less than one in ten thousand—we prefer to refund their money.

All we ask of you is to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for your complaint. If you suffer from sleeplessness, nervous exhaustion, dizziness, headache, muscular twitchings, melancholy, loss of memory, weak stomach, poor blood, bilious troubles, epilepsy, St. Vitus' Dance, etc., we will guarantee to benefit you or refund your money.

You are the doctor.

My son Bert, when in his 17th year, became subject to attacks of epilepsy, so serious that we were compelled to take him out of school. The Gripple and His Father.

Not even the wide flapping trousers of his sailor suit could wholly hide the slender form wasting away from lack of use. Smoldering brown eyes illuminated the little face, made wizen by hours of pain, as he smiled up at the tall man at his side, who, broad of shoulder and strong of face, smiled back encouragingly.

A troop of small boys noisily invaded the car at the next station. Reckless in their good spirits, one of their number was roughly pushed against a crutch, causing it to fall to the floor. The man's eyes blazed more with anguish than with anger as he exclaimed harshly, "Be careful!"

The sturdy urchins, awed at what had occurred, subsided in seats opposite. The man looked over their heads into space. The child looked first at the boys, then with questioning eyes back at the man.

"Fawther," he whispered as he lightly touched his sleeve, "would you love me better if I was like those boys?"

The man gave a startled glance across the aisle at "those boys," insolent in their perfect health and boyhood vigor, then tightly grasping the hand nearest to him said: "No, son. I love you better than all the world—just as you are."—New York Times.

Risky Speculation.

In the days "befo' de war" a handy negro named Jack was saving money earned at odd times with which to buy his freedom. His master encouraged him and kept his money for him. In time Jack had saved $900 and needed only another hundred to make him free. His master told him that it wouldn't be long now until he could get another hundred. Jack went out with another slave to celebrate some local festival. Returning along the railroad track they were frightened by an approaching train. Both got off the track, but Jack's companion fell and, striking his head against a rock, was killed. Jack hurried as rapidly as he could to his master's house. It was a late hour, but the master must hear him. He said, "Gimme mah money right now." The astonished master remonstrated, saying, "But, Jack, you need only another hundred dollars to get free." "I knows it, Mars' Henry, I knows it, but niggers is too onsartin. Bill jes' killed hisself by bustin' his head agin a rock, an' I ain' gwineives' mah money in nothin' as onsartin as niggers."—Washington Herald.

Grieg as a Schoolboy.

Grieg, the noted composer, was not a pattern schoolboy. In a description of his days at school he wrote: "Knowing that by arriving late I would not be allowed to enter the class until the end of the first lesson, I used, on wet mornings, to stand under a dripping roof until I was soaked to the skin. The master then sent me home to change my clothes, but the distance being long this was equivalent to giving me a dispensation. You may guess that I played this prank pretty often, but when at last I carried it so far as to come one day wet through, though it had hardly rained at all, they became suspicious and kept a lookout. One fine day I was caught and made an intimate acquaintance with the birch."—St. James' Gazette.

A Peculiar Cold.

Sims Reeves had been announced to sing at a small public dinner at which Dickens presided, and, as happened not infrequently, Sims Reeves had something the matter with his throat and was unable to attend. Dickens announced this, and the announcement was received with a general laugh of incredulity. This made Dickens very angry, and he rose manfully to the defense of the delinquent. "My friend, Sims Reeves," he said quietly, "regrets his inability to fulfill his engagement owing," he added, with caustic severity, "to an unfortunately amusing and highly facetious cold."

One Was Assumed.

A fool tricked out in motley smiled on his lord and said to him, "Sir, what is the difference between my foolishness and thine?"

"Say on," quoth the lord.

"Well, of mine," quoth the fool, "I make a profession."

Hocus Pocus and That Sort of Thing.

I saw a Hindoo out in the open street take three good sized balls, larger and heavier than hens' eggs, and commence tossing them up in the air, catching them as they returned. Soon his hands were motionless, but the balls kept ascending and, so far as I know, are ascending still. They did not return. Were they dematerialized by some invisible psychic power? Such is my opinion. During my stay in Madras there came down from a mountain a genuine psychic and seer. He was truly a venerable mystic. In a bungalow on a bright sunshiny day, 3 o'clock p. m., a dozen present, this old yogi burned incense, repeated some mantras and said in substance, "Now I can move any object in this room by my will." Reflecting a few moments, I said, "Command those peacock plumes up there to come to you." Focusing his thought, his will, upon them, they leaped at his bidding from the case and, sailing around the room, fell at his feet. Other objects were moved in a similar manner. This was genuine white magic.—St. James's Gazette.

A Good Job.

"The late Andrew McNally of our well known publishing firm once had occasion," said a Chicago lawyer, "to consult me about an infringed copyright. Mr. McNally said he thought there would be no trouble about correcting this infringement. The thing, he believed, had been innocently done. The man who had done it was an amateur in publishing—unsophisticated, like a girl his father used to tell about in Ireland.

"This girl was the daughter of a poor man, and every week or so she used to come to the village rectory with a pheasant or a hare to sell. The price she asked was low, and for a time the pastor bought of her. Then, somehow, his suspicions were aroused. The next time the girl called he said to her sternly:

"'It is good, fresh game you bring, my dear, and your price is always reasonable, but do you come by all these pheasants and hares honestly?'

"'Oh, shure, yes, your reverence,' said the young girl. 'My father is poacher to Lord Clare.'"

Small Bet Nobly Paid.

Lord Falmouth—who bred horses, knew all about them and had had for trainer that paragon, John Scott—never bet but once. He had a promising filly, Queen Bertha, and she was the favorite for the Oaks in 1862. She had apparently fallen off in condition, and her owner put no confidence in her. Falmouth was inclined to scratch her, when Mrs. Scott, John Scott's wife, spoke up for her favorite. "I'll lay your lordship sixpence she wins," said Mrs. Scott, laughing. For once Lord Falmouth broke his rule never to bet and exclaimed, "Done, Mrs. Scott!" So Queen Bertha, with Tom Alderoft up, appeared at the post and, thanks to the brilliant riding of her jockey, beat Marigold by a short head for the first place. Lord Falmouth paid his bet to Mrs. Scott in noble fashion. He procured a brand new sixpence from the bank, had it set round with diamonds and mounted as a brooch and in that form presented it to the comely mistress of Whitewall.

Advice of the largest coffee dealers in the world is always to buy the old-fashioned Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee in the sealed packages. Don't ask for a pound of Mocha and Java, or buy by the price, for Coffee fluctuates and you cannot get the same coffee for the same price all the time unless you pay too much for it. Most of the so-called Mocha and Java Coffee is simply masquerading, and is not nearly as good coffee for you as Arbuckles' ARIOSA, the blend of the Brazilian Coffees most suitable to the taste and health of American people. By the looks there is no difference between roasted Java and Brazilian Coffees; many people drink Brazilian but pay for Java. The principal difference is that Arbuckles' costs you less. It is a mistake to believe that a high price guarantees quality. When you buy Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee, you get a full one pound package of the leading Coffee of the world. Its sales for 37 years are greater than the combined sales of all the other packaged coffees. By giving better Coffee for the money, we have built up a business exceeding the combined businesses of the four next largest coffee firms in the whole world. If your dealer will not supply the genuine, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

SETS THEM THINKING.

Angell Addresses Mass Meeting On Anti-Saloon Question.

HELD IN UNIVERSITY HALL.

Asks Why Did Not Delegates Include Lansing and Houghton in Proposal —Ann Arbor Will Keep Popular Sentiment Aroused With Meetings.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 9.—"Why have the delegates omitted from the proposed constitution prohibition of the sale of liquor in Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and the normal college towns, the vicinity of Michigan Agricultural college? Is it because that institution is too near Lansing?"

With this remark, President James B. Angell of the University of Michigan addressed his auditors Wednesday night at a mass meeting in University hall, of students and townspeople interested in making Ann Arbor a dry town. Some of his hearers figure the president had left a good deal of food for thought in that remark too. The president said in part:

"As long as I can remember, there has been agitation here against the laxity with which the liquor laws have been enforced and officers who didn't care to enforce them. Though the good men of the town have often been dissatisfied, their appeals to have the liquor business conducted in a right minded way have been vain. The saloonkeepers have kept open after hours, sold liquors to minors and drunkards and done a thousand illegal things.

"Now the town is divided as to the proposition of prohibition. I think that there is room for division. In the first place, the proposed constitutional provision does not contemplate the abolition of saloons in Lansing and Houghton, the seats of Michigan Agricultural college and the Michigan College of Mines. Then the propositions holds no provision for its enforcement and that crowns the whole thing.

"It would be a delight to my soul if these saloons could be exterminated, but we should not go into this matter with our eyes closed and get a law that will not be enforced.

Duties of Teachers.

"One of the things we teachers have to do is to cure students of vulgar habits. I don't mean eating with your knife, but I do mean low things. The teacher's duty is to lead students to look upward. Now it is the citizen's duty to better conditions in the liquor traffic. It's a personal responsibility. It is a question of morals, not money."

There were about 1,000 people at the meeting and the majority of those were townspeople and faculty members. Prof. Henderson of the department of engineering presided and speeches were made by others beside President Angell. James W. McCandless, '08 lit., spoke on the question from the students' viewpoint. He cited several instances where boys who started out at Michigan with brilliant prospects were driven from college by drink. He also said that of last year's membership in the sophomore drinking society, "Pipe and Bowl," 90 per cent are not now in college.

Rev. A. W. Stalker, pastor of the Methodist church, delivered a strong speech in favor of the petition urging the passage of the proposal. He said it would be the best thing to remove the saloon; that he wants to see it go, and that he is glad to sign the petition.

Dr. William Blair explained the petition that is now going the rounds, and he announced that there would be a series of meetings to keep the popular sentiment aroused. He said that Judge Grant of Lansing will be heard on the subject here in the near future, and that Judge Artman of Indiana will be here to speak March 2.

DEBTS TOO GREAT.

Chicago Great Western Railroad in Receivers' Hands.

CAUSED BY LOSS OF STRIKE.

Heavy Outlay For Improvements Also Aided in Financial Embarassment —Obligations Falling Due in Next Four Years Total $10,000,000.

St. Paul, Jan. 9.—Judge Walter H. Sanborn of the United States circuit court has appointed A. B. Stickney and Charles H. F. Smith, both residents of St. Paul, receivers of the Chicago Great Western railroad. A. B. Stickney is now the president of the road. The firm of Kellogg & Severance of St. Paul was appointed attorneys for the receivers.

The appointments of receivers followed the inability of the company to meet obligations falling due in 1908 and the failure to secure an extension of the obligations. Loss as a result of the boilermakers' strike of last fall is given as a partial cause for the financial straits of the road. It was also pointed out in the proceedings that during the last ten years the road has spent $19,000,000 in reconstruction.

The petition for a receivership was filed on behalf of the stockholders and the finance committee by John A. Humburg of Minnesota, George P. Meyer of New York and Ward Cummings and Alexander Wallace of Great Britain.

Stiles W. Burr of St. Paul appeared as attorney of record for the complainants and Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul made a statement to the court of the condition of the road and the grounds on which a receivership was asked.

Directors File Answer.

As soon as the petition of the complainants had been filed, an answer was filed on behalf of the board of directors, who met and voted to become a party to the receivership proceedings.

In asking for the appointment of receivers Mr. Kellogg said that the capital of the Chicago Great Western consists of four classes of stock, but two of which need be considered in the receivership proceedings. These are the preferred "A" and the debenture stock, each of which represented 56 per cent of the original first mortgage bonds.

The preferences of these two classes of stock are secured by a trust deed to the Manhattan Trust company of New York. There will be a default in the payment of these obligations Jan. 15, said Mr. Kellogg.

Further outlining the conditions of the road, Mr. Kellogg said that the Great Western owes $10,653,413.71, now due or falling due within the next four years, of which notes to the amount of $545,000 have gone to protest.

The sum exceeding $10,000,000, said Mr. Kellogg, is part of the $19,000,000 spent by the Great Western in the last ten years in rebuilding the road. There was due, last month, notes to the amount of £50,000 and will be due during the rest of January notes aggregating £283,200. The total amount of obligations due during 1908 is $3,342,545.45.

Israelites Have Bad Fire.

Benton, Harbor, Mich., Jan. 9.—The "House of David," the Israelite colony, suffered a $25,000 fire. The origin is as yet unknown. The printing plant, including linotype machines, cylinder and job presses, together with plates for all of their seven publications, were destroyed, also the electric lighting plant and power station for all their machine shops. Steps will be immedjately taken to rebuild. The buildings are just outside the city limits, and the city fire department could not give aid because the Israelites had no fire hydrants.

Child Fatally Burned.

Coopersville, Mich., Jan. 9.—Marion Grass, the five-year-old daughter of Lloyd Grass of this place was so seriously burned that she died a few hours after her injury.

The child was playing with a piece of paper, which she attempted to put in the stove. Before she could cover the paper it blazed up, igniting her clothes.

Wounded Boy Dies of Lockjaw.

Sprague was hunting and, striking his gun against a post, exploded the charge into his left thigh.

GOT DROP ON JEROME

Defense in Thaw Case Subpoenaes Three Physicians.

TESTIFIED AT FIRST TRIAL.

At That Time They Appeared For the Prosecution—Half of Jury Secured —Original Venire of 300 Special Service Jurors Exhausted.

New York, Jan. 9.—The work of securing a jury to try Harry K. Thaw a second time for killing Stanford White was half completed when court adjourned shorty before six o'clock last night. The original venire of 300 special service jurors had been exhausted at that hour and the customary night sitting was not held. Two hundred additional talesmen have been ordered to report.

The oath of service was administered Wednesday to three men, making six in all who have been finally accepted. Three provisional jurors were also in the box at the close of the day's sessions, but they are still subject to peremptory challenges. Another series of these arbitrary removals reduced the panel when all twelve seats had been filled at four o'clock and six chairs were left vacant when it was finished. The defense has now exercised eleven of its thirty challenges and the prosecution eight.

Jurors Closely Questioned.

In the selection of the jury, Martin W. Littleton, Thaw's senior counsel, is so conducting his examination of talesmen as to impress upon them that should the defense introduce evidence tending to show that Thaw was insane at the time of the Madison Square roof garden tragedy, the burden of proof will fall upon the shoulders of the district attorney and he must prove, beyond all reasonable doubt, that the defendant was legally sane. This principle of law was not so clearly enunciated at the former trial.

Thaw's attorneys Wednesday furnished the first big surprise by admitting that three of the physicians who were retained by the district attorney for the first trial and who declared, when Mr. Jerome made application for a lunacy commission, that, in their opinion, Thaw was so insane as not to know the nature of the proceedings against him, are now under subpoena by the defense.

They made affidavit that, in their opinion, Thaw was suffering at the time of the inquiry from an incurable form of insanity. These same doctors, however, previously testified on the witness stand, in response to Mr. Jerome's famous hypothetical question, that they believed Thaw knew what he was about when he shot and killed Stanford White. This move, it is said, is intended by the defense to block the prosecution's putting the doctors on the stand and it is taken by some as showing a determination not to have Thaw convicted, even with the danger of a stay in the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan as the alternative.

Lunacy Commission Possible.

If they are placed on the stand, Mr. Littleton may draw from the three physicians the opinion that Thaw was also insane at the time of the homicide and then endeavor to limit all testimony as to the defendant's mental condition to the immediate period of the tragedy. If successful in this, the defense would force a trial of the case strictly on the ground of Thaw's mental condition in the summer of 1906.

This, in turn, would force District Attorney Jerome again to apply for a lunacy commission and, should this occur, Thaw's attorneys are confident of his ability successfully to establish his claim of present sanity before such a board.

Calls Special Session.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 9.—Governor Glenn has issued a proclamation for a special session of the general assembly of North Carolina, to begin on Tuesday, Jan. 21. The proclamation states that the specific purpose of the extra session is to change, modify, straighten or repeal the railroad passenger rate of two and one-quarter cents a mile passed at the last session of the legislature.

Fell Six Stories and Lives.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 9.—P. D. Clark, a pipefitter, working on the new Grinnell Bros. building on Woodward avenue, had a miraculous escape from death when he fell six floors from a scaffold and sustained little more than a broken arm, two or three ribs fractured and a multitude of bruises.

HEINZE LOSES CONTROL.

Couldn't Meet Payments to Goulds and Stock In Mercantile National Bank Reverts Back.

New York, Jan. 9.—Being unable to meet payments due on his stock in the institution, F. Augustus Heinze has lost control of the Mercantile National bank, the conduct of which as its president had brought his arraignment in the United States circuit court on charges of over-certification.

One year ago, Heinze bought a controlling interest from the Goulds, with whom he pledged his holdings as security for his promise to pay for them in full within a year. This loan of $1,200,000 was due Wednesday to Edwin Gould and William Nelson Cromwell, who was a member of the Gould party in the bank before the Mercantile was added to the Heinze-Morse-Thomas chain of financial houses. Up to the last moment allowed him, Heinze struggled to meet his obligations and, so, to retain his banking interests. His failure was chronicled in the following statement issued by Mr. Cromwell after an afternoon conference of the parties concerned:

"The Heinze stock in the Mercantile National bank has been acquired by Mr. Gould in a satisfactory arrangement. Mr. Heinze was given every possible chance to pay for the stock but, because of his inability to do so in the time agreed upon, we have been forced to take it over."

Later, Mr. Cromwell added that the Gould interests would assume their proper place in the bank board at the meeting on Jan. 14. This implies, of course, that the so-called Heinze directors will then retire.

Heinze, now under bail consequent upon an indictment by the federal grand jury on a charge of over-certifying checks of his brother's brokerage firm involving $460,000, was arraigned before Judge Chatfield.

A plea of not guilty was entered and permission was had to alter or to withdraw it, or to make any other desired motions later. An adjournment of the case was ordered until Jan. 20, when the final plea will be made. The bail of $50,000 was continued.

Walsh on the Stand.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—John R. Walsh, in his first public explanation of the affairs of the Chicago National bank since its closing by national bank examiners, took the witness stand Wednesday in the United States district court to defend himself against the charges of misapplying funds of the institution. He admitted that he had personally engineered the loans of millions of dollars to the railroads and other enterprises in which he held large blocks of stock. He also acknowledged that the system of memorandum notes used in the bank was his. He denied, however, that he undertook these transactions with any thought of personal gain, asserting that the interests of the Chicago National bank and its allied institutions, the Equitable Trust company and the Home Savings bank, were his chief concern. Mr. Walsh was on the stand four hours. Cross-examination was still in progress when court adjourned for the day.

Notorious Russian Captured.

New York, Jan. 9.—After a ceaseless search of nearly two years, Jan Janoff Pouren, alleged to be a notorious Russian brigand who is wanted in the province of Livonia, Russia, for murder, arson and many robberies, has been caught here. He was arrested on the complaint of Russian Consul General M. DeLodygensky and held for further examination and the arrival of extradition papers. Pouren is a mild looking man and, though the officers expected difficulty in arresting him, he submitted without protest. Detectives found that he was employed as an engineer in one of the East river tunnels. He admitted his identity by indicating that a photograph in possession of the detectives was one of himself. He cannot speak English.

Suspected of Four Murders.

Florence, Colo., Jan. 9.—Anton Bavori, truck farmer, is under arrest on suspicion of killing three persons and, perhaps, four. Mrs. Frank Palmetto, Dominick and Joseph Minichello, brothers, and Ercol A. Buffetti are missing. Portions of human bodies were found near the Arkansas river, and it is feared that all four of the missing persons were murdered and thrown into the river. An ax covered with blood, found in Bavori's hut, and the statement of a Mexican washerwoman that she had washed for Bavori a bloody suit of clothes, led to the arrest of Bavori. Robbery and revenge are given as the possible motives of the suspected murders.

Score Still in Hospitals.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 9.—Of the nearly 100 persons who suffered injuries in the wreck of the Collver special on the Southern railway near Hiram, Ga., about a score are still confined to hospitals, but it is believed that all will eventually recover.

A man's conscience only troubles him when something else does.

Do not refer to the village constable as a lobster; he may pinch you.

No Chesterfield.

A Boston man was praising the late Earl of Dunmore.

"Lord Dunmore," he said, "was a good man. Tall and robust and supple, I can see him still with his short gray beard and his kind face. His only fault—a fault due to his aristocratic upbringing, no doubt—was the exaggerated value that he set upon correctness. He insisted in correctness in eating, in dress, in everything.

"At a dinner in Beacon street once I heard him tell a story about an incorrect self made man, or 'nouveau riche,' as he called him. This man was dressing one night to go out. His wife bustled into the room before he started to look him over.

"'But, George,' she said reproachfully, 'aren't you going to wear your diamond studs to the banquet?'

"'No. What's the use?' George growled. 'My napkin would hide 'em anyway.'"—New Orleans States.

Proof of Brains.

Mr. Travers, the famous New York wit, once met at dinner a pompous Englishman who was "doing" the States. He had letters a-plenty attesting his importance—letters from Gladstone, Dilke, Salisbury and Churchill. He had talked everybody tired before the dinner began, and Travers saw visions of a bad meal when he discovered the Englishman to be his neighbor at the table. There was never a stop in the fellow's tongue. When the oysters were brought on he began: "Now, it is a question as to whether or not the oyster has brains. Scientists dispute the idea," "T-t-t-they certainly have some," retorted Travers. "Your proof, sir!" challenged the Briton, eager for argument. "W-wh-wh-why, sir, the o-o-oyster knows h-hah-how to shut up."

A cure for misery.

"I have found a cure for the misery malaria poison produces" says R M. James of Louellen, S. C. "It is called Electric Bitters and comes in a 50 cent bottle. It breaks up chills or a bilious attack in almost no time and puts yellow jaundice clean out of commission" This great tonic medicine and blood purifier gives quick relief in all stomach, liver and kidney complaints and misery of a lame back. If a cough once gets into your system it acts on every muscle and fibre of the body and makes you ache all over. It especially affects the intestines and makes you constipated, so in order to get rid of a cold thoroughly and without delay you should not take anything that will tend to constipate. Kennedy's laxative cough syrup acts upon the bowels and thereby drives the cold out of the system. It contains no opiates—it is pleasant to take and is highly recommended for children. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

How He Grew Young.

One satisfied man returned from a two weeks' holiday. He spent it on a farm owned by an old aunt, and the royal way in which she fed him, to use his own description, formed the chief delight of his holiday.

"You see," he remarked confidentially, "my aunt is a graduate of a diet and cooking school of the most up to date sort. She sees that we never have a meal which isn't perfectly balanced as to food values. The things we eat are chosen with reference to that and not with regard to whether we like them especially. Well, I can tell you, old Aunt Laura, with her table just groaning with forbidden, indigestible articles, was a mighty welcome change to me. [illegible] heard drates or phosphates or cellulose, and she wouldn't know a proteid if she met one in a bean porridge, where, by the way, I believe they largely congregate. But I tell you her fried chicken and fresh pork and biscuits were the finest things I've had for years. My wife actually turned pale when she saw me eat, and I know she was worried, because we were six miles from a doctor. I was never ill for a minute, though, and those two weeks of old fashioned, unscientific cooking have made me feel like a new man—or, rather, like a boy again."—London M. A. P.

Her Conversion.

When preparing his parishioners for the solemn ordinance of confirmation an old clergyman found among them one old woman so excessively ignorant and stupid that for some weeks prior to the time he was obliged to have her come to his house every day in order to instruct and catechise her. At length he began to hope that his time, patience and zeal had not been entirely bestowed in vain, a few bright flashes of understanding having burst from the old dame's clouded intellect. "Now, my good friend," said the worthy pastor just previous to the commencement of the ceremony, "as this is the last moment in which I shall have an opportunity of conversing with you, let me ask, do you thoroughly understand and believe all the articles of your Christian faith?"

"Aye, yes, sir, thank'ee," replied his venerable pupil, with a simper and dropping one of her best courtesies, "I does indeed now, and, thank God, I heartily renounces them all."

The Clock Struck 1.

It was just two minutes to 1 when John Ludlam entered the house and, unwrapping a paper parcel, said to his wife that he had brought her a present of a clock. It was her birthday, and she had expected a brooch or a ring at least, and so she said tartly, "You liked the look of that clock."

His face flushed. "A nice way to speak about a present!" said he hotly.

"Well, it's the truth. I wouldn't have given a couple of shillings for it," said she in an exasperating tone.

John Ludlam was a quick tempered man. The veins in his temples swelled, and—

Just then the clock struck 1.

What did it signify—that the clock was running all right?

It did not. The ambulance surgeon said a few minutes later that if the clock had struck one inch nearer her temple John Ludlam would have been a widower.—Pearson's Weekly.

Ohio's Pioneer Town.

Marietta was founded in the spring of 1788 by New Englanders, chief among them being General Rufus Putman of Massachusetts, Samuel Holden Parsons of Connecticut and James M. Varnum of Rhode Island. The town was named after the unfortunate Marie Antionette.

He Heard of It.

Admiral Walker was a fine old sailor, and he was recognized as thorough. No personal friendship softened his manners to a delinquent. One day when he was sailing out from Hampton Roads with the international fleet that helped us to celebrate the centennial of Washington's first inauguration his orders about weighing anchor were disobeyed by his dearest friend in the service, who was in command of one of the ships, and as the old Chicago, the flagship, passed the trembling culprit the navies of the world heard "his whiskers" thundering out from the bridge objurgations and expressing wonder at his own moderation in not putting his old comrade under arrest. At another time when the white squadron was sailing out of a Mediterranean bay another old friend worked his ship so awkwardly that the admiral—then nearly a "trade dollar admiral"—suspended him by signal in the face of the whole fleet. The punished captain, coming aboard to protest against his public reprimand, puffed out indignantly, "Why, sir, I never heard of such a thing." "Well," said John, pulling at his big side whiskers, "you've heard of it now."—Harper's.

Too Much For Him.

"Andrew," said a devoted wife to her husband, "I want a hundred."

"A hundred what?" exclaimed the husband.

"Dollars," she replied calmly.

"What for?"

"Oh, a whole lot of things."

"Um-um," he hesitated. "I guess I shall have to check your extravagance, my dear."

"Do," she smiled, "and make it payable to my order, please."

He collapsed then and there.—Brooklyn Citizen.

STORY OF A SAD LIFE.

Henrietta Christina Barnes, Blind and a Sufferer.

The funeral services of Henrietta Christina Barnes were held at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs Fred Barnes, on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock in North Adrian. She was born in Dundee, Mich., May 27 1886 and died in Kalamazoo January 1, 1908, aged 21 years 7 months and 5 days.

The story of her life is a sad one At the age of six years the optic nerves became affected and gradually she lost her sight until she became totally blind. She was then sent to the state school for the blind at Lansing, where, at the age of thirteen years, she was taken with spinal menengitis and was sent to Dundee, where her parents then resided.

The physicians who met her and her nurse at the train declared that she also had black diphtheria. Many will remember the stir this created in the state about eight years ago.

Her life was despaired of at that time but, although it has remained in her body these 8 years, she has been an object of constant care and pity, for the ravages of those terrible diseases destroyed her intellectual powers, left her paralyzed and helpless All this in addition to blindness. She was sent to Kalamazoo on March 17, 1903, where she remained until the angel of death freed her spirit from its awful bondage on New Years morning.

Of the family it may be said, if this were all their sorrow it would seem enough, but four of their nine children have lost their eyesight in this same manner, one of whom has preceded Henrietta to the other world Will who is about 14 years of age, has been in the blind school for some time, but was sent home a few weeks ago because of failing health It was a pitiful sight to see him at the side of his sister's casket His hands were guided to her face where, with his fingers he tenderly examined her features, while the tears coursed down his face.

Alice, aged eleven, who is not yet totally blind, is attending the school at Lansing and is doing nicely in her studies Of the five who are well, two sons are married and living in Toledo. Minnie, a very nice girl of seventeen years, is Mr. Hosea Hall's housekeeper. Henry and Karl, aged about 9 and 7, are at home and attending the district school, where they are much loved by their schoolmates Mr and Mrs Barnes have the sincere sympathy of the community.—North Adrian Cor in Adrian Telegram.

AMUSEMENTS.

Tom Marks and his company opened at the Croswell Monday evening for a week's engagement, with a packed house. The standing room only sign went out early and extra seats had to be supplied for those who were willing to sit way down in front. It was an ovation for Tom by his friends, who have not seen him for the past five years. At his first appearance and ever thereafter during the evening, he was applauded for his work and his friends seemed never to get enough of him. The play was "That Irish Boarder" and it furnished a good plan for introducing an excellent repertory company, one of the best popular priced combinations that Marks ever brought to Adrian. The specialties this year are particularly strong and were given in almost their entirety on this opening night. During the evening Mr. Marks made a neat little curtain speech in which he invited all his friends to come and see him and wished them a happy New Year. It used to be Merry Christmas, but Tom was a little late in getting here this time.—Adrian Telegram, Dec. 31.

He has some excellent specialties this year in the musical, dancing and comedy line, besides some good moving pictures, making a continuous performance that is worth the money every time. No doubt there will be crowded houses.

Tom Marks and his company will be at the New Bradley three nights, Jan. 13, 14 and 15, opening with "The Irish Emigrant." Monday night one lady and gent or two ladies will be admitted to best reserved seats for 30c now on sale at Orr's drug store.

Tuesday evening C. E. Williamson purchased the interest of A. H. Stahler of the firm of Rauch & Stahler and took possession at once. The firm name will be Rauch & Williamson. Mr. Williamson is well known in Tecumseh, having been in business here for a number of years. The HERALD wishes the new firm a prosperous business life.

The remains of Miss Francis Richmond, who died at the home of her nephew, Will Graves, in Brooklyn last Saturday, were brought to Tecumseh Tuesday for burial.

The remains of Joseph Roper will be brought here from Chicago tomorrow morning for burial. A short burial service will be held at the grave.

Card of Thanks

To the many sympathetic friends whose kindness to us have been so comforting and cheering during the sickness and death of our dear mother, we wish to express our sincerest appreciation and gratitude. Kindness in such an hour was a richer favor and is of greater value than ordinarily. This we have learned during the last few weeks. Most sincerely,

MRS. SARAH VAN GEISON.
MRS. LIZZIE D. NEWSOM.
WILBUR C. DILLINGHAM.

HA! HA! HA!

Good digestion and good health bring joyous life.

Whoever heard of a jolly dyspeptic? Merriment and indigestion are as far apart as the north and south poles. Do not blame the poor dyspeptic for being blue, cross, nervous and grouchy. He can't help it. No one whose stomach is weak, whose tongue is furred and who hesitates at eating a hearty meal for fear of distress, can be sweet tempered.

Tone up the weak stomach muscles and get digestion working naturally by using Mi-o-na stomach tablets. This remedy is not a digestive that gives temporary relief only; it cures all stomach troubles by strengthing the digestive machinery and putting into perfect order that it will take care of all foods without distress or flatulence.

Mi-o-na cures stomach troubles in a natural way, increasing the flow of gastric juices that nourishment is extracted from the blood and the refuse expelled without the use of medicine.

If the complexion is blotched or pimpled 9 cases out of 10 it comes from a bad stomach and can't be cured until the stomach is regulated by Mi-o-na.

So reliable is Mi-o-na in curing indigestion and all stomach weakness that C. A. Wright & Son sell the remedy under guarantee to refund the money unless it cures. Try a 50c box and see in how short a time you will forget that you have had a stomach.

WONDERFUL DREAM SALVE CO., Detroit, Mich.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

An engagement ring is a band of hope.

Even a little miss may make a hit when she grows up.

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Tecumseh people cannot doubt what has been twice proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from distressing kidney ills, thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Tecumseh residents who so testified years ago now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to local kidney sufferers.

S. Erskine, living on Evans street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "For 10 years I was troubled with kidney complaint and dragging pains in my back always more severe if I lifted anything. My rest was disturbed at night by the too frequent action of the kidneys, the secretions being highly colored and showed much sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and took them. They did me worlds of good and I felt better and stronger than I had for a long time. This was five years ago and I was so grateful that I gave a statement for publication. I think just as highly of the Pills today as I did then and am glad of the opportunity to re-endorse them that others may try them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

A man who pleases only himself must furnish all the applause.

Cures baby's croup, Willie's daily cuts and bruises, mama's sore throat, grandma's lameness—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—the great household remedy.

The more rights a woman has the less she talks about them.

A lazy liver leads to chronic dyspepsia and constipation—weakens the whole system. Doan's Regulets, 25c a box, correct the liver, tone the stomach, cure constipation.

The only sure thing about a sure cure for a cold is that it isn't.

When you want the best, get DeWitt's carbolized witch hazel salve. It is good for little or big cuts, boils or bruises and is especially recommended for piles. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Evil-minded folk measure others by their own standard.

How to avoid pneumonia.

You can avoid pneumonia and other serious results from a cold by taking Foley's Honey and tar. It stops the cough and expels the cold from the system as it is mildly laxative. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

MUCH EVIDENCE FOUND.

Police Confident Scott Is Murderer of Cornelia Welch.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 9.—"We have the strongest kind of suspicion," says Detective Chief McDonald, "of Dan Scott, the thirty-two-year-old lover of the sixty-five-year-old Cornelia Welch, whose battered corpse was found in her apartments at 78 Congress street east." To emphasize this assertion, the entire detective bureau is slowly weaving a net about the suspected person, which, the police hope, will force a confession.

Scott, the police say, was the avowed "friend" of the murdered woman, who ran one of the lowest dives in the city. He had his own room in her house, ate at her table, accepted her money. The police say that Scott has beaten and kicked women before.

But the suspicion of the police rests upon other reasons: The bulldog, kept by the woman, who would let no stranger harm their mistress and, most of all, upon Scott's own conduct and assertions. He was very much excited when talking to Captain McDonnell about the crime and has been caught in many contradictions and lies, the police assert.

It is the theory of the department that Scott went to the woman and demanded money. She gave him none and they quarreled. He gave her a blow in the jaw that felled her to the ground and kicked her in the head. Seeing that he had injured her severely, he "finished" her.

The house was not ransacked. But the woman's handbag, hanging over the knob of the bed, had been rifled.

Corey Inquest Reveals Nothing.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Jan. 9.—Although more than a dozen witnesses testified at the coroner's inquest, no evidence was developed to throw light on the mysterious death of Daniel Corey, the Chelsea drain contractor who was found in the dam of the Peninsular Paper mill, Dec. 31. Alfred Gilbert, a Chelsea teamster, told of Corey showing him $1'6 Dec. 22, with which he said he intended to buy a team in Ypsilanti. Though John Connors and Frank Miller think they saw Corey in Hixson's lunch room with a stranger the night before his body was found, they could not positively identify the body. The authorities now believe Corey was last seen alive Friday, Dec. 27. Leo Stachlewitz testified that he saw Corey going towards the paper mill on the above date and that he was under the influence of liquor.

MOTHER IS ARRESTED

Inquest Over Child's Body at Plainwell Takes Serious Turn.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 9.—It has become known that Mrs. David Neeley, mother of the two and one-half year-old child, Walter Neeley, who died last Friday at Plainwell from pleuro-pneumonia, after having been treated by members of a sect of mental healers instead of physicians, has been placed under arrest charged with manslaughter.

The coroner's jury which has been investigating the child's death interrupted its session to request the coroner to have Mrs. Neeley held in $5,000 bonds, which were furnished. The jury in the case is expected to return a verdict today.

Mrs. Neeley was arraigned before Justice John Blair of Plainwell. She waived examination and was held in bonds to appear in the Allegan county circuit court, Feb. 17. Her bail was furnished by W. W. Woodhams, her father, and James N. Neeley, her husband's father, as two of the sureties, and R. L. Soule, the banker of this place, as the third.

Most of the day was taken up by the coroner's jury in going over the testimony of Mrs. Neeley and the other witnesses who previously testified. Dr. W. G. Bills gave some sensational new testimony on the result of the post mortem performed on the child after the mother testified that the cause of death was spinal meningitis. Dr. Bills swore that not a trace of food was found in the child's body.

"It is developing into a serious matter," said Prosecutor Hoffman. "The autopsy showed clearly, to our belief, that the child had been subjected to needless suffering."

Episcopal Preiste Deposed.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 9.—Dean James B. Eddie, convicted by an ecclesiastical court of immorality a year ago, was formally deposed from the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal church Wednesday. The sentence was imposed publicly by Bishop Spalding. At reading of the sentence, women burst into tears and hisses were heard from some of the men, disapproval being manifested by a portion of the congregation whose faith in their former pastor is unshaken. Dean Eddie declared that his trial had been unfairly conducted and that the evidence against him was fabricated by his enemies. The chief witnesses against him were choir boys of St. Mark's church.

Captain Is Exonerated.

Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 9.—After a trial lasting nearly a week, Captain John Hayes of this city has been completely exonerated by the local steamboat inspectors at Milwaukee on the charge of incompetency preferred against him by his former employers, the Amelia Martin Dredging, Wrecking & Towing company. Captain Hayes was in charge of the tug Kate Williams and suffered a series of accidents, twice going aground and once stranding his vessel on a rock. He was discharged from the service of the company and refused his pay. He promptly libeled the vessel at Benton Harbor for the amount of the wages due him and, the company, in turn, charged him with incompetency before the Milwaukee inspectors, with the above result.

THREE SERIOUS FIRES

Two Villages in the State Are Badly Scorched.

WOODBURY AND FULTON.

Nearly One-Half of Business Section of Latter Gone—Blaze in Battle Creek Does Much Damage to Several Firms.

Three Rivers, Mich., Jan. 13.—About half of the business section of the village of Fulton, nine miles from Vicksburg, in the southeastern corner of Kalamazoo county, has been destroyed by fire supposedly of incendiary origin. The fire, which was discovered in Woods' general store, spread to eight other buildings in the town, which were totally destroyed. Being absolutely without fire protection and impossible to reach from any point whence help could be sent, the people of the village were powerless to prevent the spread of the flames.

The following places were burned to the ground:

L. H. Woods, general store; Merrill's harness shop; James Burns, buggies and agricultural implements; C. W. Wicks' feed mill; Marrson & Colp, hardware; William Kramer, barber shop, and an old hotel used as a dwelling house.

The estimated loss is $50,000, partially covered by insurance.

Woodbury, Mich., Jan. 13.—The most disastrous fire which has visited this place in many years occurred about four o'clock in the morning, when the Woodbury hotel, with all its contents, and the store and contents of J. C. Vonhounten, were completely destroyed. The loss to the hotel was well covered by insurance of $1,650 on the building and $800 on the contents. Vanhouten's store was not insured. The loss to the store and stock is estimated at $5,500.

The fire started from some unknown source. Before the blaze was discovered, the flames had made great headway.

There were only a few boarders in the hotel at the time, and these barely had time to dress and make their escape. Fortunately, however, nobody was injured.

The town is entirely without fire protection. Residents are of the opinion that had it not been for the heavy snow storm, which was in progress at the time, other buildings would have been ignited by the flying embers.

A bucket brigade was organized, but, because of the long distance the men had to go for water, little could be done to check the flames.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 13.—Just remodeled, redecorated and restocked after a fire which put it out of business for weeks, the grocery of James G. Redner has again been ruined by a blaze, while a total property loss of from $15,000 to $20,000 was accumulated. The Morgan block, containing several groceries and other business places, was badly scorched, though the firemen, by coming with four engine companies on the first alarm, checked the fire within twenty minutes.

Redner's store, one of the model groceries in Michigan, was gutted with no salvage possible, unless it be on teas stored in a back room. The store was restocked at a cost of $6,000, but this will scarcely cover the Redner loss.

Arthur D. Smith, clothier, has a loss of $2,000 to $3,000, due to water and smoke, and Mrs. R. Hyland's millinery store is a wreck, with a loss of at least $2,000. The Pythian temple, occupying the third floor, was smoked considerably and one room, occupied for club purposes, damaged by water. Water and smoke touched the S. H. Knox & Co. store for between $300 and $500. The loss on the building runs about $2,000. Most of the losers carry insurance.

Gas Explosion Kills and Injures.

Joplin, Mo., Jan. 13.—An explosion of natural gas in the basement of the big Olivia apartment hotel here killed Marvin Reynolds, aged twenty, night clerk, seriously injured several other persons and caused damage to property. A suite of rooms, occupied by John E. Stevens, a wealthy mine-owner, and his wife, was completely wrecked and both occupants were severely injured. Mrs. Stevens will die.

Veteran Lawyer Died in Street.

New York, June 13.—Stricken with apoplexy, Emmet R. Olcott, sixty-two years old, one of the best known lawyers in this country on international questions, dropped unconscious on the sidewalk near his home and died before medical aid could reach him.

FLEET REACHES RIO

Anchors in Beautiful Harbor After Long Run.

HAS COVERED 4,600 MILES.

Thousands of People Greet Their Arrival—Many Vessels Went Forth to Escort Big Armada Into Port—Officials Call on Admiral Evans.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 12.—The American fleet of sixteen battleships entered the port of Rio Janeiro at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, after a passage from Port of Spain, Trinidad, more than three thousand miles, unmared by serious accident, replete with interesting incidents and ending with a royal welcome from the thousands that had gathered to greet the visitors.

All of the battleships are here, but the supply ships Culgon and Glacier are still at sea, not having been able to keep along with the others. The fleet has now covered about 4,600 miles, about a third of the distance of the voyage to San Francisco.

Early in the morning the crowds began to gather in the streets of Rio Janeiro, and long before the signal flags were hoisted announcing the approach of the American ships of war thousands of curious spectators had taken up the points of vantage on public buildings and the elevated quays.

Splendid Spectacle.

When the fleet steamed into the harbor, under the splendid mountains that framed the bay, beautiful in the tropical sun, it was a spectacle incomparable to the eye. The roadstead lay like a glittering mirror beneath.

Word that the fleet had passed Cape Frio, about forty-five miles out, was received at 8:30 o'clock and immediately scores of tugs and other small craft, crowded with spectators, set out to meet the visitors and accompanied them to the anchorage. Outlined against the horizon, the great battleships, stretched out in one long line, came slowly through the passage into the bay. The Connecticut, Rear Admiral Evans' flagship, was in the lead, with the Brazilian cruisers, dressed in gala attire, on either side.

Passing the fortresses, the Connecticut fired a salute of twenty-one guns, which was responded to by the Brazilian warships, the German cruiser Breman and the shore guns. The yards and fighting tops were manned and cheers upon cheers were given for the splendid passage of the flagship and her sister ships.

Officials Call.

As soon as the anchorage was made, the Brazilian minister of marine, Admiral Alencar; the captain of the port, the American consul, E. G. Anderson; the commandants of naval divisions, and the civic authorities went on board the Connecticut and extended a hearty welcome to Rear Admiral Evans, his officers and men. Hundreds of launches, tugs and small boats circled about the battleships until long after the sun had gone down. Not less than 15,000 to 20,000 persons were aboard these boats and more than 50,000 more were gathered on shore to celebrate the coming of the fleet. Last night, the city was beautifully illuminated and a gala occasion has been made in honor of the visitors.

Torpedo Boat Sailors in Trouble.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 13.—Dispatches received here from Pernambucco tell of disorders among the sailors of the torpedo flotilla which arrived there on Jan. 10. While on shore leave, the sailors became engaged in a row among themselves and with the police, who interfered. A large number of the sailors received slight injuries and twenty of them were arrested on charges of drunkenness. Lieutenant Commander Cone had a conference with the police authorities and will prevent further trouble between the police and the sailors who are allowed shore leave. Edward Grey, a sailor on the torpedo boat Lawrence, while climbing a ladder on the side of the vessel, fell into the sea and was drowned.

Cablegrams received in Japan indicating an overwhelming sentiment in America in favor of an exclusion bill are causing much uneasiness among leaders of all shades of politics there, who have repeatedly expressed the conviction that the Americans did not desire to discriminate against Japanese and would accept the attitude of the Japanese government as evidence of its sincere desire not to embarass the American government and, at the same time, save the amour propre of the Japanese. Uneasiness has been intensified by the delay of a reply from Washington to the Japanese note of Dec. 31.

TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

Nevada Must Herself Maintain Order at Goldfield.

SHIRKED RESPONSIBILITY.

President and Investigating Commission So Believe—Chief Executive Writes Vigorous Letter to Governor—Mine Operators Get Drubbing.

Washington, Jan. 12.—President Roosevelt has determined to withdraw the federal troops from Goldfield, Nev., shortly after the legislature begins its special session Tuesday. This intention was made known at the White House by the making public of the report of the special investigating commission, together with a letter from the presidept to Governor Sparks. The president says he shall be governed by the recommendations in the report unless the governor can show that the statements of the report are not in accordance with facts. The report says:

"The conditions did not support the general allegations in the governor's request for troops, nor were his specific statements established to any such extent as to justify his use of these statements for the purpose of getting federal troops.

Would Ignore Request.

It concludes with this recommendation: "But we also must firmly believe that upon the assembling of the legislature, or within a few days thereafter, the troops should be removed, regardless of any request for their retention that may be made by either the legislature or the governor of Nevada, it being essential that the state of Nevada shall understand this situation completely, shall recognize the fact that there will, at that date be thrown upon it, and it alone, the primary responsibility of keeping order, and that, recognizing this responsibility, it may take such action as is the duty of the state and as will be sufficient in the premises."

In his letter to Governor Sparks, after reviewing the steps so far taken in the Goldfield mining trouble, the president continues:

"The report states that there was no insurrection against the power of the state at the time the troops were called for, that nobody supposed that there was such an insurrection, and that none of the conditions described in Sec. 5297-8-9 of the revised statutes as warranting interferance by the federal government existed, and that the effort was, and is, plainly an effort by the state of Nevada to secure the performance by the United States of the ordinary police duties which should, as a matter of course, be performed by Nevada herself. The report further says:

"'There is absolutely no question that if the state of Nevada and the county of Esmeralda exercised the powers at their disposal they can maintain satisfactory order in Goldfield; that, so far, these authorities have done nothing but are relying upon federal aid, and their attitude now is expressly that of refusing to do anything, and desiring to throw their own burdens upon the federal government for the maintainance of those elementary conditions of order for which they, and they only, are responsible.'

"I agree with the recommendation of this report and shall act accordingly."

What Operators Did.

The operators' association, instigated the call for federal aid. When the troops arrived, the mine operators issued a statement in which they indicated a reduction in miners' wages from $5 to $4 a day, also their intentention not to employ miners who belonged to the union. The report adds:

"Every indication confirms the belief that such action was in contemplation before the arrival of the troops, was part of the general plan of the mine operators to establish their independence of the union and that the coming of the troops was expected and urged by them to make such plan feasible."

Conditions at Goldfield, the report asserts, did not justify calling for the troops. The commission expresses itself as satisfied that out of the entire membership in the miners' union, there are not over a few hundred men of dangerous type. The report adds:

"By permitting their organization to be managed and controlled by men of violent tendencies, the union as a body has thus laid itself open to the reproach of being a vicious organization.

Carson, Nev., Jan. 13.—Many members of the state legislature, which has been called by Governor Sparks to meet in special session next Tuesday for the purpose of providing SEVERE STORM.

Sunday's Blizzard Visited All Portions of State.

Bay City, Mich., Jan. 13.—A severe northeaster, accompanied by heavy snow, swept this city Saturday night and continued all of Sunday. Street car service was entirely abandoned, cars being left stalled in all parts of the city.

The few railroad trains due Sunday were far behind time. The storm is general throughout the northern part of the state.

The snow is badly drifted, so that the exact level is not known, though it is estimated at eighteen inches.

Vassar, Mich., Jan. 13.—The worst snow storm of the season has passed over Vassar. Considerable damage has been done. Telephone, telegraph and electric light wires are down and communication with the outside world is nearly cut off.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 13.—A heavy, wet snow fell here and from eight to ten inches, now cover the ground. A stiff northeast wind accompanied the snow. Traffic was somewhat delayed on the local car lines.

Marshall, Mich., Jan. 13.—A severe snow storm prevailed throughout this section of the state. One farmer near Ceresco stated that his entire large peach orchard was destroyed, and he is of the opinion that the entire peach crop will be a failure next summer.

Detroit Banker Is Dead.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—Silas B. Coleman, president of the National Loan & Investment company and vice president of the Detroit United bank, is dead of pneumonia at his home, 182 McDougall avenue, after an illness of one week. Mr. Coleman came to Detroit in 1870, and since that time was engaged in business in this city. He was born July 29, 1843, in New York city.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Edwin D. Malcolm is dead at the home of his sister, Mrs. Arthur Weiss, in Saginaw, from tetanus. The deceased caught his arm in a corn sheller. The hand and forearm were terribly lacerated and blood poisoning set in.

Herman Hartwig-Danser, one of the best known writers of German lyric poetry in the country, was found dead in his bed in the Washtenaw Post building in Ann Arbor. Heart disease caused death. He was sixty-one years old.

The M. A. C. is about to lose another of its most valuable instructors in the women's department. Mrs. Jennie L. Haner has resigned from the domestic arts department to accept a position in one of the state schools of Idaho, where she will go as soon as her successor is appointed.

Harry Duby, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Duby of Saginaw, ran into open water while skating on the river and was drowned. With Duby at the time were two lads, one Louis Delavan and the other unknown. Both boys escaped the hole and, after giving the alarm, disappeared.

Bitten by a dog nine months ago, James, eleven-year-old son of James L. A. Drake of Buchanan, died in agony. The boy's illness lasted but twenty-four hours, but in that time he frothed at the mouth, barked and snapped like a dog and exhibited all the symptoms of hydrophobia.

Loren Wright, who says his home is in Elkhart, Ind., was placed under arrest in Pontiac on a charge of false pretense. It is alleged he sold farmers near Orion a cure-all for stomach trouble, getting $5 for a package which costs twenty cents, on the ground that he represented Parke, Davis & Co. of Detroit.

Four Hurt In Runaway.

Mason, Mich., Jan. 13.—A. Melton, his daughter, Mrs. Grace Green; his mother-in-law, Mrs. McEuen of Grand Rapids, and the latter's sister, Mrs. Foley of Lansing, were seriously hurt in a runaway at Melton's farm, three miles from the city. Melton was preparing to drive the old ladies to the home of his brother-in-law, former Sheriff F. B. McEuen, in this city, when the raising of an umbrella in the snow storm startled the horse. Melton grabbed at the reins and was thrown out, striking on his head. Physicians say he will recover. Mrs. Green caught at the horse's bridle as it started, and she was thrown down and run over, sustaining a broken arm and some severe bruises. Mrs. Foley and Mrs. McEuen were also thrown from the rig, the former having her left shoulder dislocated and the latter her right ear torn off.

Alleged Embezzler Brought Back.

Owosso, Mich., Jan. 13.—Constable L. A. Sanderhoff of this city has returned from South Dakota with Lyman B. Dunning, who is now in the city jail, awaiting examination on a charge of embezzling a sum of money from a fraternal insurance society.

Siclone ...Clark

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

Copyright, 1900, by Frank H. Spearman

"THERE goes a fellow that walks like Siclone Clark," exclaimed Duck Middleton. Duck was sitting in the trainmaster's office with a group of engineers. He was one of the blacklisted strikers and runs an engine now down on the Santa Fe. But at long intervals Duck gets back to revisit the scenes of his early triumphs. The men who surrounded him were once at deadly odds with Duck and his chums, though now the ancient enmities seem forgotten, and Duck, the once ferocious Duck, sits occasionally among the new men and gossips about early days in the West End.

"Do you remember Siclone, Reed?" asked Duck, calling to me in the private office.

"Remember him!" I echoed. "Did anybody who ever knew Siclone forget him?"

"I fired passenger for Siclone twenty years ago," resumed Duck. "He walked just like that fellow, only he was quicker. I reckon you fellows don't know what a snap you have here now," he continued, addressing the men around him. "Track fenced, ninety pound rails, steel bridges, stone culverts, slag ballast, skyscrapers—no wonder you get chances to haul such nobs as Lilliokalani and Schley and Dewey and cut ninety miles an hour on tangents.

"When I was firing for Siclone the roadbed was just off the scrapers, the dumps were soft, pile bridges, paper culverts, fifty-six pound rails, not a fence west of Buffalo gap and the plains black with Texas steers. We never closed our cylinder cocks. The hiss of the steam frightened the cattle worse than the whistle, and we never knew when we were going to find a bunch of critters on the track.

"The first winter I came out was great for snow, and I was a tenderfoot. The cuts made good windbreaks, and whenever there was a norther they were chuck full of cattle. Every time a train plowed through the snow it made a path on the track. Whenever the steers wanted to move they would take the middle of the track single file and string out mile after mile. Talk about fast schedules and ninety miles an hour. You had to poke along with your cylinders spitting and just whistle and yell—sort of blow them off into the snowdrifts.

"One day Siclone and I were going west on 59, and we were late. For that matter, we were always late. Simpson, coming against us on 60, had caught a bunch of cattle in the rock cut just west of the Sapple and killed a couple. When we got there, there must have been a thousand head of steers mousing around the dead ones. Siclone—he used to be a cowboy, you know—Siclone said they were holding a wake. At any rate, they were still coming from every direction and as far as you could see.

"'Hold on, Siclone, and I'll chase them out,' I said.

"'That's the stuff, Duck,' says he. 'Get after them and see what you can do.' He looked kind of queer, but I never thought anything. I picked up a jack bar and started up the track.

"He stood out there with a shovel and kept the whole bunch off me."

"The first fellow I tackled looked lazy, but he started full quick when I hit him. Then he turned around to inspect me, and I noticed his horns were of the broad gauge variety. While I whacked another the first one put his head down and began to snort and paw the ties. Then they all began to bellow at once. It looked smoky. I dropped the jack bar and started for the engine, and about fifty of them started for me.

"I never had an idea steers could run so. You could have played checkers on my heels all the way back. If Siclone hadn't come out and jollied them, I'd never got back in the world. I just jumped the pilot and went clear over against the boiler head. Siclone claimed I tried to climb the smokestack, but he was excited. Anyway, he stood out there with a shovel and kept the whole bunch off me. I thought they would kill him. But I never tried to chase range steers on foot again.

"In the spring we got the rains—not like you get now, but cloudbursts. The section men were good fellows, only sometimes we would get into a storm miles from a section gang and strike a place where we couldn't see a thing.

"Then Siclone would stop the train, take a bar and get down ahead and sound the roadbed. Many and many a washout he struck that way which would have wrecked our train and wound up our ball of yarn in a minute. Often and often Siclone would go into his division without a dry thread on him.

"Those were different days," mused the grizzled striker. "The old boys are scattered now all over this broad land. The strike did it, and you fellows have the snap. But what I wonder often and often is whether Siclone is really alive or not."

Siclone Clark was one of the two cowboys who helped Harvey Reynolds and Ed Banks save 59 at Griffin the night the coal train ran down from Ogallala. They were both taken into the service. Siclone after awhile went to wiping.

When Bucks asked his name, Siclone answered, "S. Clark."

"What's your full name?" asked Bucks.

"S. Clark."

"But what does S stand for?" persisted Bucks.

"Stands for Cyclone, I reckon. Don't it?" retorted the cowboy, with some annoyance.

It was not usual in those days on the plains to press a man too closely about his name. There might be reasons why it would not be esteemed courteous.

"I reckon it do," replied Bucks, dropping into Siclone's grammar. And without a quiver he registered the new man as Siclone Clark, and his checks always read that way. The name seemed to fit. He adopted it without any objection, and after everybody came to know him it fitted so well that Bucks was believed to have second sight when he named the harebrained fireman. He could get up a storm quicker than any man on the division and, if he felt so disposed, stop one quicker.

In spite of his eccentricities, which were many, and his headstrong way of doing some things, Siclone Clark was a good engineer and deserved a better fate than the one that befell him, though—who can tell?—it may have been just to his liking.

The strike was the worst thing that ever happened to Siclone. He was one of those big hearted, violent fellows who went into it loaded with enthusiasm. He had nothing to gain by it—at least, nothing to speak of. But the idea that somebody on the East End needed their help led men like Siclone in, and they thought it a cinch that the company would have to take them all back.

The consequence was that, when we staggered along without them, men like Siclone, easily aroused, naturally of violent passions and with no self restraint, stopped at nothing to cripple the service. And they looked on the men who took their places as entitled neither to liberty nor life.

When our new men began coming from the Reading to replace the strikers, every one wondered who would get Siclone Clark's engine, the 313. Siclone had gently sworn to kill the first man who took out the 313. bar nobody.

Whatever others thought of Siclone's vaporings, they counted for a good deal on the West End. Nobody wanted trouble with him.

Even Neighbor, who feared no man, sort of let the 313 lie in her stall as long as possible after the trouble began.

Nothing was said about it. Threats cannot be taken cognizance of officially. We were bombarded with threats all the time; they had long since ceased to move us. Yet Siclone's engine stayed in the roundhouse.

Then, after Foley and McTerza and Sinclair, came Fitzpatrick from the east. McTerza was put on the mails, and coming down one day on the White Flier he blew a cylinder head out of the 416.

Fitzpatrick was waiting to take her out when she came stumping in on one pair of drivers, for we were using engines worse than horsefish then. But of course the 416 was put out. The only gig left in the house was the 313.

I imagine Neighbor felt the finger of fate in it. The mail had to go. The time had come for the 313. He ordered her fired.

"The man that ran this engine swore he would kill the man that took her out," said Neighbor, sort of incidentally, as Fitz stood by waiting for her to steam.

"I suppose that means me," said Fitzpatrick.

"I suppose it does."

"Whose engine is it?"

"Siclone Clark's."

Fitzpatrick shifted to the other leg.

"Did he say what I would be doing while this was going on?"

Something in Fitzpatrick's manner made Neighbor laugh. Other things crowded in and no more was said.

No more was thought, in fact. The 313 relied as kindly for Fitzpatrick as for Siclone, and the new engineer, a quiet fellow like Foley, only a good bit heavier, went on and off her with never a word for anybody.

One day Fitzpatrick dropped into a barber shop to get shaved. In the next chair lay Siclone Clark. Siclone got through first and, stepping over to the table to get his hat, picked up Fitzpatrick's by mistake and walked out with it. He discovered his change just as Fitz got out of his chair. Siclone came back, replaced the hat on the table—it had Fitzpatrick's name pasted in the crown—took up his own hat and as Fitz reached for his looked at him.

Every one in the shop caught their breaths.

"Is your name Fitzpatrick?"

"Yes, sir."

"Mine is Clark."

Fitzpatrick put on his hat.

"You're running the 313, I believe?" continued Siclone.

"Yes, sir."

"That's my engine."

"I thought it belonged to the company."

"Maybe it does, but I've agreed to kill the man that takes her out before this trouble is settled," said Siclone amiably.

Fitzpatrick met him steadily. "If you'll let me know when it takes place, I'll try and be there."

"I don't jump on any man without fair warning. Any of the boys will tell you that," continued Siclone. "Maybe you didn't know my word was out?"

Fitzpatrick hesitated. "I'm not looking for trouble with any man," he replied guardedly, "but since you're disposed to be fair about notice it's only fair to you to say that I did know your word was out."

"Still you took her?"

"It was my orders."

"My word is out. The boys know it is good. I don't jump any man without fair warning. I know you now, Fitzpatrick, and the next time I see you look out." And without more ado Siclone walked out of the shop, greatly to the relief of the barber if not of Fitz.

Fitzpatrick may have wiped a little sweat from his face, but he said nothing, only walked down to the roundhouse and took out the 313 as usual for his run.

A week passed before the two men met again. One night Siclone, with a crowd of the strikers, ran into half a dozen of the new men. Fitzpatrick among them, and there was a riot. It was Siclone's time to carry out his intention, for Fitzpatrick would have scorned to try to get away. No tree ever breasted a tornado more sturdily than the Irish engineer withstood Siclone, but when Ed Banks got there with his wrecking crew and straightened things out Fitzpatrick was picked up for dead. That night Siclone disappeared.

Warrants were got out and searchers put after him, yet nobody could or would apprehend him. It was generally understood that the sudden disappearance was one of Siclone's freaks. If the ex-cowboy had so determined he would not have hidden to keep out of anybody's way. I have sometimes pondered whether shame hadn't something to do with it. His tremendous physical strength was fit for so much better things than beating other men that maybe he himself sort of realized it after the storm had passed.

Down east of the depot grounds at McCloud stands or stood a great barn-like hotel, built in boom days and long a favorite resting place for invalids and travelers en route to California by easy stages. It was nicknamed the barracks. Many railroad men boarded there, and the new engineers liked it because it was close to the roundhouse and away from the strikers.

Fitzpatrick, without a whine or a complaint, was put to bed in the barracks, and Holmes Kay, one of the staff surgeons, was given charge of the case. A trained nurse was provided besides. Nobody thought the injured man would live. But after every care was given him we turned our attention to the troublesome task of operating the road.

The 313, whether it happened so or whether Neighbor thought it well to drop the disputed machine temporarily, was not taken out again for three weeks. She was looked on as a hoodoo, and nobody wanted her. Foley refused point plank one day to take her, claiming that he had troubles of his own. Then one day something happened to McTerza's engine. We were stranded for a locomotive, and the 313 was brought out for McTerza. He didn't like it a bit.

Meantime nothing had been seen or heard of Siclone. That, in fact, was the reason Neighbor urged for using his engine, but it seemed as if every time the 313 went out it brought out Siclone, not to speak of worse things.

That morning about 3 o'clock the unlucky engine was coupled on to the White Flier. The night boy at the barracks always got up a hot lunch for the incoming and outgoing crews on the mail run, and that morning when he was through he forgot to turn off the lamp under his coffee tank. It overheated the counter, and in a few minutes the woodwork was ablaze. If the frightened boy had emptied the coffee on the counter he could have put the fire out, but instead he ran out to give the alarm and started upstairs to arouse the guests.

There were at least fifty people asleep in the house, traveling and railway men. Being a modern building, it was a quick prey, and in an incredibly short time the flames were leaping through the second story windows.

When I got down men were jumping in every direction from the burning hotel. Railroaders swarmed around, busy with schemes for getting the people out, for none is more quick witted in time of panic. Short as the opportunity was, there were many pretty rescues, until the flames, shooting up, cut off the stairs and left the helpers nothing for it but to stand and watch the destruction of the long, rambling building. Half a dozen of us looked from the dispatchers' offices in the second story of the depot. We had agreed that the people were all out when Foley below gave a cry and pointed to the south gable. Away up under the eaves at the third story window we saw a face. It was Fitzpatrick.

Everybody had forgotten Fitzpatrick and his nurse. Behind, as the flames lighted the opening, we could see the nurse struggling to get him to the window. It was plain that the engineer was in no condition to help himself. The two men were in deadly peril. A great cry went up.

To be continued.

Breathing Lampblack in the Country.

A careful glance at white lace curtains that have been hanging for some time in a room where Kerosene or Gasolene Light has been used will tell its own story.

Another look at the wall-paper on ceiling and walls will also tell the tale, if that paper be light colored and in use for a year or so.

The Lampblack will be found deposited in very fine, closely-packed layers upon everything in the rooms where Kerosene or Gasolene Lamp Light is constantly used.

Acetylene Light is practically Sunlight, being a pure white light without color-fog, soot, smell or heat.

Being all Light, instead of only one-tenth Light like that of Kerosene and Gasolene, only one-tenth as much flame is needed from Acetylene to produce as much Light as nine-tenths from Kerosene or Gasolene.

This means, with Acetylene, only a small fraction of the heat, soot, Oxygen-consumption, and Carbonic Acid Gas production of Kerosene, Gasolene or City Gaslight.

A 24 candle-power Kerosene Lamp used 10 hours will cost about 6 cents for Kerosene. Chimneys and Wicks.

A 24 candle-power Acetylene Gas Light used 10 hours will consume nothing but one pound of Carbide at 3¾ cents in most of the States.

Thus Kerosene Light costs 6 cents against the same volume of Acetylene Light for 3¾ cents when once installed.

Because, with Kerosene or Gasoline Light we are paying for one-tenth Light and nine-tenths soot, heat, color-fog, and other useless or injurious things besides.

Drop me a line to-day for further particulars. State how many rooms you have to light or how large your store.

Every Rexall Formula Is Public Property—And Always Has Been

This is an age of inquiry. Not since the time of the Civil War has there been so much agitation in the minds of the people on various subjects.

People "want to know" about everything.

We do not say that the public has grown skeptical—quite the contrary. We believe it is a day and age of enlightened, intelligent inquiry after facts.

Each man and each woman now-a-days wants to do his and her own thinking. They are not looking for any concentrated essence of wisdom boiled down and given to them in capsule form. They want to figure out for themselves what is right, and what is wrong, and what to do about it.

Public sentiment has forced the government of the United States to pass a law compelling medicine manufacturers to state on their labels any injurious ingredients their remedies may contain.

We believe that the Rexall remedies have had as much to do with the creation of this sentiment as any other one single element in the country.

Why?

Simply because the Rexall remedies, from their inception several years ago, started out on an entirely new line.

The first principle in the Rexall platform was one remedy for each ill—not a cure-all.

Second—no secret combinations. Every formula has always been open to the public; anyone can know what he is taking when he buys Rexall—and always could.

Third—every Rexall remedy has been sold on the basis of "money back" if you are not more than satisfied.

This is frank, square, open-handed business, that's all. But it made Rexall the greatest success in the medicine world in a very short time.

Rexall "93" HAIR TONIC

The famous Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is one of the 300 Rexall Remedies. It is composed in chief of Resorcin, Beta Naphthol and Pilocarpin.

Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective germ-killers discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Naphthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which not only destroys the germs which rob the hair of its nutriment, but creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpin is a well-known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease of the scalp. It is not a coloring matter or dye.

This combination of curatives mixed with alcohol as a stimulant, perfects the most effective remedy for hair and scalp troubles known to-day. Per bottle, 50c.

Laberdie—Tunison.

Rev F W. Sweet officiated at the marriage of Miss Susie Laberdie and Arden Tunison, the marriage occurring at 8 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at the First Baptist parsonage, with a wedding reception following at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs. Paul Laberdie, of Broad street. The bride was handsomely gowned in pale blue silk, lace trimmed. Their attendants were the groom's sister, Miss Vera Tunison, and Wallace Bingham, Miss Tunison in dark blue The immediate relatives and close friends had been bidden to the reception, for which Mr and Mrs. Fred Sorter catered.

The house was prettily decorated. The dining room, where supper was served, was done in pink and white: Over the table, which had at its center a wedding cake, was suspended a white bell, strands of pink and white running from the ceiling to the table corners and used effectively on the table. In the cutting of the bride's cake, Miss Vera Tunison received the ring, Miss Marvel Laberdie the button, Wallace Bingham the thimble, Mrs. Fred Sorter the doll and the bride the money.

Mr. and Mrs. Tunison will board for the present with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F H Tunison, of No 8 East Beecher street. Mr. Tunison for eight or nine years, resided in Tecumseh, coming to Adrian with his parents about a year ago He is a barber by trade and is employed by Fred Blair. The bride has always resided here, with the exception of a year or so passed in Chicago. She has recently been employed as ticket seller at the Queen theater, resigning that position to be married. Mr and Mrs. Tunison have many friends to wish them much happiness.—Adrian Telegram.

FRED MERKLE.

Some things McGraw says about Tecumseh's former first baseman.

John McGraw made the following statement in regard to Merkle, to the Blade last Saturday:

"Among the new men on the team we have one I feel sure will have a great career on the diamond. This is Merkle, who played with us at the end of last season. He is not only a great first baseman and a very promising welider of the bat, but I am convinced that he can make good anywhere in the infield or outfield.

"Again, he is of the build that I think often produces the best men on the diamond. He is well over six feet in height, weighs 190 pounds and is of that rangy type that is invariably connected with speed and adaptability. Merkle is but 19, and has plenty of time to develope into a first magnitude star. My veterans will be kept on the jump to beat him out next season, and that I think he is sure to play a great many games.

"Tenney may whip Merkle out for the first sack, but, as I have said before, Merkle will hustle several men in other positions"

McGraw also expressed a high opinion of the new acquisition from Boston, Bridwell.

Rank Foolishness.

"When attacked by a cough, cold or when your throat is sore, it is rank foolishness to take any other medicine than Dr. King's New Discovery" says C. O. Eldridge of Empire, Ga., "I have used New Discovery 7 years and I know it is the best remedy on earth for coughs, colds, croup, throat and lung troubles. My children are subject to croup but the Discovery quickly cures every attack." Known the world over as the king of throat and lung remedies. Sold under guarantee by C. A. Wright & Son. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

CATARRH YIELDS

To healing air of Hyomei. Sold under guarantee by C. A. Wright & Son.

Catarrh is the most prevalent disease known to humanity. Probably ninety per cent. of the people in this country suffer at one time or another with this common disease.

It is a germ disease and hence can be cured only by some method that will reach and destroy the germs.

This is best found in Hyomei, which may be called the direct method of treating catarrh, as its medication, taken in with the air you breathe, goes directly to every air cell in the nose, throat and lungs; kills all catarrhal germs; heals the irritated mucous membrane and vitalizes the tissues so as to render catarrh no longer possible.

The unique way in which Hyomei is sold should dispel all doubt as to its curative properties, for C. A. Wright & Son give their absolute guarantee to refund the price to any catarrh sufferer that Hyomei fails to benefit. You do not risk a cent in testing its healing powers. What offer could be more fair to you than this, where a leading druggist takes all the risk of Hyomei giving satisfaction and leaves you to be the judge.

If you have catarrh, give Hyomei a trial, for there is no other medicine like it, nothing else that is just as good, none that gives such quick relief and lasting satisfaction in catarrhal troubles. The complete outfit costs only $1.00; nothing if it fails to cure.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys Tecumseh people endorse them.

Mrs. Mary Edwards of Logan street, Tecumseh Mich., says, "I feel that I cannot praise Doan's Kidney Pills too highly as they have been of great benefit to me. I had suffered a great deal from a heavy cold which settled in my kidneys. It kept getting worse until I confined to my bed. When I got up I required assistance in getting in and out of a chair. The pains in my back shoulders were very severe. At night I was restless and could not sleep. The action of the kidneys was too frequent causing me much annoyance I tried nearly every kidney remedy but received no benefit until I tried Doan's Kidney Pills. They were exactly what my condition required and after using three boxes a complete cure was effected and I have had no trouble since. I advise every kidney sufferer to try the Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

Napoleon and His Attitude Toward the Common Soldier.

Napoleon understood human nature. He recognized the great truth, "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he," and knew how to apply it not only to himself and his own ambitious projects, but to other men as well. Moreover, he knew precisely the right moment to apply it to quicken the spark of divine energy which smolders in every man, although the ashes of fatigue and failure may cover its light temporarily.

A French soldier carried a dispatch to Napoleon. Just as he delivered it into [illegible] spent horse dropped dead. Napoleon wrote an answer to the dispatch, then, dismounting from his own horse, handed the bridle to the soldier.

"Take this horse and ride back, comrade," he said.

"Nay, sire," stammered the soldier, gazing at the blooded horse and its trappings. "It is too magnificent and grand for me, a common soldier."

"Take it!" commanded Napoleon. "There is nothing too grand and magnificent for a soldier of France."

The soldier mounted and rode away on his perilous business, ready and willing, and Napoleon's words, repeated through the ranks and columns of his army, gave to his tired troops fresh inspiration and energy. "Nothing too grand and magnificent for a soldier of France!" they said, and the thought that they were worthy of the best inspired them to the mighty deeds which followed.

WIFELY ORDERS.

Two Men Obeyed Them, but the Third Man Balked.

"Three men sat rather late at the club one night," said the man who is responsible for the story. "As they were separating they discussed a little nervously the receptions that awaited them at their wives' hands and agreed that he who didn't do what his wife told him on getting home should have to treat the others to a turkey dinner. The first man after reaching his house stumbled about the dark bedroom till he kicked the cat. The cat squalled, and the man's wife, raising her head from the pillow, moaned, 'Well, go on; kill the poor cat and have done with it.' The man frowned and muttered to himself, 'It is a case of kill the cat or pay for the dinner.' So he killed the cat.

"The second man on his arrival could not find any matches. As he looked for some in the drawing room he bumped against the piano, and his wife complained, 'Why don't you break the piano, careless?' Determined not to lose his bet, the man got a hatchet, and the sound of crashing blows soon filled the house.

"The third man, getting home, stumbled on the way upstairs. His wife screamed angrily, 'Go on, fall downstairs and break your neck, do!' 'Not me,' said the third man after a moment's thought. 'I'll pay for the turkey dinner.'"—Chicago News.

A Merchant's Memory.

Among the characteristics which made for the success of Mr. A. T. Stewart, the great New York merchant, says Richard Lathers in his "Reminiscences," was an extraordinary memory for the details of his vast business.

One day as Mr. and Mrs. Lathers were leaving the store Mr. Stewart accosted them at the door.

"I hope, Mrs. Lathers, you have found what you want," he said.

"No, Mr. Stewart," she replied. "I want a very plain brussels carpet for a small library, a light color with a small blue figure. You have a great variety, but nothing just like that."

"I am quite sure we have that exact description," he said, and, turning to a clerk, added: "Go to the third floor and get out from the last invoice of carpets No. 2206. I think the style and pattern will just suit Mrs. Lathers."

To the amazement of the shopper it proved to be the very thing she was looking for.

Consider the Birds of the Air.

An eminent ornithologist calls attention to the fact that a crane can travel through the air a thousand miles a day without flapping its wings, but by merely keeping them stretched and adjusted to the prevailing breezes. A hawk can stay in the air for days and weeks, moving with its wings motionless. It is the same with the gulls and numerous other winged creatures. In studying the science of aerostatics consider the birds of the air.—Boston Herald.

Your Heart

May Be Weak. One Person in Four Has a Weak Heart.

One of the surest signs of a weak heart is shortness of breath after exercise.

Your heart is not able to pump the blood fast enough to your lungs.

Some of the other symptoms of Heart Trouble are: Pains in the Side, Back and Shoulder; Fainting or Weak Spells; Dry Cough; Swelling of Feet and Ankles; Cold Feet or Hands.

No one can afford to allow a weak heart to go without medicine, because weak heart means poor circulation, and poor circulation means weak lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, etc.

If, therefore, you suspect heart trouble, begin taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. The Heart Cure will do you good, as it is a splendid tonic for the blood and nerves, and will revitalize your entire system.

Finally, remember, Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold under a guarantee that the first bottle will do you good.

If it doesn't—your money back.

"I was afflicted with heart trouble for three years. I would be apparently all right, and without a moment's warning would fall as though shot. The attacks were frequent, and a terrible dread possessed me, as I never knew when or where, nor under what conditions I would be attacked, and whether I would survive them. I consulted and was treated by some of the most eminent physicians of the state. Not finding relief from this source, I began taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and began to improve at once. I used ten bottles, which entirely cured me, as I have not had an attack for five years."—MRS. JOHN DRESBACK, Leipsic, O

NATURE'S MYSTERIES.

And the Little That Man Really Knows About Them.

"I seized the opportunity some little while ago on finding myself sitting next to a great physicist of asking him a series of fumbling questions on the subject of modern theories of matter. For an hour I stumbled like a child, supported by a strong hand, in a dim and unfamiliar world, among the mysterious essences of things. I should like to try to reproduce it here, but I have no doubt I should reproduce it all wrong. Still, it was deeply inspiring to look out into chaos, to hear the rush and motion of atoms moving in vast vortices, to learn that inside the hardest and most impenetrable of substances there was probably a feverish intensity of inner motion. I do not know that I acquired any precise knowledge, but I drank deep drafts of wonder and awe.

The great man, with his amused and weary smile, was infinitely gentle and left me, I will say, far more conscious of the beauty and the holiness of knowledge. I said something to him about the sense of power that such knowledge must give. "Ah," he said, "much of what I have told you is not proved; it is only suspected. We are very much in the dark about these things yet. Probably if a physicist of a hundred years hence could overhear me he would be amazed to think that a sensible man could make such puerile statements. Power—no, it is not that! It rather makes one realize one's feebleness in being so uncertain about things that are absolutely certain and precise in themselves, if we could but see the truth. It is much more like the apostle who said: 'Lord, I believe. Help thou my unbelief.' The thing one wonders at is the courage of the men who dare to think they know."—Putnam's.

POWER OF WEALTH.

Money, Says a Physician, Is Able to Purchase Even Life.

The aged millionaire sighed.

"I'd give all my money," he said, "if I could buy twenty-five more years of life."

"But your money has already bought you that," said the physician coldly.

"What rot are you talking now?" the millionaire asked peevishly.

"No rot at all, for it is a fact, a dreadful fact," said the physician, "that the rich live, on the average, twenty-five years longer than the poor. Born rich, you are assured of a quarter century more life than would be your allotment were you born poor. Wealth buys you all that. And yet they say that there is nothing in money. Why, man, money buys life."

"How do you mean?" said the millionaire. "This sounds rather like nonsense to me."

"Oh, wealth protects one from so many ills. Rich babies nearly always live, but poor ones die of a hundred complaints induced by poverty. Poor babies die off shockingly. And so with boys and girls, with men and women—if they are rich. They live healthily and therefore long, while if they are poor they live unhealthily, and disease, accident, contagion, privation—all sorts of preventable things—carry them off.

"Yes, money buys life, and reliable statistics show that if two children are born today, one rich and the other poor, the rich one will outlive the other by the tidy margin of twenty-five years."—Philadelphia Record.

The Origin of "Parson."

"Parson" is from the Latin "persona," a person, and the parson is the persona ecclesiae, or representative, of the church. The forms parson and person bear the same relation to each other as clark and clerk. From being pronounced parson the word has come to be so written. Blackstone in his "Commentaries" says:

"He is called 'parson' (persona) because by his person the church, which is an invisible body, is represented, and he is himself a body corporate in order to protect and defend the rights of the church which he represents."

"To parse a sentence" is to resolve it into its grammatical parts, and the verb is declared to have arisen from the interrogation "Pars?"—that is, "Quae pars orationis?" (What part of speech?) used by schoolmasters.

Not Too Crazy.

Jones, the tailor, is informed that one of his clients has suddenly gone insane.

"Oh, the poor fellow! But he'll pay my bill at least, won't he?"

"Oh, he isn't quite insane enough for that."—Paris Journal.

SOCIALISTS DEMONSTRATE.

Thousands Parade Streets of Berlin—Police Forced to Disperse 'Em.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—The determination of the Socialists to secure direct universal suffrage, combined with their indignation against Chancellor Von Buelow's curt declaration refusing their demand, gave rise Sunday to an unusual scene and a monster popular demonstration, accompanied by disorders, in the streets of the Prussian capital, in which 40,000 organized Socialists participated, while 40,000 sympathizers from time to time actively joined in the manifestations.

One of the most remarkable features of the uprising was the number of women who engaged in the demonstrations, and they appeared even more earnest in their activities than the men. The authorities took the sternest measures to prevent disorders and the strictest precautions to protect the assembly and other public buildings and Prince Von Buelow's residence. Collisions between processions of manifestants and the police resulted in injury of a considerable number of the demonstrators, but, so far as is known, none fatally. No arrests, except in cases of extreme violence, were made.

The movement extends throughout Russia. Reports from other cities, however, do not indicate that violent demonstrations occurred.

Many thousand Socialists gathered in the morning at the local headquarters and then proceeded in groups, singing revolutionary songs, toward the eight halls in the city where mass meetings had been announced. All the halls were completely packed. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed. Resolutions favoring universal suffrage were adopted by acclamation, after which the audience streamed into the streets. The police immediately attempted to disperse the throngs which showed an evident intention to march in procession towards the palace square. In most cases, the processions were soon broken up. Two formidable columns, however, marched as far as Alexander platz, within a short distance of the emperor's palace, where the police charged them, using the flats of their sabres and inflicting many injuries. Eventually, they succeeded in scattering the demonstrators, who retired hooting and cheering ironically.

Later, some thousands of the demonstrators gathered a short distance from Chancellor Von Buelow's residence and began shouting down the chancellor, who had driven into the street. Their attitude became so threatening that both the mounted and the foot police charged them fiercely. Scores were knocked down, trampled upon and hurt. The crowd was finally broken up. Another serious collision occurred at Jungfern bridge, where many suffered severe contusions.

Towards evening, quiet was resumed in the center of the city, but small groups marched in the outlying streets singing the Marseillaise.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

The Madrid newspapers of all political shades are enthusiastic over a report that King Alphonso next year may make a trip to Mexico and other Latin-American countries. While it is not officially admitted that the king contemplates such a voyage, it is known that he is considering it.

Commissioner Ballinger of the general land office at Washington has completed his annual report to the secretary of the interior for submission to congress. He asks an appropriation of $500,000 to carry on the field work of his bureau in the protection of public lands, an increase of $250,000 over the current appropriation.

More than forty Chinese sailors on board the British tank steamer Chesapeake, lying at Point Breeze, Pa., mutinied, because, they declare, Captain William Gray had not furnished proper clothing and food on the trip from Singapore. The men clambered over the side of the steamer to the pier and the officers sent a call for the police. The troublesome Chinamen were surrounded and driven on board the boat. An agreement, granting some of their demands, was signed by the captain.

A feature of the annual report of Surgeon General Wyman of the public health and marine hospital service in Washington, transmitted to congress during the past week, is a review of the bubonic plague situation at San Francisco. Up to Nov. 19, there had been ninety-six cases of dread disease and sixty deaths surgeon general states that it has impossible to discover the origin of the plague outbreak. While the surgeon general states that the disease is reported as diminishing, he asserts that it will, of necessity, require a long time for complete eradication.

He Knew Her.

The conductor looked at the thin man.

"Do you see that stout woman at the other end of the car, the one with the monkey hat?" he asked.

"I think I see the one you mean," the thin man responded.

"There, she's looking this way," said the conductor. "Well, sir, I admire that woman."

"You do?"

"Yes, I do. She may have a squint and wear bad fitting clothes and big shoes, yet I admire her."

"Why?"

"She knows how to get off a car the right way, and that's why. She's too stout, and her hair is ratty, and she hasn't any taste, but when she steps down from the back platform I never worry. I know she'll land all right. I'm dead sure she isn't going to sit down in the mud and ask me for my number. That's why I admire her Here she comes now. Watch her when she gets off."

The stout woman came down the aisle and briskly descended to the street. And the conductor, with his hand on the bell rope, winked approvingly at the slim man.

Then the stout woman looked around.

"Come, George," she called, and the slim man meekly followed her.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Answered.

"Where shall the weary find rest?" exclaimed Rev. Dr. Fourthly, with dramatic emphasis.

A short score from the pew occupied by Deacon Hardesty was the only response.—Chicago Tribune.

The test of political institutions is the condition of the country whose fortunes they regulate.—Beaconsfield.

WARMING ARBUCKLES' SLIGHTLY MAKES THE GRINDING EASY

If you want to drink real coffee, buy a sealed package of Arbuckles' ARIOSA and grind it in your own kitchen as you want to use it. Roasted coffee loses its strength and flavor if exposed to the air, and even its identity as coffee after grinding. Loose coffee sold out of a bag, bin or tin is usually dusty and soiled by handling.

Boy Confesses Killing Mother.

Toledo, O., Jan. 13.—With her head and skull beaten and horribly crushed, Mrs. Jessie Hazel, wife of John F. Hazel, trainmaster and master mechanic of the Shore line, was found dead by her husband when he returned from work. The police later succeeded in capturing Harvey Hazel, the nineteen-year-old son of the murdered woman. He was taken to the station and, when put in the sweatbox, made a partial confession. He said that he tried to get money from his mother, but that she refused to give it to him. He then tried to intimidate her by slipping a rope around her neck and, enraged at her struggles, finally hit her on the head and killed her.

Cuban Cigarmakers on Strike.

Havana, Jan. 13.—It is estimated that 3,000 workmen of independent cigar factories are now on strike. The factories of the American Tobacco company are not affected. A committee of independent manufacturers will confer with Governor Magoon and the indications are that terms for a settlement of the strike will be agreed upon soon.

Lived and Died Together.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 13.—After having passed the greater part of their lives quietly and uneventfully in an old farm house here, Jonathan King and wife, Abby, died together. In both cases death was due to old age. Mr. King was eighty-four years old and his wife eighty-eight.

Received Distant Wireless Message.

Paris, Jan. 13.—A brief wireless dispatch was received here at the Eiffel tower station from the warship Kleber, which is lying at Casablanca, a distance of 1,900 kilometres. This is the first time that a message has been sent so long a distance under similar conditions.

Terrapin.

Terrapin begin laying about the middle of May and hatch in about thirty days. The female terrapin scratches a hole in the sand with her fore paws, deposits her eggs, from thirteen to nineteen, in it and then covers them up and leaves the heat of the sun on the sand to hatch out the young terrapins. They are not much bigger when hatched than a man's thumb nail and are as soft as dough. They crawl around pretty lively and begin to hunt for their food, consisting of small fish, crabs, etc. The first summer they are quite small, and about the first to the middle of November they go into their winter quarters. These consist of some soft mudhole in the marsh or on the bottom of some stream. Here they sleep until about the middle of April or later, when they come out and are of quite respectable size, say four inches in breadth. The next year they are six inches and the third seven inches in breadth. It is undoubtedly while the terrapin slumbers in the mud that he acquires the peculiar qualities for which we admire him. It is the only flesh known which one can crush in his mouth with his tongue without the aid of his teeth. The other animals run about, sleeping only at night. The terrapin sleeps night and day for six or seven months of the year and takes his night naps, too, for the balance of the year.—Baltimore Sun.

Pen Portrait of Grieg.

Here is as vivid a picture of Grieg, the man as any that has yet been drawn. A correspondent who saw the noted Scandanavian composer when he received his honorary degree at Cambridge, in England, in 1894, makes it for the Manchester Guardian: "It was a sad and a strong face that we saw, one might almost have said a grim face, but that there was nothing of hardness in it, a face which must have inspired both respect and affection in all who met him. Yet as the little, old looking man stood there in the red and yellow gown of a doctor of music there was something incongruous about his appearance, the head, encircled with long, straight, white hair, appearing above the still stiffer, straighter lines of gaudy brocaded silk, which descended to the ground in the form of a regular cone, and the simile of one visitor, who remarked that they made him look just like a penwiper, was irresistibly accurate."

Beer Capacity of a Munich Porter.

An English family touring in Bavaria called at the world famous Hofbrauhaus, the pride of Munich, writes our correspondent. To the waitress serving them the head of the family in a matter of fact way simply held up his five fingers. To the family's astonishment, the waitress came back with five quart pots filled to the brim with beer. The visitors bravely struggled with the beer, but managed to dispose of only about a quart between them. Knowing that it would be considered an insult to leave beer, they called a porter and ordered him to finish it. In less time than it takes to relate it the Bavarian accomplished the task. Wiping his mustache, he demanded sixpence for the "job" and, having obtained the money, instantly ordered and emptied yet another quart pot.—London Mail.

THAW DID ODD THINGS

Appeared to Be Irrational and Mentally Unsound.

80 WITNESSES DECLARE.

Men Who Sat on Coroner's Jury During Inquiry Into White's Death on Stand—Club Steward, Telephone Operator and Family Butler Testify.

New York, Jan. 16.—Adhering strictly to their promise to interpose no other defense than that of insanity in behalf of their client, the attorneys representing Harry K. Thaw at his trial Wednesday continued the examination of witnesses who swore that young Thaw at various times in his life appeared to them as irrational and mentally unsound.

Practically all of the testimony was entirely new to the case and had to do with acts down to the day of the tragedy itself. Then came the declaration of the ten men who sat on the coroner's jury during the inquiry into Stanford White's death, all of whom declared that the defendant the day following the shooting had acted irrationally. His manner and appearance were such as to cause the inquest jury to discuss his state of mind after their formal verdict had been rendered.

Delved Into Family History.

In the day's testimony there was more delving into the history of the Thaw family, Alfred Lee Thaw, of Richmond, Va., a third cousin of the defendant, taking the stand and telling of the taint of insanity which had caused his father and brother to die in state asylums.

Some of Thaw's alleged eccentricities, revealed for the first time, were related by Christopher Baggan, steward of the New York Whist club; by Miss Matilda Stein, a telephone operator, and by Per August Weber, a former butler in the Thaw household. Thaw spent a portion of the afternoon of June 25, 1906, at the whist club and at that time—a few hours before the tragedy—was pictured by the steward as being highly nervous and as frequently exclaiming "This is awful." He asked the steward to have a valuable package put into the safe. After the shooting, the package was opened and found to contain three cigarettes wrapped in tinfoil. District Attorney Jerome, in cross-examining the club steward, brought out the fact that Thaw played bridge there with many prominent men. The witness declared he was not supposed to know what Mr. Thaw, Mr. Gates, Mr. Schwab and the others played for, but he was sure nothing but mineral water was ever served at the tables.

Forgot 'Phone Calls.

The telephone operator told of Thaw putting in seventy-five calls one morning at the Grand hotel and then forgetting all about them.

The butler told many details of Thaw's life at home in 1903 and was still under examination when adjournment was taken.

Criminal lawyers of prominence who are following the case outlined by the defense and who are taking into consideration the fact that a specific plea of insanity has been entered this year, declare that acquittal under the circumstances can come only with the added clause "on account of the insanity of the defendant at the time the act was committed."

This, it is declared, would compel the presiding judge to commit Thaw to Matteawan asylum, from whence a fight to prove his present sanity and thus gain freedom would have to be conducted through habeas corpus proceedings.

Bank President Indicted.

New York, Jan. 16.—The special grand jury which was sworn in to investigate the conduct of certain banks in New York county has returned two indictments against William E. Montgomery, president of the Hamilton bank. Charges, involving overdrafts and over-certification, have to do, however, with acts alleged to have been committed by Montgomery while he was vice-president of the institution. When E. R. and O. F. Thomas retired from their banking interests Montgomery succeeded the former in the presidency. The Hamilton bank suspended on Oct. 23 last. Montgomery, in the criminal branch of the supreme court, pleaded not guilty with the usual reservation of his right to change his plea or demur to the indictments. The $5,000 bail required was furnished.

Fairbanks's Entertain Senators.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The vice-president and Mrs. Fairbanks gave a reception last night in honor of the members of the United States senate and their ladies. A large company was present, including President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

SCHOOOL FOR MORGUE

On Floor Are Laid Out Victims of Boyertown Catastrophe.

OVER 100 ARE IDENTIFIED.

Many Will Doubtless Be Buried Without Having Been Claimed—Coroner Impanels Jury—Three of Supposed Dead Turn Up Alive.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 16.—Bearing up bravely under the awful blow which it received in the destruction of Rhoades Opera House by fire, this little borough has come to a full realization of the fact that one-fifteenth of its population was wiped out of existence by the holocaust. The figures compiled by Coroner Strasser show that there are 170 dead. The list of dead includes one fireman, who lost his life fighting the fire, and one man, Jacob Johnson, who died from injuries received. Three more charred bodies were recovered from the ruins of the building and of the 168 bodies, or remains, that lie in the improvised morgue 115 have been officially, or partially, identified.

The private morgues in the town were not of sufficient size to receive the bodies and the public school was also used as a charnel house. Here the bodies were laid out in rows. Each bit of jewelry or fragment of clothing picked up in the blackened ruins was tagged, as were the charred and blackened bodies, or such portions of them as remains, and all in search of missing loved ones are permitted to pass through the gruesome rows to make identifications.

Few of the bodies could be recognized by the features alone as in most cases the upper portion of the corpses was seared or burned to a crisp.

The scenes at the morgue are heart-rending.

Before any of the bodies were removed from the morgue Coroner Strasser empanelled a jury to view the remains and the scene of the devastating fire and to sit at the inquest. After the jury had been sworn in they made an inspection of the ruins and went through the morgues. No date has been fixed for the inquest.

Coroner Opens Office.

Coroner Strasser has opened an office in the Mansion House and established a bureau of information, where he grants death certificates and signs insurance papers. Representatives of scores of insurance companies are in Boyertown paying off claims. There are fifty-five undertakers or their representatives here, and plenty for them to do.

Coroner Strasser says that not more than twenty-five of the entire number of bodies removed from the fire have heads. There are several trunks that will probably never be identified as there were several strangers in the audience that witnessed the play.

Building Inspector Heckman, of Reading, who made an inspection of the opera house, which was destroyed, said:

"In my opinion the people in the hall were overcome by the fumes from the tank used in connection with the tableau lights and simply could not help themselves. A man told me that he reached in the doorway to assist a woman from the building and that he was nearly overcome by gas. He was not in the hall when the fire started."

John Rhoades and his grandson, who were supposed to have been killed by the fire, and Mrs. John Dyer, another supposed victim, have turned up.

A committee has been appointed to make a canvass of the borough and arrange for the proper burial of the dead. A call has also been issued for volunteers to help dig the graves necessary to bury the victims.

Attempt to Blow Up City Hall.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 16.—A deliberate attempt is believed to have been made to blow up the city hall. When Supt. Diefenieck arrived at the building in the morning he found the stop-cock leading from the water tank to the boilers shut off, and had he been fifteen minutes later it is possible that the boilers would have exploded. Almost the entire police force is at work on the case, and although a clue has been found, no suspects have been arrested.

Shoots Two and Kills Self.

Muskegon, Mich., Jan. 16.—Mayor James B. Balkema of North Muskegon has received a message from Lane, Idaho telling of a tragedy enacted by Henry Bythorn, aged thirty years. He shot and instantly killed his sister-in-law, Rhoda Norton, aged twenty-one years, fatally wounded his wife and fired a bullet into his heart and died instantly. Bythorn lived in North Muskegon until about four years ago.

KEEP THE AUDITORS.

Wayne and Other Counties Needn't Abolish Boards.

CONVENTION THUS DECIDES.

Question of Rejecting Them Rests With Counties Concerned—Delegates Also Decide to Increase and Decrease Supervisors' Powers.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 16.—The Wayne county board of auditors, as well as the auditors' boards of Kent, Washtenaw, Saginaw, Jackson and Genesee counties are saved. By a vote of thirty-seven to fifteen the convention Wednesday afternoon decided that, while there shall be a general law providing for but one auditor in each county the six counties named need not come under it until the electors in each vote to have one auditor instead of a board of three.

Delegate Simons offered the amendment which will allow the six counties to keep their auditors' boards until the electors decide otherwise.

A new section that extends in one way the powers of boards of supervisors and in another way curtails the powers of such boards, as well as the boards of county auditors, was passed to second reading. It gives supervisors power to fix the salaries of all county officials, not otherwise provided in the constitution. The curtailment is in that supervisors and auditors' boards shall hereafter not have the absolute say as to whether a bill rendered against the county is excessive. As it is now, such board can reduce or reject entirely any bill submitted.

By an amendment offered by Delegate Campbell, of Detroit, it is provided in the new section that if a person feels aggrieved at the way the board has treated his account he can appeal to the circuit court.

The primary school moneys section went through substantially as it is in the present constitution. The idea of having some of the moneys now collected in taxes for the primary schools diverted to another purpose was abandoned.

Pratt Proposal Goes.

The Pratt proposal requiring the legislature to provide "for the keeping by all state officials, boards and institutions of accurate accounts of all moneys received and paid out by such officials, boards and institutions, and for the keeping of such accounts by the officials of all municipal corporations" was passed in committee of the whole and sent to second reading. The systems of account adopted shall provide for accurate checks upon all such officials, and shall be uniform for all similar boards, institutions and municipalities.

The convention passed to second reading a section relating to the incorporation of banks and trust companies.

The new section reads:

"No general law providing for the incorporation of trust companies or corporations for banking purposes, or regulating the business thereof, shall be adopted, amended or repealed except by a vote of two-thirds of the members of both houses of the legislature."

Representative Barnaby, of Grand Rapids, introduced a proposal during the day to create a "commission of public lands and allied" interests of seven members to have full jurisdiction over the management and disposition of the public lands, of forest reserves and forest interests, of stream protection and control, of game and fish interests and of minerals and mineral interests.

Asks for Stay of Proceedings.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 16.—James S. Gorman, attorney for State Treasurer Glazier, has been here and consulted Gov. Warner relative to the charges against Glazier on which a hearing is to be held Friday. Gorman says Glazier will not be able to appear and he will present the affidavits of physicians stating that Glazier's condition is such that he has not been even informed of the charges. It is expected that the matter will be put over for some time.

Final Chapter in Walsh Trial.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The final chapter in the trial of John R. Walsh on charges of misapplying funds of the Chicago National bank was begun Wednesday when Assistant District Attorney Fletcher Dobyns began the final summing up to the jury. Before Mr. Dobyns's argument, John S. Willer and Edward C. Ritscher of counsel for the defense had concluded the arguments on behalf of the banker. The case is likely to go to the jury late this afternoon.

CORTELYOU ACCEPTS.

New York Dispatch Says Secretary of Treasury Will Be President of Knickerbocker Trust Co.

New York, Jan. 16.—Secretary of the Treasury George B. Cortelyou will be president of the reorganized Knickerbocker Trust company. This was practically admitted by officials of the suspended company today. The date of his taking the place is not made known.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Secretary Cortelyou is at his desk again in the treasury department. At the White House it was said positively that nothing whatever was known as to the secretary's reported resignation. Secretary Cortelyou's appearance at the department is for the first time since his recent illness, which began about four weeks ago. He still shows evidence of his severe attack of the grip. Cortelyou pronounced the story that he had been offered the presidency of the Knickerbocker Trust company, of New York, as absolutely without foundation.

SWEEPING INJUNCTION.

Court Puts Ban on Actions of Silk Weavers.

Phillipsburg, N. J., Jan. 16.—One of the most sweeping injunctions ever granted against labor organizations in this state has been issued by Chancellor Magie, at Trenton, on petition of the Standard Silk company, whose employes are on strike. The injunction is temporary but goes into effect at once and will remain so until the hearing at Newark on Jan. 28.

The injunction restrains the Silk Weavers and Twisters' association, and local No. 661, United Textile Workers of America, the Bachelors' club, a local association, and more than one hundred people in and out of the unions from causing or attempting to cause by threats or offers of money to pay expenses or to offer any other inducement or persuasion whatever to cause any employe of the mill to break his contract with the company and from addressing persons employed at the mill contrary to their will, or loitering or picketing on the streets near the mill or on the streets of the town along which it is necessary for employes of the mill to pass on their way to or from work.

The injunction puts a stop to all threats and intimidations or violence to persons employed or those likely to be employed by the company and prevents the strikers and their friends from interfering with any tradesman or storekeeper doing business with the Standard company or its employes or interfering with boarding-house keepers with whom employes are staying.

Five Skaters Drowned.

Connellsville, Pa., Feb. 16.—Of six persons who formed a skating party at the Jimtown reservoir, near here five were drowned: They are: John Luxner, George Cochrah, Frank Cochran, Jr., William Fulmer, Elizabeth Fulmer. Miss Fulmer and George Cochran started toward the center of the reservoir but had not gone far when the ice broke and they were thrown into the water. In an instant a human chain was formed by the other four, who clasped hands with Andrew Mack, the only survivor, at the end of the line nearest the shore. Just as a hand was being reached out to grasp Miss Fulmer, there was another crash of ice. Frank Cochran, Luxner and William Fulmer had also gone down, the thin ice giving way under their combined weight. Mack was obliged to dash to shore. Helpless to save, he saw his merry companions of a few minutes before go to death.

Crawford's Body Found In River.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The body of Lieutenant John W. Crawford, private secretary to Admiral Dewey, has been found below Fort Foote, on the Maryland side of the Potomac. He disappeared on Nov. 22 last, leaving a note to a friend that he was driven to end his life by financial troubles. He was last seen on a ferryboat between this city and Alexandria, but as no one saw him jump overboard, some doubt remained as to his having carried out his announced purpose. Admiral Dewey was among those who doubted the suicide theory, and subsequently it was reported that Crawford had been seen in Virginia a few miles from Washington. The finding of his body, however, clears up the mystery. The body was badly decomposed, but identification was made complete by the fact that several calling cards bearing Lieutenant Crawford's name were found in the clothing.

LAKE SHORE

Pull off passenger trains

SUNDAY TRAINS

Are discontinued. Decrease of business is the cause.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad have issued a new time table which goes into effect Sunday, Jan. 19. This is the greatest change ever known in the Lake Shore railroad and is due to an enormous decrease of business, which is felt generally by all the railroads in the United States. Nineteen regular passenger trains have been discontinued from Buffalo west and 26 from Buffalo east.

That which effects Tecumseh is, both Sunday trains have been discontinued. The passenger trains due here daily at 6:20 p. m. northbound and 9:05 p. m. southbound are also discontinued. All other trains on the Jackson branch will continue on the same schedule. The D. T. & M. passenger trains due in Tecumseh at 8:20 a. m. going west and 5:43 p. m. going east have been removed, but all other trains on that branch will continue as before. The locals due in Tecumseh at 6:45 a. m. in west bound and 4:55 east bound will carry passengers.

Lake Shore Loss.

The Lake Shore road suffered the greatest loss by storm last Sunday that it has ever experienced. For 10 miles in Chicago wires and poles on both sides of the right of way fell under the heavy winds which swept over Lake Michigan. Several of the poles were broken in three pieces and at a rough estimate it is said it will require at least 600 poles to establish communication. Old railroad men say it was the worst storm ever known in this section of the state.

MAKE THE STOMACH WORK.

Indigestion can never be cured by molycoddling.

Don't try to cure your stomach troubles by coaxing, fussing, dieting and molycoddling.

Make the organ work. If it cannot take care of the food you eat without complaints such as flatulence, indigestion, headaches, and the feeling of fullness or distress, make its muscles work by using Mi-o-na stomach tablets.

These little tablets, taken with regularity for a few days, will soon strengthen the muscles and walls of the stomach so that it will take pleasure in working to digest the food you eat, and there will be no further suffering with indigestion, bloating, flatulence or distress after eating.

The time to treat a disordered or weakened stomach is when you begin to suspect that you have indigestion, for the suspicion will turn to certainty very soon. The heartburn, the flatulence, the coated tongue and heavy and dull feeling after eating that come occasionally after you eat too much of something that does not agree with you, will show themselves after nearly every meal unless the stomach is put to work with Mi-o-na.

There is no need of special dieting if you set the stomach at work with Mi-o-na. Eat what you want and when you want it and believe that you are going to be well and you will see relief from the first dose and complete cure in a few days.

Try a 50c box of Mi-o-na on C. A. Wright & Son's guarantee of money back if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

If you want to shine as a conversationalist encourage the others to do all the talking.

Most people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

It keeps up the athlete's strength, puts fat on thin people, makes a fretful baby happy, brings color to a pale girl's cheeks and prevents coughs, colds and consumption.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

And it contains no drugs and no alcohol.

SOUTHERN MICHIGAN

League Workings. A bit concerning Bo Slear.

In its weekly bulletin the National Association announces a few of the Southern Michigan contracts for 1908 as follows:

With Flint—Edw. Frendenburg, J. R. Bowser, C. D. Cassel.

With Saginaw—Wm. M. Stackpole, W. H. Navarre, Louis Linton, Wm. H. Lerglerg.

With Mt. Clemens—Carl W. Baker.

With Kalamazoo—Wm. Killifer.

With Battle Creek—Mark Cummings, Frank Donavan, J. E. McGunnigle, A. P. Saunders, Nick Lakaff.

Burkart will start the season with a strong team at Saginaw. He will probably have Gough, Chesman, Neuschafer, Dorn, Cadmus and Harris, catch; Hayes, first; Geo. Thomas, second; with Darringer and Ragan at short and third. For outfielder he will have McDonald, Eberts and possibly Beasley. Wenger, who figured so largely with Mt. Clemens last season, has had some trouble with Burkart and would like to shift berths with someone for a while. Hart, of the '07 Coldwater team, and Clark of Iroquis, Ill., have accepted Kazoo contracts. Clark is a big fellow and has seen service in the Southern and Atlantic Leagues.

The Lansing Journal contained the following:

Mr. Slear is called "Bo." Just why he should be called so is a mystery, as he has but little resemblance to Bo Peep. Slear has been playing several years in minor leagues and has left his name emblazoned behind him on the rolls of fame in nearly every state in the union and also Chicago. After being a member of the Northern league he found that playing ball in August on snow shoes did not agree with him and joined Tecumseh two years ago and has been there as a player and manager ever since. It is rumored that the coming season he will be playing an outfield position for the Jackson team and will also act as manager, but while Jackson people say 'tis so, the Tecumseh people say 'taint so. As a manager Slear is absolutely a large candy cane. He is said to claim Indiana as his residence, and last year married one of the most beautiful young ladies of Tecumseh.

While spending the winter in Tecumseh a year ago, Slear saw a small boy go through a hole in the ice on the river (small boys are inclined to make trouble at times.) The ice hole was nearly a quarter of a mile away from where Slear stood, but changing his cud of scrap from the left side of his face to the right he with two strokes of his trusty skates reached the scene and dragged the boy to the surface by his forelock. For this act he received a gold watch with pretty letters in the back case.

Another Letter from W. P. Stocking from Long Beach, Cal

DEAR HERALD READERS:—Will you kindly take a little walk with me over through Brownville and let me show you how it looked to me about 50 years ago and let me tell you of the people and places as I remember them?

Let us start from the Episcopal church. Let us sit here on the church steps while I tell you of some of the incidents, things and surroundings as they appeared to me. This old church is one of the most familiar buildings to me in Tecumseh as I passed it every day often many times a day going to and from home when we lived in the house where I was born, which stood and I think still stands on the north side of the street just west of the church. Often I have rested from play in the shade of the two large oak trees that stood just north of it, often I sat on these steps to watch the circus come in, to watch the elephants spout water as they stopped to play in the creek.

Sometimes when I expected some of our folks home on the stage from Clinton, Manchester or Jackson I would come and sit on these steps to watch its arrival and it was right in front of us here that the driver would blow his horn, crack his whip over his horses and go into town with quite an air of importance.

The steeple of the church was in two sections, the base section being larger than the top section and at the four corners of each was a pinnacle, but after being blown off several times by high winds they were left off which made the church look "bald headed." Another thing I remember about this old church is the beauty of the Christmas eve illuminations when the blinds were thrown open and the windows filled with lighted candles making a scene beautiful and facinating to us youngsters.

As it was not our church we did not take part in the festivities but some times I peeked in at the door to see the beautiful Christmas tree and decorations and to listen to the singing and the pipe organ, which being the only one in the town, was a great curiosity to me. I well remember a little story, whether true or not I am not sure, about a little boy who came to church one Sunday for the first and seeing the boy working the lever to the bellows, went home and to his mother, who had not been at church with him he exclaimed, "Mama you ought to have been to church today to see a boy pump music."

Just across the street there in a little hollow and in a little clump of trees stood Mr. Osborn's slaughter house. Sometimes I gave stopped here in a safe place on the steps to watch the men in their efforts to get a critter through the gates and into the building but as soon as the animal was through the gates, I'd dig out for a safe distance from all sounds that might come from slaughtering of the poor dumb beast. I used to think that a butcher must be a hard hearted, cruel and wicked man and was somewhat afraid of him

Do you remember those great ricks of bark that stood across the road north of the church around which we boys had such sport playing hide and seek by moonlight as well as by daylight? Remember how the bridge down there across the creek used to grout quite often during the spring freshets. Then came the slow and difficult work of driving piling for a new one. In those days the pile driver was raised by two or four men turning a windlass and after the hammer had dropped, the rope had to be unwound from the windlass and the grapling irons run down for the next raise of the hammer. In this way only one blow was struck where half a dozen are given by the modern machinery of today.

Well let us move on down across the old bridge and go on over to Brownsville. Here is the old tannery at our left. I have spoken of that and its surroundings and the men employed there. We will go up on the west side of the road as the most of the houses are on that side. Remember we are looking at things as they appeared 50 years ago. On the east side of the street there were no houses until we reach Mr. Deuel's. The first one we come to on that side was my uncle Charles Stocking and where lived my cousins Henry, Grove, Albert and Frank.

I must relate a little incident in my life of which the mention of my cousin's home calls to mind. In a previous letter I stated that one of my chores was to milk and take care of the cow. One cold winter evening I neglected to feed the cow until dark then I was afraid to go up stairs to throw down the hay so let poor bossy go on short rations. Unfortunately for me I went over to stay all night with my cousins, I was snug in a nice, warm bed when father came to the door and called me. I had to dress, go home and feed the cow, then crawl into my own cold bed all alone. I can now almost feel all the sensations of that night as I write this in this sunny clime.

After we pass uncle's house I remember the Wm. Rowland, the VanTyne houses and one or two others before we come to the home and blacksmith shop of Mr. McCann. I remember but two more houses on this side before reaching the corner, Mr. Pennock's being one of them. On the opposite side of the street stood the Deuel and Mangus homes and on the corner the old red wagon shop of Mr. Mangus. I have made a pretty long letter of this already and as I have no more to say about Brownville we will stop at the corner while I tell you about a California Thanksgiving.

Today it is almost like midsummer, warm, a cloudless sky, blooming flowers everywhere, women and girls walking and riding without hats or wraps, scores bathing in the ocean and sporting on the sand, out door concerts every day. As is today so was Thanksgiving. About dinner? Well, Long Beach like many other southern California cities, has so many public places where good turkey and chicken dinners are served for 50c that many who can afford to get up a big dinner at home prefer to dine out and save time and hard work.

There are many other places where those of moderate means, in short the "masses" can go and buy a good, hot, well cooked dinner for a small amount and take it home to the family, thus saving work and expense. The pair of us took dinner alone. Went out and bought a half of a roasted chicken with fixings for 50c, a cranberry pie 10c, a pudding 10c, Mrs. S. made some baking powder biscuits, a kind neighbor brought in a liberal amount of plum pudding which with tea, coffee and other common dishes we had a good dinner with but little work or worry for Mrs. S. and cheaper than she could have cooked the same.

Not much of a Thanksgiving dinner, say you? Oh no, as compared with some of those dinners of my boyhood days, I remember so well when the tables fairly groaned under their weight of good things and we youngsters groaned or grunted from our stuffing our stomachs in our effort to have a pretty liberal amount of everything in sight and the more good things back in the kitchen and pantry and not in sight but in smiling distance.

Oh yes, I can almost smell and taste those good things and hear the merry voices and see around the table the smiling, joyful faces of my uncles, aunts and cousins. Even though the the great Rockies tower between those scenes and those and the grand old Pacific with its roar and rush breaking on our ears and the breaking waves dashing shoreward with a grandeur all their own.

Personal:—Some weeks ago we had a pleasant call from Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Pennington of Pennington's Corners in Macon, who took the pains to look us up because of the interest they had taken in our HERALD letters. Have also received a pleasant card from Miss Mary Snedicor thanking me for my kind words and for the correction of the error appearing in the body of my letter.

Am glad to note that she has begun the work of a teacher for it seems to me that there is no calling or profession in which a conscientious young woman or man can do so much to start boys and girls in the way of right living. May success ever attend her efforts.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys Tecumseh people endorse them.

Mrs. Mary Edwards of Logan street, Tecumseh Mich., says, "I feel that I cannot praise Doan's Kidney Pills too highly as they have been of great benefit to me. I had suffered a great deal from a heavy cold which settled in my kidneys. It kept getting worse until I confined to my bed. When I got up I required assistance in getting in and out of a chair. The pains in my back shoulders were very severe. At night I was restless and could not sleep. The action of the kidneys was too frequent causing me much annoyance I tried nearly every kidney remedy but received no benefit until I tried Doan's Kidney Pills. They were exactly what my condition required and after using three boxes a complete cure was effected and I have had no trouble since. I advise every kidney sufferer to try the Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

Itching, bleeding, protruding or blind piles yield to Doan's ointment. Chronic cases relieved and cured. Druggists all sell it.

The more rights a woman has the less she talks about them.

It is very important and in fact it is absolutely necessary to health that we give relief to the stomach promptly at the first signs of trouble—which are belching of gas, nausea, sour stomach, headache, irritability and nervousness. These are warnings that the stomach has been mistreated; it is doing too much work and it is demanding help from you. Take something once in a while, especially after meals, something like Kodol for dyspepsia and indigestion. It will enable your stomach to do its work properly. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Stoessel's Trial Near End.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 16.—The trial by court-martial of Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel for having surrendered the Port Arthur fortress to the Japanese is nearing its end and a verdict is expected early next week. Deputy Syrtlanoff, General Stoessel's attorney, has intimated to the Associated Press that he had little hope of acquittal on the main charge of surrendering the fortress. M. Syrtlanoff hopes, however, that his client will be freed from blame for the evacuation of several of the minor Russian positions as well as for superceding General Smirnoff. One of the most damaging points against General Stoessel is that there was a considerable amount of shells on hand when the fortress surrendered.

Earthquake in Hayti.

Among the buildings destroyed are the commercial houses of Herrman, Adder and Jolibert.

Toothblacks.

"As we have bootblacks so they've got toothblacks in the Sunda islands," said a traveling man.

"What is a toothblack?"

"Don't you know? A toothblack is an old woman with a pot of black paint, a gold leaf book and a set of vegetable brushes. From but to hut she passes, and for a small fee—a yam, a bunch of bananas, three cocoanuts—she paints the Sunda islander's teeth a glistening black—all but the two front teeth. These she gilds. And the Sunda islander thereafter goes about with a self conscious smile revealing a truly knock-me-down dental display, a black and gold symphony. It is a common trick among the semicivilized to color the teeth. In Macassar dark brown is the popular hue, and in Japan among the unenlightened classes the teeth of wives are always painted black. In such countries the toothblack is an institution. She goes from house to house as full of gossip as a barber."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

His Profession.

In the midst of our tea drinking in the little Parisian restaurant, says Miss Betham-Edwards in an account of "Home Life In France," a gentlemanly individual wearing a tall hat and frock coat entered and, after a short colloquy with the young master, passed out.

"You would never guess that gentleman's errand," Marcel said, smiling, as he reseated himself at the tea table.

"He looked to me like a rather distinguished customer," I replied. "Some government functionary on half pay or an owner of bonds."

Marcel smiled again.

"That well dressed gentleman, then, supplies us with toothpicks, which his wife makes at home. He calls once a month and takes our orders. I dare say he and his wife between them make from $6 to $8 a week and contrive to keep up appearances on that sum. It is an instance of what one

The Best Laxative for Children.

Parents should see to it that their children have one natural, easy movement of the bowels each day. Do not dose the child with salts or griping pills, as they are too powerful in effect, and literally tear their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before. Laxative Iron-ox Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate all the little organs to healthy activity. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never gripe or nauseate. 10c, 25c and $1.00 at all drug stores.

Witnesses Declare Grace Pion Made Fatal Ascension.

Stanton, Mich., Jan. 16.—"You little fool, have you lost your nerve? This is the language it is alleged was addressed to Grace Pion, the Grand Rapids girl who lost her life in a balloon ascension at Howard City fair last fall.

Grace King, who was a friend of the Pion girl and was at her side when the fatal ascension was made, testified to the remark in the case against Earl Wilson and Paul Schultz, who are charged with manslaughter because of the girl's death. The King girl is the witness for whom the officers sought for some time and who was finally discovered at Capac. She swore that the Pion girl protested vigorously against making the ascension, but that the men urged her on and swore at her and and taunted her with being afraid.

Myrtle Ivens, of 45 South Division street, Grand Rapids, also testified that the girl made the ascension against her desires.

About a dozen witnesses were on the stand, all of whom had seen the accident. One man who examined the cannon or basket after the fatal drop, testified that the rope which should have held it to the balloon when the parachute was released was broken a foot and a half from the place where it was fastened to the cannon. There was no evidence to show that the break was due to anything but a weakness in the rope.

The cannon in which the flight was made is a wicker basket nine or ten feet long and a little more than a foot and a half across. One end is closed with a netting. Into this the parachute is shoved and the aeronaut follows with a harness attached to the parachute. When a cord is pulled at the proper height the open end of the basket drops, allowing balloonist and parachute to shoot out into the air. At Howard City both ends of the basket were released and the girl did not leave the wicker work which enclosed her.

New Regents Take Part.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 16.—The first meeting of the board of regents for the new year has just been held with the two new regents, J. E. Beal, of Ann Arbor, and Frank Leland, of Detroit, present. The board decided to join the association of state universities. Prof. W. W. Beeman, after thirty-seven years of continuous service to the university in the department of mathematics, asked for and was given leave of absence for the 1908-9 to travel and study abroad. Prof. Walter Dennison has been asked to take charge of the American school at Rome next year and was granted leave of absence for this purpose, Albert R. Crittenden, of Olivet, taking his place here as assistant professor of Latin.

Surrenders and Admits Theft.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 16.—Assistant Postmaster Fred Reynolds, of Ionia, walked into the sheriff's office here and gave himself up, saying that he has robbed the government of $1,133.85 during his office as assistant postmaster. He says that he did not take the money in one lump, but took it a little at a time from different funds. He gave no reason as to why he gave himself up. Reynolds is well known here. He and his young wife are social favorites, and his confession comes as a great surprise to his friends. He is in jail, awaiting the investigation of a grand jury.

One Dead; Another Dying.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—Two Hungarians met with an accident at the plant of the Great Lakes Engineering works, in Ecorse, and one of them, Joe Kash, aged twenty, died soon after the Solvay hospital was reached. The other's skull was fractured and he is in a dying condition. He is thirty-five years of age. The dead man was changing connections for an air machine and in making a short jump from one plank to another he missed his footing and fell forty feet into the bottom of the boat. The other accident victim was carrying a plank on boat No. 23, when he, too, lost his footing and fell some distance. Both men suffered from fractured skulls.

DEFENDS HIS ACTIONS

Zimmermann Explains Why He Didn't Close Glazier Bank.

MAKES HIS ANNUAL REPORT.

Banking Commissioner Declares That By Not Being Too Hasty He Saved Five Other Institutions—Wants New Laws Governing Trust Companies.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 20.—The nineteenth annual report of the state banking department to Governor Warner by Commissioner H. M. Zimmermann, just made public, contains some statements of much interest particularly to the financial men of the state and to the people in general.

For one thing, Mr. Zimmermann recommends a new law relative to trust companies specifically describing their rights, powers and limitations, and that the department be given the same supervision it has over banks. He also includes some pertinent comment on banking in Michigan and a defense of the policy of the department in regard to the Chelsea bank, which went down under the financing of State Treasurer Glazier.

State Banks Number 329.

Mr. Zimmermann says there are now 329 state banks, 93 national banks and 6 trust companies in the state.

In dwelling on the 646 examinations made during the year, the commissioner states that special examinations have been made in some instances. Then he says:

"In nearly every instance the observance of the law and correction of irregularities requested by the department have been complied with promptly and willingly, and in but few cases has it been necessary to take drastic steps to bring about improved conditions.

"The capital of five banks was found by me to be impaired and an assessment on their stock, from 50 to 100 per cent, was in each case ordered. These assessments have nearly all been collected and paid in, thus placing the banks affected on renewed and safe footing, fully protecting the depositors."

Further in the discussion of conditions, Mr. Zimmermann says that while the number of depositors in incorporated banks has increased 99,503, yet the average deposit of each has decreased about $47, which is accounted for, in his estimation, by the large increase in the number of depositors. Thirty-one new state banks have been organized during the year.

Taking up the matter of the Chelsea Savings bank, the commissioner says:

Starts Early on Glazier.

"Soon after my appointment as commissioner, I was made acquainted with the affairs of this bank and at once took steps to bring about the reduction of its excessive loans and otherwise improve its condition. By personal conversation with Mr. Glazier and by correspondence, I urged on him and the other officers of the bank the necessity for immediate action in that direction.

"The large deposit of state funds was not subject to my regulation, and was carried a long period of time prior to my becoming commissioner, though I directed Mr. Glazier's attention to this matter and urged a reduction, receiving his assurance that the matter would be attented to.

"I am free to say that the course pursued will result in a larger return to the depositors than if the bank had been summarily closed by me as soon as my attention was called to the status of its affairs.

"Criticism has been made on the ground that the Chelsea Savings bank should have been closed promptly by the commissioner on discovering its condition rather than to have permitted it to continue, and that had that been done, the financial operations of its president might have been averted. In answer to this criticism and others of like character, I wish to say that the causes resulting in Mr. Glazier's failure antedated my appointment as commissioner. Had the course urged by those who criticize been adopted by me as the wisest to be followed, not only would the Chelsea Savings bank have been closed, but with it five other institutions as above noted."

Mr. Zimmermann recommends more adequate and stringent laws relative to the boards of directors, since some are inclined to allow the officers of the banks to borrow excessively.

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 20.—There is much suffering because of the unusual heat wave throughout Victoria. Thirty-two deaths have been recorded from this cause during the past few days.

PLOT IS FRUSTRATED.

Anarchists Conspired to Destroy Portion Big Fleet.

RIO POLICE TIPPED OFF.

Officers Now Seeking to Apprehend One Jean Fedher and Others—Details Not Given Out—First Conspiracy of Its Kind in Brazil.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 20.—The Brazilian police have discovered an anarchistic plot here having as its obect the destruction of part of the American fleet now lying in the harbor. The conspiracy, while centering in Rio Janiero and Petropolis, has ramifications in San Paulo and Minas Geraes. An individual named Jean Fedher, who resided in Petropolis, was the chief conspirator here, although it is understood that foreign anarchists are deeply involved in the plot. Fedher is believed to have fled to San Paulo and the police, who know him, have sent to that place for the purpose of apprehending him. One of the detectives, who was well acquainted with Fedher, having served on the police force at Petropolis for some time, returned from that place after having made some investigations there, and had a long conference with the chief of police at Rio Janeiro. The latter gave it to be understood later that the San Paulo police are on the track of the arch-conspirator and expect to arrest him soon.

In an official note which the chief of police sent to the correspondent of the Associated Press, he says:

"Some time before the arrival of the American fleet at Rio Janeiro, the Brazilian government received from Washington and Paris advices that anarchistists of different nationalities intended to damage one or several of the ships of the American fleet. The names and addresses of the conspirators were indicated by information which the police here had received previously from France and Germany. The police of this district are working with the police of San Paulo and Minas Geraes, and I am sure every precaution will be exercised and the most rigourous vigilance observed both on land and at sea to prevent any injury being done."

The chief of police, after having made this official statement, said that he did not feel he should go into any further details with regard to the conspiracy, but he authorized the statement that the plot was organized by Fedher, and he added that the people of the United States could rest easy as all of the conspirators had taken refuge in the interior.

As yet, the people of Brazil are ignorant of the details of the plot, although there has been some slight inkling of the matter. The impression which the exposure of this plot will create here will be a profound one, because it is the first anarchistic conspiracy that has ever been known in Brazil.

The police of San Paulo have sent word that they are on the track of the malefactors, who, they declare, will not be able to come to Rio Janeiro.

Theater Fire Victims Buried.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 20.—The bodies of twenty-four unidentified dead who lost their lives in the Rhoades Opera House fire last Monday were buried Sunday, in Fairview cemetery, in this place. Upwards of 10,000 persons attended the services that marked the interment of the fire victims, who were buried in one long circular shaped trench. No eulogy was delivered at the grave, the ceremonies being of the simplest. Four ministers, representing as many denominations, read the plain burial service of their respective churches.

Walsh Declared Guilty.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—John R. Walsh, former president of the Chicago National bank, which closed its doors in December, 1905, has been found guilty on fifty-four counts of the indictment against him charging misapplication of the bank's funds. The verdict was returned by a jury in the federal district court here. Walsh was permitted to remain at liberty under the bond furnished by him after the indictment pending the hearing of arguments on Jan. 8, on a motion by his counsel for a new trial.

MINERS ARE RESCUED

Three Taken Alive Out of Six After Long Imprisonment.

BURIED FOR FORTY-SIX DAYS

Had Been Kept From Death by Means of Single Pipe, Through Which Food Was Passed—Great Crowd Greeted Them at Surface.

Ely, Nev. Jan. 20.—After having been entombed forty-six days, 1,000 feet below the surface in the Alpha shaft of the Giroux mine, A. D. Bailey, P. J. Brown and Fred McDonald have been rescued. Whistles all over the camp blew loudly, while crowds cheered in the streets of Ely to the clinging of the bells when the men were brought out.

"Ah," was the only word of Bailey, the first to reach the outer air. He tottered forward into the arms of comrades, who in a few minutes recuperated him.

"Is that you, Arthur?" queried Fred McDonald, as his brother stepped forward and embraced him after nearly seven weeks of separation. "By George, it certainly seems good to be out of that hole," he said as he was led away, telling his brother of his terrible experience.

"Somebody give me a chew of tobacco," said Brown, with a laugh, as he was led from the mine shaft to the change room of the mine, where the three men were made comfortable.

Crowd Waited Long.

News that rescue was near at hand reached Ely from the mine and many citizens were there to greet the men. Many hours passed while the crowd waited and the entombed men and their rescuers dug vigorously to remove the earth that blocked the mouth of the 1,000 foot tunnel.

Finally, the anxious crowd around the shaft heard the bell signal "hoist away" and a loud cheer burst forth. The basket soon rose to the surface, bearing one of the rescuers supporting Bailey. Mrs. Bailey was not present as one of her children was sick. As soon as Bailey was provided with clean clothes, he hurried home supported by friends.

Another shout of joy greeted Fred McDonald, and when the last man, Peter Brown, came out, the crowd became almost hysterical, realizing that the long entombment was ended.

How It Happened.

On the morning of Dec. 4th, McDonald, Brown and Bailey and two Greeks were working in the bottom of a shaft, eighty-five feet below the pump station and 1,085 feet below the surface. The shaft caved in, snapping the cable used to haul the cage from the shaft and hurling thousands of tons of rock and timbers into the shaft. From the bottom of the compartment in which the men were working to the pumping station, a series of rickety ladders offered the only means of egress.

With falling rocks and timbers streaming down on them, the five men struggled up these ladders. Half way up, falling timbers knocked the two Greeks from the ladders, killing them. Bailey, McDonald and Brown reached the pump station. Its timbered roof withstood the rock and timbers and offered them a safe prison.

Gave Tap Signals.

At first it was thought on the surface that all five men had perished; but, twenty-four hours after the accident, the three buried men managed to make themselves heard by tapping on a six inch water pipe that reached from the pumping station to the surface. Communication was established with the world above and food and drink were plentiously lowered through the pipe.

Clearing the debris was slow work, as timbers, rocks and earth were so twisted together that a new shaft had to be cut for most of the 1,000 feet. At no time did the entombed men suffer greatly.

Prominent Coldwater Man Dead.

Coldwater, Mich., Jan. 20.—Julius S. Barber is dead. He had lived here fifty-four years and since 1861 he had been one of Coldwater's leading dry goods merchants. At the time of his death, he was the senior member of the J. B. Branch company, the large department store. For many years, Mr. Barber was the most prominent citizen of Coldwater. He was a member of the state legislature in 1867 and the same year was elected a member to revise the state constitution. He was postmaster eight years and assessor of internal revenue four years. He was the close friend and adviser of the late Governor Luce. Mr. Barber was vice president of the Southern Michigan National bank.

PARLIAMENT SOON MEETS.

British Law Making Body Has Much Work on Hand.

London, Jan. 20.—The third and what promises to be the most critical session of the parliament controlled by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman will be formally opened on Jan. 29 by the king, with all the traditional pomp and ceremony that marks the brief annual visit of the monarch to St. Stephens.

This formal opening of the houses of parliament by the king always attracts momentary attention, but the real interest, keener than ever this year, centers more in the legislation that the government proposes to introduce and the cost of the social reforms, estimated at many millions of pounds, that the new elements in the political arena—the Labor and Socialist parties—are attempting to bring about. If all the legislation promised for the coming session is forecasted in the speech from the throne, the members of the house of commons will have a stupendous task before them, and the usual session of six months will hardly afford sufficient time to dispose of it all.

Irish affairs are sure to occupy much time, for, besides the Irish universities bill promised the Catholics, and a bill to deal with the grazing lands, over which cattle driving originated, the opposition has threatened to introduce an amendment to the reply to the speech, which will enable them to discuss in detail the government's Irish policy.

After Ireland in point of public interest, will come a drastic licensing bill, to fight which the brewers, distillers and license holders throughout the kingdom have already organized.

Old age pensions occupy a prominent place in the government program. The principle is supported by all parties, but on details there is a hopeless difference. The rest of the program includes another attempt to amend the education act, a bone of contention between the two houses. The advocates of women's suffrage, having failed to convince the government that the time has come when women should be given the vote, will depend upon private members to advance their cause. Such a bill, however, stands little chance of reaching the statute books without the government support.

MAKES DIAMONDS.

Europe Much Interested in Suits Against One Lemoine.

Paris, Jan. 20.—The ramifications of the case of Lemoine, "The Diamond Maker," whom Sir Julius Wernher of the De Beers Mining company is prosecuting for swindling him out of $320,000, is attracting much attention, not only in France, but in England and throughout Europe generally.

Lemoine's formula for the manufacture of diamonds is securely locked up in a bank in London, the officials of which, upon Lemoine's demand, refuse to deliver it to the French court, which desires to make a trial of its efficiency in the presence of experts who are now examining specimens of diamonds Lemoine claims to have manufactured.

Meanwhile, Lemoine, who a few years ago was a canvasser for an advertising firm, but who, since he began his present operations, has lived luxuriously in a magnificent house in the Rue Pigalle, languishes in jail, offering, if released, to repeat his experiments and prove the legitimacy of his invention.

While Wernher is now convinced that he was duped by clever legerdemain and the public is amused at the many curious incidents of the case, there is enough division of opinion in the scientific camp to keep up a lively interest in the affair.

Wurtz, the eminent chemist, is of the opinion that it is not impossible to produce chemical diamonds. Lemoine, it is known, uses chemicals and not metals. Chemists doubt, however, the discovery of a solvent of carbon. They think Lemoine's crystals are silicate of carbon. Lord Armstrong publicly avows his absolute faith in Lemoine's method.

A strange feature of the case is that M. Wernher, although he charges that he was duped, offered Lemoine $80,000 additional last week for his formula.

Tramps Turn Fire Fighters.

Marshall, Mich., Jan 20.—While Albert Cutting of Eckford township was in the city, his residence took fire. His wife fought the blaze until two tramps came to her assistance, and they succeeded in extinguishing the fire.

Balloon Men Not Blamed.

Stanton, Mich., Jan. 20.—Earl Wilson and Paul Schultz of Grand Rapids have been acquitted by a jury in circuit court here of the charge of manslaughter, which was brought following the death of Grace Pion in a balloon accident at the Howard City fair last fall. The girl fell from a wicker cannon, from which she was to have been "shot" in mid air, making a parachute descent.

Siclone ...Clark

Copyright, 1900, by Frank H. Spearman

The crowd swarmed like ants around to the south end. A dozen men called for ladders, but there were no ladders. They called for volunteers to go in aft— [illegible] two men, but the stairs were long since a furnace. There were men in plenty to take any kind of chance, however slight, but no chance offered.

The nurse ran to and from the window, seeking a loophole for escape. Fitzpatrick dragged himself higher on the casement to get out of the smoke which rolled over him in choking bursts and looked down on the crowd. They begged him to jump—held out their arms frantically. The two men, again side by side, waved a hand. It looked like a farewell. There was no calling from them, no appeal. The nurse would not desert his charge, and we saw it all.

Suddenly there was a cry below keener than the confused shouting of the crowd, and one running forward parted the men at the front and, clearing the fence, jumped into the yard under the burning gable.

Before people recognized him a lariat was swinging over his head. It was Siclone Clark. The rope left his arm like a slungshot and flew straight at Fitzpatrick. Not seeing or confused, he missed it, and the rope, with a groan from the crowd, settled back. The agile cowboy caught it again into a loop and shot it upward, that time fairly over Fitzpatrick's head.

Hand over hand Siclone Clark crept up.

"Make fast!" roared Siclone. Fitzpatrick shouted back, and the two men above drew taut. Hand over hand Siclone Clark crept up, like a monkey, bracing his feet against the smoking clapboards, edging away from the vomiting windows, swinging on the single strand of horsehair and followed by a hundred prayers unsaid.

Men who didn't know what tears were tried to cry out to keep the choking from their throats. It seemed an age before he covered the last five feet and the men above caught frantically at his hands.

Drawing himself over the casement, he was lost with them a moment. Then from behind a burst of smoke they saw him rigging a maverick saddle on Fitzpatrick, saw Fitzpatrick lifted by Clark and the nurse over the sill, lowered like a wooden tie, whirling and swinging, down into twenty arms below. Before the trainmen had got the engineer loose the nurse, following, slid like a cat down the incline, but not an instant too soon. A tongue of flame lit the gable from below and licked the horsehair up into a curling, frizzling thread, and Siclone stood alone in the upper casement.

It seemed for the moment he stood there the crowd would go mad. The shock and the shouting seemed to confuse him. It may have been the hot air took his breath. They yelled to him to jump, but he swayed uncertainly. Once, an instant after that, he was seen to look down; then he drew back from the casement. I never saw him again.

The flames wrapped the building in a yellow fury. By daylight the big barracks were a smoldering pile of ruins. So little water was thrown that it was nearly nightfall before we could get into the wreck. The tragedy had blotted out the feud between the strikers and the new men. Side by side they worked, as side by side Siclone and Fitzpatrick had stood in the morning, striving to uncover the mystery of the missing man. Next day twice as many men were in the ruins.

Fitzpatrick while we were searching called continually for Siclone Clark. We didn't tell him the truth. Indeed, we didn't know it, nor do we yet know it. Every brace, every beam, every brick, was taken from the charred pile, every foot of cinders, every handful of ashes sifted, but of a human being the searchers found never a trace, not a bone, not a key, not a knife, not a button which could be identified as his. Like the smoke which swallowed him up, he had disappeared completely and forever.

Is he alive? I cannot tell.

But this I know:

Years afterward Sidney Blair, head of our engineering department, was running a line, looking then, as we are looking yet, for a coast outlet.

He took only a flying camp with him, traveling in the lightest kind of order, camping often with the cattlemen he ran across.

One night away down in the Panhandle they fell in with an outfit driving a bunch of steers up the Yellow Grass trail. Blair noted that the foreman was a character—a man of few words, but of great muscular strength, and, moreover, frightfully scarred.

He was silent and inclined to be morose at first, but after he learned Blair was from McCloud he unbent a bit and after a time began asking questions which indicated a surprising familiarity with the northern country and with our road. In particular, this man asked what had become of Bucks and, when told what a big railroad man he had grown, asserted, with a sudden bitterness and without in any way leading up to it, that with Bucks on the West End there never would have been a strike.

Sitting at their campfire while their crews mingled, Blair noticed in the flicker of the blaze how seamed the throat and breast of the cattleman were. Even his sinewy forearms were drawn out of shape. He asked, too, whether Blair recollected the night the barracks burned, but Blair at that time was east of the river and so explained, though he related to the cowboy incidents of the fire which he had heard, among others the story of Fitzpatrick and Siclone Clark.

"And Fitzpatrick is alive, and Siclone is dead," said Blair in conclusion. But the cowboy disputed him.

"You mean Clark is alive and Fitzpatrick is dead," said he.

"No," contended Sidney, "Fitzpatrick is running an engine up there now. I saw him within three months." But the cowboy was loath to conviction.

Next morning their trails forked. The foreman seemed disinclined to part from the surveyors, and while the bunch was starting he rode a long way with Blair, talking in a random way. Then, suddenly wheeling, he waved a goodby with his heavy Stetson and, galloping hard, was soon lost to the north in the ruts of the Yellow Grass.

When Blair came in he told Neighbor and me about it. Blair had never seen Siclone Clark and so was no judge as to his identity, but Neighbor believes yet that Blair camped that night way down in the Panhandle with no other than the cowboy engineer.

Once again, that only two years ago, something came back to us.

Holmes Kay, one of our staff of surgeons, the man, in fact, who took care of Fitzpatrick, enlisted in Illinois and went with the First to Cuba. They got in front of Santiago just after the hard fighting of July 1, and Holmes was detailed for hospital work among Roosevelt's men, who had suffered severely the day before.

One of the wounded, a sergeant, had sustained a gunshot wound in the jaw and in the confusion had received scant attention. Kay took hold of him. He was a cowboy, like most of the rough riders, and after his jaw was dressed Kay made some remark about the hot fire they had been through before the blockhouse.

"I'd been through a hotter before I ever saw Cuba," answered the rough rider as well as he could through his bandages. The remark directed Kay's attention to the condition of his breast and neck, which were a mass of scars.

"Where are you from?" asked Holmes.

"Everywhere."

"Where did you get burned that way?"

"Out on the plains."

"How?"

But the poor fellow went off into a delirium and to the surgeon's amazement began repeating train orders. Kay was paralyzed at the way he talked our lingo—and a cowboy. When he left the wounded man for the night he resolved to question him more closely the next day, but the next day orders came to rejoin his regiment at the trenches. The surrender shifted things about, and Kay, though he made repeated inquiry, never saw the man again.

Neighbor when he heard the story was only confirmed in his belief that the rough rider was Siclone Clark. I give you the tales as they came to me and for what you may make of them.

I myself believe that if Siclone Clark is still alive he will one day yet come back to where he was best known and, in spite of his faults, best liked. They talk of him out there as they do of old man Sankey.

I say I believe if he lives he will one day come back. The day he does will be a great day in McCloud. On that day Fitzpatrick will have to take down the little tablet which he placed in the brick facade of the hotel which now stands on the site of the old barracks, for as that tablet now stands it is sacred to the memory of Siclone Clark.

The Ostrich's Mistake.

A trained ostrich recently disconcerted its exhibitor at a music hall by continually endeavoring to break away from all restraint and to climb over the footlights into the orchestra.

The widely advertised act came to a sudden end, and the professor emerged from behind the curtain and apologized for the actions of his pet in about these words:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—Hi ham very sorry to disappoint you this hevening. We are compelled to cease our hengagement until the management hengages a new horchestra leader.

"The one at present hemployed 'ere has no 'air on top of 'is 'ead, and my bird takes it for a hegg."—Tit Bits.

A Man to Be Envied.

"Do you know," remarked a visitor to a Broadway hostelry, "I'm always inclined to envy the clerk in a hotel like this. He is always well groomed and smiling, has a wider acquaintance among the wealthy or well to do than I can ever hope to have and is always so aggressively at peace with the world and himself; also he wears, more often than not, a diamond scarfpin or ring which is certainly beyond me. It's a pretty comfortable berth."

Several hours later the hotel clerk reached for his coat and hat. As he left the office he turned to a comrade:

"Say, Ned, can you let me have $10 till the first? Rent due at home tomorrow, and I'm shy. Doctor's bills hit me pretty hard this month, and I don't want to lie awake tonight if I can help it."—New York Globe.

Her Poor Memory.

A woman who belonged to an ancient but penniless family married a rich plebeian, but she never forgot the misalliance nor allowed any one else to do so. One day, attended by a servant, she went into a store and gave an order.

"And where shall I send it, madam?" said the shopkeeper.

"Jean," said the woman, turning to her servant, "tell the man your master's name. I never can remember it."

The Average Man.

"Pa, what's an average man?"

INSULTS TO ROYALTY.

Some of the Things That Constitute Lese Majesty in England.

Many people think that lese majesty—giving insult to royalty—is not a crime in Great Britain. The English statute books, however, contain many penalties for such offenses.

Placing a postage stamp on a letter upside down is a punishable offense, as is also the defacement of a coin bearing the royal image. This is insulting the king's effigy.

Private individuals may not raise the royal standard over their dwellings. This is the emblem of the regal authority to be displayed only where the king is present.

While an agitator may talk against royalty in the abstract as much as he chooses, contemptuous or insulting personal references to the reigning sovereign opens the offender to a heavy fine and imprisonment.

The slightest slap upon the face of the king or queen—or any other part of the anatomy, for that matter—is punishable with the death penalty. In the reign of Queen Victoria a Lieutenant Page struck her across the face with his cane. He was sentenced to death, but the queen commuted his sentence.

It is likewise a crime to bring the uniform of the sovereign into contempt. To garb a low comedian or a villain of the stage in a discarded uniform of the army or the navy is sufficient to bring heavy censure from the government. For this reason theatrical managers usually see to it that the uniforms worn are not exactly copies of the real things.

ARTIFICIAL LIGHT.

The Most Brilliant Illumination Is Not Always the Best.

A writer in an engineering magazine offers some disconcerting information on the subject of illumination, disconcerting because the reader will probably find that he has been, innocently enough, following a course of procedure there described as injurious. For instance, in the case of eye strain he may have felt that even the dim light by which he worked was too strong, and so turned down the light, thus increasing the difficulty, or, what is more likely to be the case, when the strain has been caused by too brilliant illumination he fancies that what is needed is stronger light and so increases it.

Overstrain from too bright a light is said to manifest itself by an itching sensation in the eyeballs, with the tendency to rub the eyes for relief. The proper course, then, is to see that the light is more perfectly diffused or softened and that it falls in the right direction. After these precautions have been taken it is worth while to try a smaller quantity of light, this trial to continue long enough in time for the eyes to become fully adjusted to the change. The value of illumination is not to be judged by the apparent brightness of the lights when looked at directly—the brighter the light the better—but by the effect on the object to be looked at, and the most desirable effect, so far as the eyes are concerned, is not always produced by the most brilliant lights.—Indianapolis Star.

Set the Pace.

Young Mabel had a habit when soup was served at the table of mushing her crackers or bread in it until it was a great mess. Her mother made many efforts to have her correct this strictly primeval habit.

One day there was to be company at the table, and the mother said:

"Now, Mabel, Mrs. Brown is to dine with us tonight, and I want you to act at the table just as nicely as she does. Please don't 'mush' your soup."

Mabel promised faithfully to follow the example set by Mrs. Brown, and the dinner opened with every promise of a fine time. However, Mabel was using a pair of very sharp eyes on Mrs. Brown and in an instant blurted forth at the top of her voice:

"Oh, mamma, Mrs. Brown is 'mushing!' May I?"

Had Tried Electricity.

A benevolent gentleman attempted to converse with the motherly old lady who sat next to him in the railway carriage. He discovered that she was very deaf, and the conversation was established by shouting.

"You are very deaf, aren't you, madam?" ultimately bellowed he of the benevolence.

"I am so," was the reply, "and haven't been able to do a thing for it."

"Have you ever tried electricity?" shouted the kind hearted man.

"Yes," she said, nodding vigorously, "I was struck by lightning last summer."—London Graphic.

How She Felt.

Stella—So you kissed the young parson in the dark hall, thinking it was your brother? You must have felt awfully cheap when you discovered your mistake. Mabel—Cheap! Why, I felt like a Friday remnant at a Monday bargain sale.—Chicago News.

Reminded Him.

A negro pastor was warming up to the climax of his sermon, and his auditors were waxing more and more excited.

"I wahns yer, O my congregashun," exclaimed the exhorter—"I wahns yer against de sin uv fightin'; I wahns yer against de sin of whisky drinkin' an' de sin uv chicken robbin', an' I wahns yer, my breddern, against de sin uv melon stealin'."

A devout worshiper in the rear of the church jumped to his feet and snapped his fingers excitedly.

"Whuffo does yer, my brudder, r'ar up an' snap yo' fingers when I speaks uv melon stealin'?" asked the preacher.

"Kaze yo' jes' minds me whar I lef' mah overcoat," replied the devout worshiper as he hurried off.

A Poor Prophet.

Conan Doyle told of an experience which he had when leaving school. His teacher must have been one of those noble old Romans such as Thackeray describes as roaring at young Pendennis when the major, his uncle, called to take the boy away. When Conan Doyle had finished his course in school the head master called him aside and, after eying him with ominous disfavor, spoke to him in measured tones as follows: "Doyle, I have known you now for seven years, and I know you thoroughly. I am going to say something which you will remember in after life. Doyle, you will never come to any good!"—Bookman.

Rural Gaslight for Country Homes.

Acetylene Light has practically the same color-balance as sunlight.

This means that while it has in it all the colors of the rain-bow they are so perfectly balanced that no one color over-powers the others, or discolors objects which it falls on.

That's why Acetylene Light seems white—as Sunlight does.

That's why you can see pale blue, pale pink, or pale yellow, as clearly by Acetylene Light at night as by Sunlight during the day.

And, that's why Plants grow as fast, and as naturally under Gaslight at night as they do by true Sunlight by day.

Moreover, that's why Acetylene Light has the same cheering, antiseptic, tonic, influence on Human Beings as Sunlight,—the same wholesome effect upon Eyesight.

It is the cleanest, purest, coolest, safest, most brilliant and diffusive of all Home Lights.

When once installed it will give you the same candle-power as you now secure from ordinary Kerosene Lamps for a third less cost.

It can be completely installed, in about two days time, without the slightest damage to walls, ceilings, or floors.

No more dirty lamp-cleaning, filling, wick-snuffing, nor chimney-wiping. No more disagreeable smell of stale Kerosene, no more soot, on lace curtains, draperies, or walls, no more danger from the carrying around of lighted hand lamps.

You merely turn a tap on a wall bracket or hanging chandelier, and thus light up brilliantly or softly, according to how much you turn it.

Once a month you fill the Generator with Carbide.

That takes about 15 to 30 minutes time, per month to do.

Then you have true Sunlight-at-Night, cool, soft, odorless, eye-saving, wide-spreading, and brilliant as burning diamonds.

Let me tell you how little it need cost to equip a home, hotel, or store, with that glorifying Acetylene Gaslight.

Write me to-day how many rooms you've got, or how large a store.

Address me thus—Acetylene Jones, 12 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

A Hillsdale barber thinks that he entertained in his barber shop a crook unawares, who after securing a shave made the peculiar mistake of taking the barber's nearly new coat and leaving his old one in its place, and strange to say never has called to rectify the error, and apologize for making it. In the pocket of the old coat was found a number of candles, and while the loser of the good coat bewails his loss, the rest of the people are talking about the mysteriously concealed candles and thinking that they and the old coat were the property of a member of a gang of burglars.—Hudson Post

How a Flea Jumps.

It is said that a flea leaps 200 times its height, and, while it usually does land on its feet, it often falls, especially when it falls on a perfectly smooth surface where the claws can get only a slight hold. A flea has six legs, whose great length and bulk make them so heavy that they must be a great help in keeping their owner right side up when it makes one of these gigantic jumps, and when it lands upside down or in some other way, its ability to kick is so great that not more than one wriggle is needed to set things right. A flea's wings are mere scales and of no use; but, small and worthless as they are, they tell the entomologist something about the proper classification of the insect. To the flea itself they have no value.

An old codger who lives near Jasper met with a mishap Wednesday morning early that might have passed him through the pearly gates, but which luckily stopped short of proving fatal because of a thick cap he wore. Concert Par Excellence.

The wonderful thing about the Ernest Gamble Concert Party is that, whereas other musical companies have a life of from 1 to 5 years on the stage, this one is continually before the public.

The artists are not talented amateurs, but skilled professionals, each the product of the greatest European masters. The oldest member is Ernest Gamble, who is attaining the zenith of his great career at 89. The fact that for the past seven seasons he has averaged 150 concerts yearly and has achieved a position on the concert platform, is a just tribute to his glorious voice and superb style of singing.

Miss Verma Page, the violinist, and Mr. Lamberson, piano virtuoso, are by no means support. They share the program equally with Mr. Gamble and are quite as successful and essential to the completeness of the performances of the Gamble Party

The Ernest Gamble Concert Party has become an institution in the musical world. It has a high reputation, popular, and is widely known from coast to coast. At the New Bradley Jan. 29th.

FROM THE PINE WOODS.

Hyomei's aromatic air is guaranteed to cure catarrh or cost nothing.

Hyomei is nature's true cure for catarrh. There is no stomach dosing in using Hyomei, no more than there is when you go to the mountains or the sea shore to get relief from lung troubles.

When using the Hyomei treatment, the air you breathe is like that on the mountains high above sea level where the pine woods fill the air with aromatic healing that gives health and strength to those suffering from diseases of the respiratory organs. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, the healing balsams of Hyomei reach the most remote air cells of the throat, nose and lungs, destroying all catarrhal germs and giving quick relief and cure.

Hyomei has performed almost miraculous cures of catarrh, often restoring health in chronic cases that had given up all hope of recovery. Its best action is at the start of the disease, when the breath is becoming offensive and when discharges from the nose, droppings in the throat and frequent sneezing or spasmodic coughing begin to make life a burden. At the first symptom of catarrhal trouble, use Hyomei and see how quickly you get relief and cure.

The complete outfit costs but $1.00 and is sold by C. A. Wright & Son under guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

ECZEMA

Cured in less than four weeks.

Those who have had experience with this stubborn disease can hardly believe at first that Wonderful Dream Salve can and does cure Eczema.

There is no doubt about the matter whatever. A great many letters are on file in our office from grateful patients, telling of the quick and easy way in which Wonderful Dream Salve has removed all traces of this torturing skin affliction.

Mr. John T. Kealey, a well-known business man, located in the Stevens Bldg., Detroit, Mich., was recently cured of a bad case of Eczema of fourteen years' standing. After treating with many doctors and taking many remedies without relief, Mr. Kealey was induced to try Wonderful Dream Salve, and in four weeks was entirely cured. He says:

"I certainly consider this a remarkable cure, inasmuch as I have spent hundreds of dollars in the fourteen years of annoyance with this troublesome looking skin ailment. I have since the cure of my case heard of other cures, some of them of years' standing, and when any sufferer comes to me and asks my opinion I tell him to use Wonderful Dream Salve and it never fails to cure."

If you have Eczema, why not try a box of Wonderful Dream Salve. If it fails, your druggist will refund your money. Isn't that fair enough? Keep it in your home for Chilblains, Chapped hands, Piles, Cuts, Burns, Frost-bites, Boils and Sorns o' any kind. You will never use anything else. Price 25 cents, at your druggists or mailed prepaid.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, energy and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a heap of solace in being able to depend upon a well-earned reputation.

For months Tecumseh readers have seen the praise of Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

Wm. C. Witherell, of Chicago street, Tecumseh, says: "In 1901, I gave a statement for publication telling how Doan's Kidney Pills had helped me, and today, Dec 12th, 1906, I still hold the same high opinion of them. When I first used Doan's Kidney Pills, I was troubled with pains across my back and hips. If I attempted to stoop, sharp pains would dart through me and I would have to lie down. One time, I was laid up in bed for several days, just from my kidneys being so bad. I think the trouble was caused years ago by alwas being in a constant bent-over position when I used to shear sheep. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a box. I received great benefit even from the first few doses so I continued using them when they had effected a cure. I am glad to say that the cure then made has proven permanent as I have not been troubled since. I have recommended Doan's kidney pills a number of times and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

One Thousand Men, $1,000.

If 1,000 men were to come in here and each one eat a dollar's worth, I would have just $1,000," said the manager of one of those restaurants where each person helps himself. "On the other hand, if I should feed 1,000 wo— —and allow them to pick out their own checks I might possibly have $500, but I doubt it. Every woman is a natural born cheat. It seems to be a sixth sense in her makeup to try to get ahead of the person who provides her meals."

The woman to whom these horrifying revelations had been made walked away trying to evolve some plan for emancipating her sex from the web of dishonest propensities in which they had become enmeshed. Outside the restaurant she met a man friend.

"I've just been down there for luncheon," he said. "Glorious place; cheap too. If a fellow knows his business it is dead easy to get a fifty cent meal for a quarter. They never watch the men, but I tell you they keep a close eye on you women."

The woman with an ambition to reform her sex looked back into the restaurant.

"One thousand men, $1,000," she said, and smiled wickedly.—New York Times.

Not His Place to Laugh.

Milly is a sweet young lady, usually very sedate and self possessed. But today she was suffering under the stress of suppressed emotion.

"Calm yourself, my dear," urged a sympathetic friend, "and tell me all about it."

"Well, you see," began Milly, wiping her eyes, "papa caught a wicked cold and mother persuaded him to coddle himself to get rid of it. So he sat, dressed in pajamas, on his folding bed in front of a blazing fire in his bedroom. He had a steaming bowl of gruel on his knee, and his feet were in a pail of mustard and water.

"Presently we heard a terrific noise overhead, and we all rushed upstairs to see what had happened to poor papa. We found that the folding bed had collapsed in the middle, and there he was stuck in the angle, scalding gruel in his lap and pouring all over him, while ma was sitting in a pool of mustard and water on the floor, laughing herself into hysterics. And, oh, the things he said because she didn't go and pull him out! That's why I'm overcome, my dear!"—London Answers.

A Bundle of Blunders.

Don't say that "cleanliness is next to godliness," a statement which would be untrue if it were not unmeaning. If you must gauge the value of this excellent quality quote the original correctly and say that cleanliness is next to goodliness, meaning thereby that, where this is lacking, a clean and well kept person has an attraction and a comeliness only second to actual beauty.

Never talk of "the worst coming to the worst," an impossible occurrence, since it is already there. The worse may come to the worst, as, alas, it often does, but when the worst has come there is no more to be said.

Please do not speak of your "mutual friend." If A is a friend of B and C, A is not a mutual' but a common friend.

But, above all, if you would be blameless never talk of "common sense," as though it were or could be an exceptional or rare possession of a favored few. Common sense is the sense common to all, which long may we all enjoy.

Shakespeare Versus Burns.

At the close of a lecture to the members of a certain literary society the following dialogue between a Scotchman and the lecturer was overheard:

"Ye think a fine lot o' Shakespeare, doctor?"

"I do, sir," was the emphatic reply.

"An' ye think he was mair clever than Robbie Burns?'

"Why, there's no comparison between them!"

"Maybe no, but ye tell us the nicht it was Shakespeare who wrote 'Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.' Now, Robbie would never have written sic nonsense as that."

"Nonsense, sir!" thundered the indignant doctor.

"Aye, just nonsense. Robbie would hae kent fine that a king, or a queen either, disna gang to bed wi the crown on his head. They hang it ower the back o' a chair." The doctor's face dropped, for he realized that his lecture had been given in vain.—Scottish Nights.

Gold is Everywhere.

Gold can most profitably be extracted from certain mines where the ore is rich and not too difficult to work, but should these deposits ever peter out there is no fear that the world would suffer for lack of a gold supply, for there are many other sources which are as yet untouched, but for working which profitable methods would be devised if need were. Granite, for example, contains an appreciable quantity of gold, and if it were not under present conditions too expensive a matter to extract it we should find Scotland and Cornwall rivaling the Transvaal and the Klondike. The sea also contains gold in solution, and the man who invents a cheap method of getting it out will make himself richer than all the millionaires that ever lived. Gold is also constantly falling all over the surface of the world, blown to us in minute quantities along with cosmic dust, which comes from interstellar space.—Black and White.

Easily Stated.

A committee having in charge a local entertainment went to a noted editor to request him to take part in it.

"What do you want me to do, gentlemen?" he asked.

"We would like to have you give us a talk on spelling reform," they replied.

"Well," he rejoined, "I can give you my idea of spelling reform in one sentence. Just leave 'me' off the programme.'"

A Working Majority.

"You can fool all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time. But"—

"Why go further?" interrupted Senator Snifkins. "The two classes you have named constitute a safe working majority."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

An Amusing Slip.

A well known temperance lecturer who is an ardent advocate of prohibiting the public sale of liquors was becoming dramatic over the ideal conditions prevailing in a certain prohibition town.

"I am sure all who are present will agree with me," he concluded, sinking his voice to an impressive whisper, "when I tell you that during a stay of over two months I saw but one drunken man—a most refreshing sight!"—Public Times.

He Sure Was a Man!

When William Allen rose up in the early seventies and surprised the country by being elected governor of Ohio on the Democratic ticket one of the obstacles he triumphed over was the charge of being an old man. He addressed a great meeting at Mozart hall in Cincinnati the night following the day in which this ill advised charge had been brought against him by a responsible Republican leader. Strong, vigorous and well preserved as he was and retaining unbroken that quality of voice which had designated him as "Foghorn Allen" when he was in the senate, he was still politician enough to use it for all it was worth to him. After stating the charge in all its heinousness he straightened himself to his full height of more than six feet and, beginning in a loud voice, asked, "Am I a man?" The next question was in a voice pitched a scale higher and asked, "Do I look like a man?" But the third, in which he put out all of his tremendous vocal power, thundered to shake the roof in roaring, "Do I talk like a man?" The audience was thrilled. Such high physical power in a man of that age appealed to it irresistibly.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Fascination of Burglary.

"My champion burglar," said Mr. Holmes, the police court missionary, "is a bookbinder by trade, who has been in jail on and off for half a century."

Mr. Holmes' ramifications with this chronic breaker of the law constitute an instructive scene from his work. He behaved to the erring bookbinder quite as a brother; the man had the entree of the house and enjoyed the friendship of the family. How was he in the habit of repaying this hospitality? By going out to burgle. Twice Mr. Holmes set him up, but in vain. The only charm that life has for this extraordinary being is the opportunities it vouchsafes for committing burglary.

"Why on earth don't you leave off burglary?" Mr. Holmes asked him once. "Mr. Holmes," was his reply, "there's no fascination in the world to equal it. The silence of the night, the element of danger, the need of keeping every sense on the alert—it's grand."—Cassell's Journal.

Dealing in "Cats and Dogs."

No antiquarian pursues a more profitable or fascinating calling than the dealer in "cats and dogs," as the afflictiques of Wall street are dubbed. "Cats and dogs" are the remnants of old stock, bond and note issues of railroad, industrial or mining companies on which payment of interest, dividends or principal has been in default for years. Some of these securities are worthless and obsolete, some of doubtful value, while a few are worth their weight in gold. Only the expert in obsolete securities can detect their worth. Many of these securities can be picked up at the official auction room of Wall street. Many brokers closely scrutinize the securities that are offered at this auction room, and only a few months ago 100,000 shares of stock in a certain mining company were sold for a song, from which the broker hopes to realize a big sum.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Phrases or Handcuffs.

It is customary to remark that modern problems cannot easily be attacked because they are so complex. In many cases, I believe, it is really because they are so simple. Nobody would believe in such simplicity of scoundrelism even if it were pointed out. People would say that the truth was a charge of mere melodramatic villainy, forgetting that nearly all villains really are melodramatic. Thus, for instance, we say that some good measures are frustrated or some bad officials kept in power by the press and confusion of public business, whereas very often the reason is simply healthy human bribery. We waste our fine intellects in finding exquisite phraseology to fit a man when in a well ordered society we ought to be finding handcuffs to fit him.—G. K. Chesterton in Illustrated London News.

May Turn Black.

Professor McMillan Brown, ethnologist, holds that the future Australian people will in all probability be black. The Polynesians, he said in a lecture at Sydney, came originally not from America, as has been supposed, but from Asia. They were whites and changed color, just as the future Australian may do as the centuries go on, at least in the tropical regions of the north. The violet rays of the sun will turn him black in course of time.

Sorry He Spoke.

"Really, Miss Primm, you ought to get married," remarked Wedderly. "You'll soon be in the spinster class if you don't hurry up and catch on."

"Oh, don't worry about me, Mr. Wedderly," replied Miss Primm. "If I were as easy to please as your wife I would have been married long ago."—London Telegraph.

HEROIC RESCUE.

Muskegon Man Drags Two Women From Burning House.

Muskegon, Mich., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Samuel Stevens and daughter had a narrow escape from death [illegible] that destroyed their home at two o'clock in the morning. They owe their lives to the heroism of Thomas Cantwell.

Cantwell was sleeping next to the Stevens home and was awakened by a loud explosion. He rushed out and saw smoke issuing from the next door house. Knocking at the front door failed to bring a response, so he kicked it in and fought his way through flames and smoke, kicking in three more doors before he reached the bedroom in the rear of the house, where the two women were sleeping.

The women couldn't be aroused, so Cantwell, almost unconscious himself from the stifling smoke, picked them both up and dragged and carried them back through the front entrance to the open air.

All three will soon recover. The explosion was caused by flames eating their way to a can of kerosene that was stored under the front stairway. Stevens and four men who board at his home went on a hunting trip at one o'clock in the morning and, in making up the hunting outfit, one of the party evidently dropped a match near the oil.

BOY HAD DROWNED.

Missing Ypsilanti Lad's Body Found In River.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Jan. 20.—The body of Albert Hosner, ten years old, who disappeared from his home Jan. 9, was found by Herbert Shepherd in the Huron river, just back of the new hay press factory. The boy had so evidently met with an accident that Coroner Burchfield decided an inquest unnecessary.

The lad was missed from his home ten days ago, when the family was moving, when he went from his old home to the new one with a pet chicken under his arm and a pair of skates over his shoulder. The chicken was found in the new coop, but from that time no trace was found of the boy. A younger brother was skating on the river all the afternoon and, though the river was covered with skaters, no one was found who had seen the boy.

Shepherd, who is a neighbor of the Hosners, aroused by the alleged laxity of the officials in not dragging the river, thoroughly cut the ice and, after four hours of dragging, the body of the boy was brought up.

The little fellow had his skates on.

No Purity Conference in 1908.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 20.—There will be no national purity conference this year, according to a bulletin sent out by President B. S. Steadwell of LaCrosse, Wis. The public will be given a year to forget the sensationalism of the conference held in Battle Creek and then a new order of business will be adopted for the 1909 meeting. Admitting that the papers read here were, in numerous instances, unfit for publication and, in a way, liable to government interference for violations of the postal laws against obscene literature, the National Purity federation's officers have decided that nothing will be read in 1909 without censorship.

Woman Helped Rob Him.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.—Isaac Deldman, 215 Elizabeth street east, reported to the police that he had been held up and robbed of $50 while on his way home from the theater at night. According to the story, he was walking on Beaubien street and, while passing Beacon street, was stopped by a man and woman. The man grabbed him about the waist while the woman went through his pockets and secured the roll of bills.

Ward Pronounced Insane.

Pontiac, Mich., Jan. 20.—Millionaire Henry C. Ward is mentally incompetent, the petition of his wife is granted and his son, Franklin B. Ward, is appointed as his guardian. This was the decision of Judge Brown of Lapeer at the conclusion of the arguments in the Ward hearing. Ward at once instructed his attorneys, Patterson & Patterson, to appeal the case to the circuit court.

A Waiter's Amazing Wail.

The waiter spoke indignantly.

"Men go about," he said, "complaining of being mistook for waiters, but it is on the other foot really that the shoe rests. Us waiters are the real complainants in these cases of mistaken identity. Our kicks are sincere. The others' ring false. For at dances and balls and such like crushes many a young man makes money by being mistook for a waiter. How does he make money? Why, he is tipped, and all them tips he pockets, never thinking of handing them over to their rightful owners. At every big affair we count on a loss of 5 per cent through the dishonest advantage that impecunious young swells take of being mistook for waiters."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Savage Sense of Humor.

Lecturing on New Guinea, A. H. Dunning said he once offered a native some smelling salts. After going through extraordinary contortions the native went away, returning soon with another native, whom he compelled to make acquaintance with the salts. The two brought a third, and so on until the whole village had been victimized. The savages watched each new sufferer with the keenest delight and took good care not to let him know what fate awaited him.—London Standard.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

Allen Campbell Burrows, sixty-seven years old, professor of English literature in Ohio State university at Columbus, is dead. He was graduated from Western Reserve university in 1861 and taught successively at Phillips academy, Western Reserve and Iowa Agricultural college.

Fire has damaged two buildings of the Missouri colony for the feeble minded and epileptic at Marshall, Mo., to the amount of $40,000 and imperilled 125 patients. There is no fire apparatus at the institution and the flames were conquered by a bucket brigade and confined to the upper two floors of two buildings. Several patients tried to flee from the grounds, but guards held them.

One priest was injured and another was overcome by smoke in a fire which caused $10,000 damage to St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in Evanston, Ill. Father Thomas Egan's hand was severely burned while he was attempting to save a chalice from the altar. Father Patrick Hennessey was twice overcome by smoke while trying to have vestments and other valuables.

A strange phenomena in the Gulf of Mexico of a dust shower at sea has been reported by the steamer Monterey, which has arrived in New York from Vera Cruz, Progreso and Havana. The Monterey's officers declare that on Jan. 11, the night before arriving at Progreso, a peculiar white powder, like flour, fell from the skies. It was not a volcanic dust, there being no grit in the composition. The dust became sticky after falling on the vessel.

Pope Is Much Improved.

Rome, Jan. 20.—The pope is much improved. Although the pain and swelling have not yet quite disappeared, the pope may be now considered almost well. Doctors Petacci and Marchiafava yielded to the insistence of the pontiff, somewhat against their opinion, allowing him to receive Cardinal Ferrari and the Prince and Princess Lancelotti and their daughter. To the latter he gave his blessing before her marriage, which will take place next Thursday, saying: "I wish my age and position did not prevent me from assisting at your marriage. I would bless you then as I bless you now."

Czar Blesses the Waters.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 20.—The annual ceremony of blessing the waters, during which, in 1905, the emperor narrowly escaped assassination by means of the saluting cannon, took place at Tsarsko-Selo Sunday instead of at the waters of the Neva. The imperial blessing was bestowed on the waters of the lake in the palace park, amid the salute of guns. After the ceremony, the emperor, accompanied by his mother, reviewed the parading guard regiments.

Big Fleet Leaves Rio Janeiro For Magellan Strait.

THOUSANDS SEE DEPARTURE.

President Penna Visits Battleship Minnesota and Exchanges First Greetings With Admiral Thomas, Guns Fire Parting Salute.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 23.—The American warships have sailed from Rio Janeiro bound for Punta Arenas on the Magellan strait. Ten days will bring the fleet almost midway on its 14,000 mile cruise to San Francisco. The ships and the men carried with them the Godspeed and good wishes of the whole Brazilian nation.

Not an untoward incident marked the visit of the Americans here. They were feasted and feted, both officers and men, during their sojourn in Rio Janeiro and half the population turned out to give them a fitting farewell. As upon the arrival of the fleet, so upon its departure the quays, the public buildings and the hills were crowded with thousands watching the warships until they had disappeared through the mouth of the bay into the open sea.

President Visits Fleet.

Before its departure, the president of the republic, Dr. Penna, came to Rio Janeiro from Petropolis and proceeded on the yacht Silva down to where the warships were lying. He went aboard the cruiser Benjamin Constant, which was in readiness to accompany the American fleet, and made a tour of all the American ships. Accompanied by Admiral Alencar, the minister of marine and Dr. L. Muller, the minister of public works, and other high officials, he visited the divisional flagship Minnesota, [illegible] Admiral Thomas, commander [illegible] Captain Dubois, commander [illegible] American ambassador, Irving B. Dudley, received him with all honors, and the band played the Brazilian national anthem. In the salon of the admiral's quarters there was a mutual exchange of greetings. Admiral Thomas made a little speech in which he [illegible] the prosperity of Brazil. "Brazil, God bless you for everlasting!"

The president responded with a thousand wishes for a good voyage for the splendid fleet, prosperity for the United States and the health of President Roosevelt.

[illegible] aboard the [illegible] his trip among [illegible] were exchanged [illegible] from the flagship, twenty-one guns were fired. Dr. Penna then returned to his yacht, which proceeded to a point off Fort Villegagnon to watch the departure of the ships. The American fleet passed out in single column and in inverse order according to displacement, the Alabama leading. Three divisions of the Brazilian navy followed, composed of three battleships, [illegible] cruisers and six destroyers. In the vicinity of Fort Villegagnon many steamers circled about, having on board thousands of spectators from shore.

Forts Reply to Salute.

One by one, as the vessels passed the president's yacht, they saluted with twenty-one guns and the forts replied in kind. There was much waving of small flags and handkerchiefs and the cheering seemed incessant. The noisy blowing of a hundred whistles in the steam craft added to the noise. About this time, a heavy shower fell, but the majority of the spectators held their posts until the last warship had disappeared on the horizon.

Captain R. R. Ingersoll, chief of staff to Rear Admiral Evans, on being interviewed before the departure of the fleet, said that he had no special plans for the passage of the ships through Magellan strait. They will go through, however, he said as a solid fleet.

Aged Couple End Lives.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Tired of life's battle, John Florian, aged sixty-eight, and his wife Mary, aged seventy-seven committed suicide. The old couple it is said had been living on the charity of neighbors for some time and occasionally getting a supply of food from the county.

Committee on Elections of Constitutional Convention Reports Out Proposal—Section Making Legislature Impose Credit Tax Enacted.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 23.—The constitutional convention committee on elections last night unanimously voted to report out the woman's suffrage proposal with the recommendation that it be passed.

A proposal making it mandatory on the legislature to pass a law imposing a specific tax on mortgages in lieu of the ad valorem tax that is now supposed to be levied was passed by the convention in the afternoon by a vote of 42 to 34. It contemplates practically the same kind of law that was enacted a few years ago in New York.

Emphatic speeches were made in favor of the proposal by Delegate J. M. C. Smith, while Delegates Hemans, Milnes and Broomfield talked against it.

By a vote of 47 to 33, the convention killed the proposal to have all school boards of the state elected by cities and villages at large instead of by wards. It passed on first reading a few weeks ago. The tenor of the arguments against it was that the whole matter was one that the legislature ought to deal with, and not the constitution.

Anti-Liquor Proposal.

A proposal embodying ideas expressed by speakers of the Anti-Saloon league, the Prohibition party of the state and some other temperance interests, after a public hearing in the representative hall two weeks ago, was introduced during [illegible] by Delegate Andrew D. Moore of Pontiac. On his own motion, it was referred to the committee on liquor affairs, of which he is chairman, and it will probably be reported out in a few days and brought to a vote. This is the proposal:

"The manufacture and sale of malt, brewed, vinous or intoxicating liquors shall be forever prohibited after May 1, 1909, except for medicinal, mechanical, scientific and sacramental purposes, in townships and in villages containing less than 500 inhabitants.

"Incorporated cities and villages containing more than 500 inhabitants, subject to the general laws of the state, shall have the power to pass laws and ordinances for the restriction or prohibition of the manufacture and sale of malt, brewed, vinous and intoxicating liquors, except for medicinal, scientific, sacramental and mechanical purposes."

A proposal was passed to second reading providing that the next constitutional convention shall be in 1924, providing a majority of the electors vote for division, and every sixteen years thereafter. The convention shall consist of the same number of delegates as the present convention—three for each of the thirty-two senatorial districts. Delegates shall be elected at the April election and the salary be $1,000 for the session.

In committee of the whole the section in the present constitution telling in what manner and how many senators and representatives shall be elected to the legislature was reenacted. An amendment to divide cities like Detroit into representative districts—one member to be elected for each district—was voted down. The legislature can, at any time, build such division.

A proposal to make eight hours a legal day's work on all municipal jobs has been favorably reported by the committee on labor and placed on the general order calendar.

The convention voted down a motion of Delegate Sharpe of the Soo to have the proposal to create a state public utilities commission considered as a special order next Tuesday afternoon. No time has been set for its consideration.

Actress Weds Before Operation.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Sarah Truax of Chicago, an actress, and Charles S. Albert, an attorney of Minneapolis, have been married at a hospital, where she [illegible] to undergo an operation. The marriage was to have taken place last spring, but was postponed owing to the illness of the actress.

TRAGEDY IN A CAFE.

Woman Kills Man and Then Commits Suicide.

THE PLACE WAS CROWDED.

New York Manicurist Takes Revenge on Newspaper Advertising Solicitor Because Latter Had Scorned Her Friendship.

New York, Jan. 23.—Sweeping through the crowded restaurant which takes up the eighth floor of Macy's department store and into the gentlemen's cafe a tall, stylishly dressed woman bent for a moment over the shoulder of a diner, whispered something in his ear, and then, drawing a revolver from her muff, emptied the contents of the five chambers in his body. As the victim, Frank Brady, a newspaper advertising solicitor, slipped lifeless to the floor, the woman flung the weapon from her and, taking a second revolver from her muff, shot herself, first in the head and then twice in the breast. She died a half hour later.

A note found in the woman's purse proved her to be Mrs. Mary Roberts Clark, a manicurist, the widow of a police officer and stepmother of a six-year-old son, Raymond. Brady was thirty years old and the sole support of a helpless, aged mother for whom he had made a home. The shooting was the culmination of a series of violent quarrels and, according to the woman's intimates, in fulfillment of a threat to murder Brady in a public place "before the world" unless he renewed the attentions she asserted she received from him when he was less prosperous and she in a position to befriend him.

Tragedy Story Easily Traced.

The police had little difficulty in tracing the tragic story back from effect to cause. The woman, who was about thirty years of age, was Mary McLean when she married John Roberts. When the latter died a year ago, she assumed the name Clark and supported herself and child first as the wardrobe woman at an uptown theater and then as a manicurist. She was of a prepossessing appearance and had marked business ability. Last August, she made a will in which she was able to provide for the education of her son at a fashionable school in West Chester county. A guardian was made executor. While she was in prosperous circumstances and before the death of her husband, Brady had lodgings at her home, and she declared that she helped him to the success which he subsequently attained. A few months ago, he left her home and made a home for his mother, whom he brought here from New Jersey. Recently, Mrs. Clark thought the Brady was cooling toward her, when he called at her home occasionally, they quarreled.

A few days ago, Mrs. Clark called upon her attorney and told him that something serious was going to happen. Just before she shot Brady, she went to her bank, made a cash deposit, wrote a note identifying herself and referring the reader to her attorney, and, armed with three revolvers, went to the store and shot Brady and herself.

Kisses Came High.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan 23.—Because he held up Mrs. Grace Demeth and Miss Sadie Baurs, employes of the Ideal Laundry, and kissed Mrs. Demeth thrice, Vance Spanolla of Charlotte, an Italian fruit merchant, was fined $100 by Justice Batdorff.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Wilfred Sabourin, thirty years old, was instantly killed, at Millersburg, by a skidway of logs giving away and falling on him. He leaves a widow and two children.

One of the biggest thefts from a railroad in Michigan in some time was successfully pulled off while a carload of shoes was en route from Cincinnati, O., to Brophy Bros. of Port Huron. The car, which contained $1,000 worth of shoes, was rifled of $500 worth of the leather apparel. The railroad company will make good the loss. It is thought the theft was committed in the vicinity of Detroit.

Joseph Holloran, aged twelve years, was probably fatally injured at Bay City. The lad, in company with a couple of other boys, was playing around the Grand Trunk water tank. He had climbed on the ladder which runs up the side of the tank, when a comrade threw a snowball at him. In dodging the snowball, Holloran lost his hold and fell thirty feet to the ground. The lad sustained a fracture of the skull, a dislocated hip and his back is broken.

GLAZIER RESIGNS.

Governor Accepts Resignation and Will Appoint Rich His Successor.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 23.—State Treasurer Frank P. Glazier has resigned, and Governor Warner has accepted the resignation. Governor Warner will at once appoint ex-Governor Rich to succeed Glazier.

In his letter of resignation, Mr. Glazier vigorously assails the governor in reply to the charges made by the chief executive at the time he demanded Glazier's resignation. In turn, the governor issued a statement in which he declared Glazier's statements, in connection with his resignation, to be false.

The governor's charges against Glazier were misfeasance and malfeasance in office and, among other things, Glazier was criticized for the manner of depositing the state's money in the Chelsea bank without adequate security.

"You personally asked me to do the same on still smaller security for the Detroit bank of which you are vice president," is Glazier's reply.

Relative to his indebtedness, Mr. Glazier said in the resignation letter: "It is my intention, as soon as my health will permit, to interest myself in straightening out my business affairs so that the people of the state will receive every dollar which has come into my hands as state treasurer."

Mr. Glazier's letter is of considerable length and specifically deals with instances which have come up relative to the handling of the state's funds.

Governor Warner, in his final statement to the public, says in part:

"It is not my purpose to go into a detailed discussion of Mr. Glazier's statements. I only desire to say that so far as they relate to me or to my actions, and that, by the way, constitutes absolutely all there is to them, are, for the most part, absolutely false."

STRONG EVIDENCE.

Morehouse Bought Pistols—One Was Found Near Home After Murder.

Paw Paw, Mich., Jan. 23.—The prosecution in the Morehouse case rested just before adjournment Wednesday. Twenty-three witnesses were sworn. The evidence shows that Morehouse purchased two revolvers during the summer previous to the murder of his foster grandchild, of which he is accused. The morning after the crime, a revolver was found a short distance from the house. Four chambers were loaded and one was empty. The gun was of the same caliber as the ball that killed the child. The weapon was identified as one of the pair the respondent purchased.

The people also brought evidence to prove that Morehouse said he would rather shoot the babe or see him shot than have his mother take him away with her. The crib in which the child lay and the bloody weapons were exhibited to the jury. Morehouse wept at the sight. He manifested much nervousness Wednesday.

After a brief opening, the defense swore in one witness who testified that she had heard the mother of the child say on different occasions that she wished the child was dead. The case will be resumed in the morning and may reach the jury before night.

Arrest Spoiled Honeymoon.

Muskegon, Mich., Jan. 23.—The Muskegon police made an important capture and shattered honeymoon plans when Homer Patch, wanted in Battle Creek on the charge of assaulting, nearly kilting and robbing Saloon keeper Harris of $385, was arrested here last night. The evening of Jan 17, with a companion, he is alleged to have robbed the saloonist and later, it is alleged, he robbed his companion while he slept. Patch then went to Kalamazoo and was married to a girl. He gave her wedding presents and a trip to Muskegon. Patch didn't reckon with his Battle Creek companion, who told the Battle Creek police of Patch's intention to marry and the possibility of his being in Muskegon.

Woman Cannot Be Found.

Adrian, Mich., Jan. 23.—Though a large body of neighbors have joined Jared Van Fleet in the search for his wife, who disappeared from the Van Fleet home, two miles east of Tecumseh, early Monday morning, no trace of the missing woman has yet been found. The mystery surrounding her disappearance is made the deeper by the fact that no one can assign any reason for Mrs. Van Fleet's leaving home. She is thirty-five years of age and has never exhibited any signs of mental derangement. Her domestic relations were happy.

If a cough once gets into your system it acts on every muscle and fibre of the body and makes you ache all over. It especially affects the intestines and makes you constipated, so in order to get rid of a cold thoroughly and without delay you should not take anything that will tend to constipate. Kennedy's laxative cough syrup acts upon the bowels and thereby drives the cold out of the system. It contains no opiates—it's pleasant to take and is highly recommended for children. Sold by B. J.
